MANCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1909.

ENGLISH LITERATURE IN THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY.

BY D. F. LAMSON.

There have been greater English statesmen and greater English orators than Edmund Burke, but there are few greater names in the history of English political literature. He was a philosophical student and interpreter, and at the same time a forceful expounder of political principles. Burke's father was a Protestant, his mother a Catholic, and the teacher who had the most formative influence upon him a Quaker; for the latter he ever cherished the deepest respect. He did not distinguish himself at the university, indeed he never gained the highest rank in scholarship; he had the usual knowledge of the classics, his favorite reading being Cicero's Orations; he was familiar with Spenser and Milton, to a less degree with Shakespeare; but in one sense he made all knowledge his province.

After his graduation, Burke studied law and letters; his taste for legislation and national affairs did much to shape his life career. There was a slow preparation for future greatness; he did not rise by any sudden bound to the height of his fame, but while others slept he was toiling upward in the night. He wrote on the Drama, on Natural Society, on the Sublime and Beautiful; he became warmly engaged in national and continental affairs, and slowly rose to a prominent position in public life; he collected books, lived in a grand way, was a commanding figure in Johnson's "Club," and leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons.

Burke's literary taste, together with his intensity, truth, and logical reasoning, made him one of the most effective speakers in Parliament, in an age of great orators, the age of Windham and Sheridan, of Fox and Chatham. But he was not a mere debater or orator; he was a man of philosophical thought, a man of varied learning, of wide sympathies, of judicial temper, and of unflinching candor. Johnson, who hated the Whigs with a perfect hatred, could forgive Burke's politics for the sake of his magnificent gifts. "Burke, Sir, is such a man that if you met him for the first time in the street, where you were stopped by a drove of oxen, and you and he stepped aside to take shelter but for five minutes, he'd talk to you in such a manner that when you parted you would say, 'This is an extraordinary man.'"

Burke's public life extended from 1766 to 1794, when he bade farewell to its toils and triumphs. It was a distinguished career, marked by incessant activity and brilliant success. Among his great efforts in oratory, those which have contributed most to his fame are his Speech on Conciliation, a plea for just treatment of the American colonies, and his great speech on the indictment of Warren Hastings, so vividly described by Macaulay, and ranking among the master-pieces of modern oratory.

Had Burke's views on American independence, views characterized by humanity and statesmanship, found favor with the king and ministry, lovers of England would have something to look back upon with pride instead of regret; rising to the height of his great argument, the speech is an impassioned and logical appeal for freedom and justice, worthy of the best days of Greek and Roman eloquence. It is this command of style in the larger sense, in the ability to express noble and lofty thoughts in words equally noble and lofty, that makes Burke greater even than Pitt.

The most brilliant effort of Burke's life was the conduct of the impeachment of Hastings, the great governor-general of India, "for high crimes and misdemeanours," a trial extending over years and exciting the profoundest interest; in the conclusion it furnished in a magnificent arena, the great hall of William Rufus, and before an assemblage such as the world has seldom witnessed, the court, the houses of Parliament, the great and learned and fashionable circles of English society, opportunity such as occurs rarely in a century for the most splendid oratory that the English language has ever produced. Burke, as manager, made his great speech, the echoes of which still resound in history, which ranks him with the ancient orators who "shook the arsenal and fulminated over Greece," or wielded the sceptre of the Roman senate and forum. For fourteen years, without intermission, Burke could claim to have given his imperial powers to the cause of England's great Indian empire, its freedom from official misrule, from disorder, injustice and cruelty. His passionate imagination was stirred to its profoundest depths, and his sense of justice raised to a fiery intensity. Hastings was acquitted through his wealth and influence, but public opinion declared that the impeachment was just. The great trial dragged on until many of the original actors were past activity or were laid in

Manchester has new Chief of Police.

At their weekly meeting Wednesday evening the Board of Selectmen of Manchester received the resignation of Chief of Police Samuel S. Peabody to take effect May 15. The resignation was accepted and William H. Sullivan was appointed Chief to assume his duties on May 15,—a week from tomorrow.

Chief Peabody has served the town for six years in this capacity, his term being crowned by faithful and honest work. The department has been increased two regular officers since he was first appointed in 1903 to succeed T. O. D. Urquhart, now of Arlington.

Mr. Sullivan, the new chief, is a young man, well known and respected by the citizens of the town. He is 35 years of age, and was born in Boston. He has lived all his life in Natick and Wellesley, in both of which places he is highly respected. He was for seven years a member of the board of registrars of voters in Natick. He came to Manchester a year ago to take charge of J. A. Culbert's store on Beach street.

His many friends in Manchester and in Natick and Wellesley wish him every success in his new position, and we bespeak the good-will of the citizens generally for his work here.

The Manchester department now numbers besides the chief, one day officer and four regular night officers the year round, besides several specials on duty in the summer.

The salary of the Chief of Police is now $1100, and of the other officers about $1000.

the grave, and it ceased almost to be of living interest.

Burke died at last full of honors and renown, amidst the throes succeeding the French revolution, his last words being written with his old fire and energy and political clear-sightedness, warning England against a coalition with France, then about surrendering to Napoleonic absolutism. Like Bayard and Sidney, Burke was a man of truly knightly spirit, without fear and without reproach, "Who never spoke the truth to serve the hour, Nor paltered with eternal God for power."

A grander monument than any that Westminster Abbey can furnish is the record of his stainless honor, his efforts for the freedom of the press, for Catholic emancipation, for abolition of the slave-trade, his transcendent service to freedom and truth.

Bruce Chapman Tells of Trip Around the World with Battleship Fleet.

The members of the Manchester Launch club were taken on a trip around the world with the U. S. battleship fleet Wednesday evening when Bruce Chapman of Magnolia, one of the sailors on the Missouri, gave a very interesting account of his experiences. Mr. Chapman had no flowery set speech prepared, but told in his own way, stopping to answer questions now and then, of the trip from the time the ships left Hampton Roads in December 1907 until their return in February of this year.

The first leg of their journey was to Port of Spain, Trinidad, a cruise of eight days, which in itself is quite a while to be out of sight of land, when it is considered that an ocean liner crosses the Atlantic in from five to seven days. They remained there over Christmas, seven days in all, proceeding thence to Rio Janeiro, Brazil. It was here they were given the first big reception of the cruise. The city is up-to-date and the scenery is most beautiful. Excursions, banquets, sight-seeing tours into the country, etc., occupied their time here. He referred to the "special prices" accorded them at various points on their journey; instead of being a reduced price, it was generally an increased price that made it "special."

He told of the routine of the day on the trip, of the daily drill, target practice, etc., etc., and related also the ceremonies in connection with the crossing of the equator, and the manner in which the uninitiated were introduced to the mysteries of King Neptune.

The trip from Rio Janeiro down the coast and through the Straights of Magellan was the most perilous of the journey. They stopped at the most southern town in the world before going through the Straights.

After reaching the Pacific ocean they struck very pleasant weather and smooth seas. Valparaiso, Chili, was not on their itinerary, but by special arrangement the fleet altered their course so as to enter the harbor and circle around, not dropping anchor. On Feb. 10, he said, they came in sight of land, and as they neared the shore they could see the hills swarming with thousands upon thousands of people. A pretty and effective feature here was the formation by an army of sailors on the hillside, wearing suits of bright colors, of the word "Welcome" as they entered the harbor, and "Farewell" as they steamed away. It was a sight long to be remembered.

Calloa, Peru, was their next stop, on Feb. 20. A big reception was given them here. Bull fights were given for their special benefit. Bull fighting is to the people of Peru what baseball is here, — the national game. Free use of trains, free excursion, theatres, was accorded them.

They also went to Lima, a city of 500,000 population. The people are very pious there; 52 Catholic churches.

After leaving Peru the fleet proceeded to Magdalena Bay, Cal., where they engaged in the annual target practice. A number of records were broken, including the three inch gun record. The Missouri fired 20 shots, making 20 hits, in 2 minutes 28 seconds.

After that the fleet stopped at different ports up the Californian coast to Frisco, where they had the biggest reception of all. From there they went to the Hawaiian Islands, and then to New Zealand, which was decribed as an up-to-date progressive place. The people were very cordial and hospitable. Sidney and Melbourne, Australia, were the next places visited. Sidney is a city of about a million people, modern, but not as up-to-date as Melbourne. The fleet had the best time of the whole trip while in Australia. All kinds of courtesies were extended them. The people were exceedingly hospitable and kindhearted.

The trip from Australia lead up through the islands to Manila, thence to Japan, where another royal welcome awaited them, despite the rumored strained relations between the two countries at that time. On this trip they experienced the most terrible storm of the whole cruise. In their stop at China they were royally entertained, the government spending some $300,000 in their entertainment.

After another stop at Manila the fleet went to Ceylon and then through the Red Sea to the Suez Canal, and home by way of the Mediterranean Sea.

Mr. Chapman's talk was very much enjoyed and at the conclusion of his talk he was made an honorary member of the club for one year, to June 1, 1910. A collation was served after this action had been taken.

The annual meeting of the Manchester Fireman Relief Association will be held on Monday, May 10, at 7.30 p. m. S. L. Wheaton, secretary.

After twelve years' of service the quartet of the First Baptist church of Gloucester, of which Selectman F. K. Swett of this town is a member, closed their engagement last Sunday.

Next Thursday evening, May 13, at the kindergarten room of the John Price Primary school, a special program will be arranged for the parents of the children of that school. Invitations will be sent to the parents to attend.

The Gloucester paper records that the first mackerel taken in this section this year was taken in a floating trap off Manchester last week, which is said to be the earliest on record for the first fish in this vicinity. It is reported that 14 mackerel were taken in the same trap last Saturday. Manchester used to be a leader in the fish business years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Mead were in town Tuesday for a brief visit with friends. They are leaving Boston to spend a few weeks at Atlantic City before coming to Manchester for the early summer. They will go later to their place at Enfield, N. H. In the fall they may undertake their European trip planned for the past winter.

The many North Shore friends of M. F. Murphy are pleased to know that he has returned to business after being laid up for four months past with a broken leg. Mr. Murphy conducts a sales stable for high grade saddle and harness horses on Byron street, Boston, and he has had many from here looking over his stock for good combination horses of late. Mr. Murphy will spend part of the summer at Manchester as usual and he will be able to supply the public with some first-class combination horses for sale or to let, as he intends to add to his already well stocked stable.

A Manchester automobile, driven by Waldo H. Peart with a young lady from Manchester, figured in an accident at Gloucester, Wednesday evening. Mr. Peart was driving along the cut bridge road toward Manchester when a couple of young men on a tandem struck up a pace behind the auto. When the car was about to stop at a house near the bridge the tandem crashed into the rear of the car, and was smashed to pieces, the riders being bruised in the mix-up. The accident appeared to be through no fault of the auto or its driver, but was due to the carelessness of the young men chasing it.

The selectmen have decided upon the Salem Cadet Band again for a series of concerts this summer, and the arrangements will be practically the same as last year. There will be six concerts, the first one to be either on Friday evening, June 18, or on Thursday evening, June 23. The others will be on Thursday evenings, July 15 and 29, August 5 and 19 and Sept. 2. Mr. Missud will personally conduct the band, with 21 pieces. The concerts will be from 7.45 until 9.45. ### FIRE COMPANIES ORGANIZE.

Engine Co. No. 1 Celebrate with Banquet at Manchester House.

The Manchester Fire companies organized for the year last Monday evening in their various rooms at the Engine House, the organization being the same in each company as last year.

Following the custom of previous years Engine Co. No. 1 celebrated the occasion with a banquet, which was held in the dining room of the Manchester House, to which were invited the fire engineers, the board of selectmen, the superintendent of streets, Lawyer Willmorton, who was the speaker of the evening, and the Breeze editor, representing the press.

In many respects the banquet was the most successful given by the company, made so, largely, through the cordiality of Proprietor Callahan of the Manchester House, who served a most inviting repast.

It was a few minutes before nine when the door of the dining room was opened and the members and their guests filed in. A long table had been arranged at which were seated twenty-six, while the rest occupied a little table on the side. The menu follows:

Mock Turtle Soup, a la Parisienne
Celery	Tomato Lettuce
Broiled Live Lobster, Delmonico style
	French Fried Potatoes
	Vegetable Salad, French Dressing
	Sherbet
Broiled Spring Chicken on Toast, aux Maitre'd'Hotel
Asparagus on Toast	Petit Pois
	College Ice, Assorted Cake
	Toasted Crackers
Camembert, Swiss and Roquefort Cheese
Cafe Noir	Cigars
	More Sherbet

The dinner was nicely served by a competent corps of waitresses, and to Louis N. Boudreau, the chef, formerly of the Empire, Back Bay, Boston, the success of this feature of the banquet is due, largely.

At the head of the table on one end sat Chief of the department James Hoare, while on the other side of him sat Assistant Chief George S. Sinnicks, and the Clerk Clarence W. Morgan, also J. A. Lodge. On the other end sat Lawyer G. E. Willmorton, with Selectmen Fred K. Swett and Walter R. Bell. Others seated at the table were Charles W. Sawyer, E. F. Preston, George Matheson, Chester Cook, Joseph Thomas, Benj. Crombie, Curtis Stanley, James Reed, Ralph Stanley, E. H. Rogers, E. P. Flynn, S. Albert Sinnicks, George Hildreth, E. Wallace Stanley, Perley B. Parsons, Robert Hoare, C. O. Howe, W. W. Hoare, Curtis B. Stanley, and Alfred E. Hersey of the company, and the two substitutes, Edward Walsh and F. J. Dougherty.

The affair was in charge of the entertainment committee, composed of Curtis

B. Stanley, chairman; W. W. Hoare, Alfred E. Hersey, C. O. Howe and E. F. Preston.

After the banquet remarks were in order, those called upon being Chief Hoare and Engineers Sinnicks and Morgan, Selectmen Swett and Bell, Captain Sawyer, Lieut. Perley B. Parsons and Clerk Hildreth of the company, and George E. Willmorton, who gave a bright speech on old time fire departments.

Mr. Willmorton (who is in the insurance business), preceded his talk by a few well pointed stories, a bounteous supply of which he interspersed through his address. "While I am not a member of the fire department," said Mr. Willmorton, "my business is very closely allied with it and our aims are very similar:—yours to prevent loss, mine to pay for it when your heroic efforts are not crowned with success. You can readily see why I get out when the fire does not. Of course this never happens in Manchester.

"The invention and practice of insurance," said Mr. Willmorton, continuing, "is attributed to the merchants of Italy in the middle ages, and from the practice of insuring commercial ventures, spread to other maritime states of Europe. Marine disaster was the only kind of peril insured against in those days. The Lombard merchants, who came to London in the early part of the 13th century, brought with them the custom of insurance. All questions of insurance were determined by the custom of the merchants courts and it was not until the middle of the 18th century that the Common Law Courts took jurisdiction in insurance cases.

"Insurance against loss by fire is of comparatively recent origin, the first regular office being opened in London in 1681. This assumed little importance until the beginning of the 19th century. During the century just closed the growth of the fire insurance business has been very rapid and laws regulating it have grown with it. It is erroneous to regard the contract of insurance as a contract of chance. In a wagering contract the parties contemplate gain by reason of chance, while in an insurance contract the parties seek to avoid loss by reason of chance.

"Until the early part of the 19th century municipal fire departments were unknown. All of the fire fighting was done by the insurance companies who owned their own fire departments. These fire departments were operated on a much different plan than the protective departments in use in our large cities, which are operated by the fire insurance companies jointly. By the old-time English method each company supported a fire department of its own to protect its own interest and its own interest only.

When a company placed a policy on a building and fastened a great copper or brass plate over the door, the plate bore their name and they were very conspicuous and ornamental and often cost very much money, more than the policy would today. The object of these plates or figure heads was to inform the particular company that this was their risk. If a department arrived and found it was not their risk that was endangered they would 'let her burn' and give the other fellow the laugh.

"These fire departments consisted of a bucket brigade which dipped its water from tanks. This method was in time succeeded by the hand tub, which pumped water through a leather hose from a tank on wheels, which tank had to be filled by buckets. An engine of this type was once owned by the town of Manchester and was built by Mr. Eben Tappan, and I have an idea that some part of it is still doing business in a nearby town today.

"Then came the hand tub. This had a suction hose as well as a leading hose, which did service for many years before the advent of the steam engine.

"Speaking of buckets, doubtless many of you can remember the old leather buckets that were hung in the hallways of many of our old houses. They were beautifully decorated and often had a coat of arms or a Latin motto painted in gold. They were hung in pairs and it was the duty of the house holder to grab them and run to the fire when the bells rung.

"These old time departments were often pressed into service to do other things besides fighting fires. They turned out to hunt for children lost in the woods, for fishermen lost in the fog, etc."

Mr. Willmorton's address was greatly enjoyed, especially the many well pointed stories run in to more forcibly bring out the point in hand.

The officers of the company are:

Engine Co. No. 1.—Charles W. Sawyer, captain; Perley B. Parson, lieutenant; George E. Hildreth, clerk.

The organization of the Hook and Ladder Co.: Granville Crombie, captain; Thomas Baker, lieutenant; Charles Fritz, clerk.

Chemical Co.: Frank G. Cheever, captain; Raymond C. Allen, lieutenant; Lyman W. Floyd, clerk.

The selectmen have placed an order with the Tarvia Co. for an 8000-gallon car tank of tarvia to be used in treating some of the streets. It is expected next week. The tarvia will be spread on the road from the watering cart, after the road has first been swept free from dust. Having been spread on the road workmen will follow with push brooms, spreading it out over the entire travelled way. The tarvia, which is a mixture of tar and oils, forms a thin coating which gradually absorbs into the roadway to a depth of about three inches, forming a good binding and also serving as a dust layer. The tarvia is absolutely odorless, except when first put on, when it has a slight smell of tar, an agreeable odor. The work will start at the Beverly line and the entire length of the street will be treated; also Masconomo street. Other streets will probably be treated.

The fire department was called out Wednesday afternoon about one o'clock for a fire at the Bullard cottage at Old Neck, occupied this year by J. Arthur Brooks and family. The fire is supposed to have originated from a spark from the open fireplace. The floor in front of the fireplace was afire when discovered. The alarm was sent in, but before the apparatus reached the house the fire had been put out by those on the place, ably assisted by Arthur U. McCormack, the caretaker of the beach nearby, S. Albert Sinnicks and John Wade. Chief Hoare very wisely chopped a hole in the partition to make sure the fire was out, when flames burst out again. The contents of a hand chemical on the Hook and Ladder truck sufficed to put this out. To be ready for any emergency 1000 feet of hose was sent down to the fire, in A. Lampron's express team.

Mrs. Arthur L. Toppon of Hanover has been spending a few days the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Rowe, Central Square.

George W. Hadley of Boston was a guest for a few days the first of the week of his niece, Mrs. J. A. Lodge, Church street.

Policemen and Their Qualifications.

Bishop Lawrence gave a talk to some 400 Boston policemen recently the sentiments of which might be reprinted in these columns to good effect, suggests a correspondent, who encloses a clipping taken from a recent issue of the Boston Globe.

Bishop Lawrence said: "I met a man yesterday who said: 'I see you are going to talk to the policemen. I wonder what kind of a crowd they are?' And I said: 'Well, I think they are just like the rest of us. I have been looking around for angels for a long time and I haven't found any yet, and I guess the policemen are no different from the rest of humanity.' So I want to talk to you not as men of the force, but as men just like the rest of us.

"You have two qualifications which set you off in a measure from the rest of the community. First you have, what isn't a demand on the business man or the professional man—a physical test, a standard. That quality sets you apart from the great body of citizens, except in a few cases like soldiers.

"Another qualification is physical courage. That is not necessary to the average man, to the lawyer, the doctor or the merchant. It is a fine thing to belong to a body of men who are possessed of physical courage.

"There are a few other qualities which I wish to speak of. There is the quality of doing one's work well; of being efficient. That is essential.

"First a man should be straight; that he shall have the readiness and ability to think straight as well as act straight. It is the inability to think straight that gets most people into trouble. You have been trained by experience to see things straight. You can be trusted to make a straight statement of facts."

Another quality which Bishop Lawrence considered of the utmost importance was readiness to learn. "And I am not certain," said he, "but it is the chief element. There are lots of stupid people afraid to show their ignorance by asking questions. Readiness to learn is important in everything. The capacity to learn is the only way to come on. Pres. Eliot said recently that he had been learning from students all his life.

"It also means readiness to do more than the job calls for. I sympathize with the labor unions, but there is a great danger in setting an hour to begin work, then working eight hours, then chopping off. What if the school teacher should refuse to answer the question of a child after a certain moment. What if you, when off duty, were asked to do something that came within your line of duty. What of me in my position? I hold that nobody can do any job that's worth doing unless he gives himself up to the job."

Manchester

It happened the other day, when the alarm for the fire at the Bullard cottage was sounded, that a member of the Boston board of underwriters was in town and saw the department respond to the alarm. He afterwards made it a point to compliment Chief Hoare on the efficiency of the department. He was highly pleased at the manner in which the department responded and the quickness in which the apparatus was on its way to the fire. For a "call" department such as Manchester maintains, the service, he said, was one of the finest he had seen. And he spoke the truth, for Manchester has one of the finest fire departments for a town of its size in the county and when the high service water system is completed this summer, we might add the whole state.

A meeting of the Story High School Alumni association will be held Tuesday evening, May 11th, at 7.30, at the home of Mrs. Lyman Floyd.

Mr. Leveen, a tailor with shops in Danvers and Peabody, has hired one of A. S. Dow's stores, and will conduct a tailor shop here this summer.

John Lavin has hired for the summer the little bungalow owned by Thos. Sheehan, on Tappan street. Mr. Lavin has been one of the force of employees at the Essex County club for the past 10 years.

Local Odd Fellows are making plans to give the Grand Officers of the organization a big reception when they pay their annual visit to Manchester on the third of June. A special committee was appointed at the meeting of Magnolia lodge last night to arrange for the celebration, a feature of which may be a banquet in the town hall. The committee will arrange to take the Grand Officers on a sight-seeing tour of the town and its surroundings, which will be at their best in June, after which there may be a reception from 6 to 6.30, followed by a banquet at 6.30. At 8 o'clock all will adjourn to Odd Fellows hall where the Second Degree is to be exemplified. The plans are are yet immature.

Ward's Tip-Top bread at Valentine's Market.

It was planned to put the floats at the Town Wharf overboard and in position today. The floats at Tuck's Point were put overboard the first of the week. It is possible that a little more dredging will be done at Tuck's Point this year before the dredging outfit departs. The dredger is making good progress at Masconomo Park, dredging the channel.

Have your printing done at The Breeze Print, Manchester.

BEVERLY is making all together too much ado over President Taft's coming to that place. It is all well enough to feel proud of the fact that the "Garden City" is to be the nation's summer capital; it is a mistake, though, to give too much expression to this feeling. The President's family is no different than any other family; they do not care to be the cynosure of everybody's eyes, all the time. They come here for rest and quiet and the less publicity given to their every move and plan while on the North Shore the better they will like it and the more apt they will be to return here another year. Too much of this torch-light procession business, honorary membership in clubs, judge of boat races, speaking to school childrens will prove very distasteful to the President if the suggestions ever reach his ears. Cut it out, Beverly, if you have any desire to make things so pleasant for the President and his family that they will want to return another season.

THE congressman from our district has come into large prominence before the country. At the organization of the present tariff session of congress he was the recognized leader of the reactionary forces who tried to shear the Speaker of some of his "arbitrary" power, by revising the rules as to appointment of committees.

Besides the space devoted to the fight by the daily press, the Success Magazine, the Saturday Evening Post, and the Human Life Magazine devote prominent positions to articles on the subject in their May issues.

Alfred Henry Lewis, the veteran Washington correspondent is the author of the article in the Human Life and it is one of the best of this writer's biographical sketches.

Speaking of the tyranny of the Speaker Mr. Lewis says:

"There isn't space herein to describe in all its features the gavel tyranny of the House. Suffice it that, under the rules as they exist and have existed for more than 20 years, Speaker Cannon is the House. So far as the other 390 odd members are concerned, they might as well have stayed at home, and saved the public their salaries and mileages. No despot of ancient Greece or modern Turkey was ever more secure in his absolutism than is Speaker Cannon. He can make or unmake a member on the floor. He can give him speech or strike him dumb. He can put him on or keep him off committees. Behind his breastworks of precedent, entrenched in those rules, the Speaker dominates the House like some Jupiter of legislation. In his hands are the thunder bolts. Also, while there have been scores who yearned for his down fall, not one has had the courage to assail him, or the intelligence demanded for so perilous an enterprise, until one gets to Mr. Gardner. Mr. Gardner alone has demonstrated the possession of both the heart and the head for the task. Last session he led an attack upon Speaker Cannon and his bull and chain rules. The more conservative shrunk back, the timid stood aghast. Mr. Gardner went on undismayed. One by one certain of the younger members joined him. In the end he found himself the chief of 30 rebellionists."

The Success Magazine gives a very careful review ten or twelve columns in length of the condition surrounding this notable fight, in the course of which it says:

"Those who are not familiar with the far-reaching power of a great political organization, fighting for itself and for the moneyed interests which it represents, can hardly realize the terrific pressure brought to bear upon one after another of this little band of insurgents, to induce them to break away from their pledged faith to the others; and upon such Democrats as were believed to be 'open to influence.'"

It makes us proud of our representative to read at the end of the article, previously referred to, Mr. Lewis' closing peroration:

"Young, strong, clear, keen, dauntless, industrious in spite of his money, as sound in his honesties as the heart of an oak, American in all things, ready to fight when right—or wrong—the world will hear many times of Mr. Gardner in the 20 years to come. There is nothing he dare not attempt, no place he might not attain to."

"The North Shore Breeze comes out in a strong editorial for the new electrical line from Boston, and speaks of the great advantage to people down on the Cape. It would be of great advantage if the trolley could pass through Manchester to the Cape. The Boston & Northern might just as well extend its lines from Chapman's corner. Electric cars would be infinitely more safe and convenient than the army of autos, which not only race all over the street, but are veritable wild locomotives."—Beverly Column in Salem Evening News.

Nearly a Million Talks per Day, the Business Done by the New England Tel. & Tel. Co.

Nearly a million calls a day is the average patronage of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, according to the annual report of Gen. Thomas Sherwin, its president. The exact figures given are, approximately, 301,600,000 local calls and 15,800,000 toll calls for the year 1908, and they emphasize the widespread usefulness of the telephone and its intimate relation to the business and social life of the community. It is estimated by careful observers that 1,500,000 persons, or about one-third of the population of New England, are in daily touch with telephone service.

The financial showing for the year was very satisfactory. The gross revenue was $11,259,130.15, an increase of $579,504.39 over the preceding year. The expenses were $8,698,717.24 an increase of $185,294.60, while the net revenue was $2,550,412.91, an increase of $394,209.79. A six per cent. dividend was declared and new capital to the amount of $3,926,600 was issued. As the telephone furnishes a pretty good index of business conditions, the confidence with which this report regards the immediate future would seem to presage a belief in a general improvement in industrial affairs.

The Colonial.

It seems to be a unanimous verdict that "A Stubborn Cinderella" which began an engagement at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, Monday, May 3, is the best musical play that has been seen in this part of the country for some time. Those who have seen it speak of it in the highest possible terms and as a pleased audience is the best possible advertisement, the business is only limited by the capacity of the theatre.

The engagement is a limited one. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday

Rev. Wm. M. Macnair of Cambridge will preach in exchange with the pastor of the Village church Sunday morning, and will be the speaker in the People's Forum Sunday evening. Rev. L. F. Reed of Hyde Park will be present and take part at the meeting Friday evening.

Miss Anna Martin of Lynn was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Brown over the week-end.

The Men's Clubhouse.

Preliminary steps looking to the incorporation of the Men's Clubhouse association of Magnolia were taken last Wednesday afternoon when Joseph Sargent, jr., of Boston made up a temporary board of directors at the parsonage. Of those present the following five will remain on the board, George A. Upton, William L. Wilkins, Oscar P. Story, Frederick J. Libby and Charles E. Phenix. Henry M. Brown and George B. Story completed the necessary number. The by-laws adopted are practically identical with those governing the Women's Clubhouse association. An annual meeting of the stock-holders will be held on the third Tuesday of July when a board of seven directors will be chosen. The directors need not be stock-holders. The directors will choose a president, treasurer and clerk. At the meeting Wednesday, George A. Upton was chosen president, Frederick J. Libby, treasurer and William L. Wilkins, clerk. The Women's clubhouse is exempt from taxation and as the clubhouse exists for the same purposes and under the same statute governing charitable corporations it is expected that it too will be exempt.

Keith's Theatre.

The week of May 10th at Keith's Theatre will be notable for another one of those star bills, made up largely of attractions that are usually seen in the legitimate houses at high prices. One of the best features will be Bert Williams of the Williams and Walker Company, who has been engaged for a special season to do an act that will introduce some of his latest successes. This foremost delineator of the Southern negro, with all his joyous, melodious revelry will be seen under circumstances more interesting than before in vaudeville or anywhere else.

The important dramatic feature will be Valerie Bergere and Company, presenting an entirely new company in "His Japanese Wife."

Still another big feature will be Clara Belle Jerome and Company in a splendid musical production entitled "Joyland," which has been a big New York success.

✦ Manchester ✦

The Manchester police had a case on their hands this week that looked rather puzzling at first, but the fellow they were after is now serving a six months' term at Deer Island. A man who gave his name as George A. Gage began work Monday morning, April 26, for E. A. Lane. He went away last Saturday at 11 o'clock. When he went to work he pretended that he was a first-class paperhanger, but during the short time he worked for Mr. Lane he was in the shop most of the time working on blinds, and such work. When the paint shop was opened Monday morning of this week it was seen at once that some one had been in the shop and investigation showed that a large leather case belonging to Mr. Lane's paperhanger had been taken away. Drawers had been pulled out and things were stirred around generally, but it was not discovered that anything special had been taken. It was later found that a raincoat was missing. Gage is said to have been seen going toward the station with a leather case and had taken the 9.40 train Sunday night for Boston. He is also said to have taken a suit case and some clothes from Mrs. Cohen's on Beach street, where he roomed. Mr. Lane promptly reported the case to Chief Peabody who went to Boston, Monday on the case. Tuesday Officer Sheehan and the chief went to Boston and again on Wednesday Officer Sheehan was in Boston. The Jamaica Plain police had taken a man Tuesday night, trying to cash a $2000 check. He was brought to headquarters Wednesday to be photographed when it was discovered that the fellow had been in before and had been sent to Deer Island for three years for larceny, but he had made his escape in a coal vessel, being found after four days stowed away in a coal bunker. Well, it turned out this was the man wanted in Manchester. The fellow was sent to Deer Island on the charge of trying to raise money on a fraudulent check. The check was made out by Gage in his own name. After his term is out the Manchester police will deal with him. Officer Sheehan and Chief Peabody put in some good work on the case.

Harry S. Gay has the contract for installing electric lights and fixtures in Miss Martha Knight's house on School street.

Miss Maud Russell of the Newton Hospital and Miss Helen Russell of Somerville spent a few days the first of the week visiting their cousin, Miss Bessie Lethbridge.

The success which Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln is meeting in his new field of labor, Moline, Ill., can be illustrated in no stronger way than this news item which we clip from the Moline Daily Dispatch of last week: "Thirty or more accessions to membership are expected at the First Congregational church Sunday morning, a circumstance that will be very encouraging to the new pastor, the Rev. C. A. Lincoln, and a new manifestation of the fact that the community is beginning to know him and is extending its verdict of approval. Twenty-three of the new members are to come in by confession of faith;" and, the following from the Monday morning paper:
"Instead of the thirty accessions to membership of the church, forecasted for yesterday, the actual number joining was thirty-six. The reception of the new members and the administration of the sacrament of communion following was a very impressive service. Not far from four hundred people participated in the communion service, probably the largest

:: Beverly Farms ::

Alden Webb, Beverly's oldest active business man, recently passed his seventy-first birthday. Mr. Webb has been in business in Beverly for thirty years and has been over twenty-five years in his present location in the Masonic block. He is an expert watchmaker and is at his desk every morning by seven o'clock and works until closing time every day. He is enjoying good health and looks forward to many more years of active work. To many of our North Shore residents Mr. Webb is a familiar figure.

Dr. and Mrs. DeGrasse of Providence, R. I., have spent a portion of this week visiting at the Farms, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. McDonnell.

James E. McDonnell is one of the latest of the Farms young men, to buy a house lot at Montserrat.

Postmaster William R. Brooks, since assuming his duties at the Farms last Friday, has been the "man behind" the window, and he has apparently fallen into the duties of the office as though he had long been accustomed to them. He has received many congratulations from the patrons of the office.

One candidate was initiated into Preston Relief Corps at their meeting Tuesday evening.

George Medcalf commenced his duties at West Beach last Saturday as superintendent and caretaker. He is now putting the property in condition for the summer.

J. D. Regan and brother have gone to Hampton, N. H., to work on a large contract which D. Linehan & Son have in hand at that place.

The board of aldermen at their meeting last Tuesday evening gave a leave to withdraw to Frank P. Gaudreau and Edwin F. Campbell, both of whom petitioned for license to conduct pool rooms at the Farms, the former at his place of business opposite the Farms station.

We have heard much favorable comment on the new order of things at the Farms as regards police service. There has been altogether too much "loafing" about Central square and at times the "loafers" made things pretty disagreeable for passersby. We hope the new police patrol in this vicinity between 6 and 10 p. m. will result in doing away with this unpleasantness.

The board has granted "pony express" licenses to Smith's Express Co. and to Marshall & Moulton. L. A. Dunn of Manchester was turned down with many others who applied for such a license.

Mrs. Alice Gaudreau, wife of F. P. Gaudreau, the Central Square barber, was the winner of the handsome Cotes piano offered by Daniels-Gleason Co., to the one presenting the greatest value in coupons which had been given for cash purchases since the contest was started last fall. Her coupons amounted to $5850.50. Her nearest competitor was Miss Dorothy Larcom, who had $3059.70 worth. These figures do not represent any one customer's purchases, but the amount of coupons which friends of these two gave them to help them in the contest.

Henry Clay Pierce spent a few days at his estate at Pride's Crossing the latter part of last week and the first of this week. Improvements are being made about the estate. Mr. Pierce will spend the summer in Europe.

Beverly National Bank One of Oldest and Strongest Financial Institutions in This Section.

The bank was organized in 1802—107 years ago—and begun business in the old Burley building on Cabot street, now the home of the Beverly Historical society. It later moved to the Masonic building, and in 1882 moved to the corner of Cabot and Thorndike streets; its present location. Here it occupied an attractive building, set in well from the street, until a few years ago, when its increasing business demanded larger and more up-to-date quarters. The structure pictured in this issue is a result of this demand.

During its existence it has had ten presidents and five cashiers, a fact which in itself points to its stability and good business management. The present officers of the bank are Andrew W. Rogers, president; Jasper R. Pope, vice pres.; Allen H. Bennett, cashier. Mr. Bennett has been connected with the bank since 1882, and has been its cashier since 1893. He is one of Beverly's most enterprising business men. The directors are Joseph C. Kilham, Andrew W. Rogers, Jasper R. Pope, George P. Brown, Roland W. Boyden, Herbert F. Winslow, Melville Woodbury, Walter A. Perry and Allen H. Bennett.

The condition of the bank, according to the last statement made to the comptroller on April 28, showed the total resources to be $1,543,064.87. The liabilities included: Capital stock paid in $200,000; surplus fund $100,000; undivided profits, $89,977; individual deposits subject to check, $959,575, etc.

We print the above facts at this time because we know that many of our subscribers now moving to the North Shore are looking for an institution where they may do their banking during the summer months. The many North Shore summer residents who keep accounts with the bank the year around testify strongly to the confidence which these people have in the institution.

The bank offers to the public in addition to its financial strength, the long years of experience of its officers, directors and employees, which, combined with its up-to-date facilities, would make it a wisely chosen depository for your funds.

Real Estate :: :: :: :: And Improvements

The building outlook for Manchester the present year looks good at present. Plans are out for a new residence for Philip Dexter to be built on his big estate off Forest street, and estimates are now being prepared. The house will be a large one, in fact one of the finest to adorn any of the hills along the North Shore. The grounds surrounding the house will be beautified, and a long avenue will be constructed. This part of the work has already been started.

In this vicinity also work has already been started on a summer home for A. Lithgow Devens. Roberts & Hoare, the Manchester contractors, will build the house.

Henry Clay Pierce is having extensive changes and alterations made to his estate at "Rock Cove," Pride's Crossing. The house is to be all changed over, the inside of the mansion being literally torn out and remodelled. Six new rooms are to be built, including a new dining room and a master's chamber. New windows are to be put in throughout. The servant's quarters will be enlarged. A concrete piazza will be built on the front portion of the house and a new tile roof will take the place of the present one. These are a few of the many changes to be made. It is estimated that the work will be carried over for eight or nine months, and that the approximate cost will be in the vicinity of $50,000. Publicover Bros. of Beverly Farms are the contractors.

Extensive improvements will be made to the grounds also. The driveways and terrace wall will be rebuilt. D. Linehan & Son are the contractors for this part of the work.

The avenue and "turn around" at the Eben Richard's house on the same estate are being changed over somewhat also, D. Linehan & Son being the contractors.

A new auto shed is being built at Mrs. John R. Sturgis' estate, Manchester Cove. Chester L. Crafts is doing the work. An auto shed is also to be constructed by Mr. Crafts at the Greeley Curtis estate, at the Cove. Mr. Crafts is doing considerable job work at the S. V. R. Crosby estate, West Manchester.

The hour of meeting of the W. R. C., Odd Fellows, Red Men, and most of the other orders has been changed to 8 o'clock, instead of 7.30, as during the winter.

A large delegation of Red Men are planning to go to Ipswich next Tuesday evening, leaving here on the 6.31 train, to visit Chebacco tribe, and to take along the "Travelling Leaf," recently left with the local tribe by the Rockport tribe.

The Phi Alpha Pi boys First Aid class are taking their examinations this afternoon at the Story High school under the direction of Drs. Dougherty and Tyler. Special prizes have been offered for the two best examination papers. The club meets tonight to listen to an informal historical talk by Dr. R. T. Glendenning.

The Manchester Woman's club will be represented at the Confederation meeting in Springfield next week by Mrs. John W. Campbell, the delegate elected at the last meeting of the club. Mrs. Campbell will visit while in Springfield Miss Jane Kendall, a former teacher here, now teacher of English in the Springfield High school. She will also visit at East Granby and Hartford, Conn., before her return, Rev. Mr. Lincoln's parents, in the latter, and Mrs. Lincoln's parents in the former place.

The annual reception and reunion of the Story High school alumni association is to be held this year on Wednesday evening, June 16, when there will be a reception, at which the members of this year's graduating class will be guests. An entertainment will follow, and dancing will complete the program. Refreshments will be served. The entertainment will consist, probably, of a farce entitled "The Flying Wedge." Each member of the association will be entitled to two guests' tickets.

The annual meeting of the Manchester Firemen's Relief association was held at the Engine house Monday evening when the following officers were elected: James Hoare, president; Clarence W. Morgan, vice pres.; Samuel L. Wheaton, secretary; Raymond C. Allen, treasurer; Thomas Baker, Charles W. Sawyer and F. G. Cheever, directors. The reports of the secretary and treasurer showed that the association had not suffered the loss of a member during the year, nor had any sick benefits been paid out, so that the financial condition of the association had not been impaired during the year.

Manchester has Low Percentage of Indebtedness.

The state tax commissioner, William D. T. Trefry of Marblehead, has made a report to the legislature in which he gives the valuation of the cities and towns of the state, together with their indebtedness and a final column showing the percentage of debt to the valuation. The figures for Manchester and surrounding places follows:

	Valuation	Indebtedness	Percentage

Society Notes

Mr. and Mrs. John A. McGinley of Pittsburg are not coming to the North Shore this year, nor will any of the members of their interesting family. One daughter, Mrs. Lucius Knowles, will spend the summer on the South Shore, having leased their cottage at Manchester to George E. Warren. The other married daughter, Mrs. Edward Moore of Chicago, will go abroad. The two unmarried daughters will go abroad also.

Dr. Campbell of Flint, Mich., who had the Hood cottage, "Old Fort," on Norton's Point, Manchester, last year, will have the place again this season. Many improvements have been made to the house since last season.

Mrs. Edmund J. Shattuck and daughters, Misses Maude A. and Sarah B. M. Shattuck of Norwood, who have taken the house at Coolidge's Point occupied the past few years by Baron Rosen, the Russian ambassador, are to become permanent residents of Manchester, though they will probably spend their winters in Norwood. Mrs. Shattuck's son, who is in college, will join them later.

Mr. and Mrs. Percival Lombard are among the arrivals at Manchester this week. They have the Winch cottage on Blossom Lane. Mrs. Lombard is a daughter of the later Mrs. George F. Fabyan, and a sister of F. W. Fabyan of West Manchester.

The Thomas McKees have arrived at their summer home in Beverly Farms. Mrs. McKee came on a week ago, and Mr. McKee will join her tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Walker of "Highwood," West Manchester, are sailing on the 29th of this month for Europe, where they will motor for a couple of months, returning to their West Manchester estate in August. Their son, Charlie Walker, will also go abroad and will motor in his own car.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Taintor sailed on the Celtic last Saturday from New York, for a six weeks' vacation trip, most of which will be spent in England and Ireland. They will return to Manchester the latter part of June.

Mr. and Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby and family are moving down to their cottage at West Manchester tomorrow.

Another little son arrived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Forbes (Margaret Winthrop) at Dover the first of last week, the second to gladden their home. The family will probably spend most of the summer with Mrs. Forbes' mother, Mrs. Robert C. Winthrop, at West Manchester. Mrs. Winthrop is arriving the early part of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick F. Carey of New York City are to have the cottage on the Hemenway estate, Manchester, occupied last season by the British Embassy. They spent last summer at Tuxedo Park, N. Y. Mrs. Carey was Miss A. Madeline Lewis, a daughter of Mrs. W. H. Lewis of New York, and a sister of Mrs. Stoughton Bell. Mr. and Mrs. Bell are to have the Kimball farm house at Manchester this summer.

Among arrivals at Magnolia thus far are the Charles T. Dukelows of Brookline, who are at the Ferguson cottage; Mrs. Martha S. Jones, who is at the Covell cottage; her daughter, Mrs. St. Clair, in the James Lee house. Mrs. H. M. Curry and family are to arrive at their summer home within a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Russell, we understand, are not to take a cottage on the North Shore this summer. They will spend the early summer at North Andover, probably, and may come to the shore in July for a month. The past winter Mr. and Mrs. Russell have lived in New York City. Mrs. Russell was at Beverly Farms yesterday and lunched with Mrs. W. A. Russell.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Goddard and family are going to Europe this summer and will leave about the middle of June. They will spend much of their time in the meanwhile at their Beverly Farms cottage.

Richard Stone and family arrived at their cottage in Manchester yesterday.

Ellis L. Dresel of Beverly Cove was among the passengers on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie which arrived in New York Wednesday. He has been touring by motor for the past couple of months through Italy and France.

Horace D. Chapin's cottage at Beverly Farms was opened this week. Mr. Chapin is expected this afternoon.

Jesse Koshland and family of Boston are not moving down to Beverly Farms until the last of this month. They are to have the Apple Orchard cottage, owned by O. H. Luke.

Mrs. W. Scott Fitz is opening her Manchester house next week.

The C. C. Converses of Malden will occupy the Shaw cottage at Magnolia this year, instead of the Joseph Sargent place.

The G. L. Hamiltons of Boston have arrived at Magnolia for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Paine, 2d, sailed last Saturday on the Canopic with their two young daughters, Ruth and Elizabeth, for an ocean trip to Italy. They will be away about six weeks, returning to their estate at Coolidge's Point, Manchester, by the first of July.

Some Pertinent Facts <sup>About</sup> the Imperial Laundry

Our teams call at all beaches and we wish to set forth some pertinent Facts. That every discriminating house-keeper ought to know about the Laundry work as done where hygienic principles are not a secondary consideration. Where, is practised proper sanitary and mechanical conditions. Where, with our equipment of improved machinery, pure soap and separate washing with soft Charles River water, work is done second to none in America. We try to take a personal interest in each and every garment laundered, and believe that a satisfied customer is the best advertisement.

Fact 1:—This is most important, that our water is soft and it is not necessary to use chemicals. This will be appreciated by those whose Laundry has had hard usage.

Fact 2:—We have our soap and starch made especially for us, thereby getting a superior quality of each, pure soap and starch that will neither crack, blister or make saw-edges.

Fact 3:—Our so-called flat work, we believe is the best obtainable. Special care is taken in the ironing and it is returned soft and without odor. Such articles as table cloths, turkish towels, monogramed linen, fringed spreads are thoroughly done and satisfaction guaranteed.

Fact 4:—Laces, lingerie, silks and muslins are handled by the most expert assistants, some of which have been with us a dozen or more years. Shirt-waist work is made a specialty and is unequalled.

The above will appeal to the discerning persons who would like to find a laundry embracing all these features.

It would seem almost too good to be true, but we do it and more. We think, you would not regret giving this fine laundry work, at least a trial.

:: At the Hotels ::

With the opening of the present week a large number of workmen arrived at The Oceanside Hotel, Magnolia, and are now busy putting the house in order for the summer's patronage. The place swarms with a small army of painters, plumbers, carpenters, masons and paper-hangers.

While no extensive changes are being made to the hotel itself, its premises are being improved. Three new clay tennis courts have been added to the two which, for several years, have been laid out on Hesperus avenue. A new rubble wall has also been built in front of the hotel and the entire lawn has been re-seeded.

The hotel management has also seen changes. Charles E. Phenix is still manager but has appointed H. S. Ward of Pasadena, Cal., as his assistant in place of Mr. Eades who has severed his connection with The Oceanside after a long service. Mr. Ward will assume the duties of room-clerk. A. A. Carpenter of Providence, formerly of Green's Inn, Narragansett, will succeed Mr. Ward as head clerk. George Bell will be second clerk. Charles Stainsby, for 12 years at The Profile House in the White Mountains, will come to The Oceanside this year as head-waiter.

At present there is every promise for one of the most successful seasons the hotel has ever had.

Miss Stearns' "Villa" has been leased by the Oceanside hotel, and not by J. Harrington Walker, as previously announced, though the Walkers will occupy the place this summer, as guests of the Oceanside.

Mrs. S. Fisher Corlies and daughter, Miss Margaret Corlies of Philadelphia, are the first of the Oceanside hotel guests to arrive at Magnolia. They planned to come this week, and will occupy rooms in the Flume cottage until the hotel opens in June.

Samuel B. Crombie will be the speaker at the next meeting of the North Shore Horticultural society, Manchester, next Friday evening, May 21: Mr. Crombie is a Manchester young man, home from California for a short visit. He has been engaged in florist business in California.

* Society Notes ***

Miss Elizabeth Cordner and her cousin, Miss Mary Hall, are still in Europe. They recently spent a month in Greece, and were more recently at Rome. They will go to Switzerland before returning home in the early summer, when Miss Cordner will come to the North Shore as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Frick and Miss Helen Frick are still in Europe. They were recently guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Prince at their villa in Pau. They will open their North Shore home at Pride's in June.

It is said that the former Mrs. Leslie Carter, the actress, now Mrs. Payne, is to spend the summer at Beverly Farms, in the cottage on Hart street, leased last year by Mrs. T. W. Pierce. Last Sunday Mrs. Pierce and Miss Adele Ritchie motored over from New York with Mrs. Payne, in the latter's great yellow touring car—a Thomas Big Six. They have been spending the week at Beverly Farms.

Mrs. Howard Winchester was quite ill the first of the week, with a touch of pneumonia, though she is now on the road to recovery.

Interstate Commerce Commission Freight Tariff Inspector Quilty paid a visit to Manchester yesterday inspecting the freight tariffs at the local station.

Joseph Levin, a custom tailor, who is to open a shop at Manchester this summer, has a card on another page of this issue. He will be located in the store on Beach street, near the Breeze office, occupied last season by Johnson & Berquist, tailors.

The Manchester fire department was called out a little before two o'clock Wednesday for a woods fire on land owned by Gardiner M. Lane, on Stevens hill. Gypsy moth workmen were burning out a stone wall, when, aided by a high wind, the fire got away from them and spread to the adjoining underbrush and leaves. An alarm was telephoned in from Boyle's stable. The men at work had started the fire before Supt. Morrison arrived, and the direct blame is due to the workmen and not the Supt. The men ought not to have started burning the wall out with such a high wind blowing.

Miss Bullard, to whose cottage the Manchester fire department was called last week to extinguish a slight blaze, so much appreciated the good work of the department that she sent Chief Hoare a check for $25.00 last Saturday. The chief turned the money over to the Relief association at its annual meeting Monday night.

At the meeting Wednesday evening the selectmen granted a license to Heath Bros. to maintain for a period of five years a fish weir off the Manchester shore. No objection was raised at the hearing given on the question. A garbage license was granted to Henry W. Butler of Magnolia to collect garbage in that section of Manchester.

A signal example of the efficiency of Manchester's Board of Health was the instant attention and care given the Ramsey child aboard the barge "Bluster," last Monday.

When Dr. R. T. Glendenning, the attending physician, reported the case, Dr. G. W. Blaisdell of the Board of Health made an immediate investigation. The symptoms of the disease were puzzling—at times it seemed to be small pox, again incipient diphtheria, and still again the first stages of a much milder malady such as chicken pox. The board, however took no chances—they at once placed the patient in quarantine and withdrew from school nearly a dozen children with whom the afflicted child had played. Later inspection by state experts and by Dr. Thomas Shea of the Boston contagious hospital an authority on contagious diseases, proved that the child's ailment was neither small pox, diphtheria or chicken pox, but a disease of hereditary origin.

The fact that the ailment proved to be harmless does not detract from the good services of the health board in spending a considerable sum for an absolute diagnosis of the case and in withdrawing the children from school.

Had the disease really been small pox, the prompt action of the board of health would probably have saved several lives and would have surely prevented an epidemic.

A copy of the Charlestown Enterprize of May 8 arrived at our desk a few days ago and a perusal of its contents afforded us a pleasant half-hour, for the last number of the Enterprize was a "25th anniversary number." Its 20 7-column pages were brimming over with "write-ups" of the Charlestown district and its business firms and industries, most artistically lighted up with half-tone reproductions of scenes and photographs of its leading men. The Enterprize was established in 1882 and was incorporated two years later.

James Sweinhart of New York City is to be assistant editor of the NORTH SHORE BREEZE this summer, and will take up the work next week. Mr. Sweinhart is a young man, and was formerly of the reportorial staff of the New York Sun. More recently he has been with the Boston Herald. He has been taking a special course at Harvard the past year in connection with his work, and intends to continue his studies at Harvard next fall.

"SUNDAY baseball for school boys is now granted by the New York City Board of Education, which has given permission to the 'Public Schools Athletic League' to use the athletic fields on Sundays, the league taking charge of the field as on week days, and insuring order. The hours are between 1 and 6 in the afternoon."

It is time to call home the missionaries. Here's a fit subject for their efforts!

Look Out for Autos and Spraying Machines on Woods Roads.

Residents along the Shore are receiving a notice from Colonel William D. Sohier for the committee in charge of the moth work in the forests, warning them that spraying machines and automobiles are likely to be encountered in the forest roads.

The notice is as follows: "The spraying of the forests to preserve them from being destroyed by gypsy moths will start in a day or two and continue for about six weeks. There will be eight or nine power spraying machines at work in various places. They will necessarily have to go through the wood roads, and we shall endeavor as far as possible to post notices when they are working on the roads themselves. It will also be necessary in connection with this work to have some of the superintendents go through the wood roads in automobiles while the work is going on, as there is no other possible way of directing the work. These automobiles will be plainly marked by a proper flag and will use the roads as little as possible. I am sending this notice so that people will not be taken by surprise if they meet a spraying machine or an occasional automobile on these roads during the spraying season."

Big Fruit Steamer Slipped on and off Rocks at Magnolia.

After passing through a heavy fog that extended for nearly 1300 miles, the Norwegian steamship Ida Cuneo, laden with fruit and bound from Sania, Cuba, for Boston, struck on the rocks a little west of Norman's Woe, of the Magnolia Shore, early Monday morning. A moment after the crash, however, the vessel slipped off into deep water and after some difficulty in getting away, proceeded to Boston, where she is now in dry dock.

After leaving San Salvador, the fog settled so densely that the lookouts could not see more than ten feet ahead. Capt. Iverson was on the bridge for 20 hours at a stretch. It was the vessel's first trip to Boston and no one on board knew the steamship's position until early Monday morning when the fog suddenly lifted. At that moment the vessel was heading directly for the breakers and a fishing schooner was in its path.

The Cuneo was stopped at once, but it was too late. The crew made desperate efforts to thread the vessel out through the maze of hidden boulders, but the current suddenly caught the craft and swung her round hard against one of the ledges. The life-boats had already been prepared when the vessel lurched, slipped back into the water and slowly drifted away from the rock. Soon after she got away, she was picked up by a pilot and safely guided to Boston.

The Cuneo is 216 feet long and of 1044 tons gross. She was built less than two years ago and is owned in Norway.

Colonial Theatre.

It is a long time since Boston has been taken so quickly and completely by a musical play as it has by Mort H. Singer's production of "A Stubborn Cinderella" now playing at the Colonial Theatre, Boston. The secret of "A Stubborn Cinderella's" success is its life and liveliness. There is a constant whirl of youthful gaiety and seemingly spontaneous fun which wins the audience from the start.

Then again there is plenty of variety in the action of the piece. The first act is all college fun and nonsense, with springtime in the air and fair co-eds and college boys making merry together. The second act brings an entirely new effect, the ludicrous situation of a trainload of passengers who, having been blocked by a landslide and awakened in the small hours of the morning, run hither and thither looking for their clothes and wearing the first thing that comes within their reach. The third act is the most gorgeous of them all, showing an orange fete in California.

The piece is presented by a first-class company.

Lecture on Beverly.

An illustrated talk on "Beverly, the Summer Capital," by William P. Kenney of the Boston Herald, is announced for the week of May 17th to 23rd at the Bijou Dream Theatre, Washington street, Boston. Mr. Kenney is a Beverly boy and is well qualified to speak on the summer residence of President Taft.

Manchester

A parents' meeting, held Thursday evening at the Kindergarten room of the Price Primary school, Manchester, for the purpose of bringing parents and teachers into closer acquaintance, proved so successful that a series of similar meetings will probably be held on frequent occasions next year. An interesting program was followed by a social hour when the many parents present met the teachers personally.

The program was as follows:
Supt. of Schools, Mr. Mackin, "Duties of Parents."
Medical Inspector, Dr. Glendenning, "Medical Inspection."
Violin Solo, Miss Marion Scott
Song, Miss Antoinette Vidal
Supervisor of 1st and 2nd Grades, of Lynn, Miss Ivanette Warren, "Tendencies of Childhood,"

❀ Magnolia ❀

Magnolia roads are receiving more attention both from the Manchester and the Gloucester sides than we are accustomed to. The Gloucester Road Commissioners, especially, have been taking care that Magnolia is receiving due attention and the roads have been top-dressed, the gutters cleaned, young trees have been set out with the aid of the Sawyer Fund and if the water carts are put on soon we shall have excellent streets this summer.

The description of the Men's clubhouse which appeared recently in the NORTH SHORE BREEZE has been reprinted in attractive form for wider circulation. Preparations are being made for May 31, when the clubhouse is to be thrown open to the public. The present rate of progress assures the completion of the building by that time.

Miss Louise Friend gave a farewell party Tuesday afternoon and evening to the young people who took part in the May Festival. During the afternoon the children enjoyed dancing and games and in the evening dancing was in order for the older ones. A very dainty lunch was served by the hostess assisted by her mother and Mrs. Edw. Foster. Miss Friend is a very charming hostess and all present were made to enjoy themselves. The young people departed for their homes at 11 o'clock wishing Miss Friend continued success with her dancing classes and for her return in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Comeau of East Gloucester moved into the cottage on Magnolia Ave., owned by H. W. Butler, the first of the week.

Miss A. S. Higginson who has occupied the Newton cottage during the winter has removed to her cottage at Manchester Cove for the summer.

Returning, the train will leave Boston at 5 p. m., reaching Magnolia at 5.42, Gloucester at 5.51 and Rockport at 5.59 p. m., making no other station stops.

The death of Sturgis H. Peck of South Boston, brother of Mrs. Michael Kehoe, occurred last Monday under very sad circumstances. The accident by which he was crushed nearly to death has been recounted in these columns. He seemed to be doing well when cystitis set in and he died Monday, aged 30. He was buried at Sherborn, after a funeral service at the home of his sister, which was conducted by Rev. F. J. Libby of Magnolia. A male quartet sang three selections. Mr. Peck was a popular young man of exemplary habits and his sudden death was a great blow to his circle.

Newly installed burglar alarm systems in the summer residence of John Hays Hammond at the Cove, frustrated the third attempt in three months to enter the mansion Wednesday evening. Shortly after nine o'clock the caretaker heard the burglar alarm. He telephoned the police at Gloucester and without waiting for their arrival ran to the house, where he frightened away two men who had pried open a shutter.

Sparks from a bonfire set Kehoe Bros' carpenter shop at the Cove afire Tuesday. The fire was discovered in time and promptly extinguished. Very little damage resulted.

Miss Abbie May has been confined to her home on Western avenue the past few days due to a slight illness.

Wm. N. Wilkins and family are in town this week visiting Mr. Wilkins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wilkins.

William O. Linnekin of Gloucester, who attempted suicide at the North Station, Boston, last Friday by taking laudanum and whose life was saved by physicians at the Relief Hospital was well known in this place, being employed as assistant baggage master at the Magnolia station several summers ago, also as manager of the "Alcazar." He is a brother of Archie Linnekin who very nearly lost his life last fall by the upsetting of a lamp.

May Party.

Rowe's garage was the scene of an unusual sight last Thursday evening, when Miss Friend of Gloucester and her dancing classes gave a May Party. The garage was prettily decorated with green and made an excellent setting for the beautiful dances that characterized the party. Miss Friend has shown marked ability as a teacher of dancing this winter, the best evidence possible being the progress of her pupils. The dances were wisely varied and the entire program was a delight. Each number was encored. There was a large attendance, many having come from Gloucester for the occasion. Each performer deserves our special mention but space limitations forbid. The program follows:

A FALSE ALARM

Manchester Small Pox Report Turned Out to be Only a Scare

Manchester had a small pox scare the past week, but fortunately it turned out to be only a scare, for after quick and efficient work on the part of the board of health it was found that the case in hand was not small pox.

Monday morning Dr. R. T. Glendenning was called to the coal barge at Knight's wharf to attend a little child, son of Robert E. Ramsey, colored. Ramsey was in charge of the barge, and his wife and year-and-a-half old son lived there with him. Dr. Glendenning felt at once the case was one which called for immediate action and he accordingly called on the board of health. Dr. Blaisdell, of the board, decided that the case was one which must be treated with care. It looked like small pox. The barge was immediately quarantined, and the state board of health was called upon by telephone. Dr. Hitchcock came out that afternoon. Chairman Knight and the board of health decided on Wednesday to call an expert and Dr. Thomas Shea, in charge of the contagious hospital of the city of Boston, a specialist on small pox and other contagious diseases came out. He decided the case was not small pox; neither was it diphtheria; nor chicken pox. It was a contagious disease, but not of the character first thought. The local board of health immediately called off the quarantine, and the barge was released to leave at its will.

Meanwhile the precaution had been taken against the spread of the disease in case it proved to be of a serious nature. The children who had been at the wharf and played with the colored child were taken from school and steps were taken to guard further against a spread of the disease.

Dr. Glendenning, too, had sent cultures to the state board of health and they made the return that it was not small pox; nor diphtheria. The cultures sent to Dr. Shea were analyzed and Dr. Shea was heard from this morning, the return being practically the same as mentioned above.

Thus, the scare is over and Manchester has nothing to be frightened over. It is good to see the active measures taken by the local board of health, however, to guard against anything that might arise in this connection.

✦ Manchester ✦

There was a flurry of excitement on the lower end of Norwood avenue, near Vine street, this afternoon a little after two when a horse attached to a Gloucester furniture wagon took fright and ran away. The heavy wagon in its wild race swung onto the sidewalk and smashed into a baby carriage in which was Margaret, the six-months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Morley. The baby carriage was smashed and the infant was thrown out, receiving a severe shaking up, though Dr. Blaisdell, who rushed to the scene of the accident a few minutes after it occurred, thinks no bones were broken. The infant was in charge of its brother John, seven years old.

William N. Thwing, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. F. L. Decker, Norwood avenue, the past two months, recuperating after an illness at Syracuse, N. Y., is leaving tomorrow for his home in Woolwich, Me.

The members of the graduating class at the High school have written poems in competition for the "class ode," and yesterday that written by Miss Mabel Lodge was selected for that occasion.

Miss Edith Northup is spending the week-end with friends in Brookline.

Among the Bowlers.

Last Friday night the Seasides and the Surfside played their third game and the Surfside again won, the total scores being 1274 to 1254. George Knight was high man of the match, rolling a total of 272.

Wednesday night the two teams again played, the Surfside winning this time by a big score. Capt. O'Brien of the Surfside was high man of the match, rolling a single of 114 and a total of 296. The team won by the score of 1356 to 1238. This made the third game the Surfside had won and everybody in the alley had a free smoke on the Seasides. The score:

Imperial Invades the Shore.

One of the essential questions which every summer resorter has to consider is that of laundry. For patrons of the North Shore this question will be greatly simplified this season by the advent of the Imperial Laundry of Boston. The Imperial's teams will call regularly this season at all the beaches and North Shore summer places.

Although this is the first season for the Imperial along the Shore, it comes with a record of many years of reliable service, which fully merits the large patronage of society folk which it already enjoys.

North Shore Gardeners Hear Lecture on "American Citizenship."

"American Citizenship" was the subject discussed at the semi-monthly meeting of the North Shore Horticultural society, Manchester, last Friday evening. Sidney Perley of Salem was the leading speaker. Mr. Towne, a Salem teacher, was another very interesting speaker. Others who made remarks along this line were Town Clerk A. S. Jewett, Town Treasurer E. P. Stanley, Dr. Waldo H. Tyler and William Till.

There were several small collections of flowers displayed. A. E. Parsons was awarded a certificate of mention for superior cultivation of cyanthus; William Swan for antirrhinums; C. J. Allen for clematis; Robert Mitchell for box of pansies.

"Gloucester Day" to be Big Event of Summer for the Fish City.

That President Taft will attend the presentation of the "Canterbury Pilgrims," at Gloucester on the evening of Thursday, August 5th, is the latest announcement of the Gloucester Day Celebration Committee. On the same day George von L. Meyer, Secretary of the Navy, and his family will be at Gloucester and it is expected that several ships from the North Atlantic Squadron, as well as the President's yacht, the May-flowers, and the Dolphin, the yacht of Secretary Meyer, will be in the harbor. The presence of these vessels, together with the occasion which brings them, is expected to attract a large number of yachts and pleasure boats from all along the coast.

While in Gloucester, President Taft will probably be the guest of John Hays Hammond at Lookout Hill for the afternoon. Definite arrangements for his entertainment have not yet been made. The committee is of the opinion that the day on which the President is in Gloucester should be made a holiday throughout the city and will take steps to secure that end. In honor of the President a big program of exercises is planned to begin in the morning and end with the splendid pageant at Stage Fort Park.

Keith's.

When the Pianophiends was first produced at Keith's Theatre, this splendid act in which six pianos are on the stage at the same time, and all played by experts, it was regarded as one of the biggest novelties in vaudeville, but the Pianophiends of that time are dimmed by the lustre of the company that is booked for Keith's the week of May 17th, as the entire act has been revised, especially made costumes provided, and new selections and dances arranged for a large company. It will be even more spectac-

Question: Why hasn't the watering trough near Lee's Crossing, Beverly Farms, been opened? Do those in charge expect it will freeze again?

Alfred E. Sanborn was arrested by Chief Ferguson and Officer Williams at the Farms Wednesday night for Deputy Sheriff M. L. Johnson of Union, N. H. Sanborn is the owner of the houseboat off Beverly Farms and it is charged that he stole a cow, out of a pasture at Union last fall, killed and ate the animal. He went to New Hampshire yesterday morning without a requisition.

Among the busy men at the Farms these days is the new firm of gardeners and florists, Carr & Wood, who besides looking after their regular business daily around the various summer estates, spend considerable time in planting the five acre lot on Hart street recently leased from Wyatt & Trowt. At this place they are to raise vegetables and flowers of all kinds. They already have the land pretty well planted.

Wm. Haggerty, a laborer, one of the gang employed in moving a building to the lot near the Farms depot, was injured yesterday afternoon by the breaking of a rope which had a chain attached to it. The force was so great that when it struck Haggerty in the right leg it caused a compound fracture. He was taken to the Beverly Hospital in the ambulance.

D. Linehan & Son have moved the ell of the old Beals house from Beverly Cove to their property near the Farms depot. The building will be remodelled into a two tenement house.

We have just received several bales of wool sponges suitable for carriages; also a finer grade of sponges suitable for boats. D. T. Beaton, Central street, Manchester.

Mrs. Adelbert M. Marshall has returned from spending a few days with friends in Everett.

Don't forget to bring your old rubbers, or anything that is of rubber, to G. A. R. hall next Tuesday afternoon or evening, where a committee from the relief corps will be glad to receive such contributions. They are to have a sale and use the money to buy flowers and pay other Memorial Day expenses.

Mr. Cropper is the new chauffeur for the T. M. McKees and has moved his family into the Luther Ober cottage on Haskell street.

Willis A. Pride was re-elected clerk of the Salem Baptist Bible School association at its quarterly meeting in Beverly this week.

Those who desire to act other than "just so" around the Farms railroad station or adjoining grounds will now have to contend with a new police officer, as S. Frank Currier, the gateman and assistant baggage master, is now wearing a police badge, the result of a recent trip to Boston. He has been made a special railroad policeman.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Ober left Tuesday for Ashdale, Me., where they will probably remain for the next two months. Mr. Ober is to be in charge of some carpenter work on Dr. Bongartz' private sanatorium. Their son Larcom Ober expects to join them later.

Parlor Furniture

Or where its absence eventually brings so much disappointment. It is, or should be, one's first consideration, when buying—the factor of durability should be determined by the reliability of the concern selling; the element of comfort is a less important consideration, for the fact that that is more easy for the manufacturer to attain, and many times is present, when beauty never appears.

You've visited, occasionally, the home that impressed you very poorly—beauty was absent, plenty of furniture there. You've visited others where expense had been considered, yet the parlors were real pretty. Well, one had beauty displayed in it, the other—well, just bought in a careless way. You going to furnish a parlor pretty soon? Now come right in here, and go at the thing just right. Talk over the surroundings, and get our suggestions. They will serve to a good end, and cost you absolutely nothing. Then we will show you a line of goods, selected through the benefits of years of active experience in buying for 3 communities of discriminating people, who have parlors that they are proud of, that have been furnished from our stores.

NORTH SHORE BREEZE

MANCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, MAY 21, 1909.

Society Notes

The indications point to a very busy season on the North Shore. Scores of families have arrived the past week and the shore is assuming much of its summer appearance, both as regards its outdoor beauty and in the number of summer visitors who have already settled here. The demand for cottages is much in excess of former years. Everything points to a busy and a brilliant season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Brooks left Manchester the first of the week and sailed from New York Tuesday on a six weeks' trip to Europe. They will visit Paris and Germany and will return by way of England where they will spend a short while visiting friends, and will join Mr. Brooks' mother, Mrs. Ricketson, and his brother, Walter Brooks. Mrs. Brooks' mother and sister, Mrs. Oakley and Miss Oakley, are remaining at Manchester during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks.

Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Porter and family have arrived at Beverly Farms for the summer, moving down on Tuesday, the 18th. They have taken the Barlow cottage, one of the Arthur Little cottages, occupied last year by the German Embassy. Mrs. Porter's sister, Miss DeCourcy Dewar is coming from Scotland to spend the summer with her.

Edmund Crocker and family of Cambridge will occupy the new Kimball cottage at Smith's Point this summer. This is located off Masconomo street, near the little Episcopal church.

Washington B. Thomas and family have arrived at their summer home in Pride's for the season.

Richard T. Crane, jr., and family, of Chicago, are among the weeks arrivals at Pride's. They are occupying the Alexander Cochrane cottage.

Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter is expected to arrive at the Pickman cottage in Beverly Cove tomorrow. She will have as her guest, Miss Mary Williams, a sister of her son Joseph's wife.

Frederick Ayer and family are expected at their Pride's estate today for the season.

To Celebrate 100th Anniversary of Church.

The committee appointed by the Congregational church and the First Parish, to arrange for the observance of the Centenary of the Congregational church, Manchester, met recently and perfected the organization. Oliver T. Roberts was chosen chairman in place of Dea. Jos. A. Torrey, who felt that his health would not permit him to serve. It was decided that the exercises would be embraced in one day's observance and Sunday, July 18, was set.

The following committees were chosen: Frank P. Knight and Dr. R. T. Glendenning, printing; Alfred C. Needham and D. T. Beaton, music; E. A. Lane and Frank A. Foster, decorations; Albert Cunningham, reception. Rev. L. H. Ruge will have charge of the Sunday services and the general committee of arrangements will consist of Rev. L. H. Ruge, Dea. Jos. A. Torrey, George F. Allen, O. T. Roberts and A. S. Jewett.

While no definite program has yet been decided upon the day's exercises have been outlined somewhat as follows: In the morning there will be an historical address; in the afternoon there will be more addresses; the evening will be devoted to reminiscences. Rev. E. P. Tenney, probably, will deliver the address of the morning and Rev. George E. Freeman, another former pastor, will be asked to speak also. D. L. Bingham, and Prof. Sargent will be asked to take part. Other former pastors than those mentioned above will be invited to take part in the exercises.

Royal Robbins, a summer resident in the Beverly Farms section of the North Shore for so many years, is to have a cottage at Nahant this year

A car load of Judge W. H. Moore's horses arrived from New York a few days ago, for his stables at Pride's.

Society Notes

A number of houses have been leased for the season the past week through the office of T. Dennie and Reginald Boardman. Among them are the following:

The Cobb cottage on Masconomo street, Manchester, to Henry Strong of Washington. Mr. Strong and family arrived yesterday.

The Mansfield cottage at West Manchester to Mrs. Gordon Prince.

The A. L. Daniels house at Beverly Farms to Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Allen of Boston.

The Draper house at Beverly Farms, formerly known as the small Hubbard house, to Count and Countess Wedel of the German Embassy.

The George A. Goddard cottage at Beverly Farms to J. B. Warner of Cambridge. Mr. Goddard and family are to spend the summer in Europe.

Mrs. E. P. Motley arrived at her Pride's estate last Saturday. On the same day the W. A. Burnhams arrived at the Gardner cottage at Mingo Beach hill. Harold J. Coolidge and family arrived at their summer home on Branch Lane the latter part of last week also.

Dr. Franklin Dexter is settled at his cottage in Pride's Crossing for the summer. Gordon Dexter arrived at his place at Beverly Farms last week. Philip Dexter and family moved down to Beverly Farms this week, too, having closed their town house.

Mrs. J. F. Curtis and daughter, Miss Mary Curtis, and son, F. G. Curtis, are among the week's arrivals at Pride's.

The Henry P. Kings of Boston opened their Pride's summer home on Wednesday of this week.

Mrs. A. E. Winslow and daughter of Brookline were in Magnolia, Wednesday, attending to the renting of Mrs. Winslow's cottage to Mrs. William Edwards of Cleveland, who will occupy the cottage this season. Gen. Clarence Edwards, Mrs. Edwards' son, is on the personal staff of President Taft.

Joseph Sargent and Joseph Sargent, jr., of Boston came with their families to Magnolia, Tuesday night, to spend the summer.

TALKS ON GAME OF GRAB.

Rev. L. H. Ruge of Manchester Draws a Golden Rule Lesson.

The Rev. L. H. Ruge of the Congregational Church, Manchester, preached Sunday morning on "They Are Greedy Dogs, Which Can Never Have Enough" (Isaiah 56:11). He said, in part:

"In conversation with a citizen of this place I got this subject. In the course of moralizing he quoted the maxim of a certain man: 'If you see a thing you want grab it,' and the up-to-date wag adds a word of three letters to emphasize the maxim. The practice of this game is very ancient. Let us go back to history to get a good running start.

"Take the case of Jacob. First he grabbed his brother's birthright and blessing, and then he went and played a trick or two on Laban until he cornered all the cattle he had. He also took the two daughters, leaving his uncle with some poor stock Jacob discarded in the branding. Then Joseph, not to be outdone by his father, cornered all the corn in Egypt, and, although in the interest of the people, I feel sure the treasury of Pharaoh did not suffer in the deal.

"The chronicles of civilization show that graballism is not confined to any one race or age. Alexander the Great was great at the game. He grabbed the whole world, we are told, and felt grieved in not being able to grab others from their orbit and swing them round his own. Crassus, Caesar and Pompey were a great triumvirate at the game, and Napoleon was no mean hand at it.

"But until modern times it was played unfair along dark highways and the high seas until the police and man-of-war put a check upon it. The gamblers left the road, pulled down the black flag and now take out New Jersey incorporation papers, which makes the game systematic, scientific, safe and respectable. It now has the sanction of business form. Supreme court judges referee the game and it is strictly in line with commercial and financial evolution.

"The thing I object to in all this ferment of righteousness, is the cheap virtue we ascribe to ourselves for only grabbing 'within reason.' Some of us do not grab, because we do not see anything to grab. The other fellow has a little longer perspective and we merely raise a hue and cry because the other fellow grabs it ahead of us, while for the sin involved we don't care a rap."

Letters remaining unclaimed at Manchester, Mass., P. O. for week ending May 15: Miss E B Andrews, C R Burr & Co, T C Buttimer, Mrs Louise Butler, Edward Carlson, W C Fuller Co, Mrs Flora Hoyt, William Hall, Mrs George Moury, Antonio Smiyonski.

It is an exhibition of reducing valves, showing the effect of the high water service when the reducing valve is used. A. C. Needham has sold his dory launch to in-town parties.

The Memorial exercises at the Story High school will be held on Friday, May 28, at 11 o'clock. All friends of the school are cordially invited to be present.

Public exercises are to be held in the Town hall next Friday afternoon, May 28, at 2 o'clock, by the pupils of the G. A. Priest school. The exercises will be in honor of Memorial Day. Public invited.

Miss Alice G. Knight of this town was one of the graduates of the Posse Gymnasium, Boston, last Saturday. Edward C. Knight of New York, her brother, came on from New York to attend the graduation exercises, spending Sunday with his sister, Mrs. A. C. Needham.

Supt of Streets Crombie has had men at work the last few days spreading tarvia on the streets in the West Manchester section of the town and Beach street. Masconomo and Proctor streets will also be treated. The tank of 8000 gallons arrived last Saturday. The solution is being spread over the road from a watering cart. The result of treating the streets with this material is being watched with interest. One of the chief purposes is to keep the streets free from dust as much as possible.

A delegation of some fifteen Red Men from Conomo tribe picked up the iron trail to Ipswich Tuesday night, where they visited Chebacco tribe, taking along the Travelling Leaf, left some weeks ago by the Rockport tribe. The boys were royally entertained and after the presentation by Selectman Swett on the part of the Manchester tribe, and the acceptance by Selectman George Schofield, sachem of the Ipswich tribe, speech-making was in order. An attractive collation was served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Plans have been perfected for the observance of Memorial Day in Manchester, and will be given in detail in our next issue. A change in the order of the day will be the hour of the public exercises in the Town hall. These have usually been in the afternoon, the parade and decoration of graves following. This year the parade and decoration of graves will be in the afternoon, and the public exercises and address of the day will be in the evening. Rev. Dr. DeWitt Clark of Salem will be the speaker of the occasion. The exercises will be on Monday. On Sunday the Post, Sons of Veterans and Relief Corps will attend worship at the Baptist church, when the sermon will be preached by Rev. T. L. Frost.

A "FLYING SHOEMAN."

James Beaton "Hustles" Orders for Shoes and Sells Them in an Automobile.

There have been stores on mountain peaks, on the seas and in the bottoms of mines, but it remained for Manchester to develop the store that runs around of its own accord and comes to serve you at your door. James Beaton is the inventor and Beaton's auto-shoe store is the newest thing under the sun.

Several years' of poor health resulted in the crippling of Mr. Beaton's activity. He desired, however, to engage in business and his fertile mind thought out a way to do it. He bought an automobile, fitted it up to carry a considerable stock of shoes, after long thought chose a specially attractive line to carry and now goes about from door-to-door fitting all kinds of feet.

The automobile is a Maxwell of 10-horse power. It is fitted with a canopy top and such curtains and storm-guards as to permit Mr. Beaton to go about even in the wildest weather. He enjoys his work immensely and, the harder the storm, the merrier the sport in bucking wind and rain.

Just behind the seat is a big box, well-fashioned and attractively decorated. This is the "store" itself. In this box are shoes for a life-time—soft, flexible leather "slip-ons" for the wee toddlers; strong, calf-skin and horse-hide shoes, some with iron-cleated heels and copper toes for boys and girls of the "roughing it" years. Then there are fashionable patent leathers, low and high, for the gay young beau, and perfect dreams in big-bowed Cinderellas for "sweet sixteens," who are now all rapt up in coming graduation. And, added to these, are the plain, unpretentious shoes of the business man and the easy-shoe for the matron at home. And, last of all, are the great, big, roomy shoes for the old men and their dear old companions who have walked far on Life's rough highway and have many a corn and bunion bespeaking the valleys of sorrow into which they have descended and the mountains of triumph which they have ploddingly scaled. For all such, the auto-shoeman has a few added touches of comfort which he bestows in good measure. For that is his specialty—"comfort, cushion-shoes."

So far, Mr. Beaton's new venture has kept him more than busy. He's on the jump all the time. Some times he has an order in Beverly at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and, three hours later, will find him in Gloucester trying a fit on a bank president, or perhaps, a fisherman. Beaton is the "traveling cobbler," up-to-date.

RANDOM THOUGHTS.

BY D. F. LAMSON.
No. XXXVIII.

The man of the hour is the product of the hour, a trimmer and time-server, more or less; a man for the hour is the man that the hour needs, and must be something more than a trimmer and time-server. The one floats with the current, the other often has to pull against it; the first is a mere politician, the second is a statesman; not to mention later illustrations, Buchanan was an instance of the former, Lincoln of the latter.

There may be as much mystery in a molecule as in a star; there is more in either than we can comprehend; to despise the small and insignificant is no mark of a great mind.

It is often hard to say what is great and what is little; a great deal depends on the view-point; from the top of Mount Washington many of the inequalities of the valleys below are unnoticeable; so must be with many of our distinctions and comparisons to a Mind that is over all.

Missions do not need the endorsement of men like President Taft and Mr. Bryan, but now that they have it so frankly and strongly, it would perhaps be in order for small critics, whether globe-trotters or stay-at-homes, to hide their diminished heads.

Some persons have a way of being positive and dogmatic, whatever the subject under discussion; and when the subject is an unimportant and insignificant one their positiveness and dogmatism become ridiculous.

To acknowledge other people's merit without grudging, to give to all their due, to praise where praise is deserved, to stand aside that others may have precedence, distinguishes the large and liberal mind from the small and selfish one.

After a breakfast at which the brilliant essayist had monopolized most of the talk in his usual downright and imperative manner, Lord Cockburn said to a friend, "I would be glad if I could be as cocksure of one thing as Tom Macaulay is of everything." Exactly; but one who assumes to pronounce upon everything in an ex-cathedra and dictatorial way should be possessed of omniscience.

A thought, like a jewel, depends greatly on its setting; it should neither be encased in paltry metal nor overpowered by distracting gold. The multiplicity or brilliancy of words must not dwarf the idea; on the other hand the thought must not suffer for want of the golden word. Pope and Swift with their harmonious couplets are a warning against the subordinating of the jewel to the setting; Browning and Tennyson may serve as ideal literary lapidaries in their delicate adjustment of the two; to these some would add George Meredith.

Whether sorrows come single spies or in battallions, they are what most of us would probably be kept from altogether; but it is doubtful whether this would be the best thing for us, whether something of the bitter mingled with the sweet of life is not for our best well-being; the fact that troubles of some kind are so universal would seem to prove that it is so; and experience shows that "oftentimes celestial benedictions assume this dark disguise."

A living writer tells us of "The light that failed;" but we had been told long before by a high authority of a light that never failed—the light of wisdom, the light of truth, the light of life; and yet men are continually shutting their eyes and saying they see no such light, and go stumbling on in their darkness; but thank God, the sun shines for those who will look up and see it and rejoice in it.

Some Pertinent Facts About the Imperial Laundry

Our teams call at all beaches and we wish to set forth some pertinent Facts. That every discriminating house-keeper ought to know about the Laundry work as done where hygienic principles are not a secondary consideration. Where, is practised proper sanitary and mechanical conditions. Where, with our equipment of improved machinery, pure soap and separate washing with soft Charles River water, work is done second to none in America. We try to take a personal interest in each and every garment laundered, and believe that a satisfied customer is the best advertisement.

Fact 1:—This is most important, that our water is soft and it is not necessary to use chemicals. This will be appreciated by those whose Laundry has had hard usage.

Fact 2:—We have our soap and starch made especially for us, thereby getting a superior quality of each, pure soap and starch that will neither crack, blister or make saw-edges.

Fact 3:—Our so-called flat work, we believe is the best obtainable. Special care is taken in the ironing and it is returned soft and without odor. Such articles as table cloths, turkish towels, monogramed linen, fringed spreads are thoroughly done and satisfaction guaranteed.

Fact 4:—Laces, lingerie, silks and muslins are handled by the most expert assistants, some of which have been with us a dozen or more years. Shirt-waist work is made a specialty and is unequalled.

The above will appeal to the discerning persons who would like to find a laundry embracing all these features. It would seem almost too good to be true, but we do it and more. We think, you would not regret giving this fine laundry work, at least a trial.

OUR BIRTHDAY.

TODAY is our birthday! Five years ago today THE BREEZE first blew over Manchester and the shore-towns which it covers; and it has been growing stronger and stronger until now it is a veritable whirlwind of business.

The odds have been heavy—at times, well-nigh insuperable,—but THE BREEZE has experienced a steady and rapid growth. Five years ago today the first issue was printed in Beverly and came out, a modest weekly of 16 pages.

Today it is "made-up" and published in Manchester, in an office and printing plant of its own. It comes out with 32 pages, which, in the near future, will be swelled to 40. It gives all the news of the last week from Beverly to Magnolia, and that in an interesting and attractive form which has won wide recognition.

About that 40 pages there is a secret. THE BREEZE has a big announcement to make in the first issue in June and readers should be on the lookout for its first appearance.

Nothing speaks more for the success of THE BREEZE and the approval which it has won everywhere than the fact that the subscribers who first signed their names for the paper, are on our books—and the original list of 310 has grown to something over 2000.

With the advertisers, it is the same way. The ads which appeared in our first issue, are in the issue of today—only many more of them and in much more attractive form. This, together with the orders for printing of cards, posters, and all kinds of fine stationery, cut work and engraving from the towns of the North Shore, from Boston and even from New York City, is but one of many indications of the extent to which THE BREEZE has grown and the good service which it gives to its readers.

In beginning a new year, the Management wishes heartily to thank advertisers and subscribers, through whose loyal support, such a growth and success has been possible.

THE "calling off" of the plumber's strike at Gloucester and Magnolia is a most fortunate happening. The strike practically tied up the extensive building which is now in progress in those places, and, had it continued throughout the summer, irreparable loss would have resulted.

Coming just when it did, in the full swing of the season, the strike was singularly inopportune. Labor unions are great and good institutions; but they are often as inconsiderate, unreasoning and unyielding as they charge their employers with being. A master-plumber in Magnolia declares that he took several jobs at cost in order to keep his men working last winter. When the spring came and the rush was on, they deserted him, not because he was not paying enough, for he has long paid the union scale, but merely in cooperation with their striking brethren in Gloucester. This condition of things is deplorable, to say the least. Still, even under such conditions, the Master Plumbers used good discretion in signing the demands, thus preventing infinite inconvenience to hundreds of summer residents and transients who were in no way concerned.

WITH "Henry" Sullivan chief of the Manchester police department that aristocratic town will have a man on duty who will make a first class official. We predict that Manchester will think well of its choice. Natick boys have a faculty for making good wherever they go and this will prove no exception to the rule.—Natick Review.

WHO'S WHO?

He was drinking the cider,
I wanted a swig,
He was drinking the whole.
I called him a Pig!

Then I thought to myself—
What am I but a pig
Just as big,
To covet the swig,
Yes, all of the swig
For Myself!
A Pig indeed am I.
I am looking for a sty.

J. A. T.

With the Town Fathers.

The board of selectmen of Manchester at their meeting this week voted to instruct the new chief of police to enforce the liquor law in the town, and they also revoked the junk license of Jos. L. Simons of Salem. The board has taken the position previously that the holder of a junk license shall drive his own team; in this case Mr. Simons does not have charge of the business. A license was granted to L. Rosenbloom.

As to the liquor question, the town has been given considerable unjust notoriety the past week, through some evidence presented in court last Tuesday by a man who had been arrested charged with smashing up one of the fishermen's boats at the town landing last Sunday night. The daily papers in this vicinity picked up the statements and wove considerable of a story about them, with the result the town has been given more or less publicity of an unpleasant nature. The whole thing, it would seem, is unwarranted.

Chief of Police Sullivan was not sworn into office until last Saturday night. He did not enter upon his duties until the first of this week. The selectmen at their meeting this week gave him his instructions as stated above.

DEACON KILLAM DEAD.

Prominent Manchester Man Stricken with Paralysis.

Deacon Francis A. P. Killam, one of the best known residents of Manchester, died early Monday morning at his home on Vine street, following a stroke of paralysis suffered several days before. Although Mr. Killam was 85 years old, he had enjoyed remarkable health and his death was entirely unexpected.

Mr. Killam was born on Sept. 11, 1823, at Boxford, Mass. He spent his boyhood there and, when 18 years old, came to Manchester, which has since been his residence. For many years he was in the carpentry business for himself but later joined with the Henry L. Phillips, and maintained that business until Mr. Phillips' death. In 1895, Mr. Killam went into business with his son, Augustus M. Killam. Mr. Killam married Miss Mary E. Martin, but she has been dead several years.

Mr. Killam was a deacon of the Congregational church. He was for some years chaplain of Magnolia Lodge, I. O. O. F. in whose ranks and elsewhere in the community, he was highly respected. He was a charter member of the lodge, and a past grand. He is survived by three sons, Augustus M., Lewis and Cyrus Killam all of Manchester.

Mr. Killam was a man of unblemished character. He was honest and square in his dealings as in his daily life, and it has often been said of him that his word was as good as his bond.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from the Crowell Memorial chapel the Rev. L. H. Ruge officiating. The Odd Fellows performed their services at the grave. The charter members of the lodge,—W. C. Rust, Andrew Lee, John H. Cheever, Henry T. Bingham, Nathaniel Morgan and Henry Dennis,—acted as honorary pall bearers, while four members of the lodge,—Horace Standley, S. Albert Sinnicks, Raymond C. Allen and H. M. Stanley, acted as pall bearers.

David G. Allen Dead.

David G. Allen, a native of Manchester, but, for the last 15 years, a resident of Chelsea, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ernest H. West of 13 Carmel street, that city, last Saturday. He was 88 years old. The body was brought to Gloucester Monday afternoon and buried in Oak Grove cemetery.

The Odd Fellows are planning on giving the Grand Officers a royal reception when they visit here on Thursday evening, June 3. The visitors will come on an afternoon train and will be taken on a sightseeing tour of Manchester. A reception will be held from 6 to 6.30 in the Town hall, followed by a banquet, and this in turn will be followed by a meeting, the feature of which will be the exemplification of the Second Degree.

The Old Corner Store, the home for some many years of the only dry goods store in town, is to be used this summer as headquarters for souvenirs, postals, bric-brac, etc., and incidentally the rear room will be turned into an ice cream parlor, which announcement will be met with approval by the younger element especially. If the weather is warm tomorrow the ice cream parlor will be open for business. It will open next week anyway. This will be a busy spot on band concert nights a little later.

The Ideal in Groceries.

The Cobb, Bates & Yerxa Company, the fancy grocery firm, has doubled the capacity of its store at 176 Essex street, Salem, by purchasing the millinery store of Mrs. J. M. Buck next-door. With this added space, it has undertaken a new departure—the scientific handling of all groceries in a sanitary manner. Beginning with the candy and baked goods, and extending even to the fruits and vegetables, everything is boxed in dust-proof, glass cases.

The store now has two entrances with three big show windows. On the right of the store are the offices and the candy department; in the center, the fruit, vegetable and bakery counters and on the left the cigar and general grocery departments. The bakery counter has a very prominent place and much space is given to it. All the baked goods sold at the store are made there. The bakery now has four times the room it formerly had and keeps busy seven cooks and six girls. With several other improvements, including painting and varnishing of the interior, the store is now an ideal grocery.

The Boston 1915 Movement.

Two important branches of Boston's city life joined the Boston-1915 Movement during the past week. The house-builders of Boston at a "housing-meeting," voted to be represented by a committee of 50 to deal with the housing problem; and, in a mass meeting at Tremont Temple last Friday night, a body of several hundred school teachers and faculty members from nearby educational institutions adopted a resolution of support and co-operation with Boston-1915.

The housing committee of 50 members is to be divided into three sub-committees, one to deal with remodeling old residences into tenements; a second to consider the question of new tenements, and a third, to consider the type of three-story wooden tenement which is especially common in the suburbs.

The mass meeting at Tremont Temple was addressed by Pres. Fredrick W. Hamilton of Tufts College, Prof. Thomas N. Carver of Harvard University, Dean William M. Warren of Boston University, Louis D. Brandeis, Lincoln Steffens and Dr. Charles W. Parmenter, head master of the Mechanics Arts High School.

Is It in Your Home.

The one evening paper of unquestioned authority is the Boston Evening Transcript. While printing the very latest news covering every phase of the world's doings, it never caters to the sensational, and its many special departments in including matters of interest to all members of the household make it the ideal family newspaper.

For nearly four score years the Transcript has stood for all that was best in journalism, steadily increasing its constituency during that time, and today ranks as one of the leaders in the newspaper world.

Any of our readers who are unacquainted with the merits of the paper would do well to send for sample copies (free for the asking) and they will readily see why the Transcript has such a high reputation.

STRIKE CALLED OFF.

Plumbers Again Working at Gloucester and Magnolia, at Better Wages.

The differences between the Master Plumbers of Gloucester and Magnolia and Plumbers' Local Union No. 482 were settled at a meeting held last Monday night. The full quota of plumbers who struck on May 10th is now back at work.

The difference arose over a question of wages. The union scale for plumbers is $3.50 a day for first class workmen. In Gloucester a scale ranging from $2.25 to $3.50 a day was paid. The plumbers demanded that second class workmen be paid $3 a day and, when their demand was refused, walked out.

The strikers numbered 48 and their action tied up many buildings. While Manchester was not affected, plumbing work on every building being put up at Gloucester and Magnolia was brought to a standstill. The new Men's clubhouse at Magnolia, now nearing completion, was delayed and it was the demands of the clubmen that the work be hurried that partly influenced the settlement of the strike.

At a meeting last Monday night, the Master Plumbers met and agreed to the advance in wages asked for. It was the sentiment of the meeting that the Masters could not afford to lose the season's work for the small advance asked.

Edith, the eldest daughter of Sylvester Height is confined to the house with a light case of diphtheria.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy French of Revere were in town over Sunday.

John Culross of Roxbury has accepted a position for the summer as blacksmith for A. J. Rowe. Mr. Culross is well known in Magnolia having been blacksmith for Gorham Davis for several summers.

✦ Magnolia ✦

Mrs. A. C. Thornton has returned to her cottage at Magnolia after a winter spent mostly at Pine Tree Inn, Lakehurst, N. J.

Miss Lillian B. West has accepted a position as clerk with Mrs. Lafayette Hunt for the summer.

Stanton H. King of the Sailors' Haven, Charlestown, will be the speaker in the People's Forum next Sunday evening. Mr. King was here a stormy night in the early winter and few had an opportunity of hearing the delightful address that he gave on that occasion. He is a sailor by early vocation and the breezy ways of those that follow the sea characterizes his forms of expression. His talk is full of native wit and sound common sense and goes home to the hearts of his hearers.

The furniture has begun to arrive for the Men's Club house and the carpenters are nearing the completion of their work. The bowling alleys were finished today. The plumbers' strike is happily settled and the plumbers are finishing their work. Two rooms have already been let. Mrs. and Miss McAuley will come to Magnolia the first of next week and begin getting the restaurant and kitchen ready in order to open that department on Monday, May 31. The grading also is nearly completed. A clay tennis court 100x50 ft. has been built and the croquet ground has been levelled off and terraced. This part of the work has been under the supervision of Mrs. H. E. Edmond's foreman, Gordon Dunbar. All will be ready for the opening on the last day of this month.

After spending a very pleasant week's vacation in company with Mrs. Foster at Wells, Me., Howard Foster returned Wednesday to his duties as driver at the engine house. Mrs. Foster's little brother, Richard T. Long, returned with them for a visit.

The local fire department was called out three times last Saturday for a fire in the woods on the West Gloucester road.

Miss Clara L. Butler spent Sunday with friends at Canobie Lake Park, N. H.

George Story and Gilbert Crispin entertained friends at their camp "Color Guard" at West Gloucester, Sunday.

John J. Chane, chauffeur for R. T. Paine, 2nd., has gone to New York to spend two weeks with friends.

George O. Moulton has opened his garage and stables at Magnolia for the summer.

Boston Theatre.

Thomas W. Ryley's musical comedy sensation, the "Queen of the Moulin Rouge," will begin a limited summer engagement at the Boston Theatre, starting Wednesday, May 26th; the seats for the engagement going on sale Thursday morning, May 20th.

Paul F. Potter, author of "Trilby," wrote the book, and has taken for his theme, two phases of night life in Paris, on the night of the annual studio ball, known as the "Quat-z-Arts," when the gay French capitol is en fete. The other side is shown by a rendezvous of the Apaches in the slum Cabaret in the mont martre section of Paris. Here is introduced the famous Apache dance, and M. Molasso and Mlle. Cario and their assistants in pantomime, depict the life of the lowest and most cowardly thieves in the world.

The story deals with the adventures of the young king Sacha, who is about to be made monarch of Orcania, and the intrigues of the Brigadier General Bonivade of the Orcania army to prevent the young man from taking the throne. Sacha is betrothed to the young princess Marotz, an art student at the Academy Savourette.

The scenes show a roof of the academy, the cafe Quat-z-Arts, and drawing-room of the house of the green shutters, a place in front of the Auratmont, interior of a police station, a street in the Mont Martre, and various other places well known in Paris.

There will be matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

On Monday the theatre will be closed, and on Tuesday, May 25th, will be held the "Gambol of the Lambs," which promises to be the biggest theatrical engagement in Boston in a long time.

Keith's.

A big all round vaudeville bill, made up almost entirely of star features has been prepared for the week of May 24th at Keith's Theatre. One of the most interesting features is Irene Franklin and Burt Green. Miss Franklin has come to the front as the leading exponent of eccentric songs and there is now no cleverer artist in her particular line on the stage.

Edwin Stevens, who was the star in Henry W. Savage's company playing "The Devil," will also be a big feature of this bill, appearing in a series of Dickens' character sketches. Another hit is Charles and Fanny Van in their humorous sketch called "The Stage Carpenter and the Soubrette."

Gymnastic Exhibition at Beverly Farms a Big Success.

The public exhibition given last Saturday night at Neighbors' hall, Beverly Farms, by Miss M. D. Connolly's classes in gymnastics was a big success, both in the quality of the program and in the interest taken in the event by the public, as shown by the large audience present. Every number on the program was good, and merited the approbation of everyone present. The program as printed in our last issue was carried out without a single wait, which speaks well of the management by Miss Connolly; everything went off like clock work. Some 140 persons took part.

In the fancy steps and Swedish exercises by the junior girls there were 64, little Miss Catherine Barry leading. The Dutch dance by Miss May Murray and Miss Prudence Connolly, in costume, made a hit. Miss Gertrude Connolly's Spanish dance was also a pretty feature.

In the Indian club and marching exercise by a division from the women's class there were 36, the march being led by Mrs. E. Fred Day and Miss May Rogers. The exercise ended by the formation of a revolving wheel, with Miss Beatrice Long as the center.

Miss Connolly is to be congratulated on her continued success in this line. She deserves much credit for the good she has done among the young people of this vicinity in this training. Her success was manifested by last Saturday night's performance.

Among those present was Supt. of Schools Safford of Beverly, who has taken occasion to express his appreciation of Miss Connolly's work. Others from Beverly were in attendance. Members of the summer colony were also in evidence.

Whether it was because of his new duties as special police officer about the B. & M. grounds, the anticipated warm weather, or otherwise, S. Frank Currier, the gateman and assistant baggage-master, surprised his friends the first of the week by appearing one day minus the luxuriant beard which he has been sporting all winter. The only explanation that Frank gives, is that he is trying to force the season.

The ladies who took the extra course of six lessons in the gymnasium class volunteered their services last Monday night for a quilting party at the home of Miss May D. Connolly, Oak street. The affair was gotten up for an evening's social and a pleasant time was enjoyed. Before the company departed Miss Connolly was surprised and delighted by being presented with some very beautiful pieces of silver ware.

Miss M. D. Connolly wishes to thank all the members of the various gymnasium classes for their interest and good work at the exhibition last Saturday night, and also to the girls and boys her thanks and appreciation for the five-dollar gold piece, which was an unexpected present, coming to her at the close of the exercises.

Special Memorial exercises have been prepared by the scholars of the Farms school, to be given next Friday afternoon at the school. A delegation from Preston Post, G. A. R., will be present, and it is also hoped that all those who can will be present, especially members of the W. R. C. and parents.

Joseph Macintire and family, who have been occupying the Larson cottage on Hart street since last fall, moved to Beverly Wednesday. Mrs. T. W. Pierce is to spend the summer there.

Preston Post 188, G. A. R., invite the associates, W. R. C., Firemen, and all others who desire to accompany them to the Baptist church, Sunday morning, May 30, to listen to the Memorial Day sermon by Rev. C. S. Pond.

The program of Memorial Day services at the Farms will be printed in next week's Breeze. As there will probably be little or no out-of-door flowers to be had on Decoration Day those who have greenhouses or other ways of securing flowers would do a kindly act by sending same to the Post on Memorial Day morning. A committee will be at the G. A. R. hall on Monday forenoon, May 31, to receive all donations.

Mr. Lawson, the new foreman at J. B. Dow's Sunnyside greenhouses, has moved his family here, occupying rooms in Mr. Linehan's house on West street.

Rev. Clarence Strong Pond has accepted an invitation to address the O. H. P. Sargent Post, G. A. R., at Essex on Sunday afternoon, May 30.

Letters received this week from John L. Woodberry, a Farms young man who went to the Pacific coast nearly a year ago, say that he is leaving California and going to Seattle, Wash., where he will locate for a while, incidentally taking in the exposition this summer.

We Don't Attempt to Give Advice Pertaining to Stocks

But if metal stocks, particularly, were based on the market price of Materials, and if the finished goods' price was based on the cost of raw materials, we'd say that metal stocks today were good things to buy, for never, in our experience, were Metal Goods sold so low, and if we can believe the manufacturers, they are not going to stay so long.

It had two inch corner posts, 1-1/4 inch top rails, eleven 1 inch uprights, and door-knob corner caps. A stunning bed is what you'd all say. Well, think of our surprise, when we learned of its price.

Mrs. Michael Connolly.

Bridget, wife of Michael Connolly, superintendent of the W. B. Thomas estate at Pride's, passed away yesterday morning at the Beverly Hospital from pneumonia, contracted only a short while ago, and which developed from a bad cold. Mrs. Connolly has of late years been in poor health, which probably weakened her to withstand this last illness. She was a woman of retiring disposition, a home lover, and loved by all who knew her. She leaves a husband and five children,—three boys and two girls. Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Margaret's church. Interment will be at Salem.

Society Notes

"Eaglehead" at Manchester is being opened for the season. Mrs. McMillan, who is in Europe visiting her daughter, Lady Harrington, is sailing for home on the 9th of June and will come at once to her Manchester estate. Sir John and Lady Harrington will come to America a little later in the summer for a visit. Mrs. McMillan's granddaughter, Mrs. Gibson, and Mr. Gibson, will come on to the North Shore within a few weeks and will be at "Eaglehead."

Mrs. Jere Abbott, who is occupying the Borland cottage at West Manchester, arrived yesterday for the summer. She is the mother of Gordon Abbott, whose home is nearby. Mrs. Abbott spent last summer in Europe.

Mrs. Gordon Abbott of West Manchester, left Sunday night for Baltimore, Md. to be with her father, Prof. Tiffany, who is ill.

Mrs. John C. Howe and her brother Walter Yates and Mrs. Yates of Boston arrived at Mrs. Howe's cottage at West Manchester last Saturday for the summer.

The birth of a son keeps the Rev. and Mrs. William H. Dewart at their Brush Hill, Milton, home, longer this spring than usual, but they are expected at their Manchester Cove place before the middle of June.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thorndike of Boston, with their family, will occupy the house known as the Woodbury cottage, on Wm. Endicott's estate at Pride's Crossing this summer.

Mrs. J. Theodore Heard and family closed their town house at 20 Louisburg Sq., Boston, the last week and are at their Magnolia summer home for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Walker left Manchester yesterday and are sailing from New York tomorrow for a few months' auto tour abroad. Their son, Charles Cobb Walker, will motor with them.

GARDENING IN WEST.

Samuel B. Crombie Tells of Yellow Peril in the Gardening of California.

At the regular semi-monthly meeting of the North Shore Horticultural society at Lee's hall, Manchester, last Friday night, Samuel B. Crombie, a Manchester boy, who has spent the last four years as a horticulturist on one of the largest gardening farms near the city of Los Angeles, told of the work in California.

He began with the private gardening on the large estates. There, he said, the demand for bedded flowers is not so great as it is in the East, because flowers bloom abundantly during the entire year and grow with almost no care at all. Geraniums, heliotropes, fuchias, roses, plumbago and the bougain-villea bloom the year round. The last two plants grow to a height of from 15 to 25 feet and have flowers of excellent color and delicious fragrance.

Most of the great commercial gardens are located on the out-skirts of the large cities. Around Los Angeles the transportation facilities by road and rail are excellent. Many of the flowers grown in-doors in the East, are there grown out side in patches covering acres. The out-door roses and carnations are especially good in the spring. The soil is exceptionally fertile, and a lack of humidity in the air, produces a weather which, while sunshiny, seldom becomes too hot to be comfortable. Los Angeles has just appropriated $23,000,000 for a new water supply from the mountains and this will greatly aid the flower growers in that vicinity.

While there are not a few serious obstacles to be overcome in gardening in California, the gravest problem at present is that of the Japanese labor. The Japanese who have turned their attention to horticulture have become exceptionally skilled. In some cases they exceed the genius of the Americans and produce better flowers. It is a Japanese custom to hire out very cheaply on an American flower farm and work until he has mastered the craft; then to leave, take land for himself, and sell his flowers in the market at a price much below that of the American. This practice has already resulted in bitter feeling between the two races. The low wages for which they work, results in the employment of thousands of Japanese workers over the heads of American horticulturists.

Market gardening and the nursery industry employs thousands of Chinamen. In many ways they have proved themselves much more skilled than the white man.

Special Town Meeting.

A special Town Meeting for Manchester is called for Monday evening, June 7, at 7.30 o'clock to see if the town will buy the "Old Corner Store" lot, so-called, with buildings thereon, and also to see if the town will enlarge Rose-dale cemetery by the purchase of a strip of land. It is understood that a new and very attractive proposition will be offered in connection with the purchase of the Old Corner Store property. Following is the warrant:

Art. 1. To choose a moderator.

Art. 2. To see if the town will acquire by purchase or otherwise the parcel of land with the buildings situated thereon, bounded by Central street, Church street, land of Orthodox Congregational society and the Town common, and appropriate money therefor, or take any other action relating thereto.

Art. 3. To see if the town will purchase as an addition to its cemetery on Rosedale avenue, the lot of land now owned by Oliver T. Roberts, situated on the southerly side of Rosedale avenue and bounded easterly by land of Jacob Haskell, southerly by land, now or formerly, of C. L. Crafts and of Davis Baker, and westerly by land of the heirs of John Collins, and appropriate $350 therefor.

William White left yesterday for Quissett, Cape Cod, where he goes to take charge of a power plant for the summer, for the well known electric engineers, Stone & Webster, of Boston. Mr. White has been working at Mr. Frick's private plant at Pride's Crossing recently.

The new pumping station at Gravel pond is very nearly completed and it is now thought that the pumps will be started within the next ten days. It is planned to pump water into the old stand-pipe until well along in July so as to give the new concrete structure plenty of time to harden before filling it with water. Manchester new water supply and high service system is attracting considerable attention in the outside world. Last week the Christian Science Monitor devoted a conspicuous part of its front page to a "write-up" of the system. Officials from various towns and cities contemplating the installation of water systems or improvements have come to Manchester. The gas producing power plant is not used very extensively in the east. Nor are concrete standpipes very numerous.

"Mystery Isles" New Name of Islands off the Beverly Farms Shore.

Misery Island, off the Beverly Farms shore has taken on new life this year, after a few seasons of inactivity, and seems likely to become popular with North Shore folk, under the new conditions of control. This has now passed into the hands of Edwin Garsia of Boston and Chestnut Hill, who has secured the property on a long lease, and he already has begun improvement which will make the place vastly more interesting. The first step to this end was a change of the name of the larger and smaller islands to "Mystery Isles," by which they will be known in the future says the Transcript. From plans by landscape architects, the larger island will show notable changes, with new roadway constructed. Many shade and decorative trees have been set out and flowering shrubs planted. The plans call also for the building of a swimming pool between the two islands, where a connecting wall will be built.

Mr. Garsia is having the former clubhouse on the larger island (the smaller island lacks buildings) made over to adapt it to purposes for a casino, and the changes in the service end and elsewhere will be such as to provide entire comfort for those making use of the place. It is intended to place the service department and restaurant under the charge of an experienced New York steward, who already has been engaged. He long has been accustomed to catering to the creature comforts of Newport summer cottagers and those at Narragansett Pier and like places. New boats are now under construction for use between the island and the main land at West Beach, Beverly Farms, and the new landing pier at Manchester. Private yachts and other craft will be permitted to land passengers at the island only under certain restrictions which have been made to maintain the high character which it is intended to establish for this place.

The bungalow which formerly belonged to the late Charles Stedman Hanks, who was so active in promoting the development of Misery Island in its earlier seasons, when several bungalows were built, has been remodelled and renamed "The Gables," and this attractive little place will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Garsia. George N. Towle, the Boston banker, who bought several summers ago, the bungalow formerly belonging to J. C. Rogers, has caused some changes to be made there, to make it more comfortable and will occupy it this season. At the George Lee bungalow, sold last November to Joseph B. Henderson of Brookline, D. Linehan & Son have built a fine tennis court. What has been known as the "Governor's Cottage," once used by the governing board of the Misery Island club, has undergone remodelling and is now enlarged. It has been leased to Benjamin D. Shreve of Salem. The bungalow called "The Breakers" has been moved to a better position and has been leased for the season by Frank D. Stevens of Boston. The "Caddie House" has been rented by C. T. Keller of Boston. J. F. Sheldon of Belmont built about a year ago, a new bungalow near that of Mr. Towle.

At "Mystery Isles" this summer there will be quite a colony of cottagers, in addition to the life which the casino is likely to create. The only other bungalow on the island is that of T. Clarence Hollander of Boston, whose summer residence is at Wenham Neck, from which place he has in past summers made trips as frequently as inclined to the island, for brief or long visits. Mr. Garsia has plans as yet not fully completed, for erecting still more small bungalows during the coming season, to be available for future years. Development of the land and its natural conditions will go on, as well, so that eventually this former barren spot will be greatly transformed.

We have just received several bales of wool sponges suitable for carriages; also a finer grade of sponges suitable for boats. D. T. Beaton, Central street, Manchester.

Manchester's New 1,000,000-gallon Standpipe to be Finished First Week in July.

MANCHESTER'S NEW CONCRETE STANDPIPE

RAILWAY USED TO HAUL MATERIAL UP TO NEW STANDPIPE ON MOSES HILL
Courtesy Christian Science Monitor

The work on the giant standpipe on Moses Hill, the most striking feature of Manchester's new high-pressure water system, is fast being completed and the formal opening, it is now expected, will take place in the first week of July.

The reservoir will rise from Moses

Hill to a height of 77 feet. It is 50 feet in width inside and will hold more than a million gallons. In the sunken-well system, now in use, the pressure at the lowest point in the village is about 75 pounds; but the great capacity of the new reservoir, together with the fact that its floor is eight feet higher than the high water level of the present tank, will assure a pressure of at least 115 pounds at the lowest point of service.

The reservoir is the third of its kind to be built in this state and is one of the best in the country. It is being constructed by Simpson Brothers corp. of Boston at a cost of $29,150. Ground was first broken on Dec. 1 of last year, and actual work of construction three months later.

With its walls of cement and ribs of steel, this tower seems built for ages. The engineers in charge first considered building it of steel, but it was found that, while cement construction would cost about 25 per cent. more at the start, it would save many times that from its durability, freedom from maintenance charges and small leakage.

To get the material to the top of the hill, it has been necessary to build a temporary cable railway. At present the standpipe has risen to a height of about 65 feet.

High Surf Sunday.

Hundreds of sight-seers were attracted to Singing Beach, Manchester, and other points along the North Shore last Sunday, by a surf that ran high all along the New England coast. The waves were nothing to be compared with those that are thrown against Eaglehead in the fall and winter, but they were sufficient at times to run up half-way to the bathing houses and to cover the beach with foam.

A brisk east wind blew all morning, quieted down during the afternoon, but rose again at nightfall, and when darkness came, the waves were piling as high as at any time during the day. There were many sight-seers who continued on the beach after night had settled. Some, perhaps authors who had come out to get impressions of the sea at night, were seen taking notes. About 9 o'clock, huge storm-clouds began to appear on the horizon and the surf-watchers soon dispersed.

The Oldest in Beverly.

The distinction of being the oldest firm in Beverly doing business under the same name belongs to John B. Hill & Son, jewelers. The business was established in 1844 by the late John B. Hill and until 1864 it was located on the site of the present Masonic block, but since that date it has occupied a location at what is now numbered 160 Cabot street, and is conducted by a son of the late Mr. Hill, John F. Hill.

To scores upon scores of well known North Shore families the name John B. Hill & Son is very familiar, for it stands first, last, and always for reliability when watch repairing or anything in the jewelry line is mentioned. For a number of years the firm has given particular attention to the care and winding of fine French clocks, and owners of fine French clocks, and costly time pieces such as are found in many of our North Shore houses have obtained the very best service in this line from this concern. The repairing of jewelry, china, cut glass, silverware, bric-a-brac, etc., is also done.

Incidental to the founding of this well known business concern, but nevertheless serving as a treasured memento of the enterprise of its founder, is the first dollar taken by Mr. Hill on Nov. 1, 1844, the day he started in business. It is a silver dollar and bears the date 1798.

"What I did with an Old Farm House" is the subject of a very interesting page of pictures in the current issue of the Ladies Home Journal, in which is portrayed the Roland C. Lincoln summer home at Manchester. The brief description with the pictures—both exterior and interior—tells that the original house is more than 200 years old.

Devereux Milburn of New York, who has played with the Myopias and is popular with them, is the fourth member of the American polo team now playing in England and which has challenged for the American cup held over there. He sailed Wednesday on the Lusitania with Foxhall Keene, who is not a member of the team, but who will be on hand in case a substitute is needed.

Summer Resident.

Dr. Charles B. Porter, who died suddenly at his home, at 5 Arlington street, Boston, late last Friday, was for many years a summer resident at Beverly Farms.

He was born at Rutland, Vt., 69 years ago. He was graduated from Harvard in the class of '62 and, later, became a demonstrator of anatomy at Harvard Medical school. During the later years of the Civil War he was a surgeon at the Armory Square hospital at Washington, D. C. After the war he became a surgeon at the Massachusetts General hospital and also professor of clinical surgery at the Harvard Medical school. He retired from both positions six years ago.

Dr. Porter married Miss Harriet Allen of Cambridge, who, with one son, Dr. Charles A. Porter of Boston and Beverly Farms, and three daughters, Mrs. Percy Musgrave, and the Misses Hortense and Rosamond Porter, survive him.

Largely attended funeral services were held at Emanuel Church, Newbury street, Boston, at noon Monday. Among those in attendance were a large number of the medical profession. The Rev. J. Townsend Russell of New York City officiated.

:: At the Hotels ::

The opening of the hotel season, now but a couple of weeks distant, has brought a small army of all kinds of workmen to the Magnolia hotels and the work of improvement along a hundred lines goes on from sun-rise to sunset.

At the Oceanside, things are nearly in spic and span shape already, though the hotel does not open until June 11th. Manager Phenix and his corps of assistants have been working for several weeks and are still busy perfecting the system of management necessary for the entertainment of the host of patrons already booked at The Oceanside. At present it seems that the hotel will be filled or nearly so during its first week after opening.

If the hot weather of the last few days continues, the big hotel will become a small city on its opening day, and the preparations going on to equip and provision the house are enormous.

At the Hesperus, things are also moving lively. Mrs. C. G. Francis, who has the management of the hotel this year, is on the scene supervising the work of half a hundred painters, carpenters and decorators and the house is fast being put in order. Mrs. Francis comes from The Abbottsford, Commonwealth avenue, Boston, and is planning many new forms of entertainment for guests at the Hesperus. She has engaged an orchestra made up of members of the Boston Symphony, and, in music and dances, will introduce many features which have never been carried out at Magnolia. With the new management, comes a new chief-clerk, D. W. Lakeman, formerly at the Empire hotel in Boston. Russell Dean Francis, a son of the manager, will be second clerk. O. A. Sawyer, formerly at the Massoit, Springfield, Mass., will be head-waiter. The beautiful manner in which the grounds of the Hesperus are being laid out is due to the skill of James Mengies, the gardener and landscape artist. He has been engaged for the season. The Hesperus opens on June 20th.

The Aborn hotel will be run as usual by Mrs. Carney. Manager Remick arrived this week and is now supervising the work of putting the house in order. Prospects at the Aborn are for a larger season than usual.

The Brownland cottages at Manchester are opening next Wednesday, June 2.

Some Pertinent Facts About the Imperial Laundry

Our teams call at all beaches and we wish to set forth some pertinent facts. That every discriminating house-keeper ought to know about the Laundry work as done where hygienic principles are not a secondary consideration. Where, is practised proper sanitary and mechanical conditions. Where, with our equipment of improved machinery, pure soap and separate washing with soft Charles River water, work is done second to none in America. We try to take a personal interest in each and every garment laundered, and believe that a satisfied customer is the best advertisement.

Fact 1:—This is most important, that our water is soft and it is not necessary to use chemicals. This will be appreciated by those whose Laundry has had hard usage.

Fact 2:—We have our soap and starch made especially for us, thereby getting a superior quality of each, pure soap and starch that will neither crack, blister or make saw-edges.

Fact 3:—Our so-called flat work, we believe is the best obtainable. Special care is taken in the ironing and it is returned soft and without odor. Such articles as table cloths, turkish towels, monogramed linen, fringed spreads are thoroughly done and satisfaction guaranteed.

Fact 4:—Laces, lingerie, silks and muslins are handled by the most expert assistants, some of which have been with us a dozen or more years. Shirt-waist work is made a specialty and is unequalled.

The above will appeal to the discerning persons who would like to find a laundry embracing all these features.

It would seem almost too good to be true, but we do it and more. We think, you would not regret giving this fine laundry work, at least a trial.

Memorial Day.

WITH Memorial Day hard at hand, there comes to mind the preachment of Mr. Modern Hardsense, that this is an idle day of mourning worse than useless, doomed soon to pass unobserved, and, in time, to be forgotten.

It is to be regretted that there is not more today to disprove Mr. Hardsense's assertions. There is now a sad, but, nevertheless, a wide and certain tendency wholly to obliterate Memorial Day's true meaning. In the infancy of the present generation, youngsters were up at day-break, to walk, perhaps miles, to the nearest city or town, to see the regiments of the Grand Army turn out in dress parade, marching, with music soft and slow, to the cemetery on the hill. And in the cemetery—there they stood for hours, home and dinner forgotten, watching the soldiers pass up and down strewing the graves of their comrades with flowers.

But today there is a new order of things. To the great majority of Americans, Memorial Day is only one of sport or recreation. Our youngsters are up before the day digging worms to go a-fishing, and, before the sun is high, the streets ring out with cheers for the victorious baseball team on its way to another battle. Those other battles, Gettysburg, Antietam, the Wilderness, on whose issue the nation waited breathless—why, what are they today, compared to victory or defeat for Sox or Giants?

Well, perhaps it is better so. Wise philosophers tell us it is noble to forget sorrow; sociologists, that he who mourns is dead; and historians that ingratitude is the history of nations. All this means simply that, if America forgets fittingly to honor her dead, she is progressing naturally, as nations have through all ages of which we know. They tell us, truly enough, that we do not grieve now for the burn or the cut of a year ago. Why then, Mr. Hardsense asks, should a nation mourn for a wound that has lost its sting?

There are some hearts, however, in which the true memorial spirit still is green and blossoms every spring. They are the hearts of the venerable fathers and mothers whose once-stalwart sons have lain buried on the hillside, these forty years and more. The mother-heart and the father-heart do not forget, even if nations do. Once a year these come to point out where Johnny lies, or Willie, or Jim or Joe, to plant a sprig or two, to spend an hour in tearful reminiscence of their birthdays, their childhood, and of that last goodbye, when, with flags flying, drums beating and the tread, tread, tread of a thousand feet, they marched away to war. The day must come when Memorial Day will fail to draw forth even these—but only when they too lie with their sons on the hillside.

It is fitting that, this year, something exceptional should be done. Behind the sorrow of the civil war is a memory that consoles and inspires,—the memory of the face of "Father Abraham." This year marks the century of his birth. For this once, at least, it is eminently fitting that Americans should put aside their zeal for business and search for pleasure, to observe the day with those rites which custom says are proper and all the world says are beautiful.

The Season's Prospects.

A FEW more days now, and the summer season of 1909 will be in full-swing. For a month and more, families have been arriving at their homes in Manchester and the surrounding summer places, but the warm weather of the last week has started the full quota of North Shore residents for the seashore.

At present there is a prospect for a season of exceptional brilliance. At Magnolia, there has been an unusual demand for hotel accommodation and all the summer cottages were let long ago. The good weather of the last week, with Memorial Day at the end, led many who had been holding off in anticipation of a cold snap, to put aside their fears and pack off bag and baggage. Summer residents generally like to start the season before Memorial Day.

The exodus to the seashore is very apparent in the city. A walk up Commonwealth avenue or Beacon, Newbury or Marlborough streets in Boston discloses the fact that nearly every other house is done up in its summer barricade of boarded doors and shuttered windows. Very few persons are seen coming or going on these streets and there is every indication to show that the long, dull "dog-days" are again near at hand.

Announcement.

AN important announcement will appear in next week's issue of the Breeze, and readers should be on the alert to see it. Long-considered plans looking toward the additional attractiveness of the paper and better service to its patrons are to be put into effect, with the result that the Breeze will become one of the brightest and liveliest weeklies in New England.

✦ Manchester ✦

The general contract for building Philip Dexter's new summer residence at Manchester has been awarded to contractor Abbott of Boston. Work will be started very soon.

To many of our older readers a "nigger election" suggests a whole lot of things, for years ago the last Wednesday in May was given over to a celebration designated by that term. The last celebration of the kind in Manchester was just 48 years ago Wednesday of the last week, we are informed. At that time the Gloucester company of the militia came to Manchester and everybody turned out for a real good time. Some forty young pigs formed the principal viand of the dinner that day. Proprietor Haskell of the Manchester House had all he could do to accommodate the crowd of visitors. In the afternoon the soldiers went to Singing Beach. Targets were set off the beach and the company engaged in practice target shooting.

A son arrived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mitchell, Forest street, recently.

The attention of Chief Sullivan of the police department has been called to disturbances of prayer meetings at the Baptist church, by street rowdies who take a peculiar delight in rapping on the doors or sides of the church building, blowing out the lights and other similar inconveniences. Speaking yesterday of the complaints of the church people, Chief Sullivan said: "This thing has got to stop. Now that spring is here, everybody likes to be out doors and it is not surprising that girls and boys of all ages are seen on the streets even at night. Still it is necessary that they behave themselves, and such actions as those reported will not be tolerated for a moment. If it goes on, some of them will be paying such fines as will stop their pranks for this season at least."

Supt. of Streets Crombie announces that he will permit the dumping on his land at the corner of Essex and Pleasant streets. With the Beach street dump closed by the park commission, the town has been considerably inconvenienced for dumping facilities. Supt. Crombie's offer will relieve the situation.

The Grand Officers are to visit Magnolia lodge of Odd Fellows next Thursday on which occasion they will be royally entertained. A committee composed of Fred K. Swett, O. T. Roberts, H. T. Bingham, E. Policeman Sheehan went over to Deer Island last Friday to interview George A. Gage, charged with stealing a painters working outfit, valued at $42.00, from James Van Slyke employed at Lane's paint shop. Gage is serving a term on the island for a crime committed in Jamaica Plain. Sheehan succeeded in getting from him what he did with the stolen articles, and later recovered them at a pawn shop at Merrimac and Staniford streets, Boston. It was returned to its owner.

At a recent meeting the school board elected the teachers for the coming year, and with one or two exceptions the staff will be the same as last year. Miss Lena M. Jones has been elected a teacher of one of the grades at the G. A. Priest school, to complete the link broken by Miss Tozier's resignation last term. Miss Jones is a Manchester young woman, and has taught the past year at Hingham. It is understood that Miss Babcock, who has taught the Kindergarten so successfully since its installation here, will not return in the autumn.

The Manchester police have just been supplied with new Colts revolvers in place of the small-calibred weapons which they have carried for a number of years. The new revolver is of a type known as the Police Positive, with 38-calibre, 5-inch barrel and repeating action. It has a carrying power of about 1500 yards. The same type is now in use in the Boston, Everett and Peabody departments. Target practice with the new weapons will soon be started under the supervision of Chief Sullivan. If bandits or highwaymen begin operations this summer, the Manchester police will be ready for them.

On another page, announcement is made of the coming opening of the B. S. Bullock ice cream department on June 1. Mr. Bullock will continue to extend his service all along the Shore this summer.

Announcement of the winners in the First Aid Class contest of the Phi Alpha Pi Boys was made early in the week. Allen McKinnon won first place, Roland Knight, second, and Fred Jackson was given honorable mention.

A delegation of Pilgrims from the local colony attended the gathering of the Pilgrim Wanderers at Salem, Wednesday night.

Miss Alice Blaisdell has been paying a short visit with her brother, Dr. G. W. Blaisdell and family the last week. Miss Blaisdell is leaving the middle of June in company with her sister, Mrs. George Tucker and Mr. Tucker of Amesbury for Seattle, Wash., and other points of interest in the West.

The new wood drive from Manchester to Hamilton, over the road opened in connection with the additional water supply, is already proving a popular one. The road will be improved later.

Entertainment to be Given in Manchester in Aid of Beverly Hospital.

Under the auspices of the Manchester Woman's club the dramatic club of the First Parish of Beverly is to present a play in the Town hall on Wednesday evening, June 9, at 8-o'clock, in aid of the Beverly hospital. That is, the funds derived from the entertainment are to be devoted to the Beverly hospital work, the precise details of which have not yet formulated.

This announcement should be met with interest by the townspeople in general, for if there is any charity that comes close to all, poor and rich, young and old, it is the hospital. The appreciation of the efforts of our woman's club in this direction should be demonstrated by a "full house" on Wednesday evening, June 9.

The dramatic club of the First Parish is not the club from Beverly that gave a show in the Town hall last week; it is an entirely different set. The play to be given is "The Snowball," a farcial comedy in three acts by Sidney Grundy. The cast includes the following:

- |                    |                    |
|--------------------|--------------------|
| Felix Featherstone | William O. Safford |
| Uncle John         | Walter H. Towne    |
| Harry Prendergast  | Warren Bulkeley    |
| Mrs. Featherstone  | Mrs. William Hurd  |
| Ethel Granger      | Miss Mary Bulkeley |
| Penelope           | Miss Marion Swasey |
| Saunders           | R. Robertson, jr.  |

The tickets will be 25, 35, and 50 cents, the latter two being for reserved seats which will be on sale at Cheever's drug store Tuesday night. Children of club members will have 25-cent tickets for sale and these may be exchanged for reserved seats at Cheever's with the addition of 10 or 25 cents as the case may be.

The dramatic club gives its services free; now let everybody take hold and make a grand good thing out of this, the first move made to advance the interests of our nearest hospital. There's no knowing how soon any of us will need its services.

With the Bowlers.

The bowling alley, Beach street, Manchester, will be closed on the afternoon of Memorial Day, Monday, May 31. Open all the forenoon until one o'clock; closed one to five; open five to eleven.

Next to Men's Clubhouse

✕ Magnolia ✕

The grand opening of the Men's Clubhouse will take place, as announced, next Monday. The furnishings have been arriving during the past week by every freight and the house will be ready for occupancy as promised. On Monday the entire building will be thrown open to the public for inspection. Everything will be free, the bowling alleys and pool tables will doubtless receive generous patronage and in the evening there will be a social dance. Theodore D. Martin, the manager, will be present, coming on from Hamilton College to spend next week in becoming familiar with his increased duties before taking his college examinations which come later in June. To this opening of the Clubhouse everybody is invited.

Miss Annabelle Tenney of Everett was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Richardson over Sunday.

Harry Lycett who has been employed in Waltham during the winter returned last week and is with his brother Philip Lycett, as clerk.

The many friends of Frank F. Story will be sorry to learn of his sudden illness. He was at work in his fish market when he was taken ill very suddenly. He was removed to his home on Western avenue by Ernest L. Murger of Gloucester who happened to be at work nearby.

Mrs. Elbridge Knight was in town visiting friends Wednesday.

A Memorial Service will be held at the Village church next Sunday morning to which the local members of the G. A. R. Post, and Sons of Veterans are cordially invited.

Mrs. Philip Lycett and daughter Phyllis returned Tuesday from a two-weeks' visit in Somerville, where they were the guests of Mrs. Deane.

Dr. H. S. Warren of Beacon street, Boston, has moved his family for the summer to Hoyle Cottage, Magnolia, and has there opened his office.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Butler who have rented their cottage on Western ave. for the summer are enjoying camp life at Rust's Island, West Gloucester.

We are pleased to report that Mrs. Harry Hannaford who has been confined to her home the entire winter is so far recovered as to be able to leave this week for Connecticut where she expects to spend several weeks visiting friends.

The Women's Clubhouse will open its third season next Tuesday. Mrs. Harry C. Foster who has been the efficient and popular matron since the clubhouse was opened will continue to manage its affairs. Half of the rooms are already let for the season. The prices have been raised to $45 and $50 for the four months. The increase of $5 is to be applied to establishing a sinking fund for the reduction of the $1500 mortgage.

Fifty pretty Bentwood chairs, stained green have been added to the equipment to take the place of the folding chairs around the room. Eighty folding chairs have been sold to the Men's Clubhouse to cover this expense. The girls already in Magnolia have been dropping in at the Clubhouse the past week to find out when it would be opened and many expressions of appreciation of its many benefits have been given. Refreshments will be served on the opening day, next Tuesday, in the evening.

James McDonald of Quincy, Mass., was in town over Sunday guest of his sister Mrs. Daniel Chane.

The Davis Automobile Garage, kept by Frank H. Davis on Raymond street, Magnolia, will make a new departure this season and rent touring and motor cars by the hour or day. During the winter, a good deal of work was done on the garage and it now has spacious room for careful storage and every facility for equipment and repair.

Mrs. Eliza Crombie Dead.

After an illness of several months, Mrs. Eliza Crombie, widow of Charles P. Crombie, died at her home on Pleasant street, Manchester, early Tuesday afternoon. Funeral services were held at Memorial Chapel at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon. The Rev. Theodore L. Frost officiated and interment was in Rosedale cemetery.

Mrs. Crombie had been ailing for some time with Bright's disease. A week or two ago, her son Samuel, who has been living in the West, came home to be with her, and, for a time, she showed improvement. Another son, Carroll, came home from Battle Creek, Mich., last week but returned Saturday. A turn for the worse came late Monday night, however, and she sank rapidly until the end.

Mrs. Crombie was well known in Manchester, as a woman of great kindness and generosity. In time of sickness in the neighborhood, she was often the first to offer a helping hand, sometimes, the only one. She was a member of the Baptist church and, William Jeffrey Colony of the Pilgrim Fathers, and one time was prominently connected with the local Woman's Relief Corps.

Mrs. Crombie was born in Manchester 57 years, 5 months ago, a daughter of the late Ezra and Rachel Stanley of Forest street.

She is survived by five sons, Charles P., of Lynn; Carroll, of Battle Creek, Mich.; Samuel B., of Los Angeles, Cal.; and Ezra and Enoch Crombie of Manchester, and one daughter, Mrs. Rachel Hadley. She also has three brothers and two sisters living.

John E. Lee Dead.

John E. Lee, an old and highly esteemed resident of Essex, but formerly of Manchester, died yesterday morning of heart disease, at his home, at the age of 76 years. He had been ailing for some time, but so sudden an end was not expected. Funeral services will be held at Memorial Chapel, next Sunday afternoon at two o'clock.

Mr. Lee is survived by a widow, a son and daughter, Edward Lee and Mrs. Sadie Andrews, both of Essex; a sister, Miss Emily Lee of Manchester; a half-brother, William Sturgis of Ipswich, and seven grandchildren.

Mr. Lee was well-known to Manchester people from the fact that, years ago, he kept a store at the corner of Union and Washington streets. He had many friends here.

John Dillon.

John Dillon, a former well known resident of Manchester, passed away at his home, 118 Hutchins street, Roxbury, the first of this week, after an illness extending over several years. Funeral services were held yesterday morning from his late home at 8 o'clock, followed by services at St. Mary's church, Roxbury.

Berries Bought by Full Measure.

Berries, by full measure, is what North Shore folk will get this summer, according to the new law passed by the legislature and which has been received by the sealers of weights in the various towns.

No more can the dealer say "so much a box" and expect to get by if the box doesn't hold a quart, a pint or half pint according to the quantity desired. Boxes of a quart or less hereafter must be either a quart, a half quart or quarter quart, level measure, so it won't do any good to sell "by the box" for the box, whatever it is, will be full size.

Blueberries have not before been included in the list of berries which shall be sold by measure rather than by the box.

Keith's.

Bert Leslie, who divided honors with Hattie Williams in "Fluffy Ruffles" last season, will be the principal attraction at Keith's Theatre the week of May 31st. Mr. Leslie in his "Hogan" sketches, with his outlandish slang, has always been a prime favorite in vaudeville and he will no doubt receive a warm reception.

An acrobatic feature of great interest will be that of the Willy Pantzer Troupe, the midget acrobats who do some astounding feats.

Charles and Fanny Van, who proved great favorites this week, will remain for another. Others on the bill are the Five Salvaggis with their sensational dances; the Big City Four, one of the best male quartettes now on the stage; Paul Kleist; Jennings and Renfrow, the comedians; the Daleys in a rolling skating act and others.

Park Theatre, Boston.

"The Traveling Salesman" has scored an emphatic success in Boston. It is now in the second month of its engagement, and a striking feature of the audiences now testing the capacity of the Park Theatre is, that they are made up in the major part, of strangers from all parts of the New England States. They have heard and read of James Forbes, the now international playwright's latest and newest creation of "Bob Blake" the modern drummer as known from Portland, Maine, to Portland, Oregon.

Mark Smith, Rosalind Coghlan, James O'Neil, jr., and Diana Huneker, head a cast that play in a lively, cyclonic fashion that sustains the story to the very last word of the final curtain. There will be the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

There was a large gathering of citizens in Marshall's hall, Wednesday evening, in answer to the call for a meeting of those interested in the development of the Farms playground, the purpose of the meeting being to give an opportunity to submit plans and to get an expression of opinion, etc. Two plans were submitted, one by City Engineer Whitney, the other by Stephen J. Connolly, either of which if adopted would give to the Farms an ideal playground. The committee is composed of the Park Commissioners, Alderman Hodgkins, Councilmen Hull and Loring, P. S. Sears and A. P. Loring. After the meeting they adjourned to a room in the West Street Engine house, where they held a conference.

Foreman Elliott and his street department force have planted some shrubbery at the little square on Hale street, opposite the parochial residence thus further beautifying this spot.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis N. Davis were at Newton, N. H., the early part of the week visiting friends. They drove over the road with their horse, stopping one day at Rowley to visit some friends.

The Sunnyside greenhouse, James B. Dow, proprietor, is as usual a busy spot this time of year, both in handling the summer rush orders, and in supplying the Memorial Day demands which have come in abundantly the past few days.

The date of the play to be presented by the young ladies of the gymnasium class will be announced next week. It will be given probably the middle of June in Neighbors' hall.

Owing to the lack of out-of-door flowers this year as a result of the delinquent warm days, the Grand Army Post will have to depend largely on the generosity of friends and those having greenhouses or other means of supplying flowers, for Decoration Day next Monday. A committee will be at G. A. R. hall Monday morning to receive all such donations.

At the regular meeting of the school board last Tuesday evening the teachers were elected for the coming year. At the Farms school there will be no change from the present. Misses Winnie M. Williams, principal, Honora F. O'Brien, Pearl Whitcomb, Agnes O. Harlow, Ethel S. Swett and A. L. Day were re-appointed.

Carr & Wood have on hand an excellent assortment of cut flowers and are soliciting orders for Memorial Day, which should be placed with them at once.

F. P. Gaudreau, proprietor of the Central Square barber shop, offers for sale his motor boat, which is in first-class condition. He will sell at a bargain. If you are interested call at his place of business and inquire about it. *

"Why really I can do very much better at home, trotted all over Boston, and could buy here cheaper—and—what's more, find a LARGER STOCK HERE to select from."

Some one's going to read this statement and wonder if it's true, especially as to the VARIETY. We invite such a one to visit our 4th floor annex, that portion of our building over the American Express and Postal Telegraph offices, and take for illustration

Our Odd Dresser Exhibit

It embraces a line that will please the taste of the millionaire or the pocket of the mechanic.

It starts with a Dresser that costs $7.50 and ends with one that sells for $90.00, and to be absolutely explicit as to the variety on the floor, by actual count there are 83 styles to see.

The Low Cost Line

Is made of solid oak; no imitation oak; no ash as good as oak, but clean, white oak, with all the interiors of sanded white wood.

Made in the south, right where the wood itself grows, comes here in cars to save expense in transportation.

Commences with a Dresser, with three deep drawers, has a French, bevel plate of very good size.

The finish is excellent, and only

$7.50.

One, with swell top drawers, and pattern French plate,

For $9.50.

And a full swell front and of all quartered oak, with a great big plate of polished plate glass,

For only $15.00.

The Medium Cost Line

Made of Oak, Mahogany, Toona and Bird's Eye Maple, commences with a Dresser with serpentine top drawers, the lines of the curves are very genteel, the mirror is an oval of unusually good shape; the base to the leg is a pretty spoon foot, the handles to the drawers are plain and very chaste, the finish is unusual, almost equal to the best; the values—remarkable,

For only $14.75.

We've a few for early comers that are copies of a high priced one, that has proven the biggest seller in all the best stores.

Made extremely plain, not a piece of carving on it, but as graceful as though 'twere produced by the wave of a fairy's wand.

Copy price $27.00.

Original's price $36.00.

The High Cost Line

Represents the best products of the factories of Grand Rapids.

Made with a nicety equal to a piano, every detail carried out with the most minute care, designed with the thought that they are to be selected for their "correctness."

A credit to us to have them to show, a pleasure to you when they enter and remain in your house.

They start with one that's a joy to behold,—good,—fine looking,—in Mahogany and Bird's Eye Maple,

From $28.50.

Our Odd Dresser stock is in keeping with the rest of the store—no larger, proportionately, but just as large, and none too large to hold all your trade; we have it as good—we have it as cheap—and on any piece we urge you to compare.

□ BREEZE □

.. .. Announcement .. ..

The Breeze comes to its readers today the biggest, brightest, and best newspaper published on the North Shore.

In place of its usual 24 pages, it today has 40; in place of its accustomed cover, it now has one more distinctive and neat; added to its usual display of news, it offers the doings of summer-folk in Rockport, and along the Gloucester shore, localities never covered before by this paper; and in all New England it is the only paper that covers the big summer resorts between Marblehead and Rockport in a thorough and intelligent manner.

The extension of its compass is but one of many moves which The Breeze is taking to give readers and advertisers the best possible service. It is another step in a business which began small, but which, through enterprise and constant watchfulness for its readers' wants, is moving rapidly forward developing to the greatest extent the opportunities of its field. The extension of its scope to the towns of Cape Ann was made necessary out of sheer justice to the large number of regular subscribers there. In making the move, The Breeze is following one of its oldest principles,—to give to its readers and advertisers a little better quality and a little more of it than any other paper.

With this issue it is also necessary to announce an ADVANCE IN THE SUBSCRIPTION RATES OF THE BREEZE. The soaring price of paper has compelled hundreds of dailies and weeklies all over the United States to raise their rates in order to do business at a profit. The Breeze is one of the last to fall into line. Dating from next issue, it will be sold at five cents a copy and $2 a year. But patrons who send in subscriptions paid in advance, on and before the 30th day of June, 1909, will receive the paper at its former price, $1 a year. All renewal subscriptions after July 1, 1909, will be at $2.00.

Though compelled to raise its rates of subscription, The Breeze remains supreme in its field. It is read by more people and in more North Shore homes than any other paper. When the summer season is over and the resorters depart for their respective homes, The Breeze goes through the mails to every state in the Union and many foreign countries.

In making these improvements, the management wishes sincerely to thank its readers and advertisers, through whose loyalty and patronage The Breeze has grown and prospered, outstripping all its rivals.

:: At the Hotels ::

MAGNOLIA

With the opening of the hotel season at Magnolia but one week off, the Oceanside is ready for its guests, the Hesperus is nearly so and the Aborn is putting on the finishing touches.

The Oceanside opens one week from today. From present prospects, nearly every room in the house will be filled at the start. In order to meet so sudden a change from the present quiet state of affairs about the place and to provide the endless entertainment and accommodation which goes with such a hotel, the planning and preparation which has gone on for the last two months under the direction of Manager Phenix has been enormous.

The Hesperus is aglow this year in a new coat of paint, and in a few days more, inside and outside, everything will be neat as a whistle. Few alterations have been made on the inside and the work of improvement has been confined to decoration and furnishing. The grounds outside have been laid out in a new and very attractive manner.

At the Aborn, Manager Remick says that he will open as soon as he can get ready for the large number of guests who have already engaged rooms. Here, too, much time and money has been spent in redecorating and the house is more attractive now than ever before.

EAST GLOUCESTER

The Hawthorne Inn, with nearly every one of its 400 rooms engaged, opened up Tuesday for the season. Among its guests are: Miss May A. Pearson, Lexington, Ky.; Miss Anna B. Rees, Winchester, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Dana, Brookline, Mass.; Otis H. Dana, Brookline, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Collier and Mrs. J. H. Collier, 3rd, of Providence; Miss Mildred Hawes, F. A. Hawes and A. W. Hawes of Worcester; Charles F. Goodridge, Miss Eleanor M. Goodridge, Arthur M. Goodridge and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lunt of Cambridge, Mass.; Miss Emma Brede, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Francis L. Wayland and Miss Cicily Wayland of Phila.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Olmstead, and R. C. Whittier of Pomfort, Ct.; W. J. Garrity, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Pearson, and Miss H. G. Parsons of Boston.

❖ Society Notes ❖

An engagement recently announced, of interest to North Shore people, is that of Frazier Curtis and Miss Gladys Raper of Sussex. Mr. Curtis is a Harvard '98 man and is a son of Mrs. Greeley S. Curtis of the Manchester Cove colony. The wedding will probably take place the middle of this month at Manchester. Mrs. Curtis and family arrived on the shore about ten days ago. Miss Raper is a guest of Mrs. Curtis at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley L. Pickman, well-known summer residents at Beverly Cove, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary at their country home in Bedford last Saturday. They are going abroad for the summer and have leased their home off Neptune street, Beverly, to Mrs. L. Z. Leiter.

Announcement has been made of the approaching wedding of Miss Mary Astor Paul and Charles A. Munn both of whom are very well known among the North Shore summer residents. The wedding will be performed at Miss Paul's home at Radnor, Pa., on Monday, June 21. As Miss Paul is still in mourning for her father, the nuptials will be very quiet.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Frick came on from New York to their summer home in Pride's last Saturday, making the trip by private coach.

Mr. and Mrs. Q. A. Shaw, jr., and family arrived at their summer home in Pride's Crossing last Saturday.

On Thursday, May 27, a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark Grew at their home in Berlin. Mr. Grew is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Grew of West Manchester and is second secretary of the American embassy in Berlin. Mrs. Grew was Miss Alice Perry, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Perry, now living in Paris.

Friends of Miss Marie Lee, older daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lee of Beverly Farms, will be pleased to know that she has recovered from her recent illness and is out again looking none the worse for it. The Lee cottage will be opened about June 15.

ENGLISH LITERATURE IN THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY.

BY D. F. LAMSON.

It is not little singular that the lives of the two poets, Thomson and Cowper, who did more than any others to break up the artificiality in literature with which the century opened, and to introduce the naturalness with which it closed, should have almost exactly covered the century; Thomson having been born Sept. 11, 1700, and Cowper breathing his last, April 5, 1800.

The name of Cowper stands for one of the gentlest, saddest spirits in English literature. His life was one of little outward incident; born in 1731, losing his mother, a woman of remarkable strength and sweetness of character, at a tender age, thrown into the hurly-burly of our English public school with a nature little fitting him for its rough and tyrannical treatment, called to the bar in 1754, almost his whole after life was shaded by the gloom of physical and mental disease. But he was a diligent worker in the intervals of lucidity and comparative health, was of a most lovable nature, witty and genial, a master of poetic, moral and religious sentiment, a man who lived and died with the affection and honor of all who knew him. Cowper is now little read, but his memory is one of the most fragrant in all the long list of English writers in prose and verse.

Cowper's longer poems, which first brought him into notice and on which his fame chiefly rests, as the Task, Hope, Charity, the Progress of Error, were written partly out of his own experience, are full of serious purposes, are largely didactic and often prosaic, as their titles suggest, containing, however, many really poetic passages, for he had the gift of melody in high degree. Some of the occasional and shorter pieces, numbered by scores, are probably more pleasing to the general reader, of which may be mentioned Lines on my Mother's picture, Boadicea, the Loss of the Royal George, Alexander Selkirk, My Mary, and others. Besides some gleams of humor in some of his other verses, he composed one poem, sparkling with mirriment, the Diverting History of John Gilpin, which is probably best known of all his works, and by which he would continue to be remembered if all his other works perished.

Cowper's hymns, sixty-eight in number, in which he passed on the torch from Charles Wesley, the sweet singer of Methodism, form with many by his friend John Newton, the once well known Olney collection. Few of them are now familiar, but those few have permanently enriched the church's hymnody. We could ill spare them from our treasury of sacred song.

Among the great excellences of Cowper's poetry, besides its deeply religious and ethical spirit, are its naturalness, its love of the country, and its humanity. With Wordsworth, who came upon the stage about as Cowper was leaving it, he founded a new school; henceforth the pedantry of the age of Pope passed into a decline, a new life was breathed into English letters that has never since ceased to elevate and charm. Browning speaks of the "deathless singing," which in The Task "opened a new era in English literature."

It is by his poems that Cowper is most widely known, and it is these which first brought him into notice; but his letters are in some respects the best monument to his genius. He is, as Southey termed him, "the best letter-writer in the English language." The following is not too high an appreciation: "His letters are the simple statement of whatever he has in his mind; written in pure and beautiful English; full of the information and taste of a well-read man; overflowing now with humor, now with deep religious feeling. . . . The graceful affectionateness, the shrewd estimate of men and things, the genuine love of fun and appreciation of it in others, all contributed to make his correspondence delightful." He had the qualities which go to the making of our ideal letter-writer, lightness of touch, ease of expression, humor which is never forced, and amiability which is never exaggerated and never wanting. This estimate of Cowper's works has been made after a careful reading of his letters which cover over thirty-six years and a reperusal of his principal poems.

Through the generosity of his friends, Cowper never suffered want; but his income from his pen was never large, though respectable for those times when even poets like Gray and Goldsmith received but a mere pittance for their work. Literature was not the road to wealth; in the beginning of the next century, Edinburgh reviewers were content to "cultivate literature on a little oatmeal."

Cowper was most happy in his friendships; the Unwins made him for many years a genial and sheltered home; Hayley the poet, John Newton, Joseph Hill, and many more, cheered his lonely life; Lady Austin who had wit, gayety and elegant tastes, and his cousin Lady Hesketh, did much to brighten his frequent moods of depression. Cowper was peculiarly susceptible to the charms of cultivated and virtuous womanhood; an early disappointment that no doubt preyed upon a sensitive nature made the delicate ministry of these excellent and gifted women more valued and necessary.

Afflicted with a constitutional melancholy, sometimes passing into paroxysms of madness, Cowper's whole life was strung to a minor key; amiable and guileless, with refined tastes and sincerely and deeply religious, his mind was like "sweet bells jangled and out of tune;" it affords one of the saddest examples of the truth that "hearts tuned to finest issues vibrate deepest notes of woe." His malady, held in check and alleviated from time to time by employment, change of scene and the assiduous attentions of friends, made him more its prey, and he sank at last into a state of almost complete despair, his mind "sounding along its dim and perilous way." If there was no rift in the earthly side of the storm-cloud, it is a comfort to be told that after death there came into his worn and wasted features "a look of holy surprise," as if the beatific vision had dawned upon his astonished gaze.

[This article ends the series on English Literature in the Eighteenth Century, Cowper dying almost at its close. An article, now in preparation, may follow, giving in briefest outline the outstanding characteristics of the leading English writers of the Nineteenth Century whose works are in most instances too recent or too familiar to call for extended notice.]

QUATRAINS.

BY JOSEPH A. TORREY.

All nature testifies
That suffering is meet;
The rose without a thorn
Were incomplete.

All doing finds its meed,
Doing whate'er it can;
Doing but makes the deed,
Unselfish doing makes the man.

All duties on compulsion done
Are drudgeries and trials.
All perfect satisfactions
Are transfigured self-denials.

Art thou a guest? Methinks 'twere best
To praise the viands and partake with zest,
So, to enjoy the gifts that God has given,
Is worthy praise, acceptable to Heaven.

As for my cares I have so very few,
My neighbor's lot I envy not. . . Would you?
One may have wealth and fame yet live unblest;
Man's life consisteth not in things possest.

BASS ROCKS

Although many cottagers have already arrived at Bass Rocks for the summer, the hotel season there will not start until Saturday, June 12. At both the Moorland and the Thorwald, great preparations are being made for the reception of summer guests. At both nearly everything is already engaged and the prospects for a big season are much better than those of a year ago and, considering all things, decidedly more promising than for years past.

Among the early arrivals at the cottages are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Chauncey Brewer, and children, John W. and Genevieve of Boston. They are occupying their cottage "Tanglemoor," on Little Good Harbor road.

Dr. and Mrs. William Jarvie of Brooklyn, N. Y., have arrived at their cottage, "Craigmoor" for the season.

Mrs. Henry C. Carter of New York City came down last week and is living at her cottage at Beach road and Atlantic avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Gilbert of New York, arrived last Friday at their cottage, "The Overlook," on Beach road. Mr. Gilbert is a broker.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Eaton and family of Lawrence, came down for the season on Saturday and are living on Atlantic avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome H. Remick of Detroit, Mich., are in the Stacy cottage this year. They came down last Tuesday. Mr. Remick is at the head of the J. H. Remick & Co. music publishing house.

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Peterson of New York City will occupy the Rotan cottage at Grape Vine Cove this summer. Dr. Peterson is a specialist in nerve diseases.

Mrs. Edward B. Currier of New York City, is expected today at the Worcester cottage.

Miss Ruth Harrison of Cincinnati, O., has leased the Rogers cottage for the season. She is expected at Bass Rocks on June 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scott, jr., of Overbrook, Pa., were among the earliest at Bass Rocks this season and are now living at their cottage "Tragibigzanda."

Mrs. F. B. Dodge of Toledo, O., has brought her two daughters and is at her cottage "Under-the-Cliff" for the summer.

EAST GLOUCESTER

Prospects for summering along the shores of Gloucester harbor and Eastern Point are very bright. The Harbor View has been open since March 29, doing a big business continually, and the other houses, Hawthorne Inn, and the Delphine have many of their rooms already engaged.

The Harbor View always opens early for parties of Wellesley and Smith College girls on their Easter vacation. A party of Wellesley girls spent last Sunday and Memorial Day there.

Among the cottagers along Eastern point Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Furman of Brookline have already arrived. They are living in the Lewis cottage.

Mrs. S. H. Van Rensselaer, of New York City, will spend this season at Eastern Point and has engaged the Nathaniel Gorton cottage. She is expected there on June 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Gorman, jr., of Philadelphia have taken the Garland cottage for the season and will move in on or about June 7.

David Greenough, a well-known Eastern Point summer resident, and his family are spending the summer in Europe. Their cottage is occupied by Mr. Greenough's nephew, Malcolm S. Greenough, of New York City.

Harry G. Pollard and family of Lowell, Mass., are expected at the Gates cottage tomorrow, where they will spend the season.

George D. Eustis, a prominent broker in Cincinnati, O., has engaged the Souther cottage for the season and is expected with his family early next week.

A. T. Poulton of Chicago has been a guest at the Harbor View the last few days.

Guests at present at the Delphine are: Miss M. L. Hickey of Boston; Miss Anna Curtis, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Bloom, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Allen, L. L. Hattan, and H. Lundberg of Boston.

Interesting Booklet.

The information bureau of the Boston & Maine railroad at Concord, N. H., has just issued an interesting booklet entitled "The Making of a Summer Home," showing the camp and cottage sites within 100 miles of Boston. It may be had by addressing the information bureau.

ROCKPORT

Rockport will be in the public eye more this year than ever before. The manœuvring of the North Atlantic battleship fleet off Cape Ann has always given Rockport a social, and, in a way, political prominence. But this year, with President Taft in New England, the number of battleships off Rockport will exceed that of many years before.

Then, too, very probably The President himself will visit Rockport. He will be present at some of the manœuvres aboard the Mayflower and will probably be entertained at Rockport. This will turn the eyes of the entire American press toward the little Cape Ann town and it will receive more advertising of a booming character than it has for years.

John F. Swett, for the last 30 years proprietor of the Glen Acre Inn, will open his house on June 15, and, at present, has every promise for a big season. The inn will accommodate 30 people and nearly every room is already engaged. Among the guests at the inn this year will be Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lindenberger of Louisville, Ky., and their two children. Mr. Lindenberger is a prominent lawyer in Kentucky. Mr. and Mrs. John Gazzam of Birmingham, Ala., will also be at the inn. Mrs. Gazzam will come on early in the season and Mr. Gazzam, who is a bank president, will join her about the middle of July. These two families have summered at the inn for several years and are well known at Rockport.

Mr. and Mrs. John Himmelsbach, of Philadelphia, and their three children will arrive at their cottage at Pigeon Cove about June 10.

The John M. Way villa at Pigeon Cove has been let to William Simpson and family of Roxbury, Mass., and will be occupied about the middle of June.

Miss Elizabeth Bartol has opened her cottages for the season. She is a daughter of the late Dr. Bartol, a prominent figure in Manchester's early years as a summer resort.

The Ocean View House will open about June 15. This pleasant summering place is situated between Pigeon Cove and Andrew's Point and has one of the finest outlooks on the Atlantic along the North Shore. Many of its patrons of last year are returning and it has very bright prospects for a big season. If President Taft visits Rockport, he will probably be entertained at the Ocean View House.

A most beautiful sight is the Wistaria vines along the front of Mrs. Greeley S. Curtis' residence at Manchester Cove. About once in three years these vines bloom their best, and just now their pinnate leaves and full racemes of lilac-purple flowers add a touch to the grounds which a most carefully nurtured garden of flowers could rarely produce.

It is said that the Brazilian embassy will be stationed at the large Kimball cottage, Masconomo street, Manchester, this season.

The sudden death last week of Walter Alexander of New York, who was to move to Manchester the latter part of last week to occupy the Chase cottage on Sea street, owned by Mrs. Wheaton, will keep the other members of the family away from the shore this season.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. VanRenssler of Albany have been on to the North Shore the past week visiting Mrs. VanRenssler's brother, Gardiner M. Lane, and Mrs. Lane at their beautiful summer home at Dana's Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Lane are having a few friends in to dinner tonight and again Saturday in honor of their guests.

"It looks as though the Manchester Yacht club thinks it has a prior claim on the sonderklasse. It announces two dates for these boats, one June 17, and the other Aug. 7, both of which dates have been selected by the Boston Yacht club for open races, to which the sonderklasse has been invited," says the yachting man of the Boston Herald.

The best coachman is he who keeps farthest away from danger, and the best chauffeur the man who can keep out of court.—Boston Herald.

Order at Once.

An announcement of considerable interest for summer residents all along the shore is the notice that the summer issue of the New England Telephone Directory closes positively on June 12 and that names not listed on that day will not appear in the book until late next Fall.

It is of importance to summer residents who will come to the Shore later and who desire telephones installed to send in their orders at once. This can be done by calling up the nearest telephone exchange and asking for the manager. Names of such subscribers will then be placed in the new directory with the correct number, though the instrument may not be installed until later. This will save a great deal of inconvenience later on.

MEMORIAL DAY AT MANCHESTER.

Memorial Day was all that could be desired as far as weather conditions were concerned, both on Sunday and on Monday. The days were clear and balmy, Old Sol smiling his benediction upon the old veterans. On Sunday the services were held at the Baptist church, as announced in last week's paper, and the exercises on Monday were carried out precisely as announced before hand.

At the church Sunday, 20 veterans were out. The splendid weather of Monday brought out a record attendance. Of the 26 living members of the Post 24 were out; two were unable to attend, one being in the west; and there were two visitors, making the total number on parade 26. There were some 48 Sons of Veterans in line, including a dozen visiting Sons from Camp 24 of Gloucester. These with others in line made a total of about 100, none the least of whom were the members of the police force, with the new chief W. H. Sullivan at the head of the column. Many complimentary remarks were heard on the fine appearance of the new chief and his men.

Ninety-two bereaved veterans were honored by the living, eight at the Washington street cemetery, eight at Union, 55 at Rosedale, and 16 in the vacant lot, besides two at Gloucester and two at Beverly Farms.

The services at the water side by the members of Allen Relief Corps and the children, in honor to the sailor dead, were impressive.

Following the parade a concert was given on the Common by Teel's Military band of Boston, which furnished the music for the parade, and the veterans and Sons partook of a supper at Grand Army hall, served by the Relief Corps.

The exercises in the evening were of a very interesting order. The Lotus Quartet of Boston sang most creditably four selections: "Away," "Vacant Chair," "Shall I be Forgotten," and "Rock of Ages," and as an encore to the last, "Gathering Home." After the invocation by Rev. L. H. Ruge the quartet chanted the Lord's Prayer. One number not on the original program was the delivering by Master Ralph Stearns of the Gettysburg Address.

Rev. DeWitt S. Clark of Salem was the speaker of the day. "Abraham Lincoln—the American Model" was his subject. He premised his address with the saying of the Roman consul and patriot, that "Republics are not ungrateful," and he would prove it true in the case of our own. He referred to the debt of gratitude owed by the people of this nation to those who maintained it in the days of its imminent peril. He recalled the solemn pledges of remembrance of and care for those who would then volunteer to go forth in defence of the Union, to stand between life and its foes

These promises have been redeemed, in the enormous annual pension payments; in the homes, both state and national, which are open to them; in the monuments, standing in almost every town and village, and in the literature which in increasing volume commemorates their valor and sacrifices, and in the universal respect and honor paid to the surviving veterans of the Civil War.

REV. DR. DEWITT S. CLARK

Never before or elsewhere has such gratitude been shown to those who jeopardized their lives for a nation they loved. This is a day for recounting those principles which have made our experiment of self-government a success. These are abiding, in any age or land.

As the first Colonists on these shores in their "Social Compact," pledged to each other, "their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor," so did the later Apostles who went forth, armed, to offer themselves for the cause in which they, in common, supremely believed. Because of their fidelity and bravery—we in assured strength—are reviving today, the memory of those strenuous times.

We are wise enough to know that the decay of virtues and ideals which they heeded and which inspired them, must mean the overthrow of all this mighty fabric of empire.

Evil forces and agents are untiring in the effort—deliberately or ignorantly—to pull down what has been raised at priceless cost.

The meaning and use of such a day and such an observance as this, is in strengthening and renewing those practices and aims by which this nation's wonderful growth and prosperity has been secured.

It is not difficult to discover and state the fundamental laws, the builders and conservers of this nation observed, and by which they wrought. We are fortunate in the conspicuous examples of those who heeded and acted upon these eternal canons of popular success.

In this Centennial year, we have been extolling one, whom every section of the country is learning more and more to call its "Savior." We have confidently pointed to that simple life as typifying what—till a better appears—we would have this Republic stand for, before the world.

Following Abraham Lincoln, as he walked along the untried paths of national development, and practicing the simple precepts which were the law of his being, the citizens of this mighty nation cannot fail to establish their primacy and honorable place among the peoples of the earth.

Patriotism means as much as that. Gratitude to those who have won for us these privileges—greater than men ever before had—implies such a resolve on the part of each and all.

In the study of his career it is plain that, opportunity is not conditioned upon outward circumstance.

From the greatest poverty and most forbidding surroundings and associations he rose to the first place in this nation. There is no obstacle so great that the determined soul, reaching out after knowledge and truth and righteousness, cannot overcome. Every school boy has a better chance than he. Every movement he made was against the sharpest competition and the most forbidding resistance. It was as if to disprove the favorite theory of the time, that environment makes us what we are.

Men can reach such heights of human distinction, influence and power, without certain qualities which are the reason of his triumphs. It is possible to see and to state these in a character so open to the sunlight—so transparent as his.

No one has more correctly outlined and analyzed these, than his intimate friend and business partner, who has, in general, defined them as,

The power of clear reasoning,
An excellent understanding,
An exalted idea of right and wrong,
An intense innovation for what is true and good.

The speaker dwelt, at length, upon these several points, relating many incidents and sayings of "Honest Abe," of "Father Abraham," of the Commander and Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, of the President of the Republic.

He traced some of the results of the "Emancipation Proclamation," pronouncing it "the greatest act in modern history."

He told of the marvellous progress in wealth, education and moral development the lately enslaved race has made in the last quarter of a century and closed with Edwin Markham's splendid tribute to the greatest of our martyred dead.

His final conclusion was that, if we would express our sincere gratitude to those we are trying to honor today, it must be by receiving this inheritance—consecrated by the blood of half a million, to whom life was as dear as it is ours—that we may transmit it, enriched and enlarged to the coming generations, that can only be done by a nation of citizens, taking their pattern from and modelling both private and public conduct after him—"our first American."

The Baptist church was well filled Sunday morning when Rev. Theodore Lyman Frost delivered the Memorial Day sermon before the members of the Grand Army and auxiliary societies. He preached on "True Greatness" as exemplified in the life of John the Baptist. His sermon was "For he shall be great in the sight of the Lord." Luke 1:15.

He pointed out as the principle elements that go to make truly great characters as being: Unwavering courage and firmness; an unworldly aim (our aims rather than our capacity determine the greatness of our character); an enthusiasm for the right; sacrifice; and submission to Jesus Christ.

"THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME."

The butcher, the baker,
The furniture maker,
The tinker, the dealer in tin,
The tailor, the plumber,—
All know it is summer,
They meet every train that comes in.

Each new one from Boston,
From New York, from Canton,
Who never has been here before,
Must go some, to dodge 'em
With their "duces tecum,"
When first they land on this shore.

With a hustle and bustle
And a terrible tussle,
They vie with each other for trade,
And the boss will get cross
At a customer's loss,
And you're docked when your wages are paid.

But an order from "Wadder,"
For sugar or fodder,
Though obtained by craft or by force,
If you have it, you book it,
You are happy and look it,
Are you right with the boss? Why of course.

To Explore Mt. Hecla.

Prof. W. S. C. Russell, formerly principal of the Story High school, Manchester, and, at present, head of the science department of the Central High school, Springfield, Mass., is about to start on an expedition for the ascent of Mt. Hecla, Iceland, for scientific purposes. He will sail from Boston on June 25, aboard the Numidian of the Allan line, for Glasgow, and will be gone until the late fall. He will be accompanied by his wife.

Mr. Russell is an authority on geology and subjects relating to far-northern exploration and hopes to gain something of new value in his search. On July 8, he and Mrs. Russell will sail from Glasgow for Reykjavik, on the southwestern coast of Iceland. Reykjavik is a trading and fishing port of 7000 population, 6 days sail from Glasgow, and famed as the home of a people exceptionally well educated.

After making extended observations of the port and the country near-at-hand, Prof. Russell will leave his wife at Reykjavik and, accompanied by a guide and a provision train of 10 ponies, will begin the ascent of the higher country and up the sides of Hecla.

Mt. Hecla is one of the three greatest volcanoes of the world. Although it has not been in violent eruption since 1845, it is still alive and, in its day of activity, did as much damage as the better-known Vesuvius. The island has the biggest geyser and the largest sulphur springs in the world. One of its geysers has a stream 80 feet wide which shoots to a great height three times a day.

After leaving Iceland, Prof. and Mrs. Russell will spend some time in Copenhagen.

MAKE IT YOURSELF

Our Orangeade campaign was most successful.

We felt that so fine a drink as this is, if only it could become widely known could not help, but become very popular.

To enable as many as possible to test its superior qualities we gave away several thousand glasses of our Orangeade.

And our faith in its likeable qualities was not disappointed. Apparently to try it is to like it. Every glass makes a friend.

In spite of cool weather, its sale has been phenomenal. At no time in the history of our stores even during the days when we were giving it away have we dispensed as much Orangeade as we are at the present time.

We have been able only with difficulty to make it fast enough to supply the demand. (As you no doubt know we make it ourselves direct from the oranges to which fact it owes its delicious fresh fruit flavor.)

This teaches us very plainly that our customers know a good thing when they see it, or rather, taste it. A lesson we shall not forget.

Now as soon as our Orangeade was tried and found good many desired to have it put up to take home.

For these we began putting up the concentrated Orangeade syrup so that it might be taken home and the water added as desired.

We have without effort on our part had a very good sale of the Orangeade put up in this way and it has proven very satisfactory.

So much so that we think that if we can make known to you the advantages of this method of preparing a delicious beverage at home as wanted, you too may desire to have a bottle of the syrup in your ice chest ready to make at any time a refreshing drink for yourself or guests.

One pint bottle costing twenty-five cents will make five pints (ten glasses) of the Orangeade ready to serve, just as we serve it at our fountain.

That is it costs you just one-half the rate by the single glass. You supply the water and the ice.

The only directions are: To one part of Orangeade syrup add four parts of water. Have it "cold." To be at its best the Orangeade should be ice cold.

For whist parties, dances and similar affairs it is "just the thing."

Take home and try a bottle and you will find that you have indeed the "thirsty man's friend" in.

Halt for Auto-speeders.

High-speeding of automobiles through the streets of Manchester and the country nearby has induced Chief of Police Sullivan to begin a vigorous campaign against it. Traps are to be arranged at places which the chief will not divulge and those who exceed the speed limit will be stopped and unceremoniously summoned into Court.

Complaints against reckless drivers have come from all sides, especially West Manchester, Manchester Cove, and along Summer st. Some of the speeders are residents of this town; others are outsiders who are passing through. The chief says that no line of distinction will be drawn and that the only way for automobilists to keep out of trouble is to stop over-speeding.

Need of stringent enforcement of the speed law has been emphasized upon the chief by the killing of a little girl in Waltham and a little boy in East Boston by automobiles within the week.

Considering the large number of automobiles continually on the road in this section, the North Shore has been remarkably free from accidents. Chief Sullivan, however, does not intend to let past good fortune offset present and future vigilance.

Some Pertinent Facts <sup>About</sup> the <sup>Imperial</sup> Laundry

Our teams call at all beaches and we wish to set forth some pertinent Facts. That every discriminating house-keeper ought to know about the Laundry work as done where hygienic principles are not a secondary consideration. Where, is practised proper sanitary and mechanical conditions. Where, with our equipment of improved machinery, pure soap and separate washing with soft Charles River water, work is done second to none in America. We try to take a personal interest in each and every garment laundered, and believe that a satisfied customer is the best advertisement.

Fact 1:—This is most important, that our water is soft and it is not necessary to use chemicals. This will be appreciated by those whose Laundry has had hard usage.

Fact 2:—We have our soap and starch made especially for us, thereby getting a superior quality of each, pure soap and starch that will neither crack, blister or make saw-edges.

Fact 3:—Our so-called flat work, we believe is the best obtainable. Special care is taken in the ironing and it is returned soft and without odor. Such articles as table cloths, turkish towels, monogramed linen, fringed spreads are thoroughly done and satisfaction guaranteed.

Fact 4:—Laces, lingerie, silks and muslins are handled by the most expert assistants, some of which have been with us a dozen or more years. Shirt-waist work is made a specialty and is unequalled.

The above will appeal to the discerning persons who would like to find a laundry embracing all these features. It would seem almost too good to be true, but we do it and more. We think, you would not regret giving this fine laundry work, at least a trial.

BASEBALL--A PHILANTHROPY.

The suit of Mr. Ezra Geddings, professional baseball player, to recover damages from a Cincinnati citizen for "cussing him out" from the bleachers suggests comment on the "rooting" element of modern baseball.

While the American public is particularly scrupulous about seeing fair play, it has long tolerated, if not approved, a kind of criticism from grandstand and bleacher which long ago passed the bounds of decent praise or blame and, of late years, has become more and more abusive and personal. Ten years ago, many a long, dull game was made bearable by such laughing explosions as "Oh, you butter-fingers," "Glass-eye!" "Don't be 'fraid—step right up and smack it—the pitcher can't hurt yeh—he's got a wooden arm." And with them were witty stories told aloud so all around could hear and enjoy; and cutting retort in exchange for some delinquent's "back-sass," that set half the grandstand tittering.

But today such genuine fun is seen only in the rural towns, and, rather than a genuine fan, the shrewd county chairman is the chief story-teller. "In town," a game is scarcely started before the air is torn with rapid-fire barkings such as "Get the hook," "He's so dead he stinks—drag him off," "Shoo him away—he's got a brain-storm—nut-college for him," "He's blind in both eyes. Why, he couldn't see a balloon if it dropped on him," "Aw say there—he's a shrimp, a quitter—why don't you count him out?"

Such bully-ragging is not confined to one class. School-boy, banker, bellowing pugilist and a dozen others sit in a row, each a heavily charged cannon of sizzling comment, ranging up and down to find each player's weak spot, and rivaling each other in choice of penetrating wrath-raisers.

While thousands of regular attendants enjoy such rooting, the players who flinch at these verbal brick-bats are not nearly so numerous as would be expected. The majority feel keenly the sting of criticism. Most of them bear it in stolid silence, but some few are always ready to rush to the bleachers with clenched fists the moment the game is over, and demand a settlement then and there.

Just what right a player has for such a challenge, it is somewhat hard to see. No one knows better the conditions of the professional game than the player. If he chooses the diamond as his field of action, what right has he to complain if its edges are cutting-sharp?

That much bleacher comment is unfair and unwarranted is beyond dispute, but a generous-minded player will admit that much of it, even the bitterest, can be pardoned. Long experience on the road has taught him that, wherever the congestion and drive of a great city makes men nervous and excitable there the bleachers are least patient and the criticism most abusive and severe. Think of the thousands of business men who go to the Polo Grounds, New York City, on a Saturday's afternoon to rest half-maddened minds from life's stern cares and duties. Think of the others,—doctors, lawyers, ministers, stage men and women, in all sorts and conditions of life who find in a lively scrap between Cubs and Giants complete forgetfulness of sorrow, need, perhaps misery at home. What wonder if the pent-up feelings are allowed to vent themselves on a player who proves himself stupid? And it should be a consolation to the player to know that in just the proportion that he is chastised, someone else is spared, in the office, in the home.

A merchant, depressed with debt, feels like a new man after "cussing out" the southpaw who seemed to have nothing in particular but a striking pose. A bank clerk, arrested for embezzlement, declared in Jefferson Market police court that he had postponed suicide that he might see the Yankees beat the Tigers. The game was a tie and the tragedy was again put off till the morrow. Before the morrow came, the police found him; yet with a long term at Metamora before him, he smilingly said that the game was worth while. It is its capacity to awaken an exuberant enthusiasm in the on-looker that makes baseball the great American game.

Considering all, the man indifferent to the bleachers is more to be admired than the back-talker who wants to scale the wire-netting three times in a game. When the professional player signs his contract, he should count on receiving a certain amount of stinging criticism, more-or-less ignorant, unfair and unwarranted. If, under all circumstances, he takes it with a smile, he is a philanthropist in the highest degree. If he talks-back or wants to fight about it, he's sadly out of place.

With our next issue the price of the Breeze is raised from three cents a copy to five; subscription price from $1.00 a year to $2.00. All renewal subscriptions dating before July 1, 1909, will be at the old price. All new subscriptions (paid in advance) before July 1 will be at $1.00. All subscriptions after July 1, 1909, will be at $2.00. See announcement on front page of this issue.

Deacon T. B. Stone has been in Salem for the last week on a nursing case.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sargent of Beverly spent the holiday with Supt. of Streets and Mrs. Benj. Crombie.

Mr. and Mrs. W.N. Gale of Brookline were guests over Sunday of Mrs. Gale's sister, Mrs. H. B. Hinchliffe and Mr. Hinchliffe, School street.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Floyd and family, Miss Beth Jewett and Mrs. J. F. Rabardy and Miss Etta Rabardy went to Roxbury last evening for the wedding of Mrs. Rabardy's grandson, Chester Caruth Smith and Miss Gertrude Adeline Frye, which took place at the Friend's Meeting House. Mr. Smith is a son of Undertaker Smith of Salem, well known here.

Many people have seen the large white bird swimming about in the inner harbor the last few weeks and have wondered at times if it were a tame duck from somebody's hennery or a wild sea bird. Those who pretend to know say this is a wild duck, strayed from a flock that passed over here in the spring. At any rate the bird is now getting quite acclimated and is apparently enjoying itself "swimmingly" in its new home. It may be seen almost any day tossing majestically on the small wind waves or resting peacefully on the ill-smelling mud flats.

The special town meeting to be held in Manchester next Monday evening at 7.30 to see if the town will purchase the Old Corner Store property, so-called, and remove the building and add this land on to the town property, is a move in which every citizen ought to be interested. From a sentimental point of view many ought to be interested, for this old building has been one of the landmarks of the town for the past century. George F. Allen, who did business there for the last half century, still lives in the upper portion of the building. If the town buys the land, this will make a strip of property running from the police station to the public library, and with the old buildings removed the common will be considerably enlarged and "opened up." It will also give an opportunity of widening the street at this point, a very necessary improvement.

Odd Fellows Entertain Grand Officers.

Magnolia Lodge, 149, I. O. O. F., gave the Grand Officers a royal reception on their annual visitation here yesterday. Those present were Grand Master Collett, G. Secretary Perkins, G. Instructor Webber, G. Marshal Whelpley and G. Guardian Ralph, and also the Dist. Dep. Grand Master Anthony C. Rogers of Gloucester. The visitors arrived on an afternoon train and were met at Pride's Crossing by the officers of the lodge and were taken for a drive along the shore. At six o'clock a reception was held at the lodge room and this was followed at 6.45 by a banquet in the Town hall, to which some 85 members and guests sat down. Schlehuber of Lynn was the caterer. The menu follows:

- Clam Bouillon and Wafers
- Baked Chicken Halibut and Sauce
- Sliced Cucumbers and French Dressing
- Hot Roast Turkey
- Mashed Potatoes
- Radishes
- Harlequin Cream
- Salted Almonds
- Cake
- Cranberry Sauce
- Olives
- Lobster Salad
- Frozen Pudding
- Sherbet
- Pecans
- Coffee
- Strawberries
- Rolls
- Butter
- Cigars

Long's orchestra furnished music during the banquet and all joined in singing a few of the popular songs after dinner.

At 8 o'clock the scene changed to the lodge room where in the course of the evening the Second Degree was exemplified by Degree Master J. N. Lipman and staff.

The visitors were strong in their expressions of praise for the fine reception accorded them here, of their trip in the afternoon and the beautiful scenery.

Muffling of Motor-boats.

Complaints against owners of motor-boats who ply their craft along the North Shore with unmuffled exhausts have become so numerous that the Breeze herewith publishes the state law which went into effect on May 1 last, requiring the use of under-water exhausts or mufflers on certain types of boats.

The two sections of the statute relating thereto are as follows:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful to use a boat propelled, in whole or in part, by gas, gasoline, or naphtha, unless the same is provided with an under-water exhaust or a muffler, so constructed and used as to muffle in a reasonable manner the noise of the explosion.

Section 2. Any person who operates a boat in violation of the provisions of the preceding section shall be punished by a fine of not more than twenty-five dollars.

Charles A. Lodge, jr., was home from Amherst over Memorial Day.

Roland Knight spent Memorial Day with his brother Samuel Knight at Exeter.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bennett of Gloucester spent the holiday with Mrs. Anna Phillips, School street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Knight have been spending the week at Rangeley Lakes, Me., making the trip with Mrs. Knight's brother, Mr. Hayden of Haverhill.

The graduation exercises of the Story High school will be held this year on Thursday evening, June 24, and the reception and dance of the graduating class on Friday evening, June 25. The class numbers five,—four girls and a boy.

Miss Marion Kitfield was a member of a large class of 75 that graduated from Miss Wheelock's Kindergarten Training school, Boston, yesterday. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Kitfield, attended the exercises.

Postmaster Wheaton received the pleasing news a few days ago that his salary would be increased beginning July 1 $200 a year, from $2100 to $2300. When Mr. Wheaton took office ten years ago the salary was $1400. The continual raise from that to $2300 shows the steady increase in the business done by the local office in the last decade. We note by the papers in the announcement of postmasters' salaries some sixteen increases were made against 50 decreases, and Manchester falls in the former class.

Work on the new concrete standpipe is about completed and the big million gallon tank will be ready to receive water in a week or two, though no water will be pumped into it until July, probably. To realize the massiveness of this reservoir one must visit it. On Memorial Day Commissioners Merrill and Hoare and Engineer Allen and a few citizens visited the new tank and were lifted to the top in the elevator that was used to lift the material. The view to be obtained from this elevation is something grand. It was particularly clear on that day and the view was magnificent. On one side Newburyport church steeples could be seen with the aid of glasses. The water circling Cape Ann may be seen for almost the entire distance, and in the other direction Boston is plainly outlined, and the tall chimneys of the Edison electric plant at South Boston are distinctly seen. The concrete work on the standpipe was practically completed Monday, ready for the railing around the top.

A public hearing will be held at the office of the selectmen next Wednesday afternoon at 4.30 on petition of the N. E. T. & T. Co. to erect three poles on Lincoln street.

There is every indication at present that the play to be given by the dramatic club of the First Parish church of Beverly at Manchester Town hall next Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Beverly hospital will be a great success. The sale of tickets has been rapid. The play, entitled "The Snowball," is given under the auspices of the Manchester Woman's club, and this, coupled with the quality of the entertainment and the members of its cast assures a good house. Tickets may be procured at Cheever's.

Good sized audiences attended both lectures and were delighted by the beautiful dissolving views and the interesting words of the lecturer. The stereopticon, which is one of the finest in use in the country, was skillfully managed by Mrs. Ward, wife of the lecturer. The Baraca Class feel well paid for the effort they made to secure Dr. Ward's services. He will receive a good welcome should he ever come this way again.

Keith's.

Next week will unquestionably be the biggest of the year at Keith's Theatre. It will mark the first appearance there in a number of years of Vesta Tilley, the undisputed queen of the London music halls and the highest priced vaudeville artist ever brought to this country.

Miss Tilley has for a long time held an unique place as a male impersonator. Besides her striking costumes, she has made a hit with her long list of songs. One of her best is called "That's a Time a Fellow Wants His Ma." "Following in Father's Footsteps" is another. "Sydney's Holiday" has proved a decided hit, a sort of a Tommy Atkins song, which she sings in soldier's uniform is one of those English pieces that catch the popular idea on this side of the water. Other features of the bill this week will be McKay and Cantwell, formerly with "The Merry Go Round," Slivers and Nelson; Harry Tate and company in "Motoring," Frank Stafford and Company in a beautiful birdland sketch; Henry Clive & Co.; Milt Wood, and Frederick & "Don."

ANNOUNCEMENT

To the people who reside within our city:—It seems almost as though it were a waste of Ink to be obliged to stand up and blow my horn after being in a city almost 25 years, to tell the public the services I render. Yet it is necessary as so many new comers are among us—I wish to emphasize the fact that I do a strictly first-class Tailoring Business, in all its branches—the best there is in every line and department. My prices are not the lowest, nor are they the highest, for work done. I make it a point to charge the same price I would pay you, did you do the work for me. Nothing can be more square than that principle.

I don't say I will give you a forty dollar suit for twenty, but do say I will give you a dollar's worth of goods or services for one dollar—What more can I do to be just to myself and you. If this announcement appeals to you I would like you to come and see me when in want of Tailoring in any of its many branches.

Hoping you will pardon this brusque statement, but necessity compels it as people seem to run after false ideas and believe anything that some humbug advertises.

After a three months' visit to his native home in Dunmore, Kilkenny, Ireland, Mansaul Bowers returned to Manchester last Friday, having landed in New York on the Majestic of the White Star line. Mr. Bowers was privileged to visit his old home on the other side the past winter through the kindness of Mrs. Russell Sturgis, for whom he is head coachman. He has resumed his position with Mrs. Sturgis at her Manchester estate.

Miss Lucy Baker returned home yesterday after a five weeks' visit with relatives in Concord, N. H.

A delegation of ten ladies from the Mission society of the Congregational church went to Swampscott Wednesday to attend the semi-annual session of the Woman's Board of Missions. A very interesting meeting was reported.

Almost daily complaints of bicycle-riding on the side-walks have been coming in to Chief Sullivan of late. Several instances have been reported where the riders were not over-polite to pedestrians with whom they had collided. Chief Sullivan takes the stand that Manchester's roads are good enough for bicycle travel and he intends to put a stop to the use of the side-walks for this purpose.

Many of those who went to Rosedale cemetery on Memorial Day were attracted by the beautiful grounds about the Dennis O'Sullivan cottage on Lincoln street. Always pretty and attractive the grounds this year are decidedly the best they have ever been. Much credit is due Mrs. Sullivan for the manner in which she beautifies her place. Flags and flowers gave a pretty touch to the place Memorial Day.

Miss Cora Howe was home from Boston Memorial Day.

Miss Mabel Eagleston returned to Boston Monday evening after a few days visit with her sister Mrs. H. L. Slade, Brook street. Mrs. William Eagleston of Bottineau, N. D., who has been spending a week with Mrs. Slade, her daughter, returned to Boston Wednesday, and after a visit to White River junction and other points in Vermont she will return to North Dakota.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Campbell entertained a house party of young people over the holiday including Miss Lila Campbell Nye, Miss Edith Loring, Chester Nye and Harry Hall of Somerville, Miss Catharine Hurley and Miss Eleanor McDonough of Dorchester, and Miss Mary E. Larkin of Lexington.

✦ Magnolia ✦

The Men's club will hold its first dance next Wednesday evening. Members will pay 25 cents each and men not members 50 cents each to cover the expense of the music. Ladies will be admitted at this first dance free of charge. A week from tomorrow night (Saturday) will be ladies' night on the club bowling alleys. Only ladies escorted by a member of the club will be admitted, but a member may bring more than one lady. A souvenir will be given the lady making the highest score.

The American Express Co. branch office at Magnolia will be opened tomorrow for the season and will be in charge of L. J. Irish of Salem.

J. Henry Coulter has opened his stable at Magnolia for the season.

Men's Clubhouse Opened.

The new Men's Clubhouse at Magnolia was opened Monday as promised, thanks to the good management of the foreman Wm. L. Wilkins and the hearty cooperation of all concerned. John L. Abbott was at work there with Fred Dunbar and John Wolfe at four o'clock that morning to finish some floors in time for the opening and John J. MacDonald the electrician also left his bed early in order to put up the fixtures in the bowling alleys before the alleys should be in demand. It was well he did so, for from nine o'clock on until the lights were turned out at midnight, the alleys got no rest.

The opening was a great success in every particular. Mr. Martin, the manager, arrived early and was on hand to act as host to at least a few among the hundreds that visited the building during the day. Mr. Libby showed others about, and the rest roamed at will from room to room admiring everything and exclaiming over the completeness of the equipment and the beauty of it all. The taste shown by James S. Lee, the architect, received unqualified praise. Each room from the bath-room to the bowling alleys aroused enthusiasm and the whole was pronounced to be above criticism.

The big assembly-room overflowed with the gay throng that came for the dance in the evening, the streets and the village square being utterly deserted. Excellent music was discoursed by an orchestra composed of Hjalma Danielson, violinist, S. Anderson, drummer, Frank Pinnette, cornetist, and Miss Ruia Brown, pianist. The restaurant supplied ice cream until this was exhausted and then fed the hungry with Mrs. Macauley's delicious pies. Altogether the day was a happy augury of the success of the club.

✦ Manchester ✦

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mead of Wellesley Farms spent the holiday in town with Mrs. Mead's sister, Mrs. F. G. Cheever. Edward Mead, Mr. Mead's son, was also here.

Commenting on President Taft's coming to Beverly this summer and the big ado being made over the event, a Beverly business man compared this with President Harrison's visit to Beverly during his term of office and the lack of demonstration at that time. President Harrison's married daughter, Mrs. McKee, spent the summer boarding at Daniel Killam's residence on Central street, and the President paid a visit to her during the summer. That was in about 1890. One incident in connection with President Taft's visit here is the installation of some 46 telegraph wires,—special press and private government wires.

Comrade Wm. J. Pert of Post 67, G. A. R. of Manchester, handed the Whisperer a program of the Memorial Day exercises of May 30, 1885,—24 years ago. The exercises of the day were carried out on nearly the same lines as now, or, at least, as they were until this year. At one o'clock the post met at headquarters, then located in the building on School street until recently used as a grocery store; at two, exercises in the Town hall consisting of selection by the band, reading of general orders by Adjutant C. H. Stone; singing, double quartet, W. J. Pert, director; prayer, Rev. D. F. Lamson; song, composed by Prof. N. B. Sargent; oration by L. B. Bates of East Boston. After this the line formed on the Common as follows: Marshal, Chas. H. Stone (also marshal at this year's parade); Manchester Cornet band, Theodore C. Rowe, leader; S. of V., L. D. Cullen, captain; Post band; Allen Post, R. C. Calder, commander; disabled soldiers and sailors, etc., in carriages. The only features of the exercises not in the exercises of 24 years ago is the strewing of flowers on the waters at Town wharf in commemoration of the sailor dead, by the W. R. C.

It makes a difference where you plant the new vine, as the experiences of a well known resident of School street, Manchester, not far from the Catholic church, show. This man planted a new vine on the southerly side of his house, where the warm rays of the sun and the best of soil, would nurture it to active growth. He nursed it and nursed it; he did everything he could to make it take root and grow. But withal it appeared to wilt and die. One day he tired of its care, dug it from its new home, and threw it by the side of his barn, nearby. It has since taken a new lease of life and is growing lustily. When asked how he accounted for it, the School streeter re-

Maurice Silverberg is able to attend to his business at the Farms after being confined to his home in Boston with illness for some weeks. He arrived here last Sunday.

The management of Wyatt's market, Beverly Farms, desires to state to the public that this old established concern is still in business, and is located at the shop on West street so familiar to North Shore residents for the past 20 years or more, and also that there is but ONE Wyatt's Market. *

Imbibers of light drinks such as are passed over the counter at Varney's drug store at Beverly Farms, may now enjoy an especially fine thirst quencher from the silver cased barrel from which is dispensed Dr. Swett's root beer at 5 cents a glass. This is a new, but very striking feature of Varney's soda water department. Step in and try a glass.

Jos. L. O'Neil is again in charge of the American Express Co.'s summer office at Pride's, which opened for the season last Tuesday. Mr. O'Neil has been running the American Express special between Boston and Amesbury the past winter.

With our next issue the price of the Breeze is raised from three cents a copy to five; subscription price from $1.00 a year to $2.00. All renewal subscriptions dating before July 1, 1909, will be at the old price. All new subscriptions (paid in advance) before July 1 will be at $1.00. All subscriptions after July 1, 1909, will be at $2.00. See announcement on front page of this issue.

Now come the days when the girl has got to look cool; the days of fishing and boating, the days of greensward and out-of-doors, the days of mountain climbing and riding and, indeed, of all the hundred energetic impulses that keep our spirits and our pulses up.

And so we must dress for them. Linens and flannels, light waists, easy boots and shoes. These things are not a matter of vanity to your rigorous, vigorous American man or woman of the Twentieth Century. Such necessities, of course, may as well be delightfully pleasing to the eye as useful to the wearer and that, perhaps is why you choose Webber's, for this store has not only the commercial eye for utility, but the artistic eye for finish equally well developed.

Beverly Farms' Memorial Day.

With honorary services to the G. A. R. in the Baptist Church on Sunday and a parade, followed by decoration of graves on Monday, Beverly Farms fittingly kept Memorial Day in honoring her soldier and sailor dead.

At the service Sunday morning, the Rev. Clarence S. Pond spoke on "The Nation's Supreme Product." Preston Post 188, G. A. R., was present, escorted by the local companies of the fire department, and the local Woman's Relief Corps occupied another section of the church. Commander Day and Adjutant Osborne were in command of the post, while Mrs. Preston, president of the Relief Corps, led that body.

Mr. Pond said in part:

"The Nation's supreme product is man. It is good theology and sound common sense to say that apart from God, man is the greatest we know.

"To insure good laws we must have good men. To conserve the good in law and to remove the poor in law we need men. Man makes the state. We train the young that we may make men and women and develop the highest in human living, conserve the righteous law, preserve the institutions our fathers have bequeathed to us and lay sound foundations for the perpetuity of our social and republican weal.

"It is good to fight for one's country.

It is good to die for one's country. It is better if we have both fought for the union of states and the state of union with God in one's own life. To serve our flag in war is not enough. The individual serving the flag must raise the character of the nation by winning the battle of life, that of his own character. The Great Book says, 'He that ruleth his own spirit is greater than he that has captured a city.'

"What Cemetery ridge was to Gettysburg and Gettysburg to the whole war so is that necessary struggle in every living soul when he wins the battle of the soul and allies his character with that of God and enlists his will in His. Fight? Yes. But who does not love a good fight? The veterans of that war had physical and moral courage. Physical courage is admirable, but moral courage is beyond praise of men. As your generation won in physical and moral courage and you are now fighting a moral battle, so grant that the coming generations may as a generation fight the cause of righteousness in them."

The parade on Monday afternoon formed at 2 o'clock at the square. The procession was headed by a platoon of police; then came two companies of firemen and the school children and finally Preston Post and the W. R. C. escorted by a company of citizens. The line of march was up Hale street to Ober hill,

Now that the city government has passed the July 4 appropriation it seems assured that the city proper will have its usual celebration, which in the past has been of little or no interest to people of this part of the city. At the Farms in past years the matter of celebrating the Fourth has been engineered by a committee of citizens, who have collected by subscription funds to meet the expenses of such a celebration. The result of their efforts usually gave the Farms the best celebration of any place along this section of the North Shore. It has now become a part of the routine life and everybody looks forward to it each year. The money collected has always been prudently spent and in such a way as to please all. This committee now feels that it has done its work and that others should fall in line and see the thing through. A committee of young men ought to organize and put the celebration through so that the Farms will not be lacking in observing most appropriately this year's Independence Day.

And said with such an expression of pleasure and interest—seems as though you were just as glad to say it as we were to hear it.

"Why really I can do very much better at home, trotted all over Boston, and could buy here cheaper—and—what's more, find a LARGER STOCK HERE to select from."

Some one's going to read this statement and wonder if it's true, especially as to the VARIETY. We invite such a one to visit our 4th floor annex, that portion of our building over the American Express and Postal Telegraph offices, and take for illustration

Our Odd Dresser Exhibit

It embraces a line that will please the taste of the millionaire or the pocket of the mechanic.

It starts with a Dresser that costs $7.50 and ends with one that sells for $90.00, and to be absolutely explicit as to the variety on the floor, by actual count there are 83 styles to see.

The Low Cost Line

Is made of solid oak; no imitation oak; no ash as good as oak, but clean, white oak, with all the interiors of sanded white wood.

Made in the south, right where the wood itself grows, comes here in cars to save expense in transportation.

Commences with a Dresser, with three deep drawers, has a French, bevel plate of very good size.

The finish is excellent, and only

$7.50.

One, with swell top drawers, and pattern French plate,

For $9.50.

And a full swell front and of all quartered oak, with a great big plate of polished plate glass,

For only $15.00.

The Medium Cost Line

Made of Oak, Mahogany, Toona and Bird's Eye Maple, commences with a Dresser with serpentine top drawers, the lines of the curves are very genteel, the mirror is an oval of unusually good shape; the base to the leg is a pretty spoon foot, the handles to the drawers are plain and very chaste, the finish is unusual, almost equal to the best; the values—remarkable,

For only $14.75.

We've a few for early comers that are copies of a high priced one, that has proven the biggest seller in all the best stores.

Made extremely plain, not a piece of carving on it, but as graceful as though 'twere produced by the wave of a fairy's wand.

Copy price $27.00.

Original's price $36.00.

The High Cost Line

Represents the best products of the factories of Grand Rapids.

Made with a nicety equal to a piano, every detail carried out with the most minute care, designed with the thought that they are to be selected for their "correctness."

A credit to us to have them to show, a pleasure to you when they enter and remain in your house.

They start with one that's a joy to behold,—good,—fine looking,—in Mahogany and Bird's Eye Maple,

From $28.50.

Our Odd Dresser stock is in keeping with the rest of the store—no larger, proportionately, but just as large, and none too large to hold all your trade; we have it as good—we have it as cheap—and on any piece we urge you to compare.

George Wigglesworth and family are not closing their house at Milton and coming to Manchester until the very last of this month. On the 29th of June Mr. Wigglesworth is having the members of his class at Harvard (1874) down to Manchester for the day in connection with the 35th reunion anniversary of the class. The married son, Norton, and family are to occupy the small cottage on the estate this season, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip P. Chase are to have the Pickering house.

J. L. Loose and family of Kansas City are among the arrivals of the week at Magnolia, where they are again occupying the Underwood cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney L. Hutchinson of Philadelphia, who recently bought the Preston estate at Beverly Farms, are still in Europe, though they are returning very shortly. The extensive improvements and alterations in their new summer home are being pushed along and it is planned to have the place ready to turn over to the owners by July 1 at the latest.

Mrs. F. Gordon Morrill has arrived at her cottage at Magnolia for the season. Her son, Dr. F. Gordon Morrill, jr., and his bride of a few months, will join Mrs. Morrill later. They are now in Cleveland, O.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison K. Caner of "Felsmere," Manchester, have their son George Colket Caner home from St. Mark's school, Southboro, after a serious illness with typhoid fever. He has been confined in the hospital there for some weeks and was able to return home last Friday. The young man is fifteen years old, but stands six foot in his socks, weighs 175 pounds, and ought to make a prize for any varsity football team when he enters college.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Treat Paine, jr., will not be at their Pride's Crossing estate, "Pinethwaite," this season, as they are in Europe. Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Paine, 2d, of the Coolidge's Point colony, now in Europe, are returning the last of this month.

Mrs. Francis A. Lane of St. Louis arrived at her residence on University Lane, Manchester, yesterday.

:: At the Hotels ::

This is the great day of the year at Magnolia. The Oceanside opens today—and that always means a big stir, an impetus to business and a general prosperity throughout the town which lasts all round the year. When the Oceanside closes one season, Magnolians begin looking forward eagerly to the day of opening for the next.

The Oceanside is not the geographical center of Magnolia—but it can well spare that honor, because it is the center of everything else. There is no kind of an activity about the whole town worth a potter's paddle that does not start or end at the Oceanside. To Magnolia and the towns about it, the big hotel is what London and Paris are to the whole world—the centers of business, fashion and pleasure. Only at the Oceanside all is quiet enjoyment,—rest to mind and body, flavored with cool sea-breezes, and with the noise and jar of the modern city absolutely lacking.

That is why Magnolia's streets are alive today when they were well-nigh deserted yesterday. Many guests arrived this morning, many more are scheduled to arrive tomorrow and Sunday and by another week, hundreds of guests from New York to Frisco and from Winnipeg to Colon will be journeying north, south and west by boat and rail, bound for the Oceanside.

And the big hotel is spick and span from cellar to garret ready to receive its patrons. No sooner has a guest arrived at the door than one of a score of polite young men is at hand to answer queries and care for the luggage. From that moment until he gets aboard the train for the home-going at the end of the season, each patron has the benefit of a perfect system on which Manager Phenix and his aides have worked for months, looking to secure every convenience and accommodation for their guests.

Some of the early arrivals at the hotel today were Mr. and Mrs. E. M. House and Miss Janet House of Austin, Tex.; Mrs. John M. Gilkeson and maid of St. Louis, Mo.; Miss Margaret Gummey of Philadelphia; Burton Crawford of New York; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Warner, George E. Carter, J. W. Gummey, Mr. and Mrs. David Loring and Miss Loring, Clarence G. Croll, Mrs. A. Plummer and Mrs. Chester Guild of Boston.

❖ Society Notes ❖

Gardiner M. Lane is throwing open his beautiful summer home "The Chimneys," at Manchester, to the employes of the firm of Lee, Higginson & Co., of Boston, of which he is a member, tomorrow. A special train will convey the party from Boston to Manchester for the half day's outing. An old-fashioned clam bake will be the main feature of the occasion. This will be held on Dana's Beach, and a baseball game will be another feature.

Nelson S. Bartlett, having leased his town residence at 272 Marlborough street, Boston, is to make Manchester his permanent residence, and will live here the year around, thus adding another to the growing colony of Bostonians who maintain their residence here in winter as well as summer.

Mrs. Reginald Foster and children have arrived at their summer cottage at Coolidge's Point, Manchester, for the summer. Mr. Foster is motoring in Europe, but will return before the summer is over.

The Cummings Cottage on Englewood avenue, Magnolia, has been let for the season to Asaph Churchill and family of Milton who are expected down during the coming week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford D. Sawyer of Dartmouth street, Boston, are to occupy the Foster cottage on Summer street, Magnolia, this summer. Mrs. W. Kennard of Bay State Road, Boston, with her sons Victor and Reginald Kennard, are to be at the Kirby cottage nearby.

The first racing event of the season on the Manchester Yacht club's schedule is set for next Thursday, June 17, at 10 o'clock,—a race for one design and sonder class.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kennard of St. Louis, Mo., are in their cottage on Fuller street, Magnolia, for the season. They came last Tuesday.

Mrs. L. S. Ayers and family of Indianapolis are expected at the Ayers' summer home on Lexington avenue, Magnolia, tomorrow for the summer.

THE PASSING OF AN OLD LANDMARK.

Manchester Village to be Wonderfully Improved by Removal of "Old Corner Store" Building. So Voted at Special Town Meeting Monday Night.

At a special Town meeting Monday evening the citizens of Manchester voted to purchase the property bordering the Common, on which is located the Old Corner Store building, so-called, and also the little building, next to the church, owned by Mary L. Baker. This matter was before the town at the March meeting, but it was passed over at that time as the Allen heirs wanted $10,000 for it. Mr. and Mrs. Roland C. Lincoln, summer residents at Manchester Cove, became interested to the extent that they raised some $4000 from other members of the summer colony and the town is called on to pay only $6000.

In presenting the subject before the meeting Monday evening Mr. Lincoln stated that the question had come up at the March meeting and it was stated that the town could not acquire the property at less than $10,000. When the article was passed over it occurred to him, after he had talked with several citizens, that if the town could acquire the property for something like $6000 it would probably consider it. He talked it over with Mrs. Lincoln and she said why not raise $4000 and then see if the town will raise the balance. The amount has been raised and now he would suggest to the town at this meeting that it appropriate $6000 to acquire the property.

Mr. Lincoln then offered the following motion, which was unanimously adopted:

Whereas certain residents and citizens of the Town of Manchester, being desirous that the town should acquire the lot of land known as the Franklin lot, formerly owned by Benjamin L. Allen, and situated between the town common and the land of the Memorial Building and Church street, have subscribed towards its purchase by the town the sum of $4000, to the end that the town on acquiring title to said land may remove the buildings thereon as soon as may be and thereafter preserve and maintain said land as an open area for the public benefit.

Be it voted that the town proceed to acquire the title to said land for the purposes aforesaid, and that the selectmen be and they hereby are authorized to purchase said land for the public use of the inhabitants of the town, and that the sum of $6000 be appropriated for the purpose.

The subscriptions, aggregating $4000, it will be noted are mostly from members of the summer colony who have long made Manchester their summer home, so that the money was given largely as a matter of sentiment, as this property has for over 100 years been one of the landmarks of the town. Those subscribing were: T. Jefferson Coolidge, T. Jefferson Coolidge, jr., George N. Black, Charles E. Cotting, Mrs. George D. Howe, George R. White, Mrs. F. T. Bradbury, Henry L. Higginson, W. B. Walker, Mrs. Wm. F. Jenks, Mrs. J. L. Bremer, S. P. Bremer, Mrs. Chas. Hemenway, W. J. Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Whitehouse, Mrs. John Sturgis, Mrs. James T. Fields, Mrs. Edward Wigglesworth and Mr. and Mrs. Roland C. Lincoln.

After the vote had been passed Mr. Lincoln thanked the citizens on behalf of Mrs. Lincoln and himself for the interest taken in this, and on motion of A. Cunningham the citizens expressed their appreciation for the kindly interest taken by Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln in this respect.

Art. 3 of the warrant, to see if the town would purchase from O. T. Roberts piece of land on Rosedale avenue, opposite the Crowell Memorial chapel, and appropriate $350 for the same, was presented by Frank P. Knight, who stated that this land was purchased by Mr. Roberts some five years ago at a time when the Memorial chapel was being completed and when it looked as though somebody else might purchase it and spoil, in a way, the surroundings of the new chapel. Mr. Roberts paid for it $500, and he has since paid interest and taxes on it, so that that property has cost about $600. A gentleman stands ready to pay $250 and the town is asked to pay $350. It would be his idea for the town to keep this land, improve and beautify it.

The motion to purchase and pay $350 was passed almost unanimously.

Though it was not so stated in town meeting we have been informed by Mr. Roberts that he bought this land at the time the chapel was being completed and Miss Crowell, the donor of the chapel, intended, he thinks, to provide for its purchase as a part of her gift, but at her death no such provision was made. He spoke of the matter to her executor and he is the "friend," who gives $250 toward the purchase price of the property.

With the prospective removal of the building between the public library and the common this section of the town is to be considerably improved. Not only is the extent of the town property enlarged, throwing the public library building, the Congregational church and the common into one area, as it were, but safety to travel is wonderfully improved, for with the building removed the roadway may be seen all the way along Union street from the Postoffice to a point on Central street above Knight's coal wharf. The surrounding property will also be improved.

The removal of the building will also take from the center of the town one of the oldest landmarks. While the exact date of the construction of this building is not known, it is known that it was built not many years after the Revolutionary War.

The building has figured in the various stages of the town's history. In its fishing days it was used by Major Lee as a warehouse for the storage of fish; shoes were manufactured there at one time (1833) by John W. Mann; in cabinet making days it was used for the storage of furniture and in its manufacture, by J. P. Allen, and of late years it has served as the shopping center for the wealthy North Shore summer residents who come here to spend the warm months.

When Major Lee died the building was bought by Major Crafts, a great-grandfather of G. F. Allen, the present occupant of the building, and he continued to use it as a warehouse for fish and then it was changed into a residence, both up-stairs and down being used for this purpose. Mrs. Lucy Story Allen, Mr. Allen's own mother, was married there in 1817, her father, Aaron Allen, then living there.

The building was next used as a shoe factory by John W. Mann in the 30's, shoes being manufactured here by hand for people of the village.

It was bought by John P. Allen in 1838 or '40 and was used as a cabinet shop for the manufacture of furniture.

In 1849 the building was purchased by Benjamin L. Allen of Boston, and he leased it to Burnham & Gentle for a dry goods and grocery store for ten years or so. They remodelled it into a modern and up-to-date establishment, making the building into the present condition, with store underneath and tenement up-stairs.

The next occupants of the stores were John Little who conducted a grocery in one end, Simeon Swett and brother, who had a dry goods store in the other.

In war times Edward S. Vennard conducted a dry goods store there, and in 1869 George F. Allen started in business. He has occupied the premises longer than any of the other tenants, being in business there almost 40 years, selling out a year and a half ago to H. G. Nichols, who has since moved the dry goods branch of it to the Postoffice block. Mr. Allen moved into the tenement in 1877 and has since lived there.

ALONG THE CAPE ANN SHORE

BASS ROCKS

The week beginning today will be a big one at Bass Rocks. The Moorland opens tomorrow and The Thorwald next Tuesday. Both have exceptionally heavy bookings and it is probable that, by a week from today, hundreds of people will be seen about the rocks and walks of the Basses where everything now is deserted and solitary.

At the Moorland, Manager Parsons has been busy for several weeks "fixing up" for the coming of his guests and today everything is in order. Guests returning this season will find many improvements, but nothing has been done to mar the delightful rusticity of the place. Workmen have been busy all spring on the tennis courts and these are now in perfect condition.

The Thorwald has been undergoing similar changes. It has a houseful of guests coming on its opening day and workmen are busy putting on the finishing touches before they arrive. The prospects for a remarkable season at The Thorwald are very bright.

The cold weather of the last week has kept many cottagers who expected to get to the shore before today from carrying out their plans. A few arrived this week, however, among them Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Sargent of Cincinnati who are now at their cottage on Harbor Road.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Chandler of San Antonio, Tex., arrived early in the week at their cottage Casa Del Mar, on Beach Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Farnsworth have opened their cottage "Coahoma" and are in it for the season. Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Farnsworth are also in their cottage on Nautilus Road for the summer. The Farnsworths come from Memphis, Tenn.

Hugh C. Ward of Kansas City, Mo., has engaged the Rockwell cottage on Bass avenue for the summer and is expected there with his family next week.

Mrs. Ellis Mendell of Brookline is at her cottage on Atlantic avenue for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. R. Humphreys of Andover, Mass., arrived at their cottage on Atlantic road early this week.

EAST GLOUCESTER

While many newcomers arrived at East Gloucester during the last week, few of them were cottagers. Most of them were hotel guests, bound for the Hawthorne Inn, the Harbor View House or the Delphine.

All around Eastern Point, however, servants are opening up the cottages and putting them in order for the coming of tenants. The yards, too, are filled with workmen busy on the lawns and hedges and laying out walks and drives. When the hot weather comes, there will be no prettier piece of summer-country on the New England coast than that around the Point, from East Gloucester to Bass Rocks.

While June is not considered a good hotel month, hotels at East Gloucester are exceptionally lively with transient and season guests, a fact taken as a positive assurance of a big summer's trade. Considering that all the East Gloucester hotels opened earlier than the other hotels along the Shore, the beginning of the season has been remarkable.

The Harbor View House is alive with college girls. With classes ended for the year at Wellesley, many of the girls have come down to the quiet hotel on the harbor to prepare for examinations. Ever since the hotel opened on April 1, every week-end has seen a party of college girls down at the Harbor View and many of them have registered there for the entire summer's vacation.

At the Hawthorne Inn, a large number of new guests arrived this week for the season. Among them are: Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Platt, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Fiske, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wolff and Mrs. Mary Miller of Philadelphia; F. L. Eames and Miss Eames, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. M. B. Morgan and Miss A. M. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kelsey, and Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Hutchins, and D. T. Dickinson of Cambridge; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Miller, Winchester; Dr. John W. Meyer, La Porte, Ind.; H. H. Ames, Westfield, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Scherer and family of New York City; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lewis, Everett; Miss Ann M. Stevens, Dorchester; Miss K. S. Ives, A. W. Buhler and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Lowell, R. T. Craig, J. M. Robblee, H. R. Laite, Miss M. T. Hersey and F. C. Small of Boston.

ROCKPORT

While the Glen Acre and the Ocean View House at Pigeon Cove and the Straitsmouth Inn at Gap Head have bigger booking than for many years past, the cold, backward season has made newcomers along the Cape Ann shore very scarce up to the present time. At all the cottages from Pigeon Cove around the cape where rooms are to let for summer resorters, rooms have been taken at any price, but as yet, very few of the summer tenants have made their appearance.

The Ocean View House at Pigeon Cove will not open until next week, but some of its guests have already arrived. Among the early arrivals are Mr. and Mrs. Osborne Leach of Danvers; Mrs. E. A. Douglas and daughter, Miss Elsie, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Perkins of New York City; Miss May Frawler of Boston; Miss F. M. Colby, Miss Ellen M. Sawyer and Miss Martha E. Sawyer of Cambridge; and Miss A. C. Balch and Miss E. M. Crandell of Troy, N. Y.

Mrs. H. M. Dunklee, who has had the Ocean View for many years, is there again this season and announces many improvements to the house as well as new furnishings throughout. The several cottages connected with the house have all been engaged for the season and this, with many other signs, predicts a more lively summer at Pigeon Cove than there has been for some time.

Among the cottages opened this week was that of Mr. and Mrs. David K. Brewer of Brookline. The family is expected at the shore within the next few days.

The Straitsmouth Inn at Gap Head has been open for some time. Mrs. E. S. Wilkinson, the manager, reports a large number of bookings for the season and some of her guests have already arrived. During the winter many improvements have been made to the house, but it still retains that outward appearance of a bleak, sea-shore home, with all the cosy warmth and home-likeness inside which such a home affords and which have delighted so many guests in seasons gone by.

Miss Helen Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Washington B. Thomas, of 20 Gloucester street, Boston, and Samuel D. Warren, Harvard, '08, were married at 12 o'clock today, at "Netherfield," Pride's Crossing, the beautiful summer home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. Miss Thomas was adjudged one of the most beautiful of last winter's debutantes and made an exceptionally charming bride. The groom's younger brother, Bayard Warren was best man and Miss Margaret Thomas was the only attendant. The ushers were nearly all classmates of the groom at Harvard. They were Messrs. Gaspar Bacon, George de K. Gilder, Charles Morgan and Charles Lanier Appleton of New York, Richard Lovering and Gordon Ware of Boston and Barthold Parker of Lancaster. Mr. and Mrs. Warren will go abroad for their honeymoon.

Mrs. Gordon Prince is settled at the Wyman cottage, West Manchester, for the season, arriving this week.

On the opening day of the international horse show at London last Saturday Judge W. H. Moore of Pride's Crossing came in for a generous share of the prizes. In the competition for novice tandems his Hildegard team won first honors. His Thetis took fourth prize in the class for novice single harness horses over 15 and not exceeding 15.2 hands. In the novice tandem class, not exceeding 15 hands, his Amaryllis and Phyllis took first prize of $150. The road teams class also went to him.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Grew arrived at Glass Head, their beautiful estate at West Manchester, this week.

Mrs. A. P. Peabody of Brookline arrived at the Bliss cottage at Magnolia for the summer last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lord and family of Chicago are expected at Magnolia tomorrow or Monday. They have engaged the Knowles cottage on the Shore Road.

H. S. Grew, 2d, and family, arrived at their estate at West Manchester this week.

:: At the Hotels ::

MAGNOLIA

While the Aborn hotel is to have no formal opening day, it has been receiving guests for a couple of weeks. Nearly every room in the house is booked, but few season guests have arrived this early.

George N. French of Hyde Park entertained a party at luncheon at the Aborn last Tuesday in honor of his mother, Mrs. George N. French, who is now over 80 years old. Two big touring cars brought a large number of friends. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sitterley and son of New York, the Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Ricketts of Norwich, Ct., Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Synyer and Mrs. J. J. Synyer of Pittsfield, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hill and son of Chicago.

The management of the Hesperus is fast getting things into shape for receiving the large patronage which the hotel has already booked for the coming season. It was first expected that the hotel would be ready to open on the 15th, but it will not open now until the 22nd.

ROCKPORT

Among the guests at the Straitsmouth this week are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Davis of Boston who are spending their honeymoon there. Mr. Davis is one of the Boston Herald's most capable reporters. The bride was Miss Marion Bonsall of Allegheny, Pa. The wedding took place on June 1 at Allegheny. Other guests are Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Mann and daughters Ruth and Elizabeth of Waltham; Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Cram and Mrs. M. K. Harbich of Boston, all of whom are down for the season.

The Turk's Head Inn will not open until June 20.

After several months suspension, work has been resumed on the Sandy Bay breakwater, which is being built two miles off Cape Ann. It is hoped that, within the next few months, 300 feet of the superstructure can be erected, thus completing the 400 feet specified in the contract with the government. If this is done, the present available appropriation of $200,000 will be used up. The Rockport & Pigeon Cove Granite Company is doing a large part of the work.

J. Winthrop Tewksbury and family, of the Bay State Road, Boston, arrived Wednesday at Magnolia and are occupying the Newton Cottage for the summer.

Mrs. M. S. Bolles and son Reginald, of Boston, have engaged a suite in "Sea Reaches" cottage and have moved in for the summer.

❖ Society Notes ❖

The last touch in preparation for its tenants and guests has been added to the Colonnade at Magnolia and today's opening of the hotel season will be accompanied by the opening of most of the stores in the Colonnade. The four stores will be occupied this season by Dreicer & Company, Huyler's, the Grande Maison de Blanc, and Miss Alice Swift, all of New York City. Dreicer & Company is a jewelry firm of the same rank as Tiffany's. In opening a branch at Magnolia, they will bring to the North Shore some of their finest work in jewels and metals. The store will open on July 5. The Maison de Blanc has leased the same store it has had the last three seasons. It will carry one of the finest stocks of laces, linen goods, lingerie and trousseau ever brought into New England. The store will open tomorrow. Huyler's, the well known confectioners, will have their usual high grade stock of fancy goods. Mr. Arnold, the manager, intends to introduce many new features besides retaining those which made that store so successful last season. The store opens on June 15. Miss Swift opens on June 23. She brings from New York all that is latest and best in articles for interior decoration and other works of fine art. She was at the Grill last year.

When the Grill opens next Tuesday, returning patrons will see many improvements. The dining verandas have been enlarged to twice their former size to accommodate the increased patronage and decorated with a pretty gray lattice which, against a background of dark green, gives a cool and refreshing effect. The supervision of the Grill this season will be under H. L. Bates, chief steward, who has had large experience in well known hotels of New England. Head waiter, this year, will be Mr. Francis of New York City, formerly at the Hotel Stephanie, Baden-Baden, and the Carleton, London. Miss Stearns, proprietor of the Grill, will not only retain the many features which made the place so popular last year, but will add many new ones. Among them will be the services of two high caste Hindus, now students at Harvard, who will appear in the tea garden in oriental costume serving tea, currie and other dishes in eastern fashion. In the evening they will serve luncheon and salads.

Cong. A. P. Gardner is planning a walking tour of civil war battlefields in Virginia to study the campaigns fought there, says a newspaper despatch. The trip, which he will make before the adjournment of Congress, will take several days.

One of the biggest surprises of the week was the arrival of President Lucius Tuttle of the Boston & Maine railroad at Magnolia last Friday afternoon and his selection of the new dwelling of Dr. Arthur Dakin on Western avenue as his summer home. The house will be opened up this week and President Tuttle and his family will arrive about June 21.

The President's visit to Magnolia was made in a hurry, in a special train. He was at Magnolia but a short time and the agreement regarding the cottage was completed in a few moments after Mr. Tuttle had looked over the place.

The Dakin dwelling is one of the most handsome and costly in Magnolia. It is three stories high, built in Colonial style, and contains 18 rooms and three baths. It is furnished throughout in cypress and white wood with hardwood floors. It is situated on the main road on the site of the building which was destroyed by fire last year.

The house was rebuilt the past winter, Thomas M. Sargent of Boston being the architect. John Commerford of Magnolia was the contractor-builder, the other work being done by the following: Worth & Lloyd of Magnolia, painters; John MacDonald, Gloucester, electrical work; L. E. Andrews & Co., Gloucester, plumbing; John W. Black of Gloucester, upholstering.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat of Sunday, May 23, had an extensive article on "The New Summer Capital of the United States," in which were four illustrations, one of Mr. Taft's summer home at Beverly, the other three Manchester views, one of them Singing Beach, where, it stated, the President and his family would bathe during the summer; another the Essex County club house, designated the social centre of the U. S. this summer, and the third, a view of the golf links, where it was stated the President would play golf.

Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Sumner and little child of Baltimore, arrived at Manchester last Saturday and are cozily settled at their estate on Smith's Point for the summer.

Miss Sarah E. Miller will be at Beverly Farms after June 15, and will read for private families, or at entertainments. References: Mrs. John H. Sturgis, Manchester; Mrs. W. Society Notes

James Means and family of Boston moved down to their cottage at Manchester today.

Mrs. Sylvester Tower and family, the Misses Tower and Herbert W. Tower, are at their summer residence, Cobb avenue, Manchester, for the summer.

B. Kroupensky has signed a lease the last week for a cottage at Windemere Park, Manchester, next to the cottage occupied by him and other members of the Russian legation last season. M. deThal, second secretary, will be with him. B. Kroupensky is the chagred d'affaires of the legation.

Mrs. James McMillan sailed from England Wednesday and is expected at Eaglehead, her Manchester residence next Wednesday. She has been visiting her daughter, Lady Harrington and Sir John, who are to come to America for a visit later in the summer.

Mrs. Charles Dennison of Denver, Colo., is at Manchester for a few weeks' visit with her father, Henry Strong, who has the Cobb cottage, Masconomo street. Her daughter, Miss Elsa Dennison, who has just completed her year's work at Bryn Mawr, is also here for a short visit and has her classmate Miss Izette Taber of Haverford, Pa., with her. They are of the class of 1910.

One of the events of the last week of June significant to summer residents is the opening of the branch store of Daniel Low & Company of Salem at the Ocean-side Hotel, Magnolia, on June 28. Daniel Low & Company is known all over the country as a house of rank with Tiffany's. Their year-book illustrating over 10,000 articles of jewelry, watches, leather goods and toilet and silver novelties is mailed on request. When it opens its branch store a select assortment of its most valuable stock will be transferred to the Oceanside.

Our teams call at all beaches and we wish to set forth some pertinent Facts. That every discriminating house-keeper ought to know about the Laundry work as done where hygienic principles are not a secondary consideration. Where, is practised proper sanitary and mechanical conditions. Where, with our equipment of improved machinery, pure soap and separate washing with soft Charles River water, work is done second to none in America. We try to take a personal interest in each and every garment laundered, and believe that a satisfied customer is the best advertisement.

Fact 1:—This is most important, that our water is soft and it is not necessary to use chemicals. This will be appreciated by those whose Laundry has had hard usage.

Fact 2:—We have our soap and starch made especially for us, thereby getting a superior quality of each, pure soap and starch that will neither crack, blister or make saw-edges.

Fact 3:—Our so-called flat work, we believe is the best obtainable. Special care is taken in the ironing and it is returned soft and without odor. Such articles as table cloths, turkish towels, monogramed linen, fringed spreads are thoroughly done and satisfaction guaranteed.

Fact 4:—Laces, lingerie, silks and muslins are handled by the most expert assistants, some of which have been with us a dozen or more years. Shirt-waist work is made a specialty and is unequalled.

The above will appeal to the discerning persons who would like to find a laundry embracing all these features.

It would seem almost too good to be true, but we do it and more. We think, you would not regret giving this fine laundry work, at least a trial.

Woman's Club Concert at Salem.

There is every indication that the pop concert to be given next Tuesday night at Salem by the Salem Woman's club to raise funds for restoring the club's free bath house which was burned last Easter, will be a brilliant and successful affair. In the morning a cake and candy fair, open to the public, will be held at the parlors of the Salem Y. M. C. A. The pop concert will follow in the evening and as the club has secured the Salem Cadet Band for the occasion, the music will be the best. Tickets are for sale at Emilio's and at Miss Plummer's, Essex street, Salem.

Manchester Young Men in Accident at Swampscott.

The reports in some of the Boston papers last Sunday about an automobile accident at Swampscott in which H. M. Bater, George Craigie and George Aust of the North Shore branch of the Regent Garage of Boston, were concerned, were not true, and out of justice to those concerned we print this from one of the Lynn papers:

"Henry Craigie, who was taken to the Lynn hospital suffering from a cut over the eye, received while riding in a touring car, that met with an accident Saturday in Swampscott, will be able to leave in a day or two. The car was on the way to Boston from Manchester, where it had been in the repair shop conducted at that place by a branch of a Boston garage.

"Harold M. Bater was at the wheel and beside him was George Aust. In the tonneau was Henry Craigie. While making a sharp turn a branch of a tree, bent under the weight of the rain, struck Craigie across the face as he leaned out of the car. It gave him a bad gash and Bater put on a little more speed to reach a drug store so Craigie could be taken care of.

"The big car skidded on the slippery road and swung sideways against the curbing and the wheel crumbled. Craigie had been stunned by the blow in the face, and so it was thought best to take him to the hospital. The police took Bater to the station house, but he was released later and told to come to Lynn tomorrow morning.

"The owner of the car was communicated with and he said the men were not 'joy riding,' but were bringing the car to Boston at his request. He investigated the accident and does not place any blame on the driver."

We might add that the three young men are attending to their usual duties, little the worse for their experiences.

✦ Manchester ✦

Miss F. J. Kiff, skin and hair specialist of Boston, has opened her North Shore branch at the Blaisdell block, Beach street, Manchester, and will be prepared to receive her patrons or to make appointments on Monday, June 14. *

John F. Conroy, who spent part of last summer at Manchester, and gained considerable praise for his daring swimming feats and for his several rescues in the course of the summer, is to be here this year, having been engaged by the management of the Masconomo House as life guard.

The Breeze man had the pleasure a few days ago of meeting Captain W. C. Whelden, so well known here as captain for so many years of the "Velthra," Mr. Brewer's private yacht. The captain now runs on an ocean tug between Boston and Philadelphia. He was in Boston for a few days this week and he took a short trip to Beverly to see his first mate, who has been ill for some time. He wished to be remembered to his Manchester friends.

The Red Men are to hold the first picnic of the season next Thursday—Bunker Hill day, at Tuck's Point. All Red Men invited.

The new fire alarm whistle (compressed air) is being installed at the engine house. It will be in working order by July 1, probably.

Frederick Burnham to Austin Morley and Dominick Flatley, land on Lincoln street, Manchester, 60 by 100 feet.

Elbridge J. Holden, who died in Salem last week, was well known in Manchester, especially in musical circles, as he was for the last 40 years of his life very prominent as a musical director and singer. He sang here many times years ago in the Baptist church. He married a Manchester girl, Miss Olive Rowe, a sister of T. C. Rowe, George A. Rowe and Mrs. Charles Danforth of this town, and Mrs. Eliza Lowe of Essex. She formerly taught school here.

The Rev. Theodore Lyman Frost, pastor of the First Baptist church, has started a King's Business Campaign for the betterment of Manchester, morally and spiritually. In a neat folder, to be issued Sunday, he sets forth the lines of his campaign and, in 18 pertinent questions, enquires into the religious status of those who read them. As planned, the campaign will undoubtedly do much good.

Tremont Theatre.

On June 14 the regular scale of summer prices will be inaugurated at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, where B. C. Whitney's laughter and song play, "A Broken Idol" with Otis Harlan, is proving the biggest kind of a success. The prices under the new scale will be the same as in former summer seasons giving 200 seats on the first floor at 50 cents and 200 more in the first balcony at the same price.

Every line that Otis Harlan speaks means a laugh and out of every situation he evokes a roar of mirth. The audience smiles, giggles, ripples and shouts with glee when he is on the stage. But he is not the only entertainer,—for one cannot fail, in justice to a gifted, painstaking artist, to recognize the merit of Miss Madge Voe whose impersonation of Sing Wee, a little Chinese child-wife, is as fine a picture of its kind as any American actress has ever painted.

Then there is Alice Yorke whose gorgeous voice is heard to an advantage in a number of pretty songs. George Richards, an old Boston favorite has a congenial roll and so, too, have Charles H. Bowers, Carrie Perkins, Miss Birdie Beaumont, Lawrence Comer, Otto Hoffman, David Andrada, Fred Hill and Maxwell Sargent. A delightful feature of the production is the famous Whitney chorus of American beauties.

The Breeze is 5 cents a copy beginning with this issue; $2.00 a year subscription after July 1. It should be remembered, according to our announcement of last week, that all subscriptions paid in advance between now and July 1 will be at the old rate, $1.00 a year, and subscriptions may be paid for as many years as the subscriber desires. After the first day of July all subscriptions received, in renewal or as new subscribers, will be at the rate $2.00 a year.

Telephone Versus Travel.

"USE the wire, don't travel," says Colliers in an editorial on the telephone. The article continues:

"It is an interesting commentary on human nature that business men who have been used to the telephone all their lives will forget its possibilities and make long trips to transact business that could be done in a few moments over the telephone.

"A trip from Chicago to New York and return, allowing for one day's average expense in the city, would cost a business man about ninety dollars at a conservative estimate, and would require at least two days' time. That expense alone would cover the cost of eighteen long distance telephone conversations at five dollars for three minutes, or for a total of about an hour's conversation at one dollar and a half per minute. In addition to this, the man would have his two days' time and his plans would be spared the delay and interruption. The proportion is even greater for lesser distances and smaller telephone rates.

"The time has passed when such a statement is to be considered merely as an advertisement for the long distance telephone business. Such reckonings now have a place in the economic philosophy of the progressive business man, and differ in no wise from a systematic policy in the use of the mails."

What is true of long distances is so, in proportion, when shorter space is in consideration. On the farm the telephone has come to be well nigh indispensable.

"I would as soon think of mowing my hay with an old-fashioned scythe as try to conduct my farm successfully without a telephone," said a Hamilton farmer in our office yesterday. In rural districts the telephone saves many a long trip and performs a thousand and one services that, without it, would go undone. Through it a man is in immediate touch with everyone with whom he does business—the general store, the farm implement buyers—he can talk things over with everyone he wishes, no matter how far away the people are.

Then there is the other side,—the side of human interest—mother, the boys and girls. Perhaps one of the children is sick. The telephone is the fleet-footed messenger in time of trouble or sickness, defying weather and distance alike. It is the bearer of news and social messages to friends on distant farms.

Rural telephones are increasing wonderfully in numbers. The Western Electric Company of New York writes us, that, in the last 60 days, it has sold over 50,000 telephones for country use.

Two Flag Days.

Essex County will have two flag days this year. First comes the national Flag Day on June 14th; then the day when the national and all other colors are flung to the breeze in honor of the President's arrival in Essex County.

As for the national day, it has not been celebrated as generally of late years as it should have been; or, we hope, as it will be in the future. Apparently its meaning has not been made clear to the rising generations. Few children,—indeed, few adults, know that June 14th is the birthday of the Star Spangled Banner, that its combination of red, white and blue was specially designed to represent the elements of liberty—red for valor, white for purity and blue for justice, right.

The decline of public feeling for the flag is largely due to the fact that, within late years, there has been no military movement to arouse the feeling of devotion which should always be associated with the flag, but is seldom manifest save in times of war. Those venerable men who followed the flag up Cemetery Ridge retain the true feeling. They bare their heads whenever the flag goes by. That is because the mere sight of it fills them with memories of struggles lost and won to maintain that banner in the position given it by the Revolution.

The stagnation in public feeling regarding the flag may, in some measure, be overcome by teaching the origin and purpose of the emblem in the public schools. Young hearts are always patriotic, because they are not yet filled with the mercenary interests of the day, and love of flag and country thoroughly instilled in childhood is rarely forgotten.

Don't Knock—Boost!

If there is one better way than another to ruin a town, it is for those who live in it to go about apologizing for its existence. There are some who are always ready to say, by their actions at least, that Manchester doesn't amount to much. They will tell you that the town is dead; that no one would think of stopping here; that some town adjacent is more respectable, more enterprising, has better people, better enjoyments, is ahead of us in everything.

This is all wrong. Even if it be true, no one should ever admit it when it comes to making a comparison. Every good citizen of this town, should take a special local pride in all that pertains to home. The schools, the churches, the amusements, the business, pleasures, the picnics, the celebrations, in fact everything should be looked on by our own people as just as good as can be gotten up elsewhere. The town that says "we can," will always succeed. The town that says, "Oh, I don't know, I don't think it will amount to much," is never of much force. If you have no local pride, borrow some.

THE Breeze today rounds out a week of popularity and expressed appreciation such as it has never known before. Congratulations have been received by word, by letter and telephone on the splendid issue of last week; and, in a more substantial way, public approval has been shown by added subscriptions which have not ceased to pour in from every side. The Breeze management expected that its enterprise would receive favorable comment, but so wide and ready a response was not dreamed of. The Breeze wishes to thank its friends most heartily.

It is also desired to remind present subscribers of the advantage of renewing their subscriptions before July 1. All new subscriptions or renewals for any number of years, (whether due this month or later), paid in advance before July 1 will be accepted at the rate of $1 a year. All subscriptions or renewals received after that date will be at the rate of $2 a year. And, beginning with this issue, the Breeze sells at the newstands for five cents a copy.

THE activity of Ipswich in forming an organization of its representative men to appear and act for the town in all movements intended to benefit the locality, should be an example to Manchester. Ipswich has just established such a board, known as the Local Improvement Society, which is now seeking representation on the Essex County Board of Trade and is keenly alive in its efforts for benefiting the town. If Manchester wishes to be anything more than a summer resort with no activities or industries to keep it alive in winter, it cannot do better than follow Ipswich's lead. One of its first steps should be to establish a large modern hotel, even if it is necessary to form a corporation to do it. Such a hotel is Manchester's first and greatest need.

As the country about the North Shore is not strictly a farming country, few farmers in this section can fairly take advantage of the law recently passed permitting the shooting of deer found destroying crops. Quite a few of the animals, mostly young ones, have been seen in the woods about here and there have been some complaints of damage done. Farmers, however, should be slow to kill the animals, and should seek to save their crops by watchful care and good fence-building rather than with rifle and bullet.

WITH Lucius Tuttle, its president, a summer resident at Magnolia, the Boston & Maine railroad should see to it that a depot worthy of the place is built at that station. The present depot has long been an eye-sore to the hundreds of summer patrons as well as the townspeople. The time for a new depot could not be more opportune than now.

Have you ever noticed that a poor girl has to be awfully good looking to be pretty, and a rich girl has to be awfully homely to be ugly? Also that a poor man has to be awfully smart to be intelligent, and a rich man almost a block-head to be ignorant?

The tennis girl goes out to play her nerve-producing game; the flippant girl goes out larking because her life's too tame; the reading girl betakes herself into a world of books; the scheming girl to the seaside goes to fish with artful hooks; the flirting girl goes anywhere she thinks there is a man; the dressy girl to Paris, to buy a dress and fan; the beauty goes upon the stage to show her handsome looks; but the girl that gets the husband stays right at home—and cooks.

* * * *

While it is customary in America to express disgust and reprobation with a hiss, there are parts of the world where that sound means the utmost of satisfaction and praise. In Japan it means delight. A Japanese in greeting one, hisses. In West Africa the hiss denotes astonishment. In the New Hebrides they hiss before anything beautiful. The Basutos hiss in sign of cordial agreement. Among the Kabyles of northern Africa the hiss denotes satisfaction. In mills and factories where the machinery makes so much noise that spoken words cannot be heard, workmen hiss to one another to attract attention.

 Birds Killed by Spraying of Trees.

A large amount of circumstantial evidence seems to justify the assumption that birds are killed by spraying trees with arsenical insecticides for the purpose of killing insects. Last year many birds were found dead where trees were sprayed and the State Ornithologist began an investigation to determine whether the birds were killed by spraying. The evidence secured was not conclusive enough to clear up the matter fully. It is now the season of spraying for the gypsy moth, brown tail moth and elm-leaf beetle. Dead birds usually may be found within two or three days after spraying has been done.

All who are interested in bird life are requested to be on the watch for dead birds under or in the vicinity of sprayed trees and to forward any found to E. H. Forbush, State Ornithologist, Room 136, State House, Boston. It is proposed to have the birds' bodies analyzed to learn if they have been poisoned by the spraying mixture.

 MORNING IN THE HARBOR.

Fresh and clear to the ocean
 Runs the winding river;
 And sea-birds in commotion
 New notes are sounding, ever Known to the early riser.

Calls of the wild-birds winging,
 Larks that are soaring high
 In sweetest notes are singing
 From out the morning sky;
 Free as the air they're sailing
 Over the briny spray,
 Rising over the grayling,
 Down deep in the blue of the bay.

Red is the sun on the water,
 And the moon, low in the west,
 Now dim in its last pale quarter,
 Droops to its day of rest.

The duck that has been making itself quite at home in the inner harbor of late, referred to in our last issue, belongs to Chas. A. Read. The bird in question is the male member of a small family and almost daily it meanders off by itself, usually to the inner harbor, but as night approaches Mr. Duck always joins his family.

The hearing on petition of the telephone company to run wires on Lincoln street, to reach the residences of Frank H. Dennis, Edward Crowell and Chas. Goldsmith, given Wednesday afternoon at the office of the selectmen, resulted in practically all the other residents of the street registering their protest against such a move. At their meeting Wednesday evening the board gave the company leave to withdraw. Samuel S. Peabody was also appointed special police officer. Mr. Peabody will serve as special officer on Smith's Point, from the end of Masconomo street to Proctor street, over the territory not covered by the public highways. He is hired for this purpose by the property owners of that section.

Flag Day will be observed by Allen Relief Corps next Monday, June 14, by public exercises in the Town hall that evening. Seats will be reserved for the G. A. R. and Associates, S. of V., W. R. C. and the children who take part. The doors will open at 7.30 and the entertainment will be at 8 o'clock. The program will consist of singing, flag drills, recitations and an address, probably by Rev. E. Hersey Brewster of Norwood.

Lagory Wade has a position for the summer with Putnam's orchestra of Lynn, which is to play at Bass Point, Nahant, after the 28th of this month. He will also play with the Lynn Brass Band and with the Lynn Cadets. The Putnam orchestra is considered one of the finest in Essex County.

Mrs. L. B. Decker returned home this week after an absence of over two months in Woolwich, Me., where she went to care for her sister-in-law, Mrs. Emma Trott, who was buried last Wednesday.

Nothing but words of praise were spoken of the play presented in the Town hall Wednesday evening by the Dramatic club of the First parish, Beverly, in aid of the Beverly hospital fund being raised by the Manchester Woman's club. The hall was well filled, and many tickets were sold to persons who did not attend. "The Snowball" was a very appropriate title for the three act farce, which kept the audience in a continual roar of laughter from start to finish. Each one of the characters was well taken.

The characters:

- |                     |                    |
|---------------------|--------------------|
| Felix Featherstone, | William O. Safford |
| Uncle John,         | Walter H. Towne    |
| Harry Prendergast,  | Warren Bulkeley    |
| Mrs. Featherstone,  | Mrs. William Hurd  |
| Ethel Granger,      | Miss Mary Bulkeley |
| Penelope,           | Miss Marion Swasey |
| Saunders,           | R. Robertson, jr.  |

About $75 was realized from the net proceeds of the affair, which will form the nucleus of a fund to be used for the benefit of the hospital, the details of which will probably be announced later.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To the people who reside within our city:—It seems almost as though it were a waste of Ink to be obliged to stand up and blow my horn after being in a city almost 25 years, to tell the public the services I render. Yet it is necessary as so many new comers are among us—I wish to emphasize the fact that I do a strictly first-class Tailoring Business, in all its branches—the best there is in every line and department. My prices are not the lowest, nor are they the highest, for work done. I make it a point to charge the same price I would pay you, did you do the work for me. Nothing can be more square than that principle.

I don't say I will give you a forty dollar suit for twenty, but do say I will give you a dollar's worth of goods or services for one dollar—What more can I do to be just to myself and you. If this announcement appeals to you I would like you to come and see me when in want of Tailoring in any of its many branches.

Hoping you will pardon this brusque statement, but necessity compels it as people seem to run after false ideas and believe anything that some humbug advertises.

Chief of Police Sullivan and a squad of six officers were out last Sunday in an effort to put a check on over-speeding autoists and reckless driving. Courses were measured off at the Cove and at West Manchester and at each of these officers were stationed, with the result that four were summoned into court. They were Nathaniel Butler, chauffeur for Israel Nesson of Brookline; Edward Heath, chauffeur for David B. Smith of Gloucester; F. Albert Hayes, chauffeur for Christine V. Mellen of North Cambridge and James Kenney, chauffeur for B. Riss of Havengreen, L. I. In court Monday the first two were fined $25 00 each.

Wednesday evening Chief Sullivan and Officers Andrews and Sheehan arrested a couple of tramps that were using one of the cars at the local freight yard as bed for the night. In court Thursday each was given one month in the house of correction for vagrancy. James Hamilton and Daniel Lentz were their names.

On June 21, coincident with Mr. Tuttle's arrival at Magnolia for the summer, a new express train between Magnolia and Boston will be put in service. The establishment of the new train, it is said, was largely due to the efforts of Gloucester business men and was decided on some time before President Tuttle decided to make Magnolia his summer home. At any rate, the new train will leave Rockport at 8 o'clock in the morning, stop at Gloucester, West Gloucester and Magnolia and then, without stop, speed to Boston, arriving at 8.52. The run from Magnolia to Boston is to be made in 42 minutes. Going the other way, the fast train will leave Boston at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and arrive at Magnolia, without stop between, at 5.42 o'clock. To this train, President Tuttle's private car will be attached.

The first Catholic services to be held at Magnolia this season will be held at the library, opposite the Colonnade next Sunday morning at 7 o'clock, when Father Fennesyn will perform low mass. From then on services will be held regularly throughout the season.

The Breeze is 5 cents a copy beginning with this issue; $2.00 a year subscription after July 1. It should be remembered, according to our announcement of last week, that all subscriptions paid in advance between now and July 1 will be at the old rate, $1.00 a year, and subscriptions may be paid for as many years as the subscriber desires. After the first day of July all subscriptions received, in renewal or as new subscribers, will be at the rate of $2.00 a year.

Keith's.

The daring of Mr. Keith in presenting Vesta Tilley, the three thousand dollar a week star, and the vaudeville bills in keeping, for a summer attraction, was fully justified after all, for there has not been in Boston during the entire winter season an attraction that equals this brilliant young woman, who has been drawing big houses all the week.

Hundreds of persons have visited Keith's day after day to hear and see this young English woman, and next week they will have an opportunity to hear her in new songs, for she has what is probably the most extensive collection of song hits of any artist that has ever appeared before the American public. If Miss Tilley were not on the bill, the Great Lester, the ventriloquist from the West, who carried New York by storm a few weeks ago, would be sufficient attraction to draw crowded houses. Lester has only one dummy, but it is one that will be remembered. An exceptionally good musical act will be that of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Voelker. Others will be Kelly and Barrett in "The Battle of Too Soon," Hayes and Johnson, Cornalla and Eddie, Patsy Doyle and the Hess Sisters.

Rev. H. H. Proctor, D. D., of Atlanta, Ga., who is to speak to the children next Sunday morning at the Village church, has recently dedicated a fine $35,000 church for colored people in his own city. The appreciation of the need of this church and its value to the city can be known from the fact that the white people of Atlanta subscribed $5000 towards it before the building was begun. The colored people of other churches in Atlanta have given as much more while the members of Dr. Proctor's own church, all of them colored, have given $12,000. Dr. Proctor is a graduate of Yale Divinity school where he took high honors. He is a very pleasing speaker.

The evening services, both on Sunday and Friday evenings at the Village church, will begin at 8.15 o'clock commencing next Sunday evening. This is in order to suit the convenience of many summer employees who are unable to come earlier.

It is Ladies' Night on the bowling alleys of the Men's Club tomorrow night. Only ladies escorted by a member of the club will be admitted. Members are allowed to bring several ladies. A souvenir will be given the lady making the highest score.

The first Ladies' Night at the Men's Club, Wednesday evening, proved a great success. A large number of out of town guests were present and a very pleasant time was enjoyed by all. Dancing was in order from eight to twelve o'clock. Music was furnished by Chane's Orchestra.

A telephone has been installed in one of the bathhouses at West Beach, which will prove a great convenience during the busy summer months.

While no definite plans have yet been made, a movement is afoot to fittingly celebrate the centenary of the birth of Oliver Wendell Holmes, which falls this year. It seems likely that something will be done. Mr. Holmes was a regular attendant at the Beverly Farms Baptist church during the greater part of his life. He used to say he had within him "a little plant of reverence which needed watering once a week." A book-case which belonged to the poet stands in the Baptist church chapel and his black walnut desk is in the Farms public library.

The annual fair of the Ladies' Sewing circle of the Baptist church will be held on Thursday, July 1. The circle has undertaken the expense of heating the church and the proceeds of the fair will be used for that purpose.

Mrs. Knowles is reported slowly improving at the Beverly hospital.

Rev. Clarence S. Pond, pastor of the Baptist church, read a paper on the "Rise of the Quakers" at the Amesbury meeting of the Salem Association of Baptist ministers Tuesday.

Charles Parker, formerly of the Farms but now of North Beverly, is seriously ill at his home. He has not been able to get up for several weeks.

The "athletic club" will give a dance at Neighbors' hall tonight.

Mr. Hatch is in the state employ as an inspector in the moth work and has resided at the Farms for the past year. Mr. and Mrs. Hatch are living with the bride's relatives on West street.

A Story of Development.

There are over 310,000 telephones connected with the system of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company in the four northern New England States; to be exact, the figures as of Feb. 27, 1909, showed 310,440, of which 42,533 were sub-licensees.

This tremendous growth here in northern New England shows:

That this section of the country is a unit in its closely interwoven business and social interests;

That there is a necessary inter-dependence of city and country;

That the Telephone Company has anticipated the needs and desires of all classes of users—the large manufacturer and the small dealer—the metropolitan merchant and the country storekeeper—the office and the home;

That its foresight has been approved, that its service is efficient and that its rates are equitable; this is manifest from the mere re-capitulation—310,000 telephones.

This is a business argument, not a contented retrospect. We want the business man to picture a possible customer at every telephone. We want the residence subscriber to appreciate the telephone's potential value to the home

We will send a contract agent to explain different classes of rates and their cost, and to advise the subscriber as to the kind best adapted to his individual needs. A word to the Local Manager will suffice.

The Dining Room

Just at this time our display of Dining Furniture is unusually complete.

Buffets

Made in the factories where the "better" class of goods are constructed, finished in a manner equal to any piece of furniture we carry.

Of remarkable worth a full quarter sawed oak one, with a full swell front, the grain of the wood matched to a nicety on the doors and drawers, an imported French mirror encased in a neat frame. Some ones, for only $25.00.

The finest oak one we have, an entire mass of great white quartered oak flakes from the bird claw feet upon which it rests to the rolling pillars that support the pretty mirror. A piece made in Grand Rapids, worthy a place in the most magnificent home and bought of us here $12.00 less than in Boston. We know it—$33.00.

A range of others all the way from

The Mahoganys

In most every instance reproductions of some real antique, perhaps the designer having found it right here in this county. Straight lined legs, with graceful sweep fronts, wood knobs on the drawers and in that soft egg-shell finish that lends so much dignity to a piece of mahogany. Think we are talking now about things high priced? Well, we have such as these for as little as $37.50.

With a very extensive line as high as $80.00.

Dining Tables

Just think of this range, from one in Mahogany, description below, at $68.00, to one in all Oak for $4.50.

Variety is a good thing to boast about—when you have it.

Round Top Pillars

Answer to the demand of the people of taste; they look more costly, they certainly dress up more prettily and lend an air of extreme hospitality. They start at $8.75, with a round column centre, a 42-inch top and very well finished.

A Quartered Oak one with a finish as fine as a fiddle, has claw feet and is a dandy. For $15.00.

One with a 48-inch top, has quartered oak leaves even, has the toe nail claw feet and is a special at the price. Only $19.50.

Great big 54-inch top ones as high as $37.50.

Beauties In Mahogany

From one with heavy claw and ball feet, at $31.50, to massive tables, made in the finest furniture factories in the world, with lion claw feet, and acanthus leaves carved on the arms, as high as $80.00.

Dining Chairs

We've the Country's Specials This Season.

Never were fixed half so well. We have a "real" box seat diner, with French legs and a banister back, well finished, for only $1.60.

We've a claw foot, leather upholstered chair, all quartered oak and piano polish finish, for but $3.75.

And a slip seat chair, in genuine leather, with flush joints, and very graceful, for only $3.15.

A Solid Mahogany Diner

in genuine leather seat, for only $4.50.

A beautiful reproduction, every inch San Domingo mahogany, slip seat, flush joints, heavy claw feet, $11.00.

Old Colonial patterns and Chippendale designs, from $9.50 to $20.00.

Our Diners commence at $1.00.

China Closets

Almost as much of a necessity now-a-days as the table; makes a dining room look so much more dressy.

One with bent glass ends, French legs, dust proof door, only $15.00.

One with a full swell front and rounded ends, all quartered oak, at but $20.00.

Mahogany Closets, matching up with the Buffets, from $25.00 to $55.00.

MANCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, JUNE 18, 1909.

❖ Society Notes ❖

At the little Episcopal church, Masconomo street, Manchester, Wednesday afternoon at 4.45 Frazier Curtis, third son of Mrs. Greeley S. Curtis of Boston, and Miss Gladys Raper of Battle, Sussex, Eng., were married. Rev. Reuben Kidner of Trinity Church, Boston, was the officiating clergyman, assisted by Rev. George F. Weld of Hingham, a cousin of the groom. The wedding was a quiet and somewhat informal affair, the wedding guests being confined to the family connections and a few close friends. Most of the guests arrived from Boston in a special coach attached to the Fisherman, at 4.30, and were taken to the church in drays and automobiles. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Millicent Raper of Sussex. She was given in marriage by her brother, Robert Raper. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Augustus Raper, did not come over for the wedding. James Curtis was his brother's best man. Following the ceremony at the church, a wedding reception was held at "Sharksmouth," the summer home of the Curtises at Manchester Cove. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis will spend their honeymoon abroad. According to the English custom, no announcement of the wedding was made.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Boardman and Miss Mabel Boardman, their daughter, have arrived at "Windclyffe," their Manchester summer home, for the season. Wednesday, Captain Archibald Butt, the President's Aide was a guest of Mr. Boardman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Coolidge and daughter, Miss Isabelle Coolidge arrived at Manchester the first of this week and are occupying the Merrill, homestead on Smith's Point. The son, William H., jr., will join the family a little later.

Lawrence Morgan will not go to Bar Harbor to spend the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Morgan, when they leave in July. He is living at the Essex County club.

F. Blackwood Fay and family arrived at Manchester this week and are living at one of the J. Warren Merrill cottages, Smith's Point.

:: At the Hotels ::

Though it has seemed a long time in coming, the hotel season of 1909 is surely at hand. Both at Manchester and Magnolia there is every indication of it. At Magnolia particularly things are nearly as lively as in mid-season when the full-swing of summer trade is on. Here it is but the 18th of June and the Oceanside has been open a week—10 to 15 days earlier than usual. And with business booming as it is, seers of the hotel trade say there was never anything like it before and that this summer will be the greatest yet in the North Shore's social history.

At the Oceanside 50 guests who have engaged suites for the season are already on the register. The many attractions which have made that hotel so popular in past seasons have already been started. Crescent Beach opened yesterday and the band concert which marked the opening of the bathing season, drew many spectators to the sands as well as bathers. Band concerts will be held at the beach about three days a week in fair weather during the summer.

Season guests who arrived at the Oceanside during the week were: Mrs. Avery Plummer, Mrs. Chester Guild, Boston; Mrs. J. S. Coates and Miss Helen Coates, Mrs. Alfred Tucker and Miss H. W. Catherwood of Philadelphia; Archer Gibson, David W. Jones and Mrs. S. H. Jones of New York City.

Many of the tenants in the Oceanside cottages have also begun season at the sea-shore. On Wednesday, E. Portela, Minister to Argentina, and his family entered the Centre Cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Clark of Jamaica Plain moved into Sea Vista cottage on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wendell of Boston have Highland cottage this season and are already in it.

An engagement of unusual interest to Boston and North Shore society has just been announced. It is that of Miss Katrina Fairlee and William Stuart Spaulding of Boston and Pride's Crossing. Miss Fairlee is a daughter of Mrs. Sidney Fairlee of Chicago. Mr. Spaulding and his brother, John T. Spaulding, have just returned from a trip around the world.

❖ Society Notes ❖

The Flower Mission of Manchester, organized in the summer of 1894, its work being carried on in co-operation with the "Mutual Helpers' Flower Work of Boston," has been so satisfactory that it is proposed to continue the work. Through the courtesy of the Unitarian Parish of Manchester the basement of its church has again been placed at the disposal of the Mission for the weekly work. Contributions of flowers will be gratefully received in the basement at the rear of the church, Masconomo street, on Mondays, between the hours of 9 and 10 a. m., beginning June 21 and ending September 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Russell, who are now at North Andover for the early summer, are to be at Manchester for July, August and September, having leased the Stevens estate, on Stevens' hill.

Garrard Comly and family of Boston are to occupy the Isaac West cottage at Manchester Cove this summer. Mr. Comly is vice-president of the Eliot National bank of Boston.

Hugh Scott and family of Wellesley are to occupy the small Dresel cottage at Beverly Cove this summer.

The Murray Forbsses of Wellesley are to go to Newport for July and August, but will come to the North Shore for the early autumn. Mrs. Forbes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cochrane, are to spend the summer in Europe, but will be at their cottage at Pride's in the autumn for a month or so.

The Baroness Moncheur, wife of the Belgian minister, was at Pride's Crossing over the week-end a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moore at Swiftmoor. The Belgian minister and his daughters are sailing from New York on the 19th. The baroness is leaving for Belgium the 14th of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ames and their two daughters returned from their European trip last week on the Mauretania, which docked in New York Friday. They are now pleasantly settled at their attractive Pride's Crossing estate for the summer.

RANDOM THOUGHTS.

BY D. F. LAMSON.
No. XXXIX.

A man of large vision and broad intelligence, in some suggestive notes apparently jotted down in leisure moments, mentioned four things which are little upon earth that he thought worthy of being considered examples in some respects by the lords of creation; "a people not large"—a fine example of litotes—are commended for their prudence in husbanding their resources against a time of scarcity; just the opposite of what the American people who consider themselves as large as any are submitting to in the wholesale and wanton destruction of their forest wealth.

~ ~ ~ ~

The little ant seems to get along very well without guide, overseer, or ruler; we have lawmakers and governors in plenty, and sometimes people think we should have more official control and proprietorship; but many things seem to be without law or order; is instinct then, better in insect than reason in man? One is almost inclined sometimes to think so. Or, is it not reason that is in fault, but unreason or nonreason.

~ ~ ~ ~

Thoughtfulness and frugality are not conspicuous characteristics of our people at the present time; a little more of Poor Richard's homely wisdom might be profitably applied to business and household affairs, and even to matters of state; but this would be too old-fashioned and out-of-date for most of our legislators.

~ ~ ~ ~

We can hardly be too strict with ourselves, or too lenient with others; this applies to a great many things in life, even to manners; but how many reverse this principle in practice, however good they may allow it to be in theory; all of which goes to show that human nature is—human nature.

~ ~ ~ ~

A veneer of artificial refinement may overlay a naturally coarse character; but when it begins to wear thin in spots, the original coarseness will appear to greater disadvantage; the natural grain is better than any external finish when the latter is seen to be external only.

~ ~ ~ ~

We hear now and then of giving dignity to the ministerial calling or the teaching profession; but the desired object will not be attained by any conscious effort, but while the preachers and pedagogues are pegging away simply doing their day's work and doing it well.

~ ~ ~ ~

The good fame of a church is often in the hands of a few men and women; how it behooves them to have a realizing sense of the extent to which it depends upon their intelligent, harmonious

LOOK UP.

Faith looks upward; Hope, forward; Love, outward, and lends a hand.

Now abideth these three: Faith, Hope, Charity.

Look up, my Soul, not down,
God's face will smile, not frown;
Look out, my Heart, not in,
To doubt Christ were a sin;
Look not still behind,
O troubled Mind;
Forward! Thyself forget;
Pay thou the debt
Of love which thou dost owe
To all men, friend and foe.
Trust God whate'er betide,
Faith, Hope and Love thy guide,
And Heaven thy sure reward.
Till then,
Praise thou the Lord.
Amen!

JOSEPH A. TORREY.

and large-hearted action; on the other hand, how often it is in the power of a few to counteract all the good plans and desires of the many, and make the church weak and a negligible quantity in the community.

Anything aiming at the bringing about a world-peace must be a patient and persistent effort, recognizing the difficulties as well as the greatness and supreme glory of the achievement; however distant the goal may sometimes appear, we must still struggle towards it; we must not lose sight, however dim the prospect may be, of that vision's fulfilment which all high song and all true faith have prophesied for man.

Came to Manchester on Outing.

About 90 members of the office force of Lee, Higginson & Co., of Boston, and 40 from the branch offices at New York, Chicago, Portland, Worcester and Springfield, came to Manchester last Saturday afternoon for a half-day's outing at the summer home of Gardiner M. Lane, the treasurer of the firm.

The party left Boston at 1.10, and came to Manchester on a special train, leaving the cars at the overhead bridge, Summer street. On their arrival at "The Chimneys," they went to Dana's Beach and all kinds of track events were participated in, some very good (?) reports being made. A baseball game between the Stock and Bond departments was the last event, the game being won by the former, 9 to 5.

The crowning event of the day was the big clam-bake on the rocks in the late afternoon, this being prepared by Prof. M. C. Horton of Manchester. After all had eaten to their heart's content, and Mr. Lane's beautiful estate had been looked over, the party were taken in barges and automobiles to the Manchester Yacht club, where they boarded launches for the King Philip in the harbor, on which the return trip to Boston was made.

The ladies of the office went to Gloucester by auto and had a spread at the Surfside hotel.

seem to be pouring in upon Americans at the hands of foreign potentates, and one of the latest to be thus honored is Miss Mabel Boardman of Washington and Manchester, who had the signal distinction of being decorated with a medal presented by the King of Sweden. The Swedish minister at Washington, M. de Legercrantz, bestowed the decoration in his majesty's name in recognition of her admirable work for the Red Cross Society. The medal is of gold; on one side, in high relief, is a portrait of the King; on the other Miss Boardman's name is inscribed, and the decoration is intended to be worn suspended from a wide blue ribbon. On the case is imprinted the royal arms of Sweden, supplemented by a fac-simile of the King's autograph. Miss Boardman is one of the best known women in the capital, and the most intimate friend of Mrs. Taft. For many years she has been active in furthering the cause of the Red Cross, and has practically given up social doings that she might devote more time to this work.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Grew having closed their town house, 89 Beacon street, are at the Sumacks, their Manchester estate, for the summer.

Claude Kilpatrick of St. Louis, Mo., arrived Wednesday at "Stonehurst," Magnolia, for the season.

Mrs. R. F. Greeley and daughter, Miss Marion Greeley, have arrived at Manchester for the summer, from their home in Boston. They are located at Brownland, Sea street. Last week Mrs. Greeley and Miss Greeley were at the Poland Spring House, making the trip by auto.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Longfellow, who have been traveling abroad, are home again, and came down Wednesday to spend the season at "Edgecliff," their beautiful summer home at Coolidge's Point.

Next Wednesday evening the first in the series of six band concerts to be given on the Common at Manchester, by the Salem Cadet Band, will attract a large crowd of people. Last season the concerts were a big drawing card all summer, and this year will, no doubt, see much more interest evidenced.

The concert will begin at 7.45 and will last until 9.45. Last year the electric illumination was a big feature on band concert nights, and we are informed that this will be a feature of the concerts this year for all except the first. The electric illumination will be up for the Fourth of July, and will be left for the rest of the season so that for the remaining five concerts this will be a feature, in all probability.

These concerts are paid for by the town, $500 being appropriated for the purpose each year. Townspeople and summer residents alike come out to hear the music, and hundreds of people from out-of-town are attracted here band concert nights. Following is the program to be presented next Wednesday evening at 7.45:

1. March, Festal Day, Roux
2. Overture, Pique Dame, Suppe
3. Solo for Cornet, Selected
- Mr. Nelson Bernier.
4. Echoes from Metropolitan Opera House, (Consisting of excerpts from standard works)
5. The Warbler's Serenade, Perry
6. Selection, Marcelle, Luders
7. The Latest Popular Songs, Lampe
8. Selection, Hoffman's Tales, Offenbach
9. Waltz, Genee, Levi
- (From the Soul Kiss)
10. March, Boys of the Militia, Bohenlein
- Star Spangled Banner.

JEAN MISSUD, Conductor.

"Bunnie" Woods, the popular athletic instructor, has arrived at Beverly Farms for the season and has formed most of his children's classes. He has an outing class at Mrs. George S. Mandell's, a tennis class at Mrs. Clarence Moore's, another at Miss Elaine Denegre's, and another class at Mrs. F. L. Higginson's. Without "Bunnie," the young folk along the Beverly shore would be at a loss summer's to find suitable diversion for their outing and floricing parties. Several tennis tournaments are played during the season, and there is always something different to make things interesting for the boys and girls who participate.

It is reported that Lyman B. Greenleaf and family of 503 Beacon street, Boston, are to occupy the Henry W. Peabody estate, "Paramatta," at Montserrat, this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gibbons Preston and Mrs. Evans Preston are settled at their summer home, corner Grove and Beach streets, Beverly Farms, for the season. They moved down from Boston last week.

Mrs. Franklin Haven moved down to her summer home at Beverly Farms, Tuesday for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Matthews will be missed at Hamilton this season, where their place, Black Brook farm, has been celebrated for its fine hospitality. They are going to Bar Harbor instead.

Miss Mary Colgate Colby and Miss Jessie Colby have arrived at Beverly Farms the last week, from their home in New York, and are again pleasantly located at the Cabot Lane cottage.

The C. L. Piersons and E. L. Davises are among the week's arrivals at Pride's Crossing. Judge Wylie of Washington, who has taken the R. T. Paine, jr., cottage at Pride's for the season, has also arrived.

Henry Havelock Pierce of the Back Bay has opened his North Shore studio at Manchester for the season.

BASS ROCKS

Bass Rocks "came out" this week. Last week this time its woodland roads and ocean walks were deserted, and solitary save for occasional laborers walking home from work. Today all is alive—as if a whole city had suddenly moved down to the seashore. And that is practically what has happened. For the Moorland and the Thorwald "opened up" in the same week and the rush of guests and cottagers surpassed all expectations.

The Moorland opened last Saturday. Manager Parsons had been deluged with enquiries for a week asking if the house were ready for its guests and, when the same were all duly answered in the affirmative, the enquirers put aside their doubts about the weather and descended on the house from all parts of the country.

The Thorwald, when it opened Tuesday, had much the same experience. Its guests began arriving early in the day and, even late at night, all known to be on the way had not arrived. The chief difficulty was that the Boston & Maine trains are not yet stopping at Bass Rocks station and guests had to get off at Gloucester and take carriages for the Thorwald. Before many had completed the long drive, darkness had fallen. After the 21st of June, however, the date on which the train schedules change, this obstacle in the way of Bass Rocks' popularity will be wholly removed.

Bass Rocks is also to get the benefit of the new fast train to and from Boston, to be put in service as soon as President Tuttle arrives for the summer at Magnolia. With the express both ways between Boston and Magnolia, it will be possible for Bostonians to visit Bass Rocks for one night with profit. There is no quieter and restful place along the coast.

Included among the guests at the Thorwald are Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Farr and family, Detroit, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. James S. Riggs and daughter, Auburn, N. Y.

EAST GLOUCESTER

The Hawthorne Inn has begun the season with prospects which it never had before. This is still the month of June, a period of 30 anxious days to all summer-resort hotel-keepers because of its possibilities for trade-destroying weather, but the Hawthorne Inn is receiving a steady patronage which is growing larger every day. If the arrivals continue as they have been for the last week, guests will literally have to be turned away.

Among the arrivals on Monday and Tuesday were Mrs. E. L. Lewis, Miss Isabella Clark and Master Sheldon Clark, Chicago; Mrs. Alexander D. Munson, Miss Jeanette Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Helborn and Miss Helborn, New York City; Mrs. F. W. Crocker, Brookline, Mass.

Merrill Hall, one of the pleasant small hotels that abound in East Gloucester, reports the opening of what promises to be the busiest season in years. Some of its early arrivals are Col. and Mrs. M. L. Jones and family of Washington, and Mrs. Margaret C. Munn, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. L. Libby and Judge Cardigan and wife of New York City.

BASS ROCKS

Season guests already registered at the Moorland include Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Parker, Lawrence, Mass.; Gen. L. H. Carpenter and daughter, Miss Mary, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Wiley, Boston; Mrs. Norman Day and Miss Nellie Day, Baltimore. The following are expected at the hotel within the coming week: Mrs. Wm. C. Moore and daughter Catherine, Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Grant, Syracuse, N. Y.; Mrs. H. A. Bridells, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Post and daughter Miss Martha, Baltimore; Stephen O. Edwards and family, Providence, R. I.; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Porter and Miss Marion Porter, Mr. and Mrs. T. N. James and the Misses James of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Thomas, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ruxton, Miss Margaret Borgmeyer, Mrs. Edward Bigelow and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Speers, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. E. S. Pierce and family, St. Louis, Mo., and Col. and Mrs. E. C. Francis of Woonsocket.

ROCKPORT

Mrs. S. Shepard of Newton has opened her cottage near the Straitsmouth Inn for the season and moved in this week.

ROCKPORT

The hot weather early this week had its effect all along the Cape Ann Shore. The wet weather of the last month had dampened the ardor of many of the cottagers for getting to the seaside. But with Monday a sizzler and Tuesday just like it Cape Ann summer residents forsook the city and sought the cool comfort of the sea-breezes.

The hotels also felt the influx. From the Glen Acre Inn at Pigeon Cove to the Straitsmouth Inn at Gap Head there was but a single song, "All rooms reserved." While some resorters, chiefly those who live far South or West, have definitely postponed their coming until July 1, they are the exception and, when they do arrive, will be considered late arrivals.

Among the arrivals of the week at the Glen Acre at Pigeon Cove, were Mrs. C. L. Gazzam and Master Charles W. Gazzam of Birmingham, Ala., Mrs. Gazzam's sister, Miss Martha C. Snyder of Louisville, Ky., is also there. Another sister, Miss Sallie Snyder of Louisville will soon arrive.

At the Ocean View house, many season guests are already registered. Those arriving recently are Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Jarrett, E. A. Snow and Miss Marion Snow of Boston; Miss W. P. Sears and Miss A. L. Sears of Waltham; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kellef of Somerville and Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Howard of Brockton, Mass.

The week's arrivals among the cottagers have been many. On Monday, J. S. Brock and family of Philadelphia entered their cottage at Land's End for the season.

Miss Elizabeth Bartol of Mt. Vernon street, Boston, came down Monday for the summer. All of Miss Bartol's cottages have been engaged for the season.

Charles B. Strecker and family of Boston are in their cottage at Rockport. They came early this week.

A. C. Baldwin and family of Chestnut Hill are at their cottage at Rockport for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Richards of Washington, D. C., have arrived at their cottage for the season. Mr. Richards was formerly mayor of Haverhill and was one of Rockport's first summer residents. Since his first summer at Rockport in 1854, he has spent every season but one there. Mr. Richards is proprietor of the F. Gardner Richards Hotel & Realty Company.

Yachting Season Opens.

Stiff wind and a rolling sea made yesterday's yacht races among the liveliest seen at Manchester in years. They were the first of the season.

The races were restricted to sonder class and one design boats. Special interest attached to the races by the fact that five of the sonder boats are Manchester built. The prizes were cash and the outer course, from Whalesback beacon two miles out to a stake-boat off Southeast breakers, thence two miles to windward and northeasterly to a stake-boat off Great Egg Rock, then to the starting point, was chosen for the morning race.

When the first race was started at 10.30 o'clock in the morning, the wind was piping it up to about 12-miles an hour and a nasty sea was running. Every one of the boats had all the weather they could safely handle. It was about as severe a test as the boats could well have, yet every one of them stood up and proved their mettle.

The only disappointment of the day was in the number of boats in the one-design class. Only four boats went round the course in the morning, while it had been expected that several others would go.

The summary:

In the afternoon the wind had hauled to the southwest, though yet quite fresh. The course was the reverse of that in the morning, giving a free wind to the first mark, a beat to Dry breakers and a run home. The Spokane, which was sailed by E. A. Boardman, got the best of the start and was never headed, winning quite easily. The summary:

Some Pertinent Facts About the Imperial Laundry

Our teams call at all beaches and we wish to set forth some pertinent Facts. That every discriminating house-keeper ought to know about the Laundry work as done where hygienic principles are not a secondary consideration. Where, is practised proper sanitary and mechanical conditions. Where, with our equipment of improved machinery, pure soap and separate washing with soft Charles River water, work is done second to none in America. We try to take a personal interest in each and every garment laundered, and believe that a satisfied customer is the best advertisement.

Fact 1:—This is most important, that our water is soft and it is not necessary to use chemicals. This will be appreciated by those whose Laundry has had hard usage.

Fact 2:—We have our soap and starch made especially for us, thereby getting a superior quality of each, pure soap and starch that will neither crack, blister or make saw-edges.

Fact 3:—Our so-called flat work, we believe is the best obtainable. Special care is taken in the ironing and it is returned soft and without odor. Such articles as table cloths, turkish towels, monogramed linen, fringed spreads are thoroughly done and satisfaction guaranteed.

Fact 4:—Laces, lingerie, silks and muslins are handled by the most expert assistants, some of which have been with us a dozen or more years. Shirt-waist work is made a specialty and is unequalled.

The above will appeal to the discerning persons who would like to find a laundry embracing all these features.

It would seem almost too good to be true, but we do it and more. We think, you would not regret giving this fine laundry work, at least a trial.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

It is desired to call the attention of our readers to the startling announcement which filled the editorial column of THE MANCHESTER CRICKET in its issue of last Saturday. With a few sympathetic comments of our own, the illuminating article is printed below.

The "Cricket" is still white and intends to maintain its immaculate appearance; it will also endeavor, as in the past, to treat all its patrons white.

The "Cricket" is still doing business at the old stand at $1 per year. It announces that, in the future, it will not advance—for anybody—a policy which it has consistently followed for the last 23 years.

Special emphasis is laid on the announcement that the "Cricket" is Manchester's paper,—although printed in Boston—and always has been, and always will be.

It thoughtfully warns its readers that grasshoppers are becoming burdensome.

It concludes its instructive article with the significant statement that, while the "Cricket's" song is constant and cheerful, it does not sing louder than the Whip-poor-will, yet, on rare occasions, can be heard, if everybody is silent and listening.

THE exhilaration of excitement over the on-coming of the President continues to manifest itself in the city of Beverly. The latest threatened eruption of misfit enthusiasm is the announcement that one of our esteemed daily contemporaries will get out a Big Special Taft edition of its newspaper.

As we have said before, all this notoriety, noise and gush is very distasteful to the President, when he is bent on the object of coming to the North Shore to find a little quiet and rest for the summer.

Nothing could be more misfit and ill-judged than all these barbecue, picnic, brass-band, special-edition efforts to show appreciation of our Executive Chief.

He comes here for relaxation and peace, and ought to be let alone.

Danvers drove the vice president out of town two years ago by its too fond attention. It is said they went early and sat about on the stone walls, to wait for Mr. Fairbanks to get up in the morning.

Everybody ought to be a leader in the effort to preserve tranquility and make President Taft's stay here a pleasant one, and not drive him away with too much reception, serenade, and pyrotechnical display, whether it be of fireworks, or big type.

ANOTHER call of the Manchester fire department to the Magnolia section of the town points to the great benefit that would be derived from a combination automobile hose and chemical truck. Manchester's most valued property is located in the outlying districts of the town and it is for the town to provide the best in fire equipment to meet any emergency arising from this source. No one can dispute but what the present department is as good and efficient as that of any town of the size in Essex County. But to be still more up to date and efficient an auto truck as suggested above is what is needed. Then a two or three mile run could be made in four or five minutes, whereas now it takes ten or fifteen minutes, and the ten minutes saved means a great deal to the progress of a fire.

While the building involved in last Sunday's fire is not to be classed with the "valued" ones, the force of the suggestion is nevertheless obvious.

A GOOD deal has been said about "the sad sea waves;" but all this is figurative. They are, indeed, sad when they swallow up human lives; but there is nothing sad about them when the sun glints across their white crests on a summer afternoon and the song of cheer from the merry yachtsman is abroad.

THE sea serpent has been seen off Long Island. What are the hotel keepers on the North Shore thinking about, to thus be beaten out right at the start of the season?—Gloucester Times.

We are waiting for President Taft.

Correspondence

Manchester, Mass., June, 16, 1909.

Editor North Shore Breeze,
Manchester, Mass.

Dear Sir: After reading what your paper had to say in the issue of June 4 on the steps to be taken by the police of Manchester toward putting a check on auto speeders, and again in last week's paper on the holding up of four parties and having them haled into court, I am tempted to write this suggestion. Would it not be well, if the Town of Manchester wants the automobile laws enforced in this town to have signs placed in conspicuous places, such as on the line between Manchester and Beverly, and again at the Gloucester line, particularly, letting the automobilists know what the speed regulations in the town are. This promiscuous holding up of visitors in our town simply because they have an automobile, and seem to be going over a certain rate of speed, is a pretty poor kind of advertising for the town. If you are going to hold up a man, get out in the open; don't hide behind trees and stone walls.

If you care to publish this I feel that you will be expressing the sentiments of a great many of your readers.

The Cricket Juniors are to play a baseball match with Miss Winthrop's S. S. class of boys from Boston tomorrow afternoon at Tuck's Point.

The Fourth of July committee at Manchester have held several meetings of late and have outlined the day's celebration somewhat as follows: 5.30 a. m., general alarm, ringing of bells, etc. 8.30 a. m. at Brook street playgrounds, sports—broad jump, shot put, high jump, pole vault, quoits, baseball game, tennis finals. 2 p. m., School street, 100-yd. dash, 2-mi. run (School, Pleasant, Pine and Central streets to square), potato race for boys under 12, relay race, three men on a team (School street, Desmond ave., Norwood ave., North street, to School street to starting point.) 2.45 p. m. on Common, obstacle race for men, obstacle race for boys 3 to 5 p. m. on Common, band concert by Lurvey's Lynn Cadet band. 7.45 to 9.45 p. m. band concert. There will be an electrical illumination on the Common in the evening. The committee is composed of F. G. Cheever, chairman; L. W. Floyd, secretary; E. W. Baker, A. Cunningham, J. H. Rivers, R. J. Baker, L. O. Latons.

One of the most beautiful sights it has been our good fortune to see the past week was the vegetable garden of Daniel Sheehan, Norwood avenue, a sight that has attracted the attention of scores of people, many stopping as they drove by in their carriages and automobiles to see the garden. We venture to say there is no such garden anywhere along the North Shore as this of Mr. Sheehan. Though measuring only 60 by 100 feet, it contains a great variety,—cauliflower, cabbages, peas, potatoes, lettuce, beets, carrots, parsnips, cucumbers, tomatoes, etc. It is handsomely laid out, and not a weed will be found in it. Far from being a specialist in such lines, Mr. Sheehan is an everyday sort of an amateur. It is the wonder of all who have seen the garden how Mr. Sheehan cultured it. But the visitor to this vicinity will see Mr. Sheehan there early mornings before going to work, and late at night, and this is the secret of its care. If you are interested in seeing a handsome garden, call around to Mr. Sheehan's on Norwood ave.

Fire Alarm Calls Manchester Department to Magnolia.

property, corner Summer and Raymond streets. Some old hay and sawdust, at one time used in packing the ice, was afire. It smouldered and almost burned itself out. One splash of water was all that was needed to quench the fire. The building itself was not damaged. Half a minute after the alarm was telephoned in Driver Chadwick and half a dozen men were hustling away from the engine house to the scene of the fire. It was a long and difficult run for the horses, but they covered the three miles and over in less than 15 minutes. The need of an auto truck in a long run like this was well demonstrated. Wm F. Spry was at his home, Morse Court, when the alarm sounded. He went to his auto, cranked it, and was in the square as the fire horses dashed from the engine house up School street. He stopped at the engine house long enough to take on Chief of Police Sullivan and the Breeze man, and then went up School street to Lincoln, and from there to Magnolia. The fire apparatus was passed near the old brickyard property on Summer street, and the scene of the fire was reached in seven minutes after the alarm sounded. An auto truck large enough to take along several hand chemicals, or, perhaps, with regulation fire chemical installed on the trucks, and also with say 1000 feet of hose, would be a wonderful improvement over the present system, especially in making such long runs as this.

Fourth of July plans are now in order. Tempus fugit!

Dr. John Danforth is sailing from France shortly for a visit to his brother in Manchester to remain for the summer.

It was Alumni Day at Tufts Tuesday and Supt. of Schools John C. Mackin of this town was at Medford for the celebration.

The first lawn party of the season is announced for Wednesday, June 30, at the Parochial residence, Central street, under the auspices of Fr. Shahan court, M. C. O. F.

William S. Patterson has sold his cottage on Lincoln street to Mrs. Annie M. McNamara. Paul Weil, the Post-office block tailor, will occupy the cottage this summer.

Rev. and Mrs. E. Hersey Brewster have been spending part of the last week with Mrs. Brewster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Dunn, Central street. Mr. Brewster came on from Norwood, Monday, to deliver the flag day address, and remained over the Dennis-Fleet nuptials Wednesday evening.

Mrs. J. A. Lodge was called to Lowell yesterday by the death of her grandfather, Harvey Hadley, who passed away late Tuesday night after a lingering illness. Mr. Hadley was for many years one of Lowell's most prominent provision dealers, retiring from business about three years ago.

Miss Rachel Babcock, who has taught the Kindergarten school so successfully since its inception here, concluded her duties last Friday. She is not to return in the fall, as she is to be married on the 30th of this month. Miss Lothrop is in charge of this school for the balance of the term.

The new float is now in position off Singing Beach and bathers are beginning to enjoy it to their heart's content. The float is a large one and well buoyed up. It is securely moored, and nothing but a most severe storm will wrench it from its position. The private float off the beach last year, it will be remembered, was smashed to pieces in a storm in late summer.

The Park Commissioners have placed an order with the David Fenton Co. for the construction of an 85-ft. float for use at the Masconomo Park landing. This will be narrow, and will be shaped in general like the float at Town Wharf. Motor boat owners ought not to find any fault after this is put in commission, for it will be a decided improvement at this landing.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. G. Perkins have gone to Maine for the summer.

The S. of V. bowling team went to Beverly, Monday night to bowl against the Beverly S. of V. team, and the six string match resulted in a tie, each winning three. The team from Put's bowling alleys, Salem, will come to Manchester next Monday evening by auto to play a picked team at the Seaside alleys.

Monday, June 14, was an eventful day in the family circle of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Decker, Norwood avenue. To begin with, it was the birthday of Mrs. Julia E. Decker; it was also the 38th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Decker, and the 10th of their son Frank L. Decker and wife; and, fourthly, it was the 9th birthday of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Decker's daughter, Ruth. The various events were duly celebrated, the little Miss having the most enjoyable time, we venture to say, for she had a party of her school friends in for the afternoon.

Ernest R. Lane of Riverdale, driver for H. B. Hodgkins' Sons, met with a bad accident last Saturday afternoon on Beach street, opposite the American Express office. Mr. Lane had just driven the grain wagon over the railroad crossing, with a pair of horses, when in some unaccountable manner the right hind leg of one of the horses became ensnared in the chain attached to the whiffle tree, and was thrown to the ground, the hook in the chain passing through the leg of the animal just above the ankle. Plenty of men were soon at hand to assist. The other horse was taken from the wagon, and the harness was removed from the injured horse. Mr. Lane worked harder than anybody else to remove the harness and fastenings from the suffering horse, and though warned not to get too near its hoofs, he did get too near, for quick as a flash the animal's hoof shot out and hit Lane in the face. He fell back unconscious and Drs. Glendenning and Tyler were called. The ambulance was brought into use and he was taken to the Addison-Gilbert hospital. He did not regain consciousness until Wednesday. It was feared concussion of the brain might have resulted from his fall on the hard roadway, but doctors now think he is on the road to recovery.

A Story of Development.

There are over 310,000 telephones connected with the system of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company in the four northern New England States; to be exact, the figures as of Feb. 27, 1909, showed 310,440, of which 42,533 were sub-licensees.

This tremendous growth here in northern New England shows:

That this section of the country is a unit in its closely interwoven business and social interests;

That there is a necessary inter-dependence of city and country;

That the Telephone Company has anticipated the needs and desires of all classes of users—the large manufacturer and the small dealer—the metropolitan merchant and the country storekeeper—the office and the home;

That its foresight has been approved, that its service is efficient and that its rates are equitable; this is manifest from the mere recapitulation—310,000 telephones.

This is a business argument, not a contented retrospect. We want the business man to picture a possible customer at every telephone. We want the residence subscriber to appreciate the telephone's potential value to the home

We will send a contract agent to explain different classes of rates and their cost, and to advise the subscriber as to the kind best adapted to his individual needs. A word to the Local Manager will suffice.

Miss Abbie Floyd of the graduating class at the High school, gave a party at her home last evening in honor of Miss Kauffman, the language teacher, who is sailing next Wednesday to spend the summer in Europe. Fourteen High school boys and girls were present. A feature of the occasion was the presentation to Miss Kauffman of fourteen packages, one to be opened on each day after sailing.

The daily papers of last Saturday recorded the financial failure of Lewis H. Tappan, formerly of this town, but now of Providence.

Miss Annie L. Lane was one of the graduates at Smith this week, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lane, going out for the Commencement exercises. Miss Lane returned home Wednesday, accompanied by four of her classmates, and yesterday the young people, accompanied by several other Smith girls went to Wheeler's Point for a camping out party, under the chaperonage of Mrs. William Rock of Springfield, at camp "O-my-land." They will spend two weeks there. In the party besides Miss Lane are Misses Levantia Bartlett, '09, Hartford, Ct., Alice G. Langsford '09, Fall River, Maude B. Allen, '09, Gouverneur, N. Y., Gertrude Gilbert, '09, Dorset, Vt., Hilda Vaughan, '09, Wolfeville, N. S., and Ruth Dyer, '11, Dorchester.

The pumps at the new water supply station at Gravel pond were started yesterday for the first time. Representatives of the gas engines, gas producers and pumps were present, with the water commissioners, and a few citizens. Everything worked in perfect order. The station will be put in use within the next two or three weeks.

John Walsh, coachman for Mrs. John H. Sturgis, probably owes his life to the fact he is fat and heavily built. One day this week his horse took fright at the steam roller at work on Forest street and ran away. Up Summer street the animal galloped, Mr. Walsh all the while trying to get it under control. As he reached Washington street it struck him that if he could steer the animal down North instead of Union streets, he might avoid meeting with an accident. He turned down North street but the accident happened just the same. Down North street hill the animal dashed, and as it reached School street the impetus of the vehicle carried it onto the sidewalk and smashed into the heavy stone wall fronting the William Hoare house. Several stones on the wall was knocked off and

Mr. Walsh was hurled headlong over a picket fence onto the lawn of the Carter property, headforemost. A good-sized hole in the lawn, where Mr. Walsh's head struck, is the only damage in that quarter. Mr. Walsh was severely shaken up, but otherwise was uninjured. The carriage was somewhat smashed and the horse was later held up at the Baker estate further up School street.

The Alumni Association held a very enjoyable party in the Town hall Wednesday evening on the occasion of its annual reunion. A farce entitled "The Flying Wedge" was given the first of the evening, followed by a dance. The characters in the farce were H. Merrill, G. A. Sinnicks, B. Boyle, Mrs. C. Lucas, Miss Alice Blaisdell, Miss Ethel Standley, Miss Nellie Hobbs and Mrs. N. Smith.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To the people who reside within our city:—It seems almost as though it were a waste of Ink to be obliged to stand up and blow my horn after being in a city almost 25 years, to tell the public the services I render. Yet it is necessary as so many new comers are among us—I wish to emphasize the fact that I do a strictly first-class Tailoring Business, in all its branches—the best there is in every line and department. My prices are not the lowest, nor are they the highest, for work done. I make it a point to charge the same price I would pay you, did you do the work for me. Nothing can be more square than that principle.

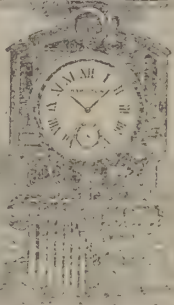

I don't say I will give you a forty dollar suit for twenty, but do say I will give you a dollar's worth of goods or services for one dollar—What more can I do to be just to myself and you. If this announcement appeals to you I would like you to come and see me when in want of Tailoring in any of its many branches.

Hoping you will pardon this brusque statement, but necessity compels it as people seem to run after false ideas and believe anything that some humbug advertises.

Mrs. Susan Allen.

Mrs. Susan Allen passed away last Saturday morning at her home on Vine street, Manchester, at the age of 75 years, 6 mos., 19 days after a long illness. She was a native of Essex, and the widow of the late Luther Frank Allen, for many years school-committeeman here.

In her earlier years Mrs. Allen was an active worker in the community, especially in the affairs of the Congregational church, of which she was a member. She taught a Sunday School class of ladies for a great many years. After a long, busy and useful life she died as she lived—honored, trusted and loved. She reared her own monument in the hearts of those who knew her. Her Christian life was beautiful from its beginning to its close; she was always doing good.

Of late years Mrs. Allen's health had not been of the best. She bore it all well, however, and when the end came last Saturday she passed away peacefully.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Raymond C. Allen of this town, and a son, Prof. Ralph W. Allen of Brooklyn, N. Y., and a sister and three brothers in Essex.

Funeral services were held last Monday afternoon at her late home and interment was in Rosedale cemetery. The Rev. George L. Gleason of Topsfield, who preached here for so many years, officiated at the funeral.

"Mourn not the lost! in realms of changeless gladness,
Where friendship's ties are never crushed and broken, we still may meet; He who holds our sadness
Hath to the trusting heart assurance spoken of that blest land, where, free from care and pain, Fond friends unite again."

Charles H. Morse.

Charles H. Morse, a well known Manchester man, son of Thomas Morse, died last Saturday morning at his home on North street, in his 40th year. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the Crowell Memorial Chapel, the Rev. T. L. Frost officiating.

Mr. Morse had been in poor health for some months, but not until recently had his condition been considered real serious. Death resulted from Bright's disease.

Mr. Morse was a man of good principles, honest and industrious. His death has brought the bitter cup of sorrow to the lips of a large circle of friends and relatives. He was a member of Col. H. P. Woodbury camp, 149, S. of V., the Carpenter's union, and of the chemical company of the fire department.

He leaves a wife and three small children, a sister, Miss Lila Morse, a brother, Frank Morse, and a father, Thomas Morse, to mourn his loss.

Real Estate :: :: :: :: And Improvements

An important real estate transaction of the past week in Manchester is that by which the whole of the estate of the late Samuel Cheever left to the Baptist Foreign Mission society, comprising some 60 acres in all, is transferred to Leonora F. Gorman. This includes the Powder House Hill property, so-called, 24 acres in all, extending from beyond the standpipe to the Channel in the center of the town, to Friend's court, and to Elm street and town property; also 9 acres on Pleasant street, adjoining the property of Mrs. Parsons, to Pine street; 21 acres of woodland adjoining the Rockwell property on the new water works road; five acres adjoining the Cranberry meadow on the new water works road. Mr. Gorman says he intends to cut this into lots and put it on the market immediately. He is ready to sell any portion of the property.

Another parcel of the Cheever property, that on School street at the head of Lincoln, has been procured by Frank P. Knight. This comprises about 3½ acres. Mr. Knight intends to improve the property.

Soulis-Speirs.

With a ceremony simple and impressive, Miss Grace Horton Speirs, daughter of Mrs. Josephine E. Speirs of Barry Park, Dorchester, was married to Ernest Choate Soulis, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Soulis of Manchester, at Bulfinch Place Church, Boston, at 8 o'clock last Tuesday evening. The Rev. Christopher R. Eliot performed the ceremony. The Misses Lillian Estelle Meyers of Needham Heights and Ella Stevens Bartlett of Melrose were bridesmaids and Richard Howard Toy of West Roxbury was best man. The ushers were Philip C. McMurdie and O. Arthur McMurdie of West Somerville; Lucius H. Floyd of Everett and Charles H. Haven of Boston. After the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors.

A number of relatives and friends from Manchester attended the wedding and reception.

Dennis—Fleet.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Dennis, Lincoln street, Manchester, Wednesday evening, their son Chester H. was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth J. Fleet of Boston. A large number of friends and relatives attended the reception which followed the wedding at 7.45. Rev. E. Hersey Brewster of Norwood, formerly of this town, officiated.

Whisperings :: :: :: :: Of the Breezes

Do not lie in bed in the mornings. The early bird catches the worm, and if you are up a sufficiently long time before him you may read your neighbor's papers before he comes down to take them from the step. Your gains will depend largely upon the number of papers your neighbor takes, but one cent a day nets you $3.65 a year, except in leap year, when you will make a cent more. In following out this plan remember it is not compatible with the obligations of good neighborhood to cut out items which you think will interest your wife.

* * * * *

Tell me not in mournful numbers that the town is full of gloom, for the man's a crank that slumbers in these bustling days of boom. Life is real, life is earnest, and the grave is not its goal; every dollar that thou turnest helps to make the old town roll. But enjoyment and not sorrow is our destined end or way; if you have no money borrow—buy a corner lot each day! Lives of great men all remind us we can win immortal fame. Let us leave the chumps behind us and we'll get there just the same. In this world's bread battle, in the bivouac of life, let us make the dry bones rattle—buy a corner for your wife! Let us then be up and doing, with a heart for any fate; still achieving, still pursuing, booming early, booming late.

The Tremont Theatre.

"A Broken Idol," the Hal Stephens, Williams and Van Alstyne laughing song play, in which Otis Harlan is giving the greatest performance in his career in the best stellar comedy role with which he has ever been associated, continues blithely on its successful way at the Tremont Theatre, Boston. It is a well known fact the warm weather makes no difference to those who attend the "cool Tremont," for the house is so constructed as to be perfectly comfortable within, no matter how sultry it may be outside.

"A Broken Idol" is now in its fourth week and the Boston engagement bids fair to rival the piece's phenomenal success last summer in Chicago where it was first produced. The new scale of summer prices which gives 200 seats on the lower floor at 50 cents, 200 in the first balcony at 35 cents and the entire second balcony reserved at 25 cents, affords a rare opportunity to theatregoers to see a really high grade show at popular prices.

Flag Day Observed with Exercises in Town Hall at Manchester.

Flag Day was observed at Manchester last Monday, June 14, by appropriate exercises in the Town hall under the direction of the Patriotic Instructor, Mrs. J. S. Reed, of Allen Relief Corps. Though the hall was not "packed," the attendance was appreciably good. The program presented was of a very interesting nature, and was as follows:

- Dialogue, Making the Flag
George Washington, Robert Morris, Betsy Ross, Elizabeth Ross.
- Exercise. Our Flag, 4 boys, 3 girls
- Recitation, Grace Salter
- Song, The Flag of Our Union Forever, 9 girls
- Flag Drill, 16 girls
- Chorus, The Flag of the Free, 9 girls
- Address, Rev. E. H. Brewster
- Tableau, Goddess of Liberty,
Helen Cheever with 8 little girls kneeling
- Singing, Star Spangled Banner, All

The address of the evening was by Rev. E. Hersey Brewster, of Norwood, formerly pastor of the Baptist church here. Mr. Brewster spoke on "The Evolution of the Flag." He traced the evolution of the flag from the first ensign which bore a serpent cut into 13 pieces, with the motto "Join or Die" above, mentioning the emblems that succeeded,—the snake flag with the pieces of the serpent joined together, with the motto "Don't tread on Me;" the stripes with the crosses of St. Andrew and St. George; and lastly the Stars and Stripes, recognized as the official emblem June 14, 1777.

These emblems, said the speaker, were not a matter of arbitrary selection, but were the fitting symbols of the conditions that prevailed during the several stages of colonial history. The new flag at once saw service, at once was forced to vindicate its right to live. It was unfurled in battle for the first time on August 17, 1777, at Fort Schuyler, Oneida Co., N. Y. It was about this time that John Paul Jones flung the Stars and Stripes at the masthead of the Ranger, and the seas became acquainted with that ensign which in the hands of such seamen as Lawrence, Decatur, Farragut, Perry and Schley, was to be carried to all quarters of the globe.

The speaker made three assertions with regard to the flag, first of which was that it is the best known of any flag, second, that it is the best beloved of any flag, third, that it is the most consistent of any flag.

Mr. Brewster closed his address with a quotation from Roderick Drake's poem "The Flag."

Flag of the free heart's hope, and home,
By angel hands to valor given,
Thy stars have lit the welkin dome
And all thy hues were born in heaven.

Forever float that standard sheet!
Where breathes the foe, but falls before us
With freedom's soil beneath our feet
And freedom's banner streaming o'er us.

WITH PLEASING SURPRISE many visitors will see the familiar sign "Boas, The Tailor" as they swiftly and gently glide into Magnolia. Familiar indeed it is to the residents of Back Bay, Boston, and likely to leave in the mind vivid and acute feelings of relief and confidence.

Garments bearing his label express the highest development of every essential of clothes character—a unity of style, material and workmanship that at once raise them to the pinnacle of clothes superiority.

In the wide field of Cleansing, Pressing and Dyeing Mr. John Crowley possesses a rare reputation in Boston and beyond its borders.

Under his intimate touch, wilful stains like magic disappear. His knowledge of the inner secrets of fine cleansing and pressing is peerless. Under him, the Cleansing, Pressing and Dyeing department of Boas & Crowley will be a revelation of reliability and perfection.

Pressing and Cleansing is a fine art and cannot be properly done save by an experienced and able specialist. Such work, when done by nondescripts who are pottering at everything, would be a joke but for the cost to victims in time, money and care. To such potterers has been applied the saying,

"... couldn't press a nose-bag for a horse."

Bruised beneath their yoke, real pressing has become well-nigh unknown—buried under an avalanche of sham, false pretence etc., ad nauseum.

Not farther does the East lie from the West than lies the distance between Cleansing, Pressing and Dyeing done by potterers and that done by specialists. The specialist lends to the work he knows so well a rare distinctive quality; faded and worn garments renew their youthful appearance and (figuratively) vibrate with new life. There is a mystic charm, a virility permeating garments renovated by a skillful specialist.

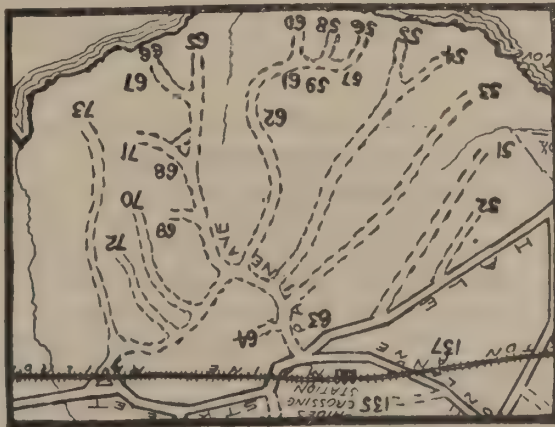

As such, Mr. Crowley's ability is conceded in Boston where the surpassing quality of his work has stamped it as the climax of excellence and crowned his efforts with superb triumph.

The facilities of Boas & Crowley place at the disposal of distant patrons a service approximating in promptness and efficiency that accorded to those personally visiting the store. A telephone call (Magnolia 7 Ring 2) a postal or message will receive instant attention.

The garments of all customers are insured against loss by fire or otherwise.

Monthly or season pressing and tailoring is done at special rates, goods being promptly called for and delivered on time. The splendid service and attention to details that have marked the career of Boas & Crowley will be duplicated in their Magnolia store, which is located at 6 Raymond street, in the heart of the town.

Keith's.

One of those all round vaudeville bills which have made Keith's Boston Theatre famous the world over is announced for the week of June 21st. It is made up of favorites, some of them favorites of the legitimate as well as the vaudeville stage, while there are a number of features of particular moment.

Ralph C. Herz when he appeared at this house over a year ago made one of the biggest hits of any comedian who has ever entered vaudeville from the legitimate field.

Another favorite locally is Eva Taylor, who was one of the most popular members of the old Castle Square Stock Company and has since made such a hit in vaudeville with a sketch called "Chums."

The Men's clubhouse has started on its first summer with 63 members. The restaurant is receiving more patronage than was expected so early in the season. The ladies are learning that this is for them as well as for men, being a public restaurant, and many are showing their appreciation of Mrs. McAuley's excellent cooking served amid so attractive surroundings. One or two automobile parties have stopped there for dinner and were loud in their praise. The lunch counter does a great deal of business especially in the evening. The bowling alleys, too, are a surprise. Already they are receiving a great deal of attention. Saturday evening has been set apart for Ladies' Night when members of the club may bring their lady friends. The souvenir that was offered last week was won by Mrs. Frank Abbott with a score of 81. The weekly dances on Wednesday evening are popular. Last Wednesday the music was furnished by Blythe's Orchestra of Gloucester,—L. M. Blythe, violin, Walter Moore, cornet, Joseph Silver, drum, Fred Dunbar, trombone, Ruia Brown, piano. In answer to a suggestion made last week it has been decided to have chaperones each week. Mrs. Thomas P. Abbott, Mrs. Fred Dunbar and Miss Thyra Lilja served in this capacity last Wednesday evening.

Next Wednesday a military ball will be the attraction at the Men's club. It will be held under the auspices of the Spanish War Veterans of Magnolia and Gloucester. The wives of several of the veterans will act as chaperones. Music will be furnished by Symond's orchestra of Gloucester. As at the other dances admission will be 25 cents for members of the club; men not members 50 cents and ladies 25 cents.

Mrs. Nellie Schofield of Peterboro, N. H., was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wilson Richardson the last of the week.

The Women's club starts the season with 59 members. On Tuesday evening of next week there will be a "lemon party" and Thursday evening progressive whist. Beginning with Monday of next week and continuing throughout the summer the matron plans to serve afternoon teas to members who drop in between 3.30 and 4.30.

A union service is to be held next Sunday morning at the summer chapel with preaching by Rev. F. J. Libby, pastor of the Village church.

The service at the Village church in the evening will begin at 8.15 o'clock and continue at that hour for the rest of the summer months.

PIERCED BRASS

This new fad is attracting wide attention from all lovers of art. It is certainly fascinating and a novel piece of work to fashion a flat piece of brass into such choice fancy household articles as candle sticks and shades, jardinieres, lanterns, letter racks, fern dishes, match holders, lamp shades, blotters, pen trays, etc. The designs on each piece are clearly stamped ready to punch.

We have complete assortments of all the articles needed to complete the work, such as stippling awls, fringe, folders, chain shanks, wood modeling tools, Lacquer and push pins.

St Margaret's court of Forresters is to hold a dance in Neighbors' hall on Wednesday evening, July 28. A long way off, but nonetheless interesting, for it will be a big social event for Beverly Farms folk.

Although the committee for arranging this year's celebration of the Fourth of July has not yet been organized, several bands from towns about have filed applications for furnishing the music of the day.

The Sarah W. Whitman club met on Wednesday afternoon at the house of Mrs. John L. Chapman, Haskell street. The club has accepted the invitation of its president, Mrs. Webster, to be her guests at Rockport on July 6th. The occasion will be made an outing and those who attend will probably see the North Atlantic battleship fleet which is expected off Rockport on that date.

Shuman & Goldstein, the new tailors, Hart street, near the Baptist church, are located here for the summer, and are doing a good business.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Pride arrived from Winter Hill and are at their cottage on Hale street for the summer.

Larcom—Williams.

The wedding of Miss Clara Elsie Williams and George S. Larcom of Beverly Farms at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Addison Williams in East Wenham last Wednesday evening was a very pretty affair. The ceremony was performed at 7.30 o'clock by the Rev. Clarence Strong Pond, pastor of the Beverly Farms Baptist church. Miss Addie Williams, sister of the bride was bridesmaid and Theodore Larcom, brother of the groom, best man. The bride wore white silk en train and carried a bouquet of white roses; the bridesmaid wore white silk and carried pinks.

The house was prettily decorated with white daises, ferns, hydrangeas and palms. Following the ceremony a reception was held until 9.30 o'clock. The Misses Elsie Preston, Alice Bolam, Alice Chapman, Florence Chapman, Carrie Davis and Elsie Low did the serving. The many presents made a beautiful display, many of them being of finest cut glass and silver. The couple are now enjoying a honeymoon trip, after which they will take up housekeeping on Hart street.

We have just received several bales of wool sponges suitable for carriages; also a finer grade of sponges suitable for boats. D. T. Beaton, Central street, Manchester.

Mrs. S. Dacre Bush and Miss Katherine P. Loring are completing arrangements for an entertainment to be given at Neighbors' hall on July 31 for the benefit of the Beverly Hospital. At present there is every promise for a big success.

A drive through many of the wood-roads around the Farms shows that, in many sections, the trees are badly infested with gypsy moths. They seem to be exceptionally numerous this year.

Many bathers ventured a first plunge of the season into the surf at West Beach during the last week. Those who went in say the water was fine and the number of bathers grew day by day.

Good music and a cool evening gave dancers an exceptionally good time at Neighbors' hall last Wednesday night. The occasion was one of the Surfside Club's "sociable evenings" and was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attend.

Larcom Ober, who is among the graduates from the Beverly High school this year, is to continue his studies and will probably enter the University of Maine in the fall.

Miss Fannie Hagen, who has been a member of the S. P. Mandell household, was united in marriage Tuesday to John F. Barrow of South Hamilton. After the ceremony the young couple passed through the Farms in an automobile and were the object of quite a few smiles from the fact that their car was decorated for the occasion with signs, old shoes, etc. They are to reside in Hamilton.

Archie McNeil has accepted a position as gardener and care-taker at Miss Cornelia Brookmire's estate, Biddeford Pool, Me., and has entered on his duties.

Mary, wife of James F. O'Dea, died at her home on Hart street yesterday afternoon after an illness of several months. Besides an husband she leaves a son 10 years of age, and a sister. She was an associate member of John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers. A large circle of friends mourn her loss. Interment will be at Biddeford, Me., the former home of Mr. O'Dea.

A valuable horse owned and driven by Dennis Toomey caught his hoof between the rail and the planking at the railroad crossing at the Farms depot last Wednesday and was thrown to the ground. He was extricated from his perilous position before a train came along and little damage other than the breaking of a shaft resulted.

NORTH SHORE BREEZE

MANCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 1909.

Society Notes

The Essex County club will continue to be the social center of the North Shore this summer. The grounds are in excellent condition, the tennis courts and golf links being in especially fine order. The band concerts which have proved such an attraction on Wednesdays in seasons past will be given as usual this summer in July and August, at 3.45. The first concert will be given on July 7, weather permitting. On that day, too, there will be a house warming of the enlarged and improved clubhouse. The whole clubhouse will be open to ladies, and tea will be served from four to six o'clock. The annual meeting of the club will be held this year on Tuesday, July 20, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon for the election of officers, and to transact such other business as may come before the meeting.

Baron Louis Ambrozy, counselor of the Austro-Hungary legation, who is to have the Beaton cottage, corner School and Lincoln streets, Manchester, this summer, was on to Manchester last Sunday on a few hours' trip, looking for quarters for his official staff. He lunched with Marquis Montagliari of the Italian legation, who is already established here. The Austro-Hungary legation will not move to Manchester until the tariff question is settled and Congress adjourns.

Mrs. William C. Paine has closed her town residence at 46 Mt. Vernon street, Boston, and is at her summer home, Coolidge's Point, for the season. Her son, R. T. Paine, 2d, and family, are returning shortly from their short European trip.

H. M. Sears had a merry crowd of young people from his summer home at Pride's, with his two daughters, over to Salem Tuesday for the 101 Wild West show.

Charles J. Morse was expected from his winter home in Pau, France, yesterday, to his summer home in Pride's Crossing.

Judge and Mrs. W. H. Moore are on the water on their way home from England, and will reach their summer estate at Pride's Crossing by Sunday, it is expected.

:: At the Hotels ::

A large and distinguished patronage arrived at the Oceanside hotel, Magnolia, during the last week. One of its most eminent guests is H. Keazans Bey, Ambassador from Turkey, who with his family is occupying a suite in the Flume cottage.

Everything about the big hotel has now the appearance of the season at its height. The house, inside and out, is set in an ideal arrangement for the comfort and convenience of its guests, the grounds about it are in perfect order and the tennis courts, golf links and other pleasure attractions are dreams in the art of fitness. When the new arrival at the hotel mounts the broad stair to the main entrance, gives his luggage to the smiling bell-boy, steps inside the big lobby and sits down in one of the hundred easy chairs placed about in positions commanding a sweeping view of the broad, blue sea, such a feeling of "right at home" comes over him that he is tempted to believe inwardly, if he does not say it outwardly, that he has found Aesop's fabulous spot where the world's cares end and all goes on happily, contentedly forever.

One of the most popular spots this week has been the beach. The hot weather came as a sudden surprise and from mid-morning until late afternoon most every day, the beach has fairly been alive with gay-garbed swimmers, and many spectators. J. H. P. Brown, the swimming expert is life-guard at the beach this year and many of the youngsters whose parents are at the Oceanside are learning to swim. The beach at high noon is a great sight.

On July 1, Admiral J. E. Pillsbury, of Washington, D. C., head of the board of naval tactics, will come to the Oceanside to join Mrs. Pillsbury, who is already there.

Mrs. Stephen D. Tucker and Miss Anna D. Tucker, of New York City, and John C. Brown and daughter, Miss Jennie of Utica, N. Y. are guests at the Oceanside and have taken rooms in Perkins cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clark of Boston are occupying Sea Vista cottage, as guests of the Oceanside.

Mr. and Mrs. Tolbert Lauston of Washington, D. C., are touring New England by automobile and are at the Oceanside for a few days.

Society Notes

Mrs. W. H. Lewis is on from New York for the season and is stopping this summer at the homestead on the Smith farm, Smith's Point. Her daughter, Mrs. Stoughton Bell and Mr. Bell of Cambridge are with her. Her other daughter, Mrs. Frederick F. Carey and Mr. Carey and family of New York are to occupy the stone cottage on the Hem-enway estate nearby. The servants and children are arriving today, but Mr. and Mrs. Carey will not be on from New York until next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thorndike of Boston are settled at the Woodbury cottage on the William Endicott estate at Pride's, coming down a few days ago with their interesting family of three girls and two boys,—Mary, Rose and Dorothy, and Samuel and Benjamin (twins.)

Mrs. George Peirce and family will occupy the Peirce homestead on Sea street, Manchester, today.

The entertainment committee of the Manchester Yacht club announces the following events: A children's entertainment on Friday, July 9, at 3 p. m.; water sports, Saturday, July 24, 3 p. m.; an illuminated boat parade, Thursday, August 12. Details of events and prizes will be given later.

Miss Mary Josephine Amory has been entertaining a party of young people at her home in Beverly Cove this week. Yesterday they went to Cambridge for the Harvard-Yale game and they formed one of the merriest groups in the vast throng at Soldier's Field.

Miss Mayo Warren of Nuneaton, Eng., is visiting friends on the North Shore and the past week she has been a guest at Beverly Cove of George S. Mandell and family.

A feature of the July Fourth celebration in this vicinity will be the baseball game on the morning of the Fifth at the Neal Rice estate at Hamilton between a team composed of young men members of the summer colony in this vicinity and a team of local young men at Beverly Farms and Pride's.

GRADUATION EXERCISES AT MANCHESTER

Class of Four Girls and a Boy Receive Diplomas. Appleton Medal Awarded to Robert M. Baker.

"Mighty of heart, mighty of mind—to be this, is to be great in life: to become this increasingly, is to advance in life,"—Ruskin.

This was the motto of the Class of 1909 of the Story High school Manchester, whose graduation exercises were held last evening in the Town hall, before a large audience, that came out despite the sweltering weather.

To the five young people who received their diplomas, and to the hundreds and thousands of others all over the state and the country, the occasion is one of great moment,—greater, by far, than the general public stop to realize, for it is to many the turning point in life,—the time when young people leave the school room and go out into life to fight their own battles. To the thinking one graduation exercises are more than mere "exercises." Our school life is, indeed, the golden link that binds youth to age.

Would that every young man and woman who leave our High schools could realize that the object of the common schools of our land is to produce men and women endowed with every element that will assist to make themselves and the world better, endowed with every thought that will assist mankind in more thoroughly and systematically working out the end for which they were erected.

The exercises last evening were very interesting. The subjects selected were for the most part of the instructive kind. The essays were well written and memorized. The musical selections were very good, and spoke well for the training given by the supervisor of music, Mr. Wales. The exercises as a whole reflected much credit on Principal Saben and the other teachers.

The graduates: Robert Merrill Baker, Abbie Perry Floyd, Mabelle Woods Lodge, Ethel May Scott, Agnes Mathilde Sjolund. The class organization: President, Agnes M. Sjolund, vice president, Mabelle W. Lodge, secretary, Abbie P. Floyd, treasurer, Robert M. Baker.

ism. "The years of Owen's life," she said, "was a season of great changes. The French Revolution was then proclaiming the equality of man; the poets were asserting the worth and dignity of human life; romanticism, the new sympathy with man and nature, arose, denouncing artificiality and striving to set up love and truth in its place. It was for Owen to manifest this spirit in the world of industry.

"The great problem in the industrial world at this time was the change from the cottage to the factory system of labor. Formerly all the weaving was carried on

Class Ode.

WRITTEN BY MABELLE W. LODGE.

When summer is gaily adorning
 All Nature in garments of light,
 Oh, fair is the smile of the sunshine,
 And fair are the flowers so bright;
 We listen to strains of sweet music,
 As birds sing their merriest lays,
 And join to the clear ringing chorus
 Our voices of gladness and praise.

Yet tinged must our hearts be with sadness,
 For even tonight we must part,
 So soon must the tie now be broken,—
 The tie which binds heart unto heart.
 In fancy e'en now we hear faintly
 Soft tones of our dear school bell,
 To work it will ne'er again call us,—
 'Tis chiming a last farewell.

But Hope beckons on to the future,—
 The future with mysteries new;
 So forward we'll go in our striving,
 For what e'er is noble and true.
 And oft will come memories tender
 Of fair school days that are past,
 Which always in joy or sorrow
 We'll cherish in thought to the last.

Miss Mabelle W. Lodge was the salutatorian of the class. She followed her greetings by an essay on "Robert Owen," the founder of English social-in the home, but now, with the inventing of machinery, hand looms were abolished, consequently thousands of people were thrown out of employment. The mill owners had become rich and greedy, and were oppressing their employees in the desire for still greater gain. The workmen were kept at their toil from five in the morning until nine at night; the rooms were crowded, ill-heated and ill-ventilated and no attention was paid to cleanliness. The result of all this was deformity, ignorance and premature death. Children, too, were put to work."

Owen arranged to get control of the mills in the village of New Lanark and he at once set about to better conditions such as described above. He first took the children from the mills. He erected schools, beautified the town, provided better homes for the operatives, and provided stores for them, where they could get goods at cost. Things began to improve at once. The principles of reform along which Owen worked were:

Education for all, brotherly kindness, co-operation instead of competition, and that everything that keeps man from man, as sects, must vanish.

In 1816 Owen prevailed upon Parliament to pass a bill reducing the working hours to 12, and preventing children under 12 from working in the factories, and also preventing the employment of children who could neither read nor write. He dreamed of cooperative villages, where all men should learn to help each other. In 1824 he bought a township in Indiana and established such a colony, calling the place New Harmony. The scheme was a failure but "the unselfish spirit that prompted its origin was, and is still, the most successful thing on earth."

Owen believed that whatever wrong exists among people is due to a defective system of society, for which no one in particular is to blame, and that to overcome these evils, wise thought and judicious action, rather than anger, is necessary. Above all he urged brotherly love as the greatest means of happiness.

Miss Abbie P. Floyd was the valedictorian. She prefaced her farewell greeting with a paper on "Legends of the North Shore," in which she related some unrecorded stories of the days of old. She related first a Salem witchcraft story and then several of Marblehead, one of which was about "Skipper Ireson's ride," which was the subject of one of Whittier's poems. Gloucester also furnished several interesting stories, and coming to Manchester Miss Floyd told of Moses' hill, and how it obtained its name.

"On the southern slope of Moses' hill," she said, "was formerly a great cave. Here old Moses dwelt alone until one day the lightning broke the overhanging rock. Then Moses was forced to abandon his dwelling and finally wandered away leaving as a memorial the name given to the old hill."

"Perhaps someone here may remember Johnnie Norwegian, who lived in the woods on the Baker farm. Old Johnnie used to wear clothes of many colors of his own manufacture. His occupation was fishing, but he would never fish on Monday because the women stirred up the water so much by washing. When asked by one of the old ladies of the village where he was born Johnnie would reply: 'Well, madam, I came from some where under the sun.' He at last disappeared, perhaps journeying back from whence he came, for his whereabouts remained a mystery."

Samuel Samples was the subject of another Manchester story. Samples was a young Scotch sailor, and one of the first settlers of Manchester. He was engaged to a maiden in Scotland and on departing on a voyage left his best suit of clothes in her care. His vessel was not ready to start and he returned to the village only to find his lassie on the arm of a new lover at the altar, the lover wearing his, (Samples') best suit. Poor Samples set his face toward London and in that city an astrologer showed him the face of his future wife. After a month's journeying he landed in Boston. Here he began searching for his fate and on the fourth day he saw such a maiden in a church in Lynn. It turned out that Elizebeth, the daughter of David Allen of Manchester became Samples' wife, and fate brought them together in Manchester. They were married and Mrs. Samples, while her husband was on a sea voyage, bought some land and built for herself and children a house that is still standing on Sea street, near the crossing. Her husband was later lost at sea and Mrs. Samples, showing herself a woman of resource, started the first store in Manchester.

Miss Agnes M. Sjolund was the class historian and prophet. The doings of the class from the time it entered High school in the fall of 1904 until the present was reviewed and many events and incidents of interest specially to those who are acquainted were chronicled. Robert, the only boy in the class, naturally figured in much of the story of the class history. A very interesting future was mapped out for each member of the class.

"Miss Floyd, after completing her college course, will probably establish a girls' gymnasium in one of the upper stories of Loomis' jewelry store, while in another part she may have a large reading room for the girls where they can find all the latest news that Abbie took so much interest in, together with the best literature of the day."

"Ethel will probably have great opportunity to win fame by her wonderful music."

"Mabelle's aspirations were always so high and her nature so humane, that I can picture her the wife of Rev. Sir Robert Harcourt, an English clergyman. She will probably fill a high social position in London, and at the same time do splendid work for a 'dumb animal humane society.'"

Miss Sjolund was pictured as a Salvation army lassie, singing ballads on the street corners and winning many souls from darkness, or as Abbie pictured her, a famous opera singer on the Parisian stage.

Robert was pictured as an inventor of air ships or other works of genius.

In his essay on "The Manufacture of Iron and Steel," Robert Baker had a very interesting account of these industries. He gave a graphic account of the process from the mining of the crude iron ore to the finished material, telling, too, the process by which steel is made, and the important part which it holds in the manufacturing world of today.

Miss Ethel Scott had a carefully prepared essay on "The Lessor Children," in which the work of the late George T. Angell and his Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was explained and discussed. "Today the human race is more considerate of these weaker brothers," she said, "than it has ever been before. Until about 50 years ago, all sorts of crimes against these creatures went unpunished for there were no laws to protect them. The people seemed to forget that God made the beasts as well as man, and also provided them with food as well as defense." She told of the ancient Egyptian worshipping the animals and of the love of the Arabs and Indians for their horses and of the kind words of authors and poets for the animals, coming finally to the great humane work of the late Mr. Angell.

The diplomas were presented by Supt. of Schools John C. Mackin, who gave some words of advise to the graduates, admonishing them in these three essentials: To take care of their health; to get the study habit; and to get the work habit.

Mr. Mackin presented the Appleton Medal, offered to the one ranking highest in punctuality, industry and decorum, to Robert M. Baker.

The front of the stage was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and greenery, and over the stage hung the class motto in gold colored letters on a background of crimson.

The class reception will be held this evening in the Town hall. The reception committee will be Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Saben, Miss Whiting, Miss Parker, Miss Brackett, Miss Sjolund and Miss Lodge.

The floor director will be Miss Sjolund, the assistants, Miss Lodge and Miss Scott, and the aids, Robert Baker, '09, Jos. Floyd, '08, Samuel Knight, '08, Willard Rust, '08, George Rust, '11, and Frank Floyd, '11.

Long's orchestra will give a concert between 8 and 8.30.

Salem Commercial School.

The annual commencement exercises of the Salem Commercial School will be held in the Empire Theatre, Salem, on Friday, June 25, at 8 o'clock in the evening. W. S. Felton, president of the Civil League of Salem, will preside. Rufus Everson King of New York, a newspaper man of large commercial as well as literary experience, will deliver the address. Diplomas will be presented by Principal George P. Lord to a class numbering 101, among whom are several young people from this vicinity.

The Manchester young people to graduate are: Misses Nellie M. Hobbs, Elizabeth Jewett and Mabel R. Morgan.

ALONG THE CAPE ANN SHORE

BASS ROCKS

This has been a very notable week at The Rocks. Bass Rocks is a very beautiful place—indeed, one of the most beautiful along the whole Atlantic coast, but, in a way, it isn't on the map until the advent of the summer railroad schedule establishes a stop at the Bass Rocks station and thus supplies a means of reaching the place and the beautiful country adjacent without the long ride from Gloucester. The week was notable in that, last Monday morning, the summer-schedule on the Boston & Maine went into effect and Bass Rocks is again before the public as an ideal summering place within easy reach of Boston or even the country far beyond.

Nothing showed the new order of things greater than the arrival of guests and cottagers. While they had been dropping down to their cottages and to the Thorwald and Moorland one at a time, Monday saw an impetus to business that grew and grew through all the week until now nearly every cottage is full and the hotels, so far as guests and prospects of the season are concerned, are on Easy Street.

The Thorwald has booked a large number of season guests—in fact many of the guests are there a couple of months or more. Among them are M. H. Newton and Winthrop Cotton of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Rigg, Miss Howell and Miss Tilden of Auburn, N. Y.; Mrs. F. M. Thompson of Portland and W. A. Garrigin and daughter of Plainford, N. Y.; Mrs. Wm. Clark of Brookline; Mrs. J. J. Johnson of New York.

At the Moorland, the season is also in full swing. Some of the arrivals of the last few days were: Mrs. W. F. Hyatt and Miss Hyatt, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Speers, Miss Marjorie Speers and Mr. William Speers, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Miss C. K. Palmer and Miss L. S. Palmer of New York City; Mrs. Henry B. Keyser and Miss Ann F. Keyser, Baltimore; Mrs. Albert S. Pratt, Newton; Mrs. Walter E. Parker and maid, Lawrence; Mrs. James T. Whittaker, Miss Virginia J. Whittaker and Walter S. Whittaker, Cincinnati, O.; Mrs. T. N. Jamieson and Miss Jamieson, Chicago, Ill.; Miss A. C. Elliott, Ottawa, Ont.; Mrs. J. H. Cooper, Toronto, Ont.

Breeze Subscription $2.00 a year after July 1.

EAST GLOUCESTER

How a seemingly unimportant feature may greatly tend toward the success of a summer resort, is well shown by the recent establishment of the fast express between Magnolia and Boston. Since Monday, when the express was run for the first time, the hotels of East Gloucester have received an increasing patronage of transient guests who "just ran out to a cool spot to spend the night." After leaving North Station at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the train runs without stop to Magnolia in 42 minutes. It arrives at Gloucester at 5.51 o'clock, and in but very little more than an hour from the time they left Boston, tired and weary city folks can find themselves on broad verandas close by or directly over the water, where there is no sound save the lapping of the waves on the beach and the deep baying of the sea-hounds far out in the night. In the morning, the express starts at Rockport and arrives at Gloucester at 8.06 o'clock. Between Gloucester and Boston there is but one stop—Magnolia—and business men who have come down for the night, alight in North station at 8.56, just in time, if lucky in making transit, to reach the office door on the stroke of nine. Many have already awakened to this new advantage and are making the most of it. The new train also permits cottagers who go to town every day on business to make the trip much more conveniently.

Guests who arrived at the Hawthorne Inn during the last week were H. C. Cobb and family, Boston; Mrs. O. P. Hughes, Miss Olive Ware Hughes and Miss Grace D. Rider, Mrs. R. Van Voorheis and Miss R. Van Valkenburg, New York City; Mrs. A. J. Parker, jr., Albany, N. Y., and William B. Morgan of Chicago.

At Merrill Hall, the following have registered for the season: Mrs. Martha W. Meyer, Falls City, Neb.; Mrs. C. L. Williams and Miss Lillian Williams, Newtonville, Mass.; Miss Louise Donnelly, Miss E. W. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Oscar Feher, Washington, D. C.; Miss K. C. Soloman, Miss A. P. Soloman and Miss M. C. Soloman, Sumter, S. C.; Mrs. R. H. Kelly, Miss Marguerite Kelly, Miss Francis Kelly and Mrs. Gamble, Pittsburg.

ROCKPORT

"Old Mother Ann," as she stares out to sea, is anxiously watching for the first sign of the North Atlantic battleship fleet due at Rockport on July 7 for the summer manœuvres. For "Mother Ann," in all that she thinks and does, is but a reflection of Cape Ann people, who look forward to the coming of the dreadnoughts as the great social and business time of the year. "One week with the sailor laddies," the saying goes along the Cape, "is better than the other 51 weeks put together."

Rockport will see much of the battleships before the actual manœuvres. Orders which have been issued giving officers and men shore leave for four days beginning July 2 place the big Idaho at Rockport on the Fourth of July. This will mean all kinds of festivities. On the morning of July 7, the entire North Atlantic fleet will assemble off Rockport and the manœuvres will then begin.

The big summer event this week along the Cape Ann Shore was the opening of the Turk's Head Inn. It opened Wednesday under conditions which Manager Martin says were never before equalled. Every indication points to a big season.

Nearly every cottager is down for the season up Pigeon Cove way. At the hotels, too, all who have engaged rooms ahead, have arrived. The newcomers this week at the Glen Acre were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stone of Boston, Miss Elizabeth Garlick, Miss Emma McNeely, Miss E. J. McNeely, William McNeely and nurse, Providence, R. I.; Miss Anna E. M. Wild, and Miss Gertrude E. Chappell, Rochester, N. Y.; R. W. Jackson, New York City and Mrs. A. I. Doyle of Beverly.

Arrivals this week at the Ocean View House were Mrs. F. D. Tarlton, Wattertown, Mass.; Miss E. L. Wandell, Washington, D. C.; Miss Lillian May Brown, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Jones, J. H. Peckham, H. B. Tumbly, and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Brainard, Boston; Emilie Goodale, South Manchester, Conn.; O. J. Tomlinson, New York City, Miss Mabelle B. Blake and Mrs. Horace A. Freeman, Arlington Heights.

Mrs. C. L. Gazzam of Birmingham, Ala., who has been living at the Glen Acre for several weeks, has engaged the Hubbard cottage on Andrews Point for the season and will be cozily settled early next week. It is expected that Mr. Gazzam will come up from the south later in the season.

Judge and Mrs. William H. Moore are homeward bound on the Lusitania which is due in New York tomorrow, and they will come at once to "Rock-marge," their Pride's Crossing household by Sunday. The engagement of Paul Moore was recently announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman and family will come to "Bee Rock," their summer estate at Beverly Cove, for July and August. Miss Hope Norman is at Pride's Crossing at present visiting her aunt, Mrs. E. Preble Motley.

D. B. Wentz and family of Wycote, Pa., are coming on to Pride's Crossing very soon. The servants and horses arrived yesterday.

The North Shore Grill club continues this year, as in seasons gone by, to be the center of the elite society that spends the summer at Magnolia and along the North Shore. The Grill has a wide and very well deserved reputation for having everything that is new and interesting in the way of entertainment and, this year, the management has surpassed itself, if that be possible. While this season's novelties are all pleasing, one especially attractive is a supper de luxe, prepared as a special attraction for Sunday evening diners. Some of the guests at the Grill during the last week were Paul A. Sherwin, steward of the Parker House, Boston, who had a party down to dinner last Saturday; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hathaway and Mrs. John Shepard and party of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Prouty, Chestnut Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Walker, Marblehead Neck; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Drake and Mr. and Mrs. William Chisholm of New York City. On Monday, Bryce J. Allen of Beverly Cove and J. Harriman of Boston were down to lunch. Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Sherman of Sands Point, L. I., were also at lunch on that day. Herman Harde, the distinguished New York architect, is also a frequent guest at the Grill Club.

Two more classes have been started the last week by "Bunnie" Woods, the physical instructor, one a tennis class at Mrs. G. M. Lane's. Mrs. Gordon Abbott's daughters and those of Mrs. B. A. Beal are members of the class. Another has been formed, of boys and girls, at Mrs. Philip Dexter's farm, Manchester. Baseball and all kinds of frolicing sports are indulged in.

In coming to Magnolia, he brings some of his choicest works of art in linens of all kinds, scarfs, lace curtains, bed spreads and other linen furnishings for summer homes. One of his most attractive exhibits is a line of Scotch summer blankets. Mr. Carson has been at the Masconomo, Manchester, the last week.

Among the guests who arrived this week were Mr. and Mrs. James S. Stuart and family, of New York City. After a few weeks at the Oceanside, they will go up into the White Mountains for the remainder of the summer.

Other New Yorkers are Mr. and Mrs. A. Hatfield, jr., Mrs. F. W. Tappenbeck, J. H. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Harde. Mr. Harde is one of the most distinguished architects in New York City. That Miss Helen Frick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Frick, has leased the Stillman Farm at East Wenham and proposes to use it for the summer outings of orphans in Boston and its suburbs is a fact of general interest which transpired during the week. The farm is located off Hull street and comprises 120 acres, well stocked with horses and cattle. The great country farmhouse, two and a half stories high, is rapidly being fitted over to accommodate its new tenants. It was the repairing and remodeling of the house that caused Miss Frick's secret to escape. It is said that Miss Frick intends to have companies of needy children come down each week and before summer is over, will have given scores of orphans in Boston a vacation worth while. Miss Frick made her debut only a year ago. She is greatly interested, however, in needy children. As proof of this she recently persuaded her father to give a plat of 120 acres in the east end of Pittsburg for the purpose of making a park specially fitted for children. The property is said to have been worth half a million.

An event toward which North Shore society is looking is the open air bazaar in aid of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children to be held on the grounds of Quincy A. Shaw, Pompey's garden, Pride's Crossing, on Friday, July 23, from 10 a. m. to 6.30 p. m.

Society Notes

Mrs. Charles A. Munn and family went on to Radnor, Pa., on Monday of this week for the marriage of Charles A. Munn, jr., and Miss Mary Astor Paul, at "Woodcrest," the bride's country home. The wedding was a very quiet affair, as the bride is still in mourning for her father. On Wednesday the young couple sailed from New York on the Adriatic for a honeymoon trip of a couple of months. As Mr. Munn is still a student at Harvard he will return there in the fall and they will spend much of their time this coming fall and winter at Manchester. Mrs. Munn and the other members of the family are sailing on June 21 for Europe, to be gone a couple of months.

The new lease of life given Misery Island, or as it is now to be known, Mystery Isles, is very apparent. The Island is alive with cottagers and visitors at the Mystery Isles Casino. Among the cottages that have been leased are: The Governor's house to Benjamin D. Shreve, Salem; the Breakers to Frank D. Stevens, Boston; the Gables to T. C. Redfield, New York; Caddy house to C. T. Keller, Boston. These, together with the families occupying cottages which they own on the island, will make quite a busy colony for this season. Among the last mentioned are George N. Towle and family, Boston; Joseph P. Henderson, Salem; James F. Sheldon, Belmont, and T. C. Hollander, Boston. The entire interior of the old clubhouse has been refurnished and the place is to be run by a New York man as a high class restaurant and casino. The management contemplates the building of a large bathing pool, new tennis courts are now being finished, and the old golf links will be revived, so that there will be many attractions.

Miss Sarah E. Miller will be at Beverly Farms after June 15, and will read for private families, or at entertainments. References: Mrs. John H.

MAGNOLIA.

Although the hotel season at Magnolia is still young, the opening of the Hesperus on Monday gave the town the appearance of the height of the season. The Oceanside and Aborn have been open for a couple of weeks and now, with the Hesperus, receiving each day the many patrons which it has had booked ahead, there is a liveliness about the place that bespeaks a bigger season than Magnolia has had in years.

Patrons returning to the Hesperus this year find many changes and improvements. The big hotel is now under the management of Mrs. C. G. Francis, of the Abbotsford, Commonwealth avenue, Boston, and the moves which she has made for the general improvement of the house and the comfort and entertainment of her guests have been far reaching and well-nigh numberless.

Special attention has been given to the musical entertainment. The orchestra at the Hesperus this year is made up of some of the most talented members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. These will furnish music during the meal hours and at the dances on Wednesday evenings. Mrs. Francis has also arranged for a musical surprise which she is now keeping secret. It is understood, however, that she has secured the services of one of the most promising of last season's debutantes in New York grand opera, who will sing on several occasions in the music room.

One of the most attractive features of the hotel is its corps of quick, bright-faced bell-boys. At their head is Karl C. McKenny, a junior at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His first aide is Alfred Kendrick, a classmate. The whole corps glistens in a new uniform of dark green and gold, and make a very impressive appearance.

Rees & Rees, the well known cleansers and dyers of Boston, New York and Philadelphia, whose Boston office is at 418 Boylston street, have opened a North Shore branch at the Donchian Building, Magnolia, in order to more promptly serve their patrons along this section. The store will be in charge of Miss Charlotte C. Huskie, who has been connected with their Boston office for several years, and will give every attention to the orders intrusted to her care. Rees & Rees have made special arrangements whereby they can clean all garments within 48 hours after receipt of same at their works. Smith's Express will call and deliver packages free of charge. ## Almond Complexion Cream

Sunburn.

Our Almond Complexion Cream quickly relieves sunburn as well as all other kinds of burns and scalds.

Its soothing and healing qualities quickly ease the pain of a severe burn of any nature and assist in a speedy return to normal condition.

In the summer time it is a great comfort.

Absolutely harmless, and does not produce a growth of hair.

Rough Skin.

Constant exposure to wind and weather while very beneficial to the general health produces a roughness and harshness of the skin not so desirable.

While every person might envy a sailor's health he might not be so envious of the seaman's complexion.

Plummer's Almond Complexion Cream overcomes this tendency to roughness and preserves the natural condition of the skin.

Automobilists especially find it very beneficial.

After Shaving.

After a close shave on a tender skin, especially in the hot weather, there is a tendency towards irritation and soreness.

This tendency is completely overcome by our almond cream.

Its cooling and soothing properties make it very delightful to use for that purpose and its antiseptic and emollient ingredients prove of great benefit to the skin.

Rev. Ulysses Grant B. Pierce, D. D., pastor of All Souls' Unitarian church of Washington, has been designated by a Senate resolution to act as chaplain until otherwise ordered. Mr. Pierce is a pastor of the church which the President attends and succeeds Rev. Edward Everett Hale, deceased.

The Masconomo House, Manchester, opened Wednesday under a new management which promises everything in the way of success for the hotel. The new manager is Austin A. Dutton of New York City. He is a bright, energetic New Yorker and is exerting himself to the utmost for the comfort and entertainment of his guests. Before coming to Manchester, Mr. Dutton was manager of the Algonquin Hotel in New York City and the hospitality for which that house is famed was largely a reflection of the personality of its genial manager. Since Mr. Dutton's arrival three weeks ago, the Masconomo has been overhauled from cellar to garret, renovated and repaired and now fairly shines in its readiness for its guests.

Mr. Dutton brought with him from New York a corps of bright, young assistants who will aid him greatly. F. M. Shortall is head clerk and Walter Clark Scott, room clerk. W. A. Simmonds, the new steward was formerly at the Netherlands, New York City. For his housekeeper Manager Dutton went far South and chose Mrs. Emma G. Ike who, for many years, had been housekeeper at the St. Charles, one of the best known hotels in New Orleans. A. L. Leonard of Boston is head waiter and Thomas Pollard of New York City is captain of the bell-boys. The corps of bell-boys has been supplied with resplendent uniforms composed of dark green coats with gold trimmings, white trousers and shoes to match. At the hotel or on the street they make a very striking appearance.

One of the many attractions at the Masconomo this year will be an orchestra made up of some of the most talented members of the Boston Symphony. An afternoon tea served to guests and friends is another feature which Manager Dutton has introduced at the Masconomo and, on such occasions, the orchestra plays in the music room.

The beach will also be a big attraction this season. Workmen have been busy for several days putting the bath-houses in condition. The prospects at the opening this year are better than in years.

Tree Destroying Moths an Especially Enticing Dish for Imported Parasite which Devours all Kinds of Pests.

Bugs are bugs, but there are good bugs and bad bugs. The bad bugs eat vegetation and destroy trees, while the good bugs eat nothing and destroy nothing but

Under the strips of burlap which gird every tree in a district where the destructive moths are being fought, the colosoma congregate. The gypsies and the the bad bugs. So State Forester F. W. Rane asks people to be careful when they see bugs and not destroy the bug-eaters.

He has sent out a lot of circulars about the calosoma sycophanta, an imported parasite, numbers of which have been in the state for the past three years, but which are just beginning to do effective work. Although feeding on all sorts of pests, the calosoma from larvae to full grown beetle has a particular liking for gypsies and brown tails.

The calosoma are easily distinguishable from the gypsies and the brown tails. The calosoma larvae is bigger than the gypsy moth larvae or the brown tail larvae, and has a smooth coat, while the destructive insect is wiry. The color of the calosoma larvae is a dark green, while the gypsy and the brown tail moths are whitish. The calosoma beetle, which is the adult form of the larvae, is distinguishable from its prey by its larger size and its bright shiny wings as well.

brown tails get under the strips of burlap because they can't do otherwise. As they climb the trees to get at the tender leaves and blossoms, the burlap strip holds them fast. But the calosomas go under the burlap because it is their pantry.

Where the strips of burlap are put on the tree trunks, men every day lift the burlap and kill all the insects underneath with a wire brush. Mr. Rane asks a little discrimination in the use of the brush. Kill the gypsies and brown tails, but leave the calosoma alive.

The calosoma are particularly effective because they eat the gypsies and the brown tails at all stages of development. The tiny larvae just hatched will find his food as does his mother, the big beetle, by fastening himself to a gypsy or brown tail and sucking out the life blood. A small larvae of the calosoma eats big or small gypsies and brown tails. So does a large calosoma caterpillar and a beetle.

The voracity of the calosoma larvae when attacking gypsy caterpillars is fully equal to that of the adult beetle and the skill with which these apparently clumsy insects climb trees and hunt down their prey surprise some of the authorities of the gypsy moth bureau.

Annual Rose Show.

The annual rose show of the North Shore Horticultural society will be held next week, on Wednesday and Thursday, June 30 and July 1. The exhibition will be open to the public from 2 to 10 p. m. The show will be held, as in the past year or so, on the lawn near the Essex County club house, in a tent constructed there for the purpose. It is to be expected that some exceptionally fine displays, and a large number of them, will be seen at this forthcoming show.

That Ideal Hotel Again.

"WE hear people complaining today of lack of opportunity to make money," said a retired multi-millionaire, who spends his summers in Manchester, the other day, "yet right here in Manchester is an opportunity of exceptional worth. If some of these fortune seekers would get together, form a corporation, build a big, modern, reliable hotel, all of them could store away fortunes in a few years. Of course they might not be billionaires the first year, but they could lay away enough to keep them happy and comfortable for any number of years."

This is but a reflection of what THE BREEZE has often said before. At present Manchester is merely a summer resort—in the winter everything falls flat. The first step in encouraging winter trade and winter industry is to establish a modern hotel.

The site of the present Masconomo House is an ideal place for such a hostelry. The hotel should be capable of accommodating a large summer patronage. It should also be planned to reduce its forces and supplies in winter time in order to handle a limited winter patronage. This patronage would be made up largely of automobile parties and city folk who would come out to spend the week-end in the country. The winter hotel should be of the quiet, hospitable, old English type with broad fire-place and other features to make it home-like. Such a place would grow to be a mecca for travelers from far and near, just as the winter hotels at Lenox are to hundreds who go from Boston every Sunday during the winter to partake of their hospitality.

The hotel would not be a mere social feature either. It costs money—a great deal of money—to run a hotel, stock it completely and keep it in readiness for its guests. Much of that money would be spent in Manchester, thus assuring the town a larger circulation of cash. Then too, it would be a fitting place of entertainment for many of the town's festivities as well as a fitting abiding place for distinguished visitors to the town, something in which Manchester is now wholly lacking. These are but a few purposes which a good hotel could serve.

Come now, where is the man who will organize the corporation!

An Ounce of Prevention.

THE complaints of many of the summer residents against the shameful destruction of Manchester's forests by fires in the fall and spring are more than justly founded. It is a signal case where an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Hundreds of dollars worth of timber, always an asset to a town, to say nothing of the beautiful wood drives and scenery so attractive to the summer residents, are annually destroyed—simply because somebody did not think.

Somebody! Who is that somebody? That is always the question—to fix the responsibility. In this case the responsibility is divided—on the one side with the man who, in cutting trees, leaves the twigs and branches where they fall to dry and become like tinder and, on the other, with the automobilist, the horseman or the stroller who, in passing through the woods, is not careful what he does with the lighted cigar stub; or, possibly, it is the huntsman or stroller who leaves a fire burning.

It is high time that the state regulated these abuses. There are plenty of examples at home and abroad where state regulation has well-nigh eliminated, not only forest fires, but other dangers as well. In Germany, for instance, the man who cuts down a tree must burn the brush which he trims from the trunk and extinguish the fire when the work is done. Some such law is needed here and now.

Investigation following the agitation for forest preservation in the last few years, has proved beyond a doubt that forests are greatly conducive to the health, prosperity and productiveness of a locality. In farming districts where the forests have been cut away, for instance, the disappearance of the woods has been followed by yearly droughts which devastated the crops, but which were never known in the years when the land was partly forest-covered. In Maine, right near at hand, it has been found that the destruction of the forests seriously crippled the water power which is so widely used in the industry throughout the state.

The North Shore has a special reason for preserving its forests. Its woods are one of its greatest attractions. It is safe to say that without its woods, the North Shore would be nothing but a country locality instead of the thriving summer resort that it is. If it is important to protect the trees from the gypsy moth it is still more so to preserve them from fire. If the state is slow in acting, then the towns should take proper steps on their own responsibility.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Sinnicks entertained about fifty friends from Salem at Tuck's Point picnic ground last Wednesday. All the guests were members of the Order of the Eastern Star. They came on various trains during the morning and early afternoon. The hours at the Point were spent very pleasantly in games and consuming the delicacies of a basket lunch. In the evening about half the company came to the home of their hosts on Ashland avenue and from there enjoyed the band concert in the square.

Correspondence

MANCHESTER, Mass.

Editor of the North Shore Breeze.

Dear Sir: Will you kindly insert this appeal in your edition of June 25th, '09?

Will the authorities concerned kindly take steps for the further beautifying of our town, and comfort of the citizens? The concrete walk at the Cove is appreciated to the last degree, but at present the low growth, at the sides, renders the walk useless as the grass when damp, dusty or, as at present, covered with arsenate of lead, ruins clothing.

If the borders are or can be kept cut the road would look prettier and the residents would be duly grateful.

AN INTERESTED CITIZEN.

June 21st, '09.

Knowledge of Swimming Valuable.

Recent investigations by some of the leading swimmers and educators of our time have brought to light the fact that about 25 per cent. of the students in our men's colleges are unable to swim a stroke. If such are the facts, what must be the conditions in our secondary schools, and among men and boys of our land generally?

The United States government, recognizing the necessity of thorough knowledge of swimming in time of war, not only for the crossing of rivers, cutting of cables, etc., but also as the means of physical development and strength, places the art of swimming in a high position in the requirements at the military and naval academies at West Point and Annapolis. No single exercise or game will produce such wonderfully good results in health, strength and power as swimming if correct methods are employed.

Swimming deserves first place among athletics and aquatics, owing to the fact that it may be the means, not only of self-preservation, but also of saving the lives of others.

Instruction for Saving Drowning Persons by Swimming to Their Relief.

1st. When you approach a person drowning in the water, assure him in a loud voice that he is safe.

2d. Before jumping in to save a person in distress, divest yourself as far as possible of all clothing. At all events loosen the foot of your drawers if fastened, as they will fill with water and drag you if you leave them tied.

3d. On swimming to a person in the water, if he is struggling, do not seize him then, but keep off a few seconds until he becomes quiet, for it is sheer madness to take hold of a man when he is struggling in the water. After he has become quiet, get close to him and get hold of the hair of his head, then turn him quickly on his back, then throw yourself on your back also, and swim for the shore or float until help comes to your aid.

One great advantage of this method is that it enables you to keep your head up, and also the head of the one you are trying to save. It is very important that you take a good hold of the hair and throw both the person and yourself on your backs. Of course there are other methods used in saving a drowning person, but after many experiments this is found to be preferable to all others.

Manchester

Edward Leach of New York was in town last Friday on a flying visit.

W. W. Williams, wife and little daughter and maid, are at Mrs Latons', Union street, for the summer.

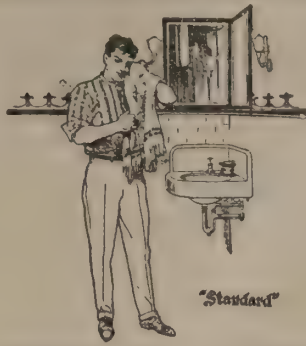

Charles A. Lodge, jr., arrived home from Amherst yesterday for the summer vacation. He will assist at the Breeze office this summer.

James Beaton and family are occupying rooms in the Morgan house, Bennett street for the summer, while the Austro-Hungary legation is established at their residence.

The office and clerical force of the Austro-Hungary legation will be located at the residence of George Gould, Lincoln street, this summer. The head of the legation will be at James Beaton's cottage.

C. W. Hunter of Boston and Lowell, is in charge of James Culbert's harness shop, Beach street, this season. Mr. Hunter is a man of much experience in treating of the very finest class of work in this line and is prepared to give nothing but first-class service to the many North Shore patrons of this concern.

Officer Frank A. Morgan made another daring hold-up of a pair of runaway horses this week, when on Monday afternoon he jumped on to a tip-cart owned by Supt. of Streets Crombie as the pair of frightened horses dashed down Union street and around the corner into School street. The horses started from Standley's blacksmith shop, while Mr. Crombie was in the shop. Leaving Summer street and entering Beach the horses and their heavy cart swung over in front of the fruit store, knocked over a horse belonging to the fruit man, then went onto the sidewalk in front of Campbell & Hinchliffe's, turned around the corner by the postoffice narrowly escaping some bicycles on the outside and the building on the other. Down Union street the heavy outfit went, people scattering from the path of the runaway. R. Rose tried to stop the horses but was thrown down. Just one obstacle remained in the way of the infuriated animals as they approached the square and that was Officer Morgan. He had already held up several bad runaways. As the team twirled around the corner into School street he caught hold of the tail-board, hopped in and climbed out onto the pole and caught hold of the reins. He dropped one rein and went back again, a difficult feat to say the least. He finally held in on the horses and brought them to a stop at Friend's court. He drove the outfit back to town like a "conquering hero." Good work, Frank!

Personal Attention Given to all Work. Estimates cheerfully given.

✦ Manchester ✦

Sunday the ambulance was called into use to remove Mrs. Biggs, whose husband is chauffeur for Mrs. C. A. Munn, to the Beverly Hospital, where she went to be treated for appendicitis.

Frank Sinnicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Sinnicks, was a member of the large graduating class at the Gloucester High school last evening. Mr. Sinnicks, we note, ranked second in the entire class. He received 93, to 94 per cent. for the leading one of the class. He is to enter Tech. in the fall. Henry Merrill is another Manchester boy to graduate at Gloucester this year.

The band concert Wednesday evening by the Salem cadet band drew out a big crowd. A big number came from out of town, and it is estimated there were over 1000 people in the square. There were some fifteen or twenty autos lined up along the road. The next concert will be given on Wednesday evening, July 8.

This evening at 8 o'clock the members of Allen Post, the W. R. C. and S. of V. are invited to G. A. R. hall, where it is announced a pleasant surprise is in store for all.

How do you like Gravel Pond water? Didn't know you were drinking it? Well, you have been drinking from Manchester's new water supply every time you drew water from a faucet in Manchester the last week. The pumps were started at the new station at Gravel Pond a week ago today, and while they are not working to their capacity, some water is being pumped into the old stand-pipe from the pond, and is being mixed with the old supply. Within a week or two the Gravel Pond supply will be used entirely, while the pumps at the old station are being removed and the new gas producing equipment installed. The new equipment is working to perfection. Look for our "write-up" of the new supply in our next issue.

Real Estate :: ::
:: :: And Improvements

Chester L. Crafts has bought from the Mears estate the property on the corner of Pleasant street extension and School street. The property adjoins that of George L. Knight on the School street side and Mr. Crafts' on the Pleasant street side. It is Mr. Crafts' intention, we understand, to remove the old building, perhaps to one of his other lots, off Pleasant street, and to improve the property. He will not build on this corner.

The Tremont Theatre.

"A Broken Idol" which is just now crowding the cool Tremont Theatre in Boston at every performance has been called "The Show of a Thousand Surprises," and the statement is not exaggerated. To succeed now-a-days a musical entertainment must possess originality and "A Broken Idol" surely has more than its share. Everything is new and novel from the plot down to the mechanical effects and from the rise of the first curtain until the fall of the last, the audience is treated to a bewildering series of surprises that almost dazzle the eye and strain one's belief in the credible.

A new edition to "A Broken Idol" was put on June 21, with new music, dances and effects but with the same cast as before. It is Mr. B. C. Whitney's policy to frequently put on new features in order that those who have seen the show once may see it again and find new enjoyment in it. There will be the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Magnolia

The Men's clubhouse reports a remarkable growth during the last two weeks. Its many attractions are proving even greater than was expected as a drawing card. The membership now numbers 85. One of the chief attractions at the clubhouse are the bowling alleys. At the ladies' night last Saturday, 25 young women participated in the games and a score of 98 was rolled by Miss Clara Butler. The score still stands unbeaten. The men's high score of 109 is held by H. C. Foster.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To the people who reside within our city:—It seems almost as though it were a waste of Ink to be obliged to stand up and blow my horn after being in a city almost 25 years, to tell the public the services I render. Yet it is necessary as so many new comers are among us—I wish to emphasize the fact that I do a strictly first-class Tailoring Business, in all its branches—the best there is in every line and department. My prices are not the lowest, nor are they the highest, for work done. I make it a point to charge the same price I would pay you, did you do the work for me. Nothing can be more square than that principle.

I don't say I will give you a forty dollar suit for twenty, but do say I will give you a dollar's worth of goods or services for one dollar—What more can I do to be just to myself and you. If this announcement appeals to you I would like you to come and see me when in want of Tailoring in any of its many branches.

Hoping you will pardon this brusque statement, but necessity compels it as people seem to run after false ideas and believe anything that some humbug advertises.

Have you thought to renew your subscription to the Breeze? Do not forget that the price advances to $2.00 a year on July 1. This price effects no-one but new subscribers until the present subscriptions run out. For instance, if your subscription does not expire until next January, this raise in price does not effect you until next January. Then the price will be $2.00 for the year following. The only way you may get your subscription for one dollar a year after your present subscription expires, whether it expires on July 1, or next March, is to send your advance subscription before next Thursday. If you send in $2.00, why that will pay for two years; if you send $1.00, that will pay for one year in advance from the date when your subscriptions runs out.

A dozen or more Salem doctors came to Manchester yesterday for their annual outing at Tuck's Point, and in company with Drs. Blaisdell, Glendenning and Tyler of this town, enjoyed one of Prof. Horton's famous clambakes.

Portsmouth Templars at Manchester.

The Masconomo hotel, Manchester, was the scene of a jolly gathering Wednesday evening when, all dressed in uniform, and with bands playing and banners waving, over 100 members of DeWitt Clinton Commandery, Knights Templar, from Portsmouth, N. H., came down for a day's outing.

The Knights were in command of Eminent Commander John K. Bates. They arrived Wednesday evening on a special train a little after eight and brought with them the First Corps Cadets band of Boston. After alighting from the train, the Knights were drawn up in marching order and, with the band leading the way marched to the Masconomo.

There they were met by Manager Austin A. Dutton who, assisted by a big corps of aides, had everything in readiness for the commandery's coming. First came a buffet lunch. Then a smoker, accompanied by a band concert which was enjoyed not only by the knights but by many of the townspeople who were attracted to the scene. Thursday was spent in games, automobiling, bathing and other pleasures. For some it was the first visit to Manchester and many availed themselves of the opportunity to see the interesting places of the town. All were profuse in their expressions of praise for the beauty spots of Manchester.

✕ Magnolia ✕

WITH PLEASING SURPRISE many visitors will see the familiar sign "Boas, The Tailor" as they swiftly and gently glide into Magnolia. Familiar indeed it is to the residents of Back Bay, Boston, and likely to leave in the mind vivid and acute feelings of relief and confidence.

Garments bearing his label express the highest development of every essential of clothes character—a unity of style, material and workmanship that at once raise them to the pinnacle of clothes superiority.

In the wide field of Cleansing, Pressing and Dyeing Mr. John Crowley possesses a rare reputation in Boston and beyond its borders.

Under his intimate touch, wilful stains like magic disappear. His knowledge of the inner secrets of fine cleansing and pressing is peerless. Under him, the Cleansing, Pressing and Dyeing department of Boas & Crowley will be a revelation of reliability and perfection.

Pressing and Cleansing is a fine art and cannot be properly done save by an experienced and able specialist. Such work, when done by nondescripts who are pottering at everything, would be a joke but for the cost to victims in time, money and care. To such potterers has been applied the saying,

"... couldn't press a nose-bag for a horse."

Bruised beneath their yoke, real pressing has become well-nigh unknown—buried under an avalanche of sham, false pretence etc., ad nauseum.

Not farther does the East lie from the West than lies the distance between Cleansing, Pressing and Dyeing done by potterers and that done by specialists. The specialist lends to the work he knows so well a rare distinctive quality; faded and worn garments renew their youthful appearance and (figuratively) vibrate with new life. There is a mystic charm, a virility permeating garments renovated by a skillful specialist.

As such, Mr. Crowley's ability is conceded in Boston where the surpassing quality of his work has stamped it as the climax of excellence and crowned his efforts with superb triumph.

The facilities of Boas & Crowley place at the disposal of distant patrons a service approximating in promptness and efficiency that accorded to those personally visiting the store. A telephone call (Magnolia 7 Ring 2) a postal or message will receive instant attention.

The garments of all customers are insured against loss by fire or otherwise.

Monthly or season pressing and tailoring is done at special rates, goods being promptly called for and delivered on time. The splendid service and attention to details that have marked the career of Boas & Crowley will be duplicated in their Magnolia store, which is located at 6 Raymond street, in the heart of the town. * *

At six o'clock last night, all gathered again at the hotel where a splendid banquet was served. As the knights sat about the board in their uniforms of green and gold, with white crosses upon their breasts, they made a most imposing spectacle.

Just as the banquet was about to begin, an enormous bunch of American Beauty roses was brought in and laid before Eminent Commander Bates. The knights and their commander were greatly surprised at first, but the Commander sought an explanation in a small white envelope that came with the roses. From this he drew a gilded card and read aloud:

"To the Eminent Sir John K. Bates,

Commander of DeWitt Clinton Commandery, Knights Templar, and visiting Sir Knights:

"The Eminent Commander and Sir Knights of St. George Commandery No. 44, Beverly, residing in Manchester, ask you to accept this slight gift in the knightly spirit in which it is offered.

Signed:

FRANKLIN K. HOOPER,
Eminent Commander,
Manchester, Mass."

The gift was received with hearty expressions of thanks from all sides. Several Manchester knights attended the banquet.

✕ Magnolia ✕

Residents of Magnolia complain bitterly of the condition of the state highway between Magnolia and Gloucester and of Summer street, between Magnolia and the Boston & Maine station. In the first case, the state has closed the highway in order to resurface it and, in the second, workmen are filling-in and re-graveling the road, to the infinite inconvenience of the hundreds of teams and automobiles that travel back and forth to the station every day. In the latter case, protest is made on the ground that the work should have been done in the spring when the travel was light.

Col. Wm. D. Sohier of Beverly has written to Mayor Parsons of Gloucester making a proposition that, if the Gloucester city government will agree to pay one-half the cost, in which a total sum of not less than $1000 shall be spent, he will improve Hesperus avenue and raise the other half of the expense. Col. Sohier believes that the work could be started immediately and so arranged that either Hesperus avenue or the state highway would be open to travel continually.

Keiths.

Events of importance are following each other in rapid succession at Keith's Theatre these days, the latest announcement being the appearance of Mlle. Dazie, the dancer, who created a sensation in "The Follies of 1908," and has been engaged for a short season in the Keith houses, in fact, a season of only two weeks, one of which will be played in Boston, beginning June 28th, after which Mlle. Dazie will sail for Europe.

It will also mark the first vaudeville appearance in Boston of Ben Johnson, the star of "Paid in Full," who has a wide reputation among his friends as a monologist.

Edwin Stanley and Company, will appear in an elaborate musical act. Wynn and Lee will be remembered in that excellent talking sketch called "The College Boys."

Among the features planned for now are afternoon and evening band concerts at West Beach with fireworks and illumination.

There is a general feeling of regret at the Farms that the local public school is to lose one of its best and most popular teachers. Miss Honora O'Brien, who has taught the 6th and 7th grades so successfully has resigned to accept a position as teacher in one of the largest schools at Cambridge. There she will be first assistant to the master.

Scores of Farms people went to Manchester Wednesday evening to hear the band concert by the Salem Cadet Band.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Chapman of Haskell street celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage last Tuesday. During the day, many friends and neighbors called to offer congratulations.

On next Friday evening, July 2, will occur an event toward which Beverly Farms folk have been looking for several months,—the presentation of "The Country Minister," by the gymnasium classes. Miss Connolly and every member of the cast have worked hard to make this a successful event financially. The funds are to be devoted to buying apparatus for the classes of the future. Tickets are 35 cents; chip in, and buy a ticket whether you intend to attend the show or not; every little helps.

Miss Muriel Publicover went to Danvers today for a short visit with Miss Mabel Benby.

Dr. and Mrs. John Fallon and son John, jr., of Worcester, arrived at the Farms this week. Mrs. Fallon and son will probably remain here during the summer, while the doctor will visit them over week-ends.

A goodly number of members of Preston Post, W. R. C., with many invited guests are visiting at the Soldiers' Home at Chelsea today. From Beverly the trip was made by trolley. It is planned to make the trip an annual tour.

Have you thought to renew your subscription to the Breeze? Do not forget that the price advances to $2.00 a year on July 1. This price effects no-one but new subscribers until the present subscriptions run out. For instance, if your subscription does not expire until next January, this raise in price does not effect you until next January. Then the price will be $2.00 for the year following. The only way you may get your subscription for one dollar a year after your present subscription expires, whether it expires on July 1, or next March, is to send your advance subscription before next Thursday. If you send in $2.00, why that will pay for two years; if you send $1.00, that will pay for one year in advance from the date when your subscriptions runs out.

Work was started yesterday on rebuilding that part of Hale street, Pride's Crossing, bordering the H. C. Frick estate. The road was swept clean Wednesday and traffic was turned away from this stretch yesterday; before the road was treated to the tarvia No. 5 process. When completed this will, no doubt, make the finest short stretch of road anywhere along the North Shore. If this proves a success it is likely that other roads will be rebuilt along similar lines. D. Linehan & Son of Pride's, who have an established reputation in road construction of this nature, are doing the work. Frank Hammond is in charge of the work for the Linehan's.

❖ Society Notes ❖

President Taft, Mrs. Taft, their daughter Helen and two sons, Robert, a Yale Senior, and Charlie, "the boy of the White House," will arrive in Montserrat Sunday morning at 8.54 o'clock in their special Pullman the "Olympia." They leave Boston at 8.17 o'clock, attached to the regular train. From Montserrat the family will be driven by automobile to their home on Burgess Point where everything will be in readiness for their arrival. Rev. B. R. Bulkeley, the Unitarian minister, will conduct services in the First church in Beverly at 11 o'clock, but as the President leaves on Monday morning at 8.55 o'clock for Norwich, Conn., thence to the Lake Champlain tercentenary celebration, it is likely that he will not leave his summer home on Sunday. Nor will he conduct any official business before leaving, as the executive offices have not yet been supplied with furniture. Mrs. Taft is an Episcopalian. She has been in ill health and will probably remain at Burgess Point with her husband and not attend services at St. Peter's Episcopal church. Among the congregation of the First church in Beverly, where President Taft will attend services, are Miss Katherine Loring, and Miss Louise Loring of Boston, Robert D. Evans and family of Boston, Miss Anna Jackson, of Boston, the William Endicotts of Boston, and Mrs. John C. Phillips of Moraine Farm, North Beverly.

Justice Oliver Wendall Holmes of the Beverly Farms summer colony, who went to England as a delegate to the centenary of the birth of Charles Robert Darwin, was among those honored by the university with the degree of Doctor of Science last week.

Col. and Mrs. Harry E. Russell have returned to Manchester after a delightful hunting trip to Middle Dam, in the Rangeleys. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bemis of Beverly Farms accompanied them. The usual good luck which Col. Russell has encountered was met this year, as well as by the other members of the party.

J. H. Lancashire and family of Michigan are at the Hood cottage, Norton's Point, Manchester, for the summer.

:: At the Hotels ::

With the Fourth of July hard at hand, the Oceanside has prepared itself for a record-breaking patronage. So far the season has been a bit backward, but the schedule of guests to arrive today, tomorrow and Sunday exceeds any prospect the hotel has ever had before.

Mrs. G. Walker Kelley of Barnstable, came down to Magnolia Wednesday and is a guest of Mrs. Alfred Tucker of Boston at the Oceanside Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Hobbs of Boston have engaged rooms in the Sea Crest cottage, Magnolia, for the summer and moved in Wednesday.

Prof. Allen R. Benner of Phillips Andover academy is at the head of a company of students now spending a few weeks at the Oceanside. In the party are J. W. Twitchell, Pittsburg, Pa.; J. D. Thompson, East Liverpool, Ohio; W. H. Woolworth, jr., New York City.

Miss Edith F. Meacham of Cincinnati, O., R. D. Meacham and F. S. Meacham of Cincinnati, O., arrived at the Oceanside Wednesday on an auto tour through New England. From here they will go on Sunday to Montreal, where they will sail for Europe, to be gone the remainder of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Carpenter of New York City passed through here Tuesday on a motoring trip to Portland, Me. They stopped at the Oceanside.

General G. L. Andrews, U. S. A., retired, and wife of Washington, D. C., are at the Oceanside for the season.

THE WEATHER.

Do not groan about the weather;
It won't make much difference whether
You are pleased with it or not.
You can't stop it, if it's raining,
And you know all your complaining
Will not make it cold or hot.

Better take it as you find it:
If it's bad, try not to mind it;
Just enjoy it, if it's good.
Fair and foul days bring their measure
Equally of joy and pleasure,
If you live them as you should.

So, then, do not sit repining,
Though the sun may not be shining,
Make your sunshine all the time.
Banish all your melancholy,
And you'll find your life so jolly
You'll be glad you read this rhyme.
—Somerville Journal.

❖ Society Notes ❖

The Essex County club will be the scene of a brilliant gathering of North Shore people next Wednesday afternoon, July 7, for that afternoon will mark the formal opening of the season there. That is, the first of the series of Wednesday afternoon band concerts will be given, and on that afternoon, also, there will be a house warming of the enlarged clubhouse. The Essex County clubhouse is now one of the finest in the country, having undergone many changes and alterations the past winter, and many members and friends of members will see the improvements next week for the first time.

Misses Margrette and Rosamond Otis of Boston, daughters of Dr. Walter J. Otis, have been guests the past week of their uncle, F. Blackwood Fay and family, Smith's Point, Manchester.

At their beautiful summer estate on the tip of Smith's Point, Monday, Mr. and Mrs. S. Parker Bremer had a party of some half-hundred children from the Emmanuel House, Boston, for the day. The young folk left Boston on the 9.35 train and were met at the Manchester station by automobiles. At the Bremer estate they had a most enjoyable outing, Mr. and Mrs. Bremer giving them a royal good time. They left for home on a late afternoon train, and it is safe to say most of them will never forget their good time by the seashore and the feast of good things given them on their outing to Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Lee of 12 Brimmer street, Boston, having let their cottage at Magnolia, will not come to the North Shore again this summer, but will spend July and August at Naples, N. Y.

MANCHESTER'S NEW WATER SUPPLY AND HIGH SERVICE SYSTEM.

The extensive operations that have been in progress the past nine months toward giving Manchester a better water system have been completed, practically, and within the next ten days, probably, the new pumping station at Gravel Pond, one of the chain of ponds between Manchester and Hamilton, will be put in active operation, and the new standpipe will be filled with water, thus giving a high pressure system.

The cost of the new supply, which, by the way, is to be used only as an addition to the system used for the past eighteen years, will cost very nearly $160,000. That was the amount appropriated for the project and it is a matter of great credit to the water commissioners, Frederick J. Merrill, Jeffrey T. Stanley and James Hoare, and to the engineer, Raymond C. Allen,—that the work will be accomplished well within the appropriation.

The approximate cost of the new plant thus far has been: Machinery, $29,000; standpipe, $29,150; construction of pipe line, $20,000; pipes, $25,000; other items $10,000.

When the plant is completed Manchester will have one of the finest water plants in the country. It will have one of the few gas producing power plants in New England, and its concrete standpipe, too, will be an improvement which very few towns in this state possess.

In constructing the plant it was the idea of those in charge from the very start to give the town the best; price was not considered; the result is that Manchester has one of the finest and best plants that could be constructed.

The new station on the southerly side of Gravel Pond, as pictured on this page, is of brick, with cement floors, and its dimensions are approximately 58 feet square. It is of one story and stands 20 feet high from the pump floor to the ceiling. It has an overhanging roof, slated on top. The gutters and copings, ventilators, and other appurtenances are of copper. There are iron shutters on all the windows and the doors, too, are of iron.

There is an opening from the roadway which allows of the dumping of coal on an elevation level with the top of the gas producers. And there is also a room on this level which is intended to serve as a horse and wagon shed. The capacity of the coal shed is 40 to 50 tons.

Beginning at this point it may be of interest to follow through the various stages from the time the coal is dumped at the station until the water is pumped from the station to the standpipe.

The coal used is of the pea size, and comes from the anthracite mines. The buck-wheat bituminous size could be used. The producer is filled once in ten hours, and it takes 500 pounds at a time for each producer. The coal is wheeled to the producers and every barrowful is weighed before using. The coal is put in through the top.

The water from the producer, used in producing the gas, as is the case with all plex, with a million gallon capacity each, every 24 hours, which is at the rate of 700 gallons every minute. A friction clutch between the engine and the pump is used gradually as the power is turned on, just as the ordinary clutch on a motor boat.

Leaving the station at this point we go dirty water about the station, is drained off to a cesspool and when this is full the contents is pumped to a point a quarter of a mile away, off the water shed.

After passing from the producer the gas passes through a "washer" arrangement, where it is cleansed and purified before passing on to the engine. The producer is ten feet high and five feet in diameter.

When the soft coal is used in place of the anthracite, there is another attachment which separates the tar from the gas and carries it back into the producer to burn over again.

The ground floor of the producer room is reached by iron ladders and from the producer room one enters the pump and engine room. The Nash Gas Engines are used, made by the National Meter Co. These are resting on a solid bed of concrete. The engines are of the 3-cylinder type and are 65 h. p. each, but with capacity of 75 to 80 h. p.

As the gas enters the engine it is mixed in proper proportion with air. The exhaust water from the engine passes through a smaller boiler and in turn to the producers the steam being needed for the proper formation of the gas.

The engines are started by means of 150-lb. compressed air tanks. From 100 to 110 pounds are needed to start the engines; the tanks have a capacity of about 200 pounds.

The pumps used are the Goulds' Tri-plex, with a million gallon capacity each, every 24 hours, which is at the rate of 700 gallons every minute. A friction clutch between the engine and the pump is used gradually as the power is turned on, just as the ordinary clutch on a motor boat. Leaving the station at this point we go to the edge of the pond. A 16-inch pipe has been run out into the pond some 60 feet to a point where the water is 15 feet deep. The end of the pipe turns upward and there are 9 feet of water above it. A 1-inch mesh screen is over the end of the pipe. The pipe runs into a well on the edge of the pond, the end of the pipe being 12 feet below the surface. Two copper screens, each six meshes to the inch, are so arranged that one may be removed at a time for cleaning purposes. Both pumps in the station 25 feet away, are connected to this well by a 16-inch suction pipe. The 16-inch pipe is connected directly to the pumps by a ten-inch pipe. When one pump is running at a million gallons a day the water in the well drops one inch.

As to the pond, it is 46 acres in area, and its deepest point is about 60 feet. The water is as clear as crystal. The pond has been raised a foot from its normal condition, increasing its capacity some 16,000,000 gallons, and making a total capacity of about 350,000,000. The upper 9 feet of the water represents some 140,000,000 gallons. A concrete dam 12 feet deep, with 2-ft. sluice gate, has been put in between Gravel and Round Ponds, for the purpose of keeping the water from the latter pond out, or for letting it in if needed. The gate is large enough to let the water in at the rate of 40,000 gallons a minute.

The water after being pumped from the well is forced through a 14-inch pipe to the standpipe. A Premier Meter (Venture tube system) is used to measure all the water pumped, this being an improvement over the method employed at the old station, where the water pumped was computed by the number of revolutions, etc. This also serves as a check on the pump in case of any trouble. An automatic check valve stops the water from forcing its way back to the pumps after the engine is stopped.

The main floor of the station is reached by ascending 17 concrete steps. All the floors of the building are of concrete; all the openings over the pipes will be grated. The engine room is 36 by 37 ft. The producer room is 16 by 32; office, 12 by 16; hitching shed, 12 by 16; coal room, 21 by 16; work shop, 12 by 16.

An analysis of the water at Gravel Pond shows it to be up to the standard in every respect. It is intended to use this new supply merely as an addition, not as the sole supply. The Gravel Pond water will be mixed with the old supply, and will be used, probably, only in summer.

In connection with the new supply a high service system has also been installed. A new concrete standpipe has been built. This is located on Moses Hill and stands 72 feet high from the bottom to the platform around the top. Inside it is 70 feet deep and the inside diameter is 50 feet. A roof, of the Guastivino patent, is over the top of the reservoir.

Some 100 tons of steel was used in the construction of the standpipe. All the steel was tested before using. The thickness of the standpipe is 20 inches at the bottom, tapering to 12 inches at the top, being plumb on the inside, and tapering on the outside. Ladders have been constructed both on the outside and inside of the pipe. The bottom of the standpipe is 207 feet above mean low water, and eight feet higher than the high water line of the old standpipe. Its capacity is a little over a million gallons. One pump at the new station could fill it in 24 hours.

With the old and new standpipes in use the storage capacity will be 3½ million gallons. The water enters the new standpipe through a 16 inch force main.

The new service will give a pressure of about 110 lbs., whereas under the old system it was 75. This is not an extraordinary high pressure; in Wellesley it is 125 pounds through a part of the town.

The new standpipe is lined inside throughout with cement and a water-proofing compound. A "telo-meter" is to be installed on the structure to show the height of the water at all times. A telephone is to be installed at the new station, also.

It is likely that the new service will be put into regular use within the next ten days. The water has been pumped into the old standpipe for the past fortnight and has been mixed with the water from the springs at the old station. The next step is to close down the old station and install the up-to-date gas producing engines, etc., there as at the new plant, then Manchester's plant in its entirety will be on a par with any in the country for a town of this size.

Supt. Francis M. Andrews, who has been in charge of the water plant since its inception here some eighteen years ago, will have charge of this new station and plant. W. W. Soulis will be the engineer at the new station and Archie Greenough will continue in this capacity at the old station.

The new building was constructed by George S. Sinnicks at a cost of $11,000. Smith Gas Power Co., of Lexington, O., provided the gas producers. The National Meter Co., of New York, furnished the gas engines, and the Goulds' Manufacturing Co. of Seneca Falls, N. Y., the vertical triplex pumps.

The entire work has been carried on under the supervision of Raymond C. Allen, engineer.

On the standpipe has been placed a bronze tablet bearing this inscription:

Erected 1909.

Fred J. Merrill,
Jeffrey T. Stanley,
James Hoare,
Water Commissioners.

R. C. Allen, Engineer.

Simpson Bros. Corp., Contractors.

The item of coal in this new plant it is expected will show a big saving for the town. It is estimated that the new plant will be run at a saving of almost fifty per cent. of the cost of doing the same work with the old plant.

ROSE AND STRAWBERRY SHOW.

Annual Flower Exhibition at Manchester a Big Success.

The annual rose and strawberry show of the North Shore Horticultural society held in a large tent on the grounds of the Essex County club on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, was a very successful affair, both in the quantity and quality of flowers and vegetables displayed, and in the interest shown.

The tent this year was erected near the School street entrance to the grounds.

To encourage a larger field of competitors W. W. Rawson & Co. of Boston offered a silver medal to be awarded to the most successful competitor, the award to be made on the following points: Each first prize to be counted as three points; each second prize to be counted as two points; each third prize to be counted as one point; fourth prizes not to be counted at all; all special prizes to be counted as first prizes. The winner of this medal was Wm. Swan, who won 53 points. Mrs. Gordon Abbott (Wm. Irwin, gardener), came second, with 26 points; Mrs. Philip Dexter (James Salter, gardener), 17 points; Hon. T. Jefferson Coolidge, (Wm. Till gardener), 16; Mrs. H. L. Higginson, (James Scott, gardener) 15, Mrs. G. S. Curtis (Edward Hooper, gardener), 15 points.

To make special mention of each display that attracted much attention would fill all our space, for all the displays deserve notice. Two imposing groups that struck everybody's eye as they entered the tent were those of William Swan and Mrs. Lester Leland. The former was a magnificent mound of geraniums, the like of which was never shown here before. Mrs. Leland's was a group of foliage and flowering plants, covering 100 square feet of space, composed mostly of orchids and the blushing bride gladioli intermixed with beautiful varieties of foliage plants such as crotons, ferns and palms, one large palm topping off the center.

Special mention might be made, too, of the two society tables of roses by Mrs. James McMillan (Fred Brasch, gardener); of the unusual big collection of delphiniums by George R. White, and of Mrs. H. L. Higginson's table of roses arranged for effect. Among Mrs. Higginson's collection was a magnificent hybrid tea rose, the most beautiful single rose in the entire tent.

Mrs. George E. Cabot as usual won the prize offered for the best table arranged by ladies only. A big vase of white roses occupied the center of this table.

The Eaglehead cup, offered by Mrs. James McMillan for the best collection of garden grown roses brought out a large competition. This was won again by Wm. Swan. Hon. T. Jefferson Coolidge, William Till, gardener, had a large collection in this class.

The display of vegetables this year was unusually large and the quality was exceptionally good. Mrs. Gordon Abbott, Wm. Irwin, gardener, had the largest and best collection, and won the cup offered by George F. Willett. Her collection was beautifully arranged, and the quality and quantity was superior to any shown in recent years. Mrs. P. Dexter usually has a large display in this class, but she did not show this year.

Among the commercial growers exhibiting were W. W. Rawson & Co., Boston, who showed a large collection of sweet peas; Julius Huerlin of the Blue Hill nurseries, who showed two society tables of hardy herbaceous flowers, some 150 varieties in all; Robert A. Mitchell of Manchester, who had three tables of hardy flowers; Henry A. Dreer of Phila., who showed among other things their new fern, Nephrrolepis Scholzei, the new crested Scotti fern; Julius Roehrs Co. of Rutherford, N. J., who had some beautiful orchids.

The following list of prize winners will tell briefly the summary of the show.

:: At the Hotels ::

The newest feature at the Hesperus hotel is the tennis courts. The management has leased the courts formerly used by the New Magnolia hotel and is having them rapidly put into condition. When they are completed they will rank with the finest courts along the shore.

The Hesperus Orchestra, composed of players in the Boston Symphony, will arrive at the hotel Wednesday. From then on, concerts will be held every afternoon in the music room and tea will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. U. K. Pettingell of Brookline have closed their town house and are expected at the Hesperus today.

Mrs. A. C. Wilkins of Cambridge arrived at the Hesperus Tuesday and is occupying rooms in the "Villa" on Hesperus avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Clapp of Plainsfield, N. Y., are guests at the Hesperus. Mr. Clapp is proprietor of the hotel.

The Aborn is coming to be a rendezvous for many of the automobile parties that travel the North Shore. Every day it has a couple for luncheon or dinner and some days five or six. Its season and transient trade has also increased largely this week. Among the guests of the week were Mrs. William W. Page, Miss A. M. Brown, J. P. Putnam, jr., of Boston; Miss Elizabeth Phillips and Mrs. J. V. Payne; Philadelphia; Miss M. C. Crosswell and Miss A. Crosswell, Cambridge.

The new Fern-Croft Inn is in every way the counterpart of the old, which was destroyed by fire last year. ## Almond Complexion Cream

Sunburn.

Our Almond Complexion Cream quickly relieves sunburn as well as all other kinds of burns and scalds.

Its soothing and healing qualities quickly ease the pain of a severe burn of any nature and assist in a speedy return to normal condition.

In the summer time it is a great comfort.

Absolutely harmless, and does not produce a growth of hair.

Rough Skin.

Constant exposure to wind and weather while very beneficial to the general health produces a roughness and harshness of the skin not so desirable.

While every person might envy a sailor's health he might not be so envious of the seaman's complexion.

Plummer's Almond Complexion Cream overcomes this tendency to roughness and preserves the natural condition of the skin.

Automobilists especially find it very beneficial.

After Shaving.

After a close shave on a tender skin, especially in the hot weather, there is a tendency towards irritation and soreness.

This tendency is completely overcome by our almond cream.

Its cooling and soothing properties make it very delightful to use for that purpose and its antiseptic and emollient ingredients prove of great benefit to the skin.

Society Notes

Many North Shore people took advantage of the opportunity offered last Saturday to visit the Boston Floating Hospital, which was brought down the shore for the day and moored off West Beach, Beverly Farms. A thorough inspection was made of the ship and equipment, which, with the assistance of physicians, nurses and other interested co-workers, has done wonderful work for the infants of Boston and vicinity. Launches were provided by Mrs. S. Parker Bremer of Manchester, Mrs. S. Reed Anthony of Beverly Farms and Mrs. John Hays Hammond of Gloucester, and in these the visitors were carried back and forth to the ship. G. Loring Briggs, the superintendent, received the visitors and Dr. Marble and Dr. White and Misses Chipman and Lawson, the head nurses, showed the visitors about the hospital. After the day at Beverly Farms the hospital went to Marblehead Sunday where she was on view all day.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Sullivan and daughters, Elizabeth and May, and two younger children, John and Daniel A., jr., arrived yesterday and are occupying one of the cottages at the Masconomo House, Manchester. The Sullivans live at 1774 Beacon street, Boston. They were at the Masconomo last year, also. The Misses Sullivan have just returned from one of the large convents at Montreal.

Cottagers and hotel guests along the North Shore will be interested in the announcement of Frank Gardner Hale of Boston, that he will hold an exhibition and sale of his hand-wrought jewelry and enamels at the Hotel Preston, Beach Bluffs, on Monday, July 5, from 10 until 6 o'clock.

John Peyer, the well-known automobile dealer at Manchester has established an automobile renting service at Magnolia. He has taken a stand at the corner of Lexington avenue, just back of the Oceanside hotel, where his cars may be found any day ready for hire by the day or week. His cars are large and some of the finest machines built. The new service fills a long-felt want at Magnolia.

Toys to a child are as much a "fad" as his motor is to the "grown-up"—and there is as great difference in the worth of toys as of cars. As there was a constant demand for toys for the little folk while at their summer homes it finally dawned upon "The Indian Store" (at Magnolia, opposite the North Shore Grill) that somebody should put in a line of good toys and games—and now that shop's toy-business is about the largest item of its summer-trade. But young folk and other folk need hats at the seaside, as elsewhere—hats that are suitable for every-day wear, that will not turn yellow—that will not crack. The 700 Panamas purchased in Curacao, So. America, were gone by June 10th, but there is now a new stock, both at the Boston shop and its Magnolia branch. They weigh a couple of ounces, cost one dollar, and will last—well, "forever." But toys and hats are only a part of the things needed in summer homes. Pottery, brass, baskets, moccasins, Turkish slippers, jig-saw puzzles, jewelry, post-cards and many other novel and useful things are at "The Indian Store" which is now in its eighth season at Magnolia. * * *

Mme. Edith Stromblad, the Swedish masseuse, who practiced with such remarkable success at Magnolia and Manchester for the last three years is at Magnolia again this season. Mme.

Stromblad is a graduate from the Sanders Institution of New York City and Stockholm, Sweden, and uses distinguished methods not duplicated along the North Shore. She is staying at the Woman's Club, Magnolia.

A new feature at the large grocery of Cobb, Bates & Yerxa, at Salem, is a delicatessen case just installed in which are kept for sale cooked meats, potato salad, fish cakes, summer sausages and other delicatessens. The case is of glass throughout, each of the four sides being 14 feet long by 28 inches wide, the glass making it perfectly sanitary. "The Big Grocery" is a cool spot these warm summer days, seven electric fans doing effective work, and with the ninety-odd help in the various departments, thirty horses and autos for delivery, there is an air of hustle and good patronage about the store at all times.

Special invitation tournaments, open to members of the Massachusetts Golf Association, and others whom the committee may invite, will be held on July 15, 16 and 17, and August 19, 20 and 21. Particulars concerning these events will be announced later.

A members' handicap golf tournament marked the opening of the golf season at the Essex County club last Saturday. George E. Warren was the winner, with a net score of 80 and a gross score of 88. The summary:

HANDICRAFT SHOP FOR THE BLIND

Begins Second Season at Manchester-by-the-Sea

The little handicraft shop for the blind, the summer salesroom of the Massachusetts Commission for the Blind and the Perkins Institution, opens again on the village green at Manchester, on the 8th of July. This summer salesroom was first opened a year ago, largely as a result of the personal interest and efforts of Mrs. William Hooper. The eloquent words of Miss Helen Keller who was present and the chief speaker at the inauguration of the enterprise will be recalled now that the little shop quietly and courageously begins its second season with Mrs. Hooper, its chief sponsor absent in Europe. To the summer colonists at Manchester a year ago, Miss Keller said: "Responsibilities and good works have followed you here and set up this little shop. They follow you not in gray garb of charity and social problems, but as purveyors of beauty to charm the eye and light the intellect."

(all kinds), scarfs (table and bureau), netted, knitted and crocheted articles, bean-bags, baby blankets, bath mats, bed shoes and socks, gloves, hammocks, helmets, baby jackets, kindergarten balls, mittens (all kinds), reins, shawls, sweaters, tights, useful household supplies, aprons (all kinds), bags (ice, laundry, jelly, money, etc.), brooms,

THE HANDICRAFT SHOP AT MANCHESTER.

The shop is this year again filled with both useful and beautiful articles. The following list is of novel interest as showing the astonishing number and different kinds of articles in which the processes of hand work may be done without sight. Artistic hand-woven materials, bags, (opera, sewing), bedspreads, etc., belts, card cases, covers (book, couch, pillow, table, etc.), curtains, dress patterns, luncheon sets, portieres, purses, rugs cases (gown and traveling), cloths (dish, glass, cleaning, silver, etc.), covers (brooms and ironing boards), dusters, face cloths, holders, mops, protection sleeves, towels (crash, dish, glass, linen and roller); also basket and rush-seat stools, wirework plant-stands, (coat-hangers, etc.)

The two Manchester young women, who first interested Mrs. Hooper in this work, one with partial sight and one wholly without sight, will again be employed at the salesroom. Miss Knowlton will again work as weaver at the hand-loom and Miss McClintock, who will act as general helper, will also be occupied with a unique bit of work which is being experimented with for the first time by the blind. This work is stuffing dolls' legs for the newly patented, hot water bottle doll for sick and delicate children, known as Patty Comfort. Miss McClintock and Miss Knowlton are agents for this doll, this summer, as well as for the Houghton Raised Picture Puzzle, a unique article of interest to the seeing as well as the blind.

GOOD MAN-MATERIAL.

Don't laugh at a boy who magnifies his place. You may see him coming from the postoffice with a big bundle of his employer's letters, which he displays with as much pride as if they were his own. He feels important, and looks it, but he is proud of his place. He is attending to business. He likes to have the world know that he is at work for a busy concern. The boy who says "we" identifies himself with the concern, its interests are his. He "sticks up" for its credit and reputation. He takes pleasure in his work. The boy will reap what he sows if he keeps his grit and sticks to his job. You may take off your hat to him as one of the future solid men of the town. Let his employer do the right thing by him; check him kindly if he shows signs of being too big for his place, counsel him as to his habits and associates, and occasionally show him a pleasant prospect of advancement. A little pride does an honest boy a heap of good. Good luck to the boy who says "we."

"If I Only Had Capital."

THE above words were recently uttered in our hearing by a worthy boy and and undoubtedly they are often reiterated by many who are out of employment, or have little or nothing to do. To such young men a look into the accomplishments of the past should be of benefit.

Our men of wealth and influence did not start with cash capital. They went to work with their plow, the hoe, the jack plane or ax, and in time their capital brought them a rich harvest. But ah—there's the rub—work, hard work. Our young man of today wants money on credit, with which to play the gentleman, speculate and end his career by playing vagabond. He wants to marry a rich girl who will support him, while he wears fine clothes, smokes cigars and plays the gentleman of leisure.

Shame on you, young man! Go to work with the capital you have and you will soon make interest enough upon it to give you as much money as you need. If you cannot make money with hands and head, you could not if you had all the capital in the world. First work, then save—that's the secret of success.

The world would be happier if people were a little more generous with their praise. There is too much flattery but a word of just appreciation would cheer the heart and strengthen the hands of many a discouraged worker in the home, in the school, in the church, and in the world.

The Fourth of July is hard at hand—what are you going to do about it? There will be the usual careless handling of explosives, revolvers and dangerous fireworks, there will probably be the usual number of fatalities and accidents, the usual number of statistics gathered and the usual number of sermons preached—and by the time another year comes round, the lesson will have been forgotten.

The time to prevent accident or fatality is NOW. The time to preach, and persuade against riotous celebration is NOW. After the celebration, preaching will be vain and only those who are injured and suffer will remember the folly of "not knowing that the gun was loaded."

Statistics just completed show that during the five celebrations from 1903 to 1907 inclusive, 1,152 persons were killed and 21,520 were injured. In one celebration the giant fire-cracker alone killed eight and led to the death of eight more from lock-jaw.

It is not to be desired that the Fourth pass uncelebrated by fireworks or noise of any kind. The day should be kept—but in a fitting and sane way. With the need of a physician's services eliminated from the day's celebration the observance of the Fourth of July would be an annual recreation well worth while.

THE BREEZE today comes to its readers at $2 a year. On every side the increase in price has been met with approval by readers and advertisers. "It's worth it," is a message which we have received day after day. The raise has cost us less than half-a-dozen subscribers, while on the other hand it has brought us nearly a hundred new ones. This is a glowing testimonial to the esteem in which THE BREEZE is held by public opinion and to the confidence which its patrons have in it as an advertising medium. THE BREEZE wishes to thank readers and advertisers for their generous support. It will continue eminently to deserve it.

One of our exchanges tells of an old German who had a boy of whom he was very proud, and decided to find out the trend of his mind. He adopted a novel method to test him. He slipped into the boy's room one morning and placed on his table a bottle of whiskey, a Bible and a silver dollar. "Now," said he, "when dot boy comes in if he takes dot dollar he's going to be a beeznis man; if he takes dot Bible he's going to be a preacher; if he takes dot whiskey he's no good, and going to be a drunkard." Then he hid behind a door to see which his son would choose. In came the boy whistling. He ran up to the table picked up the Bible and put it under his arm, then snatched up the bottle, took two or three drinks, picked up the dollar and put it in his pocket, and went out smacking his lips. The Dutchman poked his head out from behind the door and exclaimed: "Mein Got, he is going to be a bolitician."

The reception and dance of the graduating class of the Story High school last Friday evening in the Town hall was a very pretty affair and largely attended. Long's orchestra gave a concert between 8 and 8.30 while the reception was in progress. In the receiving line were Prin. and Mrs. A. L. Saben, Miss Edna Parker and Miss Alice Brackett, two of the teachers, and Misses Agnes M. Sjolund and Mabelle W. Lodge of the class. Young men undergraduates and past graduates served as ushers. The hall was beautifully decorated with the class colors,—crimson and gold, and cut flowers and potted plants were in abundance. The front of the stage was one mass of flowers and in the back of the hall the reception committee stood in front of a bank of ferns and palms and cut flowers. Long streamers of crimson and yellow crepe paper helped to set off the decorations. A large bell hanging in the center of the hall sent out showers of confetti during one of the dances. The grand march was started at 8.30, Miss Agnes Sjolund, the class president, and Henry Merrill, leading. Then followed the other young ladies of the class, and 75 other couples. During the intermission refreshments were served by the undergraduates.

Mr. Russell was formerly principal of the Story High school here. He has been commissioned by the Arctic Club of America, of which Admiral Schley is president, to make an ascent of Mt. Hecla to obtain data relating to the flora existing in the upper glacial zone, concerning which there are no records giving exact scientific information.

Reports from New York city would indicate that Daniel J. Sheehan is "making good" in his 30 days' trial for the New York Police force. Last spring Mr. Sheehan was one of about 3000 that took the civil service examinations for the police force of the great metropolis. About 1000 of the number passed the examinations, and our Manchester young man stood high in the list, in fact, his paper was one of the highest. He was called on to New York last week to begin his 30 days' trial, and if he makes good he will be appointed on the regular force.

The decrease in the state tax this year of $1,000,000 has been largely due to the contributions to the state treasury from the inheritance taxes. The tax is producing more money than was thought possible by those who framed the law. During the last year the following estates from Manchester have contributed these amounts: Robert C. Hooper, $28,517.-46, Hannah B. Merrill, $9,500.00.

John Ferguson of Manchester, who has spent the winter at East Gloucester, engaged in remodeling a seine boat into a launch for Boston parties, has completed his contract. The boat has an interesting history as it was attached to the vessel of Dr. Cook, which carried him to his starting point for his Arctic exploration. Mr. Ferguson is a native of E. Gloucester and since a youth has showed remarkable genius in this direction and won widespread notoriety, some of his models having been exhibited at national expositions, etc.

A Good Work.

The Union Bible society has undertaken the work inaugurated by our fathers, of systematically visiting every home in Manchester.

It is designed to gather religious statistics, sell the Scriptures at cost to all who may wish to purchase, and supply free the destitute.

The Missionary of this society is authorized to receive the yearly offerings and pledges for the cause from home to home, in place of calling for a collection in the church for the present year. Each pastor will be given a receipt for the amount thus received from the members of his congregation.

In this interdenominational work the society is careful to employ only those who have been tried and proven to be intelligent, consecrated laborers. There has been commissioned for work in Manchester, Miss Grace Howland. It is hoped she will be most cordially received in all homes.

Experience has proven that, from various causes, there are homes destitute of the Bible in every town; over 2000 Protestant homes have been found in the last seven years, and supplied by this society, and the missionary work of the society in these unchurched homes and in the rural districts has been blessed in the leading of many to prayerful lives.

In view of the fact that the society has no fund, pledge or endowment behind it, it is most earnestly hoped that prayerful sympathy, cooperation, and generous contributions may be received from all who read the Bible. * * *

Big Fair at Mechanics Building.

Nothing succeeds like success. When the Massachusetts Retail Grocers Association announced its Third Annual Food Fair and Home Furnishing Exposition to be held in Mechanics Building, Boston, September 27th to October 30th, 1909, it was soon apparent that the big successes of 1907 and 1908 were not forgotten.

All roads will lead to Mechanics Building, Boston, next October, where the only big Food Fair in New England this year will be held under the same auspices and same management and in the same building as the past two years. New exhibits, new decorations, new amusement features, will make this in every respect the greatest Exposition of the kind in the World. In attendance alone this great Fair now holds the world's record for any similar Exposition with a total of 1,166,224 in 1907 and 1908. You can't fool the people; the management of these expositions doesn't try to and that's why they succeed.

Miss Avis Antil is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Campbell, School street. Miss Jane Kendall, another former teacher here, is also a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell.

Mrs. Archie Greenough has her mother, Mrs. Charles Gauss of Cambridge, with her for a visit.

Mrs. Anna Woodbury is at Titusville, Pa., for a visit with relatives.

Arthur H. Merriam has returned to Manchester for the summer. He is chauffeur for D. A. Sullivan who is stopping at the Masconomo.

The newly elected and appointed officers of Magnolia lodge, 149, I. O. O. F., will be installed into office next Thursday evening by Deputy Rogers of Gloucester. A collation will be served after the work.

The next band concert on the Common by the Salem Cadet Band will be given on Thursday evening, July 15.

Miss Annie Maslen is the new clerk at Nichols' Dry Goods store.

The Seaside bowling alleys will be open all day on the "Fourth." They will open shortly after midnight Monday morning and will continue throughout the day. A special holiday prize is offered for the highest consecutive three-string total of the day. The usual prize for the highest individual score will also be given.

Manchester is to have a number of young men enter college in the fall. Joseph Floyd goes to Colorado; Edward Wheaton goes to Harvard; Frank Sinicks will enter Technology; Henry Merrill will enter Dartmouth; Samuel Knight intends to enter Tech.

At G. A. R. Hall, last Friday evening an interesting meeting was held coincident with the presentation to the Post by E. P. Stanley of a portrait of John Lee, one of Manchester's most prominent citizens of half a century ago. There were thirty people out including a number of the Lee descendants. A. S. Jewett gave a brief biography of the life of John Lee, telling of him as a town official.

Willard Rust returned home last night from Dartmouth college having stayed over for the Commencement exercise of the graduating class of which Harry Rabardy Floyd is a member. Mr. Floyd completed his course in February but had to return this week to receive his degree.

At their meeting Wednesday night the selectmen granted permits to Lyman W. Floyd and to Gay & Nichols to sell fireworks. The restriction was made that no fire balloons be sold. The fire engineers have a notice in another column that the setting off of fire balloons will not be allowed, as such practice is extremely dangerous because of the liability of fire being started from this source.

Fred K. Swett sang at the church fair in Beverly Farms last evening.

Miss Grace Hooper Allen is at Orange, N. J., for a visit with her brother, Benj. Allen and family.

Another 8000-gallon tank of tarvia arrived this week and is being used by the highway department in treating the highways in the easterly section of the town. Today Raymond street, near the Magnolia line, was gone over. Sunday, when the travel is not as heavy, Magnolia avenue, leading to the Magnolia station, will be treated, and next Tuesday, probably, Summer street will be treated, from the Gloucester line to Boyle's stable in Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mead of Wellesly were in town Tuesday. Mr. Mead gave a very interesting talk before the S. of V., on a Trip through Virginia.

The Town common will be aglow with electric lights next Monday night when the "juice" is turned on for the illumination. ANNOUNCEMENT

To the people who reside within our city:—It seems almost as though it were a waste of Ink to be obliged to stand up and blow my horn after being in a city almost 25 years, to tell the public the services I render. Yet it is necessary as so many new comers are among us—I wish to emphasize the fact that I do a strictly first-class Tailoring Business, in all its branches—the best there is in every line and department. My prices are not the lowest, nor are they the highest, for work done. I make it a point to charge the same price I would pay you, did you do the work for me. Nothing can be more square than that principle.

I don't say I will give you a forty dollar suit for twenty, but do say I will give you a dollar's worth of goods or services for one dollar—What more can I do to be just to myself and you. If this announcement appeals to you I would like you to come and see me when in want of Tailoring in any of its many branches.

Hoping you will pardon this brusque statement, but necessity compels it as people seem to run after false ideas and believe anything that some humbug advertises.

Magnolia

WITH PLEASING SURPRISE many visitors will see the familiar sign "Boas, The Tailor" as they swiftly sweep or gently glide into Magnolia. Familiar indeed it is to the residents of Back Bay, Boston, and likely to leave in the mind vivid and acute feelings of relief and confidence.

Garments bearing his label express the highest development of every essential of clothes character—a unity of style, material and workmanship that at once raise them to the pinnacle of clothes superiority.

In the wide field of Cleansing, Pressing and Dyeing Mr. John Crowley possesses a rare reputation in Boston and beyond its borders.

Under his intimate touch, wilful stains like magic disappear. His knowledge of the inner secrets of fine cleansing and pressing is peerless. Under him, the Cleansing, Pressing and Dyeing department of Boas & Crowley will be a revelation of reliability and perfection.

Pressing and Cleansing is a fine art and cannot be properly done save by an experienced and able specialist. Such work, when done by nondescripts who are pottering at everything, would be a joke but for the cost to victims in time, money and care. To such potterers has been applied the saying,

"... couldn't press a nose-bag for a horse."

Bruised beneath their yoke, real pressing has become well-nigh unknown—buried under an avalanche of sham, false pretence etc., ad nauseum.

Not farther does the East lie from the West than lies the distance between Cleansing, Pressing and Dyeing done by potterers and that done by specialists. The specialist lends to the work he knows so well a rare distinctive quality; faded and worn garments renew their youthful appearance and (figuratively) vibrate with new life. There is a mystic charm, a virility permeating garments renovated by a skillful specialist.

As such, Mr. Crowley's ability is conceded in Boston where the surpassing quality of his work has stamped it as the climax of excellence and crowned his efforts with superb triumph.

The facilities of Boas & Crowley place at the disposal of distant patrons a service approximating in promptness and efficiency that accorded to those personally visiting the store. A telephone call (Magnolia 7 Ring 2) a postal or message will receive instant attention.

The garments of all customers are insured against loss by fire or otherwise.

Monthly or season pressing and tailoring is done at special rates, goods being promptly called for and delivered on time. The splendid service and attention to details that have marked the career of Boas & Crowley will be duplicated in their Magnolia store, which is located at 6 Raymond street, in the heart of the town. * *

Next to Men's Clubhouse

✦ Magnolia ✦

Friends of the clubs will be interested to learn that all of the rooms at the Women's Clubhouse have been rented for the season and fourteen of those at the Men's Clubhouse.

The management of the Men's Club is experimenting this season. Suggestions and friendly criticisms will be welcomed at any time. The problem at present is the dances. The members of the club would like to have them occur at least twice a week, some of their employes would prefer once a fortnight as the limit.

The management will try for the month of July the following compromise: On July 7 there will be a dance from 8:30 to 11 o'clock with music by Blythe's orchestra. July 21 the Women's club will hold its second invitation dance. Outside of these dates there will be informal dances every Wednesday and Saturday evenings from 8.30 to 10.15 o'clock, with a charge of ten cents for members and ladies, and 25 cents for those who are not members.

Saturday evening is "Ladies' Night" at the bowling alleys. A souvenir is given each week.

William McLane has accepted a position as clerk with Philip S. Lycett.

Keith's.

For the week of July 5th at Keith's Theatre there will be an all round vaudeville such as has never been given before this season, with one big spectacular feature, "The Boys in Blue," which will be particularly adaptable for the holiday. This is one of the best and largest companies that has ever attempted military manoeuvres on the stage. One of the leading features is a battle in which forts are battered and warships sunk, while the Capt. Duncan T. Smith and George W. O'Dea have spent the past week or more at Bucksport, Me., putting in commission and trying out the power boat which was built by Capt. Smith last fall and shipped there via rail. The boat made 23 miles easily in the preliminary trials and will probably do better than that later. In all other ways she proved perfectly satisfactory. The Captain returned home on Tuesday while Mr. O'Dea is expected back tomorrow.

Mrs. Philip F. Fisher and two children of Rochester, N. H., have spent the past week with Farms relatives. They remain here until next week.

Thomas J. McDonnell made a business trip by boat to Portland, Me., early this week.

Master Arthur Poole will celebrate his 12th birthday tomorrow and a number of his chums will be entertained by him at his home on Haskell street from 2 to 8 p. m.

The St. Margaret's base ball team, composed of boys of the Sunday school between 12 and 14 years, went to South Weymouth last Saturday for a return game and were defeated in a close and interesting contest by a score of 7 to 6. The Farms boys were entertained at dinner in South Weymouth by Rev. Fr. Butler.

On Monday the Massachusetts Railroad Commissioners visited Beverly Farms and with officials of the road and Mayor Trowt looked over the R. R. crossings at Pride's and the Farms not now protected the night through by gates or flagmen. This visit is the outcome of a petition filed by the city council. It is understood that the R. R. officials suggested the installing of gongs similar to that in use at Montserrat, but this did not meet the approval of the mayor. However, the matter will be reported upon later.

A splendid moonlight evening brought added success to the first lawn party of the season which was held on the grounds adjoining the parochial residence on Hale street. The grounds were prettily decorated with colored lights and there were all kinds of amusements—including dancing. The affair was thoroughly enjoyed.

The Sarah W. Whitman club members were the guests of Mrs. Edwin May on Hart street Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Webster, the president, came up from Rockport and presided. The club, next Wednesday, July 7th, will have a day's outing, going to Rockport, where they will be entertained by Mrs. Webster.

Mr. and Mrs. McShane are enjoying a three-weeks' honeymoon, during which they will visit Niagara Falls and Canada.

The contract for the Farms fireworks display on Monday has been let to the National Fireworks Co., of Boston. This year the display will be set off from the end of the West Beach pier, a position from which it will be seen to greatest advantage.

Again the Farms school loses one of its valued teachers. This time it is the principal, Miss Winnie Williams, for at a session of the school committee last Tuesday evening Miss Williams was named to become the principal of the South school in Beverly, with the beginning of the fall term with a salary of $1000. It will be with sincere regret to the Farms scholars and parents alike that this change has come about.

MacDonald, in the executive department, has greatly improved on his predecessors in his methods of keeping the file of bills and resolves received from the great and general court. He has a cloth-bound, loose-leaf file, and on the neat, typewritten pages are grouped each batch as it comes along, with date of receipt and time, even to the minute, when expires the five-day interval allowed the governor before the measure becomes law without his signature—unless he signs or vetoes it meanwhile."

It Hangs On Like a Good Fellow

Just as busy now as we were at the height of the season. Lookers of a month ago, whom we were a little afraid had been enticed away by some flowery story or some fancied advantage, keep coming in, all of the same opinion—the things are prettier, you get them cheaper, you feel yourself safer, by buying of Titus.

Things that are here are the fruits of the labors of the best minds of the furniture world.

No factory without a reputation gets any audience here. No piece of furniture, no matter how simple, but what must have true wearing virtues to be allowed to enter here.

Each and everything we sell you is our daily how-do-you-do to you.

If 'tis pleasing to you you're pleased to think of us—if not, well, if there was such a thing in any one's home we'd crave the opportunity of "your money back for the asking."

NORTH SHORE BREEZE

MANCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, JULY 9, 1909.

❖ Society Notes ❖

From the most exclusive sections of the North Shore society came Wednesday for the initial concert at the Essex County club, and incidently for the house warming of the enlarged clubhouse. There was an innovation in having the band play from the upper verandah instead of on the lawn as heretofore and opinions differed decidedly as to the effect. The fact is, the lawn is pretty much taken up with croquet sets and tennis courts, and by removing the tent usually used to shelter the band, opportunity is given to see the golfers from the house verandah.

It is easier to tell who of the summer colony were not there Wednesday—the fine weather calling out an unusual number. There was handsome Margaret Thomas, all in white with a big blue hat; Eleanora Sears, who presented a decidedly contrasting appearance in her tennis rig,—a tan skirt, long brown hunting jacket, black stockings, white shoes and hatless; Barbara Higginson in white—very dainty; the Ticknor sisters; Mrs. Francis S. Watson, very fetching in black, red and white figured silk, becoming toque of straw, with red velvet ribbon and flowers; Mrs. F. R. Sears, jr., in black; Mrs. Washington B. Thomas in blue and white silk; Mrs. James Jackson, jr., all in white; Mrs. Mortimer Brooks, Mrs. George Lee and daughter Elizabeth, Mrs. Eben Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Boylston A. Beal. Mrs. Lucius M. Sargent and her daughter Mrs. Francis Lee Higginson, jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Babson Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander S. Porter, jr., Mrs. John C. Phillips, Mrs. William J. Boardman, Mrs. Frank Seabury, Mrs. Gordon Abbott and Mary Josephine Amory, who indulged in tennis all the afternoon.

As to the clubhouse! Everybody was pleased with the improvements, especially the newly arranged wing. The wing, which formerly had a place where it shut off much of the view, was raised and rolled around to fit on the end of the main clubhouse, on the street side. A new section was built to join the two houses, which not only lengthened the entire building, but provided for new bedrooms and other space, making the Strains of sweet melody wafting over the village from the balcony of the drive at the Oceanside Hotel every afternoon this week was the last touch needed to give the place that atmosphere of gayety and recreation which so distinguishes Magnolia's summer-season at its zenith.

The Fourth, the hot spell, the music have all combined to make Magnolia blossom as a flower-garden of fashion. The promenades about the hotels in the morning, the beach at noon-day and in the early afternoon, the tea-rooms along toward sunset and the dining halls and music rooms in the evening are so filled with color in all kinds of summer dressings that they seem a thousand-colored poppy-garden in full bloom.

This week has been more than busy at all the hotels. At the Oceanside guests have been pouring in in scores since last Saturday, the Hesperus has experienced quite the same rush and the Aborn has had a patronage much larger than was expected so early in the season. The week-end, the holiday and the North Atlantic battleship fleet passing in full view to its annual manœuvres off Rockport combined to attract sightseers and seekers of rest to Magnolia's summer-gardens.

One of the earliest arrivals at the Oceanside this week were Mr. and Mrs. E. Portela of Washington, D. C. Mr. Portela is the Ambassador from Argentina. They arrived Sunday afternoon and are now cozily settled in Centre Cottage.

Another distinguished Washington guest to arrive was Mrs. C. H. Ackert, who is visiting with Mrs. J. L. Loose in Tonnis cottage. Mr. Ackert is vice-president and general manager of the Southern Railroad Co. He may spend his vacation at Magnolia late in August.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Kerr, Miss Helen Kerr and Miss Mildred D. Haven of Brooklyn, N. Y., are guests at the Oceanside and have taken apartments in Centre Cottage for the season.

Curtis Guild, sr., of Boston, came down this week to spend the season at the Oceanside. Mr. Guild is the father of ex-Gov. Curtis Guild. With him are Miss Marianna C. Guild and Miss Sarah L. Guild. On Tuesday, Courtenay Guild came down to visit with his father.

Meyer has returned to Washington after making a tour of inspection along the New England coast.

HOT WEATHER GOODS

That's Where We're Strong

At our soda fountains we carry a complete line of drinkables of the non-intoxicating kind.

And everything is right up to the top notch of quality. We buy only the best and we know how.

There's a whole lot in that knowing how.

We make our own syrups and put up our own crushed fruit for college ices.

Our soda and ice cream department is not a little neglected side issue of our business. We give it as much and as careful attention as any other department of our business.

And we get the results.

If you wish to find out if the people of Beverly know where to come for the best in the soda line take a look at any one of our three stores any warm Saturday night.

Automobilists

find one of our stores like an oasis in a desert. There they can get the most delicious and appetizing refreshment ere they resume their dusty journey. Ap-polaris, White Rock and other mineral waters as well as Moxie and Ginger Ale are always kept on ice.

This summer we have specialized on Oranageade with the result that we have made hundreds of gallons of it, not only serving it at the fountain but selling the syrup in bottles for home use.

Our Ice Cream is rich and fine flav-ored. We make it and we make it right.

Our Crushed Fruits we put up our-selves so we know what is in them. In season we serve the fresh fruit only on our college ices.

Frozen Pudding and Sherbet always on hand--always good.

We might go on indefinitely with a description of our methods, but the whole sum and substance is this:

We give every detail our careful atten-tion, we have every thing we serve the best that we know how and we make it our business to know how to make the best. If you want the best, the top notch, the limit in the thirst quenching line call on clubhouse vastly more commodious. A piazza was built for the new section to correspond with the prevailing architectural scheme and the piazza platform, on the ground floor, extended the full length of the clubhouse.

ESSEX COUNTY CLUB

Now, the clubhouse is a really imposing structure. The piazza platform is 240 feet in length and about twenty-two feet in width the entire length. There is nothing to impede the view of the golf course at that point, so that the players may be seen on their way to the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth holes, and the vista also takes in the grass tennis courts, to the right, the dirt courts on the left and the croquet and bowls greens. A clock golf putting green has been laid out in front of the house, near the dirt tennis courts, which is an up-to-date arrangement and one that will be appreciated by the golfers.

It was a wonderfully pretty sight Wednesday to see this great piazza thronged with beautifully gowned women; and one was reminded that the Essex County club is more than ever the "Newport Casino" of the North shore. Between the house supporting columns are rattan tables, on which refreshments were served, a number of which are equipped with what is known as an English-umbrella arrangement, so that when the tables are moved out on the lawn there is shade from the sun. There are rattan chairs in plenty, a number of which are of special footless-bottom construction, so that they will not dig into the turf. A number of rattan stools, which look like waste-baskets, make a handy chair to move easily and quickly.

Within the clubhouse there are a number of changes. There are now nine bedrooms, in all, seven of them in the "wing" which was attached to the main house. Two bedrooms were secured from the new part which joined the two buildings, as well as a roomy and tastefully appointed card room. The spacious room in the "wing" which formerly was used for committee meetings has been converted into two more bedrooms and a bathroom. Downstairs in the "wing" and new part is another card room, the library and the old billiard-room.

One of the changes downstairs, resultant from the addition, will be appreciated heartily not only by the members, but also by the steward, John Griffin, an old standby of the club, who has been for thirteen years in general charge of the care of the house and of the cuisine. This change is in the men's lounging and smoking room. All of the space gained in the section newly constructed has been added to this room, making it half as large again. Adjoining it, with folding door connections, is what formerly was the small dining room, now converted into a pretty tea room. The lounging room and tea room, made into one by opening the folding doors, make as excellent a ballroom as any dancer could wish. All the chairs and tables in both rooms could be removed speedily to give place to the dancers. Formerly the main dining room was utilized for this purpose, which meant that the steward and his force were obliged to dispose of a score or more of tables and goodness knows how many chairs on the double quick, immediately after dinner to provide space for the dancers. Now the doors of the dining room, which adjoins the tea room toward the back of the clubhouse, may be closed and the ball start as soon as those in charge wish.

In the ladies' section of the clubhouse only a few changes have been made. The parlor has been entirely refurnished in mahogany, with blue upholstery. It is a spacious room and light and cheerful, for there are windows on all sides except one, giving the sun a chance at practically all times of the day.

For the convenience of the golfers, who, after a round on a hot day, dislike to enter the clubhouse by the main entrance to get to their lockers, for it takes them along the front piazza, a new piazza has been built along the back of the clubhouse. This makes a continuous piazza platform around the clubhouse, which must be more than six hundred feet in length. At the rear of the buffet the piazza is widened to make room for tables and chairs.

Additional lockers have been installed, the new ones being of the ventilated metal type, so that now there are about two hundred lockers in all. President Taft, who has been made an honorary member of the club, will find locker No. 11 ready for anything that he may wish to put in it.

The band concerts will be given every Wednesday afternoon through July and August. A series of dinner dances may be given later in the season.

CHILDREN MAKE EVERYTHING.

They Show Their Interest in Booth for North Shore Bazaar.

As the plans progress for the open air bazaar at Pride's Crossing on July 23rd, in aid of the Massachusetts Society for the prevention of Cruelty to Children, many interesting and novel features are being perfected.

There will be an odds and end booth, which will be especially attractive. It will represent a woodland scene, and fourteen little maidens, daintily dressed, will be in charge, under Mrs. George Scott Winslow and Mrs. John Caswell. For many weeks the children have been hard at work, for everything which they will sell in the odds and ends booth will be of their own handiwork, and will include a large variety of boxes, baskets, bags and sachets. A novel article will be bags of pine cones for use as kindling.

The flower booth will be in charge of Mrs. William C. Endicott, jr., assisted by Mrs. John C. Phillips, Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Miss Hester Lawrence, Mrs. Francis R. Appleton, Mrs. Gordon Dexter and Miss Mary Lawrence. There will be a profusion of fruits, flowers and vegetables of all sorts, the products of the gardens and hothouses of the North Shore. Pretty baskets, such as the Sicilian and French women use, will be for sale, and also the flat English flower baskets.

The bazaar is to be held on the estate of Quincy A. Shaw, jr., at Pride's, and will bring out a large following of the North Shore colony. The program will contain a long list of attractions and amusements. The managers of the bazaar are Mrs. Henry Pratt McKean, Mrs. L. Carteret Fenno, Bernard C. Weld, Quincy A. Shaw, M. Graeme Haughton, Russell G. Fessenden and Charles K. Cummings.

Society Notes

While it may not seem so at first thought, the arrival of President Taft at Woodbury Point, Beverly, last Sunday was the biggest social event so far this season. It was the one event waited for along the whole North Shore to set the social wheel turning. Now that the President's family is settled for the summer on the shore and he will soon be with them, entertainments of all kinds are expected on every side. Mrs. Taft will not enter society much on account of her health. It is understood that she is somewhat better since her arrival at Beverly. She stood the trip from Washington much better than was expected and her first day at the summer house was spent very happily. The younger set along the shore are waiting the arrival of Miss Helen Taft, the President's daughter, who is expected at Beverly tomorrow or Sunday from Lake Champlain where, accompanied by her elder brother, she has been enjoying the tercentenary celebration. Miss Taft will be the guest of honor at many social functions among the younger set this summer.

Miss Marjorie Perrin of Washington, who has been a guest at Mrs. Clarence Moore's, Pride's Crossing, left today for Bar Harbor.

Charles Frye, jr., of Bar Harbor has been visiting George Meyer at Hamilton, the past week. The boys are school mates at Groton. Young Frye is getting along finely after his operation, by which he had to lose an arm, as the result of an accident at Groton.

The baseball game last Monday morning at Mrs. C. J. Rice's estate, Turner Hill, Ipswich, between a team of boys captained by Neal Rice, and one from Beverly Farms, selected from the town's young men, was a very exciting contest. It was won by Mr. Rice's team, 14 to 13. Mrs. Rice that evening had quite a party of young people there for the evening. A majority of the younger set from Wenham and Hamilton and along the Beverly shore went over. Dancing was indulged in, and plenty of fireworks were set off.

An informal polo game was played on the Myopia grounds Monday. The teams were made up as follows: E. Dresel, G. Peabody, H. Tweed and L. Shaw; and F. Prince, N. Prince, J. Proctor and D. Rogers. The game was closely contested and was won by the latter team; the score was not given out.

Miss Margaret M. Kearney, dress-maker, of Boston, is again at 746 Hale street, Beverly Farms, for the summer.*

Robert D. Evans Dead.

Robert Dawson Evans of the Beverly summer colony, died at the Homeopathic hospital, Boston, Tuesday night, from injuries sustained in a fall from his horse while riding through the wood drive between Hale and Lothrop streets, Beverly Cove, a week ago. The horse stumbled on a stone in the road and Mr. Evans was pitched off. At first it was thought that he was not seriously hurt, but an investigation proved that he had three ribs broken and other internal injuries.

While suffering great pain, he was removed to the Homeopathic hospital on Sunday. An operation was performed in the hope of giving relief, but it was futile. Mrs. Evans and her sister, Miss Hunt, were with Mr. Evans when the end came.

Mr. Evans was 67 years old. He

THE BATTLESHIPS IN ROCKPORT HARBOR

The annual visit of the North Atlantic battleship fleet to Rockport has been the center of social interest along the Cape Ann shore for the last week. The first vessel to appear was the Idaho, which spent the Fourth of July in Rockport harbor. From then on until the 7th, one after another of the monsters arrived until finally, Wednesday night, sixteen dark hulks were assembled within view of Old Mother Ann. Before morning they left for Provincetown, on the tip of Cape Cod, where they are now engaged in their annual manœuvres. They will return to Rockport later.

The picture of the fleet printed on this page was loaned us by E. C. McIntire of Gloucester, publisher of the very interesting pamphlet, "Picturesque Cape Ann," which has many views along the Gloucester and Cape Ann shore.

PRIVATE CAR TO RENT

To the Summer Colony, North Shore

Ladies and Gentlemen:—Knowing from experience in former years the lack of opportunity offered to summer residents for renting a high-class automobile I have placed my car and services at the disposal of persons desiring them.

My automobile is a 6-cylinder, 7-passenger touring car of 62 horse-power. It is equipped with wind-shield, top, and the famous Flentze shock absorber, which makes riding in the car like traveling in a Pullman. The tires are new and the machine is prepared for a tour of any distance at a day's notice.

Persons desiring use of the car will kindly notify me at the Masconomo Hotel, Manchester, Mass., at least one day in advance of the desired time.

❖ Society Notes ❖

There were many beautiful displays of fireworks along the shore Monday night, but none was prettier, and no more jollier crowd gathered for the fun than that at Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw's, at Pride's Crossing. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw entertained some friends at dinner and quite a number of young people and older ones, as well, were their guests later in the evening for the fireworks.

Master Henry Higginson, son of A. H. Higginson, is on from Lincoln for an extended visit with his grandparents, Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson, at West Manchester.

One of the smartest hitches we have noted along the beautiful wood drives about Pride's Crossing of late is the tandem driven by Miss Rosamond Bradley. Miss Bradley has been a splendid driver of single hitches for some time, but she has recently taken to driving tandems. Her chestnuts are very familiar to those who seek the cool drives along the Pride's and Beverly Farms section of the shore.

Eben D. Jordan and Miss Dorothy Jordan sailed from Queenstown last Sunday and will join Mrs. Jordan at their West Manchester summer home today, probably.

Mrs. J. T. Merrick and Miss Lou Merrick of Ottawa, Canada, who were visitors at the Ocean View last summer, have returned again this year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. E. Workley and Miss Marion Workley of Mason City, La., travelling through the eastern states, stopped at the Ocean View House for a few days early this week.

A fascinating novelty in the combination of musical instruments, is the Hyperion trio or quartet, ably directed by the mandolin virtuoso, Joseph A. Audet, of 214 Boylston street, Boston. The quartet is available at all hours for receptions, dinners, or any other social function.

Mrs. E. C. Fitch and Miss Helen Fitch, her guest Miss Hussey of Pittsburg, and Conover Fitch are starting on the Eastern Yacht club cruise to Bar Harbor in Mr. Fitch's schooner.

Frederick W. Dewart, Harvard, '90, of Spokane, Washington, who came on to attend his class reunion, has been spending the week with his brother, Rev. William H. Dewart at Manchester Cove. Mr. Dewart is president of the Spokane Harvard Club.

Charlie Taft, who is with his mother and Mrs. Louis E. More, her sister, at Beverly Cove, played tennis and romped around on the lawns of the Montserrat golf club Monday afternoon with little Oliver and Richard Ames, Preble Motley, Harcourt Amory and Francis Amory. Later in the afternoon the young lads went over to Francis Amory's house where Mrs. Amory assisted in further entertaining them.

J. H. P. Brown, whose advertisement appears elsewhere in our columns, is a graduate of the eminent Bergman of Berlin. He has been teaching massage in its higher forms, for five years in Boston. This season he intends to devote more time than in the past to the practice of his profession on the North Shore. Mr. Brown is better known to the summer colonists as life guard and swimming instructor at Crescent Beach.

Orders for same may be left at the Breeze office in Manchester.

Individual Drinking Cups.

The many friends of Mrs. William E. Page will be glad to hear that she is to be in Magnolia after August 1st., to interest people in the game of bridge and skat. Mrs. Page has issued invitations for a series of subscription bridge games to be held at the Oceanside casino on Tuesday mornings in August. Prizes will be given and a cup played for.

Individual drinking cups of paper will be used on the cars of the Boston and Maine this summer. The road has made arrangements to install automatic vendors beside the water coolers in the passenger coaches. These vendors are penny-in-the-slot devices in which are the paper cups, coated with paraffine. These cups can be drawn, one at a time, and after being used, cannot be returned, but must be discarded or carried away. They are absolutely sanitary, and danger of contracting disease is reduced to a minimum. The Boston and Maine is the first to adopt this splendid idea.

The picture of President Taft's summer home on the front cover of this issue is used by courtesy of "Who's Who Along the North Shore," which publication, by the way, is now on the press.

ENGLISH WRITERS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY.

BY D. F. LAMSON.

For a year or more the principal writers of English prose and poetry of the eighteenth century, the Silver age of English literature, have passed in review. With the close of the French Revolution and the Napoleonic wars came a new era, an era of greater humanity, of more generous culture, of fresher life. Literature felt the inspiration of the political, social and intellectual renaissance. The last fifty years of the century especially witnessed a remarkable flowering forth of literary genius.

Some of the older writers of the English language have never been surpassed in their range of thought and the majestic melody of their diction. But the nineteenth century added to the beaurocrat of literary magnates the names of a few worthy successors. With a little help of the imagination the stately procession files before us. We will name them as they pass.

Wordsworth, the apostle of "plain living and high thinking," whose simple life among the dalesmen and whose poetry of the hills have made the Lake country a Mecca of literary pilgrims; and with Wordsworth we naturally associate Coleridge and Southey, making a noted triumvirate.

Walter Scott, the Wizard of the North, at whose wand the ages of feudalism and border chivalry move before us in a gorgeous panorama, dukes, knights, ladies, jousts, battles, sieges, Covenanters and Cavaliers, Crusaders and Saracens, rich with jewels and heavy with armor.

De Quincey, essayist and dreamer, brilliant, discursive, his mind often roaming in a land of visions and phantasmagoria, master of the scenic and imaginative.

Lamb, the "gentle Elia," charming prose writer, full of the milk of human kindness, his misfortunes evoking our sympathy and his genius winning our admiration.

Byron, cynic and misanthrope, magnificent and sensual, leaving behind a glow of splendor in the poetic sky, but living a life that shed a baleful lustre on the page of literary genius.

Macaulay, essayist, historian, reviewer; learned, versatile, brilliant; his fabric too elaborately adorned at times, but always with jewels and not with paste; a writer to be read with judgment on account of his strong prejudices and love of high coloring, but always able and interesting.

And with Macaulay, should be mentioned other great historians of the Victorian age, Milman, Freeman, Froude and Green, and last but by no means least, Bryce of the Holy Roman Empire and the American Commonwealth; writers whose works are monuments of learning and critical acumen.

Tom Hood, the poet of equal pathos and humor, touching the deepest springs of laughter and tears, showing how near to each other are the tragedy and comedy of life.

Robbie Burns, "guiding his plough along the mountain side," singing songs that went to the heart of Scotland and all the world beside, the poet of humanity and every-day life, of Highland Mary, of Bonnie Doon, of the Mountain Daisy, of the Cotter's Saturday Night, of Auld Lang Syne; loving not wisely, but too well, a pathetic figure of genuine but ill-regulated genius.

Dickens, the matchless story-teller of common life, the creator of Little Nell and Squeers, of Sam Weller and Mrs. Gamp, of the Circumlocution office, of Scrooge and Oliver Twist.

Thackeray, the hater of snobs and shams, the portrait painter of the English Humorists and the Four Georges, the eulogist of Cromwell, to be held in grateful memory for the "most lovable of all his characters," Colonel Newcome.

Kingsley, the realistic limner of the times of the mystics and monks, of the Last of the English, and of the age of Drake and the Armada, the modern social reformer, favorite of the court and friend of the workingman.

Tennyson, product of England's best society and ripest university culture; the greatest poet since Milton, marshalling words and images with Virgilean grace, at home alike with the Northern Farmer, the "simple maiden in her charms," and the Knights of the Round Table, filling the ages of myth and romance with living characters, and voicing the heart's In Memoriam of the departed.

Browning, sphinx-like and oracular, an old Greek fallen on degenerate times, the fashionable idol of culture, the despair of superficial commentators, undecipherable often as a cuneiform inscription, but always noble and true.

Carlyle, the great, rugged, gnarled Scot, positive, grim, sarcastic, but not without touches of sympathy, and humor, preaching the virtues of Silence in resounding speech often rising to a falsetto; his passionate rhetoric setting at defiance all the canons of criticism, and yet, despite its volcanic outbursts and Titanic vehemence, compelling admiration by its downright honesty and earnestness.

Ruskin, art-critic, teacher, prose-poet, ethical dictator, who ruled the realm of color and form with almost despotic power, like another Warwick the king-maker, leaving a long trail of light as he vanished out from our sky.

The century was prolific, too, in gifted women who gained reputation by the pen, from Agnes Strickland, Felicia Hemans, Maria Edgeworth, in the earlier years, to Jean Ingelow, George Eliot and Elizabeth Barrett Browning, in the later; many of whom are as well known and esteemed in this land as in that of their birth. In the literary world woman came at last to her own as the peer of man.

There are these, and many, many more; the list is far from complete; any attempt at selection must be more or less a failure. Where the heavens glow with constellations, we can name only a few of the more brilliant stars. Let one acquaint himself, however, with these, and he will have at command some of the richest treasures of our English tongue; he will know wherein the grace and majesty, the tenderness and strength, of the English prose and poetry of the great Nineteenth century lay.

And so ends the series of articles on English literature, extending over the past five years; their publication in book form has been suggested, and if found practicable may sometime be brought about.

"An ideal spot for a summer home" remarked a well-known summer resident yesterday relative to Powder House hill, at Manchester. And we are pleased to announce that a 15-acre lot on the top of this hill, commanding a splendid view of the ocean, is being offered for sale today by M. E. Gorman, real estate dealer of Manchester. Mr. Gorman has many other very desirable properties suitable for summer estates. On the Manchester road to Essex he has a beautiful old farm property of some 60 acres, which has a hill-top that commands one of the finest ocean views on the North Shore. This would make a splendid proposition for one looking for a farm on the North Shore.

E. T. Slattery Co., the Tremont street, Boston, store, is announcing in this issue of the BREEZE a remarkable semi-annual clearance sale, in which it will be seen that some exceptionally enticing bargains will be available. During the sale prices will average 40 to 60 per cent. less than regular.

The Manchester Yacht club was again favored with splendid racing weather Monday, a smart breeze blowing from the northwest. The new course selected gave the boats a broad reach down the shore to a point off Kettle island, another reach to halfway rock and a dead beat home.

There were ten boats out for the sonder class and nine of the one designers. The Sumatra, owned by Francis Skinner, jr., won in the former, while George Lee captured first place for the one designers closely followed by Chas. E. Hodges who had won the three previous races. The summary:

That New Bath-House.

THE farther the season advances, the more plainly is seen the need of a new and larger town bath-house at Singing Beach, Manchester. The present bath-house has served its time. It was built when patronage was small and many considered the daily plunge in the surf a luxury rather than a necessity.

The establishment of the free bath-house, however, brought about a wholly different condition. It proved a great impetus to bathing and Singing Beach became one of the liveliest places in town. In the last two years, patronage of the beach has grown remarkably. The crowds which go in bathing now on a hot Sunday afternoon are far too large to be cared for by the present bath-house without crowding and many other inconveniences.

THE BREEZE today attains the largest size it has ever been—52 pages—a regular magazine. The continued demand upon its advertising columns bespeaks the extensiveness of its field and the esteem with which the publication is met.

THE ANGELL MEMORIAL BUILDING.

The Directors of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and of the American Humane Education Society are planning to erect a Humane Building as a permanent memorial to their late President, George T. Angell. The undersigned have been appointed a committee to consider what style of building would be best. The first point to be considered is what funds may be available, and for the purpose of determining this, we ask that everyone send such sum as he wishes to contribute to Messrs. Kidder, Peabody & Company, 115 Devonshire Street, Boston, or direct to the Treasurer of the Societies, 19 Milk Street. Pledges of subscriptions, payable January 1, 1911, will also be received. Contributions may be made at once.

Mr. Angell always hoped for the erection of a building in Boston in which should be housed both our Humane Societies, and it is earnestly hoped that the interest and sympathy of the public will warrant such a building as other cities possess for similar organizations and one which shall be suited to the growing needs of humanitarian work.

Mr. Angell's work was not limited in its influence to this city or even to this country, where so many societies exist as the result of his efforts. We earnestly bespeak for this enterprise the hearty support of all friends of humanity everywhere. There is now in the treasury of the two Societies $29,000, which has been contributed for this purpose. Future receipts will be acknowledged in a special column in Our Dumb Animals.

All persons desiring information on the subject are requested to communicate with the Secretary of the Societies, 19 Milk Street, Boston. All inquiries will be cheerfully answered.

EDWARD H. CLEMENT, Chairman
NATHANIEL T. KIDDER,
CHARLES S. RACKEMANN.

Committee.

Today, too, marks the largest edition of the paper ever published, as regards number of copies. The BREEZE goes into very nearly every summer cottage on the North Shore from Beverly to Rockport.

In the big crowd on the Manchester common last Monday I saw only one man lift his hat when the band played the Star Spangled Banner, and that was Chief of Police Sullivan.

Whisperings :: :: :: :: Of the Breezes

Sand Agent Horace Standley of the Manchester Park Commission had the right idea when he was called upon by a Beverly man for the privilege of taking a load of sand from Singing Beach to Beverly for his children to play in.

"Bring your children to Singing Beach," said the genial Horace.

According to a vote of the town nobody has a right to remove sand from the beach without the commissioners' consent, and under no conditions can the sand be taken by out-of-town parties.

* * * * *

It has been suggested that on the next band concert night the public would be greatly benefited if seats were provided for them. Why can't the old settees in the basement of the Town hall be taken out on that night? It might cost a couple of dollars to move them out and back again, but that is immaterial compared to the comfort the public would derive from them.

* * * * *

A reader suggests that it is not the fault of "small boys," who leave their horses standing on School street, that is responsible for the trees being killed by horses gnawing them. This party in question knows for a certainty that an express company's horse has killed at least one tree in the vicinity of his house on School street, above Friend court.

Manchester

Edward Wheaton was made happy a few days ago by receiving word that he had successfully passed all his Harvard exams. Mr. Wheaton is the son of Postmaster Wheaton and is the first to enter Harvard from the local High school without first studying at some other institution. He will enter in the fall. It is possible that Willard Rust, who was at Dartmouth the last year, may also enter Harvard as a sophomore in the fall.

The Congregational church has lately had the gift of an ancient deed of a pew in the third meeting house. It is a conveyance from William Raymond Lee of Marblehead to Capt. Samuel Forster of Manchester, and is dated 1789.

Samuel A. Rowe is having a fortnight's vacation from his duties at the Shawmut bank, Boston, part of which he is spending at Lake Winnepesaukee.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To the people who reside within our city:—It seems almost as though it were a waste of ink to be obliged to stand up and blow my horn after being in a city almost 25 years, to tell the public the services I render. Yet it is necessary as so many new comers are among us—I wish to emphasize the fact that I do a strictly first-class Tailoring Business, in all its branches—the best there is in every line and department. My prices are not the lowest, nor are they the highest, for work done. I make it a point to charge the same price I would pay you, did you do the work for me. Nothing can be more square than that principle.

I don't say I will give you a forty dollar suit for twenty, but do say I will give you a dollar's worth of goods or services for one dollar—What more can I do to be just to myself and you. If this announcement appeals to you I would like you to come and see me when in want of Tailoring in any of its many branches.

Hoping you will pardon this brusque statement, but necessity compels it as people seem to run after false ideas and believe anything that some humbug advertises.

The next in the series of band concerts being given on the Common at Manchester this summer by the Salem Cadet Band will be on Thursday evening. Magnolia Garage Burns.

What is supposed to have been the explosion of a gasoline tank set fire to the Kettle Cove garage at Magnolia early Sunday morning and resulted in a blaze which, for a time, threatened surrounding buildings. The flames got such a start that efforts to save the building were futile. The office of the American Express company next-door caught fire and was partly destroyed.

In reporting the fire, a Boston paper criticized the work of the Magnolia firemen, who, it was charged, stood idly about, letting the fire burn, simply because the building was a few feet across the Manchester line. As a matter of fact, the Magnolia department did the best kind of work. They responded to the alarm very quickly and, in very short time, had two streams playing. But for them, the American Express office as well as Willow Cottage and buildings across the road would have caught fire and probably been a total loss. By the time the Manchester department arrived after its hard three-mile run, there was little to be done that could avail. Members of the Magnolia department have received many compliments on their work. John Stanwood of Gloucester owned the building. The loss was $5000.

The Fourth at Manchester.

Manchester's celebration of the nation's birthday passed with much noise and rattle, much good time and little to mar the day. There was more noise and fun-making than for years-gone-by, but thanks to Chief of Police Sullivan and his efficient corps, good order was everywhere manifest throughout the day.

In a public way, the day was spent in various amusements. In the morning there were games and sports, in the afternoon races, and in the afternoon and evening band concerts on the common. The day started officially at 5.30 o'clock Monday morning when the ringing of bells and salutes were heard all over the town.

The sports began at 8.30 o'clock at the Brook street playgrounds. While all the events were interesting, the chief attraction of the morning was the baseball game between the Manchester Juniors and a picked team. The game went nip and tuck for ten innings, when the picked team won out with a score of 7 to 6. The line-ups were as follows:

Manchester: Gillis lf, Moore cf, Walen p, Cool rf, Maslen 3b, Holland c, Cawthorne 1b, Long 2b, Spinney ss. Runs, Gillis, Walen, Maslen, Holland 3. Total 6.

Picked team: Pinette c, Slade p, A. Houghton 1b, Dillon 2b, Gray ss, Hersey rf, Cool lf, J. Gray cf, R. Houghton, 3b. Runs, Slade 2, Dillon 2, A. Houghton, Hersey, R. Houghton. Total 7. Umpire Ralph Stanley. Time 2 hrs. Attendance 500.

The other morning events with their results were as follows:

Broad jump: Won by R. B. Pulsifer. Distance, 18 ft. 2 in. Willard Rust, second; Walter J. Fleming, Joseph Floyd.

Pole vault: Joseph Floyd won with a height of 7 ft. 7 in. William Cook, second; Gordon Slade, Willard Rust, Frank Pinnette, Walter Fleming.

Shot-put: George Dean won. Distance 33 ft. 4 in. Hugh Burke, second; Alex. Henderson.

Quoits: Won by J. McNeil and Otis Lee. William Lethbridge and A. Cool, William Cook and Everett Smothers.

High jump: Won by A. G. McKinnon. Height, 4 ft. 9 in. Willard Rust, second; Walter Fleming.

After noon the scene of celebration was transferred to School street where a number of very spirited races were won off. The events were started at 1.45 o'clock. The results were as follows:

100-yd. dash: Won by R. B. Pulsifer in 11 seconds. C. E. Dodge, second; Alex. Henderson.

In this race Dodge got the lead at the jump and kept it to within a few yards of the line. There he tripped and fell and Pulsifer passed him.

Potato race, (For boys under 12 yrs.): Won by Thomas Walsh, Steven Casack, second; Robert Evans, Joe Coen, Arthur Widger, John Wade.

2-Mile run: Won by Mitchell in 11 min. 4 sec., C. E. Dodge, second; Joe Bradley, Alex. Henderson.

Relay race: (3 men on a team) Won by Sinnicks, McKinnon and Pulsifer in 2 min. 25 sec. William Cook, Herman Swett, Alex. Henderson.

The band concerts, both afternoon and evening drew large crowds to the common. Chief of Police Sullivan made provision that the music might be heard at its best by restricting the firing of fire-crackers or other explosives in the square during the concert hours. In the evening the common was illuminated very prettily with colored bulbs.

The Fourth at the Farms.

Beverly Farms as usual was the rendezvous for hundreds of people on the "Fourth," for the program carried out here is usually of a little more interesting nature than at other place hereabouts. The horse events, perhaps, go a long way toward attracting many people who would otherwise not be interested.

At the Farms, too, more than anywhere else along the shore, the summer cottagers take an active part in the celebration and co-operate with the townspeople in making the day one of enjoyment.

The principal feature of the afternoon were the horse and pony events. Mrs. Thomas Pierce of Beverly Farms, won a cup in the pony jumping with her pet pony "Quail." At the time of the contest it was raining quite hard, but she did not mind that apparently. She was the only woman rider present.

The display of fireworks in the evening was splendid. The rockets and other features of the display were set off from the end of the pier at West Beach and it is estimated that fully 1500 people were on hand for the event.

The Rowley Brass band of 22 pieces, that has been at the Farms on the Fourth for the past eight years, did itself proud again this year. If the band lacked anything in quality it certainly made up in quantity and earned its money. The band hits the popular mark at the Farms, and rightly, too.

Following is the result of the sports:

Boys' 100-yard dash—Won by Edward Hill, Earle Wardell second, Forester Pierce third, William Nolan fourth.

Men's 100-yard dash—Won by John McLaughlin, Leon Pierce second, William T. Chapman third.

Girls' 100-yard dash—Won by Grace Connell, Julia McQuirk second, Mary Nolan third.

Men's hop, step and jump—Won by Thomas Murray, Leon Pierce second, Daniel Neville third.

Boys' hop, step and jump—Won by Edward Hill, Edward Wardell second, Thomas Lawler third.

Boys' three-legged race—Won by Vivert Publicover and Frank Brady, Howard Morgan and Roy Woodbury second, Thomas McDonnell and Alfred Carr third.

Shotput—Won by John McMorrell, John Kelley second, George Dean third.

Girls' obstacle race—Won by Mary Nolan, Gertrude McQuirk second, Margaret Lawler third.

Boys' obstacle race—Won by Howard Morgan, Alfred Carr second, V. Publicover third.

Girls' potato race—Won by Julia McQuirk, Mary Lawler second, Ethel Townsend third.

Men's high jump—Won by Thomas Murray, William T. Campbell second.

Boys' high jump—Won by George Burchstead, Forester Pierce second.

Boys' potato race—Won by Howard Morgan, Seaward McDonald second, Charles Thomas third.

Men's pole vaulting—Won by Arthur Harlow, John McLaughlin second.

Pony jumping, ladies—Won by Quail, owned and ridden by Mrs. Thomas Pierce.

Pony jumping, men—Won by Skiddoo, owned and ridden by Frederick Hostetter; Sally, ridden, by John Barrows and owned by George S. Mandell, second.

Horse jumping, men—Won by Marcids, ridden by Joseph Hicks and owned by Miss Leslie Bradley; Locust Leaf, ridden by George Hall, owned by George S. Mandell, second; Nance, ridden by John Barrows owned by George S. Mandell, third.

Open class horses, jumping for men or women—Won by Colet, ridden by John Barrows, owned by George S. Mandell; Niata, ridden by George Hall, owned by George S. Mandell, second.

High jumping for horses—Won by Highflyer, ridden by Joseph Hicks and owned by D. B. Wentz.

While no "official" event was scheduled for the morning there was something which attracted a large number, — a ball game between the married and unmarried men. The bachelors captured the honors, but not until they had been given a pretty close call by the married men. The score was 25 to 24, which tells a whole story in itself.

The horse events were run off under the direction of Gerard Bement, William H. Seabury, N. S. Simpkins and W. D. Denegre.

Keith's.

Week after week at Keith's big attractions are following each other in rapid succession, the next to come being the famous Romany Opera Company, the largest organization of the kind ever presented in vaudeville,—in fact is as strong as many of the productions that give a whole evening's entertainment. It will include in its present visit most of last season's successes and favorites, Miss Florence Quinn, the wonderful soprano, who made a tremendous hit and more than duplicated it as the leading soloist of "The Red Mill" Company; Sig. Ettore Campana; Sig. Resini and Alexander Bevan, who is still at the head of the organization. For the present engagement an entirely new production has been made under the title of "La Feste di Mezz Agosto." There are no less than sixteen people in the company, and it will be perhaps impossible to get together a company of artists in one engagement at any other time to equal this.

The baseball game between teams made up of Farms' single and married men on the schoolhouse grounds at the Farms Monday morning was a very close contest and furnished no end of fun for the crowd which witnessed it. The game was finally won by the single men with a score of 25 to 24 after ten innings. Alderman Hodgkins was captain of the benedicts. He will try to arrange for another game, when, he says, the married men will regain lost honors.

Farms folk are looking forward to the band concert at Manchester, which will be held next Thursday night. These events are well patronized by Beverly Farms people.

Alexander Carr and George F. Wood who have composed the gardening and florist firm of Carr & Wood at Beverly Farms for some time dissolved partnership this week and have each begun the same business in his own interest.

The comedy "The Country Minister" was given at Neighbors' hall, Beverly Farms, Friday night under the auspices of the gym. classes. The characters in the play were very well taken. Dancing until 1 o'clock followed the show.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Morrison of Hyde Park spent the Fourth with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Publicover and family.

The Highland at Beverly has been the rendezvous for a lot of auto parties who have come up from Boston to see President Taft's summer home. One young woman came all the way from Virginia, she said, to see the place. James Gill, collector of internal revenue in Boston, and Mrs. Gill, were among the guests last week.

Among the guests at the Fairfax, in Beverly, during the past week were Dr. M. A. DeLaney, U. S. A., the White House physician, who will remain during the summer, and Wendell Mis-

A new tennis court at the Fairfax promises to attract a good deal of interest this summer inasmuch as there is none now anywhere near the center of the city. Things are booming at the new hotel and it promises to prosper during the season. Its location, as explained in the adv. in this issue, is in itself a great asset.

Mrs. Susan M. Longworth is expecting her daughter, Mrs. B. A. Wellingford, and Mr. Wellingford and three little sons on from Cincinnati tomorrow to remain the rest of the summer, though Mr. Wellingford, will not spend his whole time here until along in August. This will complete quite a gathering of Mrs. Longworth's family. The Count and Countess de Chambrun are already here, and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth will return as soon as Congress adjourns, which is a very uncertain date just now. Both the daughters and the son, and their respective families, together with the five grandchildren will be with Mrs. Longworth at Beverly most all the summer and many a jolly party will no doubt emanate from this household during the season. "Skerryvore" is the name of the Longworth summer home, which is located near the Mingo Beach section of the Beverly shore.

Mrs. Edward Wigglesworth is leaving Manchester for her mountain cottage at Jackson, N. H., early in August to be gone a month or six weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sargent, received the pleasant news by wireless Tuesday evening that their daughter, Baroness Ludwig Knoop, the Baron and their little six-months' old daughter, were on their way across from England on the Ivernia of the Cunard line, and that they would land Thursday. They have by this time reached Magnolia where the Baroness and little child will remain the rest of the summer. Baron Knoop will return to Tunbridge Wells, Eng., after a few days visit here, to come back again late in the summer for a week or two.

Mrs. Isaac G. Lombard of Chicago, who has been at the Hesperus, Magnolia, for a short stay, has gone to Osterville, Mass., for the summer.

It was a strange coincidence that three prominent railroad men, all known internationally in railroad circles, arrived at the Oceanside in the same week. The first to come was George W. Kittredge, chief engineer of the New York Central lines. With him is Mrs. Kittredge and their two children., George D. Kittredge and Miss Mary H. Kittredge. They arrived in a special car last Saturday and are at the Oceanside for the season. The second man in this interesting trio is M. B. V. Thorne, general purchasing agent for the Harriman system. Mr. and Mrs. Thorne are motoring through New England and stopped at the Oceanside early in the week. Later they go on to Poland Springs, the White Mountains and the Berkshires. The third magnate is Charles F. Cox, treasurer of the New York Central Railroad Co. The Cox family, including Mr. and Mrs. Cox and their daughter have been guests at the Oceanside for several seasons in succession. This year they are accompanied by Mrs. Edwin Brown Jenks of Yonkers, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Low of Fitchburg and Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Wills of Chicago were at the Oceanside for a few days early in the week. They are touring New England in a big automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rathborne of New Orleans have taken apartments for the summer in the Fuller Cottage. They are one of the most prominent families of the southern capital.

Many of the points will be illustrated in clay and plaster before the audience. At his studio in the Library building, Mr. Burnham has just completed a portrait of Julia Ward Howe which many consider the best done in years. This will be on exhibition at the lecture. Among the many features that add to the attractiveness of summer-life at the Oceanside, none is attended with greater interest by the rank and file of guests than the bowling for prize cups offered yearly by the management—for the highest scores in candle-pins and ten-pins. For each set, three cups are offered—one for men, one for ladies and one for boys. The cups are all beautifully designed and are now on display at the candy-counter in the lobby. This year's bowling has already begun and will continue until the end of the season when the cups will be awarded. In the contest for ten-pin prizes, R. Seggerman of New York City leads the men's group with a score of 218. Close behind him is A. C. Culbertson of Boston with 212, F. C. Walker of Detroit, Mich., with 204 and J. F. M. McDonald of Boston with 198. Mr. Walker was the winner of last year's cup in that class and many are eagerly watching for his return to form. Among the ladies, the two highest rivals for ten-pin honors are Mrs. J. H. Walker with 144 and Miss Margaret Crocker with 101. Among the boys, the highest score so far has been turned by R. H. Clapp who made the splendid score of 145. Frank Crocker is hard behind him with 137. The candle-pin contests are equally interesting. For the men R. Hall of Salem has 118 and A. B. Dewey of Chicago, 111; for the ladies, Mrs. Walker has 87 and for the boys, Gurney Ryckman of Toronto has 91 and Gerald Caner of New York, 80. The winning scores last year were as follows: Ten-pins. Men, F. C. Walker 242; Ladies, Mrs. J. H. Walker, 124; Boys, M. Nugent of St. Louis, 171. Candle-pins. F. C. Walker and William V. McDonald of Boston tied for first place with a score of 126; Ladies, Mrs. H. D. Morse, 87 and Boys, M. Nugent, 105.

Much interest is being shown this year in the water sports of the Manchester Yacht club which will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Clubhouse. Many entries have been received for the various events. Tea will be served after the sports.

The regatta committee of the Corinthian Yacht club has notified the Manchester Yacht club that they will have a class for the Manchester one design boats in their mid-summer series on August 11, 12 and 13 and in their open race on August 14.

Miss Eleanor Fabyan's "Lamb" won the one design class race of the Manchester Yacht club last Saturday afternoon. There were five other "one designers" entered, finishing in the following order: Vosettsa, owned by G. Wigglesworth; No Name, owned by A. E. Chase; Solitaire, owned by George Lee; Terrapin, owned by J. H. Storer, jr., and Blue Grass, owned by D. O'Hara.

The patronesses of Miss Amy Grant's three Friday afternoon recitals at the North Shore Grill, Magnolia, are as follows: Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Mrs. Amory Eliot, Mrs. Richard J. Monks, Mrs. Eben D. Jordan, Mrs. Hall McAllister, Mrs. Joseph Sargent, Miss Margaret Corlies, Mrs. Harrison K. Caner, Mrs. C. Howard Clark, jr., Mrs. James Means, Mrs. Henry E. Russell, Miss Fanny M. Faulkner, Mrs. Alfred Tucker, Mrs. Hugh Catherwood, Mrs. F. Harold Brown, Mrs. Gustavus L. Lawrence, Mrs. Walter D. Denegre, and Mrs. W. H. Moore. Miss Grant needs no introduction to North Shore people, as she has appeared in most all the big cities of the country and at the best known winter resorts. She is to present on July 30th, Salome, on August 6th, Pelleas and Melisande, and on the 13th, Electra. Miss Grant presents these operas as readings, with music arranged from the piano scores. The

Dr. and Mrs. Nathan Downes and daughter of Three Tons, Pa., have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pratt McKean at Pride's Crossing part of the last week. Mrs. Downes and daughter came on last Saturday and they were later joined by Dr. Downes.

Miss Hope Ladd of Pittsfield is a guest at Manchester Cove of Mrs. Robert Smithers.

Miss Grace Monks left Manchester a few days ago for a visit with friends at Bar Harbor.

A novelty at the North Shore Grill this summer is an after-dance supper, served at 10.30 o'clock every Saturday night following the regular Saturday night hop at the Oceanside. The first supper was served last Saturday night and was largely attended. The menu is one especially prepared for the occasion, a veritable supper de luxe, and those who attended last Saturday were very hearty in their praise of the innovation. Coming as it does after the dance, the new supper promises to become one of the most attractive as well as one of the most fashionable features of the summer season at Magnolia.

Ex-Gov. Curtis Guild, jr., and his brother Courtney Guild were down during the week visiting their father, Curtis Guild, sr., who is a season guest at the Oceanside.

A large crowd has been at the grounds all day.

With Our Advertisers

There appears to be much keen competition among the cleansers and dyes this season. For years Lewandos have had their teams on the North Shore, calling on patrons. This year Rees & Rees of Boston and New York opened a branch at Magnolia and are catering to the select class of trade. And now comes the Bay State Dye house of Salem and Brookline. They have opened a branch in Magnolia, being located in the novelty shop in the Postoffice building.

The many friends and patients of Mme. Edith Stromblad, the Swedish masseuse, who practiced with such success at Magnolia and Manchester for the last three years, will be pleased to know that Madame is at Magnolia this season. She is staying at the Woman's Club. Mme. Stromblad is a graduate of the Sanders Institution of New York City and Stockholm, Sweden, and uses distinguished methods not duplicated along the North Shore.

A new advertiser this week is Robert P. Walker & Co., one of the best-known jewelry firms of Boston. Mr. Walker, the head of the company, was for 12 years in the diamond department of Bigelow, Kennard & Co. The specialty of the Walker Company is diamond jewelry, a superb exhibition of which they held at the Hotel Preston, Beach Bluffs, Saturday. They come to the North Shore with a stock of goods which rank them very high in the jewelry world. Mr. Walker's patrons in Boston are the most elite of the Back Bay people.

The art of jewelry is one which is understood by few, even among the most cultured; yet it is one which has employed world-famed masters and commanded the attention of kings and nations. Its great cost, perhaps, is the cause which has kept it less prominent than the other arts, yet those who work in jewelry find in the art as much of beautiful color as is found in painting, as much of the sense of delicacy as is found in music, and as much of the subtle charm of lines and proportion as is found in architecture or sculpture.

The revolutions of all kinds of arts and crafts and the remarkable cleavage from old ideas so manifest in the last quarter century, are no more pronounced elsewhere than in the art of jewelry. Twenty years ago every attention was given to the stone—its size, its weight, its wealth of lustre or color, its price—and the forms for settings were fixed and unchanging. The settings were all very plain—the bar-pin, the three-jeweled ring and a dozen other old-fashioned forms seldom seen today—and the jewel was always set in gold.

Today all is different. The great values concerned led to such study, such strife for supremacy, such patient labor for mastery of craft that now the stone itself is perfect—it cannot be improved—and all the study, strife, and labor has been directed toward the setting.

Visitors at Magnolia have a rare chance to see both pearls and settings in their perfection. Dreicer & Co., of New York City have brought to their store in the Colonnade some of the rarest works of art in jewelry to be found in the world. This company has a corps of French jewelers whose workmanship cannot be described. Much of their work has been on designs of the period of the Louis' of France and these with many other designs, the company is now displaying at Magnolia.

Organ Recital To-night.

The organ recital this evening in the Congregational church, Manchester, marks the close of the centennial week celebration, in observance of the 100th anniversary of the building of the meeting house. The recital will be given by Mr. Wallace Goodrich, the noted organist of Boston, who summers in Manchester. The recital is being given to raise funds for the music fund of the church. The tickets have sold well and it is expected a big crowd will greet Mr. Goodrich this evening. The hour is 8 o'clock. Mr. Goodrich gives his services free of charge.

Following is the program:

The fair which started Tuesday evening and continued on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, has been crowned with success. The well-filled tables were "sold out," practically. The entertainments each evening, as announced last week, have been of first-class order, and each has been well attended.

Society Notes

An engagement of interest to many North Shore people is that of Miss Lorraine Roosevelt, the daughter of Mrs. J. West Roosevelt, and Langdon Warner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B Warner.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wyman, who have occupied the Mansfield cottage at West Manchester for so many years, are this year living in a cottage at the corner of Thorndike avenue and Lothrop street, Beverly.

Miss Adele G. Thayer and her companion, Miss Webster, arrived in New York Monday on the Arabic and came at once to Miss Thayer's summer home in West Manchester. They had been abroad six months, first in Egypt, and later motoring through Europe, particularly Belgium and Holland, and then through England. Miss Webster's sister, Mrs. H. H. Goss and Mr. Goss are up from Providence, R. I., for a visit.

The first of the series of subscription musicales arranged by Mrs. Hall McAllister attracted the fashion from all parts of the North Shore to the beautiful summer home of Mrs. Henry F. Sears, (Miss Jean Struthers of Philadelphia) at Chapman's Corner, Beverly Cove, Wednesday afternoon. The musical was held in the spacious music room, where a brilliant company listened while a delightful program was carried out. The artists who contributed were Mme. Rider-Kelsey, soprano; Mrs. Olive Whiteley Hilton, violinist; and Oliver Claude Cunningham, baritone. The next in the series will be at Villa Crest, the summer home of Mrs. Walter D. Denegre of New Orleans at West Manchester on Aug. 11, and the last in the series at Avalon, the summer home of Mrs. Frederick Ayer of Boston at Pride's Crossing on Aug. 25.

Mrs. W. P. Rogers and Miss Browning of Washington, D. C., are guests for the summer at the Oceanside hotel.

George H. Crocker and family of Fitchburg came over to Magnolia this week and are living in the Somers cottage as guests of the Oceanside. The Crockers are one of the most prominent families in Fitchburg.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Stewart of New York City have taken apartments in the Fuller cottage for the season as guests of the Oceanside.

Capt. J. H. Poole, U. S. A., of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Poole are spending their honeymoon in New England. They arrived at the Oceanside early in the week for a 10 days' stay.

J. J. Weil, a wealthy banker of Elmsford, N. Y., has joined his family at the Oceanside. Mrs. Weil and the family arrived early last week. The children are John Weil, jr., Miss Elizabeth and Miss Barbara Weil.

Mrs. George W. Stetson and daughter, Miss Ethel of New York City are at the Oceanside for the summer.

G. E. Howe of Boston spent Sunday visiting his mother, Mrs. Arabella Howe, who is registered at the Oceanside for the season.

One of the most pleasing features of the week at the Oceanside was an entertainment of tableaux given in the music room Monday evening by children at the hotel. The entertainment was entirely in the hands of Mrs. William Hulick of New York City, under whose management it was a great success. None of the tableaux were particularly complicated, but all were executed with beauty and grace and those that did call for extended knowledge of the art, were carried out by the children in a manner very much to their credit. "Summer" was represented by Miss Ethel Moore. An interesting scene from Madame Butterfly was posed by Miss Helen Lansing and Miss Caroline Bonnell. Madeline White presented Diabolo and Rose Hopkins made a stunning tennis girl. One of the most attractive tableaux was that called "An Artist's Dream" by Miss Catherine Huling and William Hulick, Mary Hogarty made a charming Little Red Riding Hood. Three young men who added much to the completeness of the show were Masters Joseph Luke, Luke Hopkins and James M. Hopkins. The show furnished so much enjoyment for friends of the participants and guests at the hotel that others will be given later.

ALONG THE CAPE ANN SHORE

EAST GLOUCESTER

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Overton of New York City are at the Hawthorne Inn for the summer. They have come to East Gloucester regularly for a number of seasons and have always taken an active part in its social life.

Mrs. Edward Vickery of Baltimore, a guest at the Hawthorne Inn, entertained a party of 12 at cards Saturday evening. After the play, a delightful spread was served.

Among the younger set at the Hawthorne this year is Thomas R. Cox of Albany, N. Y., and his sister Peggy. Mr. Cox was prominent in athletics at Cornell from which he was graduated last June. The Hawthorne tennis tournament has not yet started, but, when they do, Mr. Cox will take a prominent part as he will be at the Inn all this summer. Miss Peggy is also active in the social and recreative life about the Inn and has a great many admirers.

Mrs. W. R. Wilson and son, Glenfield of Elizabeth, N. J., are spending the month at the Hawthorne Inn. Mr. Wilson will probably come on toward the close of the month. He is one of the ablest criminal lawyers in New Jersey and has been mentioned of late for a place on the bench.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Goodwin of Houston, Tex., spent the week-end at the Inn. They are spending the summer touring New England.

General Anson Mills, U. S. A., of Washington, D. C., arrived early in the week to spend the remainder of the summer at the Hawthorne. Mrs. Mills has been at the Inn for some time.

John H. McLennan of New York City spent Sunday visiting his mother, Mrs. Alexander McLennan of Louisville, Ky., who, with her family, is living in the Orchard cottage as a guest of the Hawthorne Inn.

There are quite a number of southern people along the Gloucester shore this season. Prominent among those at the Hawthorne is Mrs. J. S. Mayfield of Dallas, Tex. With her two daughters, Miss Beatrice and Miss Marion, she is living in the McCready cottage.

Mrs. Henry A. Hurlburt and Mrs. George D. Bayard of New York City have taken the Wing cottage as guests at the Hawthorne Inn for the month of July.

Prof. Frank Waldo of Harvard University has moved into Felton cottage, one of the Hawthorne Inn group, for the summer.

BASS ROCKS

The first band concert of the season at the Moorland, last Friday night, proved a big social event. Nearly every one of the hotel's 400 guests attended and the casino was taxed to its capacity. By some, who were entertaining guests, the event was made a dress affair and many fashionable gowns were seen. Stiles' band furnished a pleasing program and the heartiness with which the several numbers was received bespeaks that succeeding concerts will be very largely patronized and more or less society affairs. The next concert will be held tonight.

One of the quiet social features of the week at the Moorland was a dinner party to a company of nine, given Monday evening by Mrs. Stephen Gurteen of Skanateles, N. Y.

Mrs. Henry S. Kaiser and Mrs. Charles Goldsborough of Baltimore were also hostesses this week. Tuesday evening they entertained a company of 30 at bridge, which was followed by a dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Weiser of Holyoke, Richard M. Weiser and Catherine and Helen B. Weiser made up an automobile party which stopped at the Thorwald over the week-end on their way north through New England. They will spend some time motoring through the hills of Vermont and New Hampshire.

Prof. William McGuckin of the department of science in the College of the City of New York is at the Thorwald for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. John O. Heald of Orange, N. J., and daughter Elizabeth have returned for another season at Bass Rocks. They are living at the Thorwald. They have come to the Basses regularly for several years.

ROCKPORT

Charles Johnson, a prominent Worcester lawyer and his family, came down to Pigeon Cove early in the week to spend the balance of July. They are cozily settled in the Cummings cottage. On August 1 they will leave Rockport and the Cummings family will take possession of their cottage for the remainder of the season.

Another new cottager just arrived at Pigeon Cove is Henry Brennon of Worcester. The Brennon family is living in their summer house, Rock Cottage, on the point.

Miss Mary Monihan of Worcester has taken the Middle Cottage, Worcester Place, Pigeon Cove, for the summer.

Miss Grace Timlow of Washington, D. C., is a new arrival at the Glen Acre Inn, Pigeon Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bigelow and Mrs. A. B. Kimball of Worcester were at the Ocean View House for a few days early in the week. They are motoring through New England and are now on their way into the White Mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Bishop of Ottawa, Can., who have been at the Ocean View for three weeks, are this week entertaining Mrs. J. E. Graham, Miss Aiken and Miss Lamont of Toronto and Miss H. M. Houser of Ottawa. The Bishops have come to Pigeon Cove for several seasons.

Mrs. F. W. Ford of New York City, wife of Prof. Franklin W. Ford of the College of the City of New York, is at the Glen Acre for the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Thomas of Providence are at the Glen Acre for ten days. Mr. Thomas is largely interested in the manufacture of silverware.

THE text of one of our advertiser's "copy," found on another page of this issue, lends the suggestion that prospective builders along the North Shore, or elsewhere, who have been waiting for lower prices in building material, will be sadly disappointed. Already the prices of about all kinds of building material are on the increase over what they have been and there is every prospect, from what we can learn from those in a position to know, that the prices will be higher during the coming year.

There are, doubtless, many North Shore people waiting for the much talked of "lower prices" before starting to build, or making alterations or improvements in their property. Would it not be well, may we suggest, for such to start their work before the prices go higher.

Business on the North Shore in winter depends much on the amount of building in progress. It would appear advisable to look into this matter keenly and begin building early.

If not Delivery Service in Manchester, Let's Have Few Letter Boxes Says Correspondent.

"If we can't have a free mail delivery system in Manchester, let's have at least a few mail boxes along the shore in the most distant points, where men on bicycles may collect mail from same," is the sentiment expressed in a communication received a few days ago by Postmaster Samuel L. Wheaton, of Manchester.

The letter is anonymously signed, but its contents are of such a nature that Postmaster Wheaton has no objection to the Breeze publishing it.

Incidentally, we might say that Manchester is on the road to free delivery. Postmaster Wheaton is doing all he can to have this established, and, now that the receipts of the office warrant the change, this improvement will probably be added to the local postoffice within the twelve-month.

The letter, undated, is self-explanatory:

"Postmaster; "Something ought to be done to give better postal service in Manchester, for the large number of shore people who live here for six or nine months of the year. It is probably alright for the natives of Manchester, nearly all of whom live near the postoffice.

"Manchester is a large town and could afford a few letter carriers; if not, it can certainly afford a few letter boxes along the main roads and a man and a bicycle to collect twice a day from the boxes.

"Now, all the postal work is done by the private servants along the shore, who do not feel responsible for the mail half the time. The large number of women and men employed in a great many places are on duty from 16 to 18 hours a day, as Manchester has come to be a great social center for the Shore people. These men who go for the mail are tired, or something happens they skip a mail. They say they called. They forget letter in their coat pockets to be mailed and are known to have carried mail for a week through changing clothes.

"The large number of women employed are the greatest sufferers. Some of these women have to walk nearly two miles to mail a letter they want mailed at once, as the men will not hurry for them if there is no mail going for the master or mistress of the house. They will take them, but promptly forget them for several days.

"If it is impossible to afford letter carriers Manchester can afford a few letter boxes and a bicycle in a rich town like this. They do so in other places very much smaller than this.

"Mr. Postmaster, you may not be the proper one to whom to make this complaint; then it must go to Washington.

"Yours Truly
"ONE OF THE SHORE PEOPLE."

Correspondence

While our columns are always open for the discussion of any relevant subject, we do not necessarily indorse the opinions of contributors.

Correspondents will please give their names—not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

To the Editor of the Breeze.
Manchester, Mass.

Dear Sir: In one breath I wish to commend the BREEZE most heartily for its resolute reply to the letter of "Capital" in its issue of last week and to say to the writer of the letter that the objection which he raises in regard to Singing Beach and its patrons is wholly unwarranted. It is ridiculous. If "Capital" thought for an instant that his letter would, in any way, influence public opinion in favor of the town's selling Singing Beach his judgment must be warped as badly as his sense of justice. "Singing Beach is Manchester's and, hotel, or no hotel, will be Manchester's forever." The BREEZE has hit the nail on the head. The consideration of any such sale is absurd. Manchester spent too much money in maintaining its beach rights to sell them off hand to please a capitalist's fancy.

"A NATIVE."

Whisperings :: :: Of the Breezes

"I'm from Missouri—you'll have to show me," is a saying well known in late years. Speaking the other day of the origin of the saying, a Magnolia summer resident who comes from Kansas City, told the following story of two state senators of Missouri who were one day boasting of their qualifications at Jefferson City. One said:

"I am a minister;" the other said, "I am a lawyer, and I'll bet $10 you don't know the Lord's prayer." The money went up and the Missouri clergyman began, "Now I lay me down to sleep, etc." "It is your money," said the lawyer. "I did not believe you knew it. I have not heard it for twenty years."

Special Notice

—TO—
WATER TAKERS.

Office of the Board of Water Commissioners
Manchester, Mass., July 14, 1909.

It is expected that the new standpipe will be filled and the water turned into the mains by WEDNESDAY, July 28. The increased elevation will add about 34 pounds to the pressure, and consumers are warned that all leaky or defective plumbing should be carefully inspected and put in good order, as the added pressure will occasion much waste if plumbing is allowed to remain in bad condition.

Consumers are also warned that under the increased pressure the water will run much faster, and if faucets are left open for the purpose of obtaining cooler water an increase in their water bills is likely to follow.

After the date above mentioned all the water used will be drawn from the new supply at Gravel Pond until the necessary alterations are made at the home station and the new machinery is installed there. Consumers, therefore, may not expect to obtain water as cool as in former years, and, in the opinion of the board, fifteen to twenty seconds will suffice to draw the water as cool as if drawn for a much longer time from almost any service. If the water is allowed to run longer it will result in needless waste and increased expense.

100th ANNIVERSARY OF BUILDING MANCHESTER MEETING-HOUSE

Interesting Services Held Last Sunday. Former Pastors Present and Review Events of Old in Reminiscent Vein.

The services in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the building of the Congregational Meeting-house at Manchester, held last Sunday morning, afternoon and evening, were carried out in accordance with the program announced last week. The day was splendid as far as weather conditions were concerned, with the exception of the heavy shower of the early evening, after the last services had started.

All the exercises were well attended, especially the evening. Many former residents of the town returned for the exercises and to hear of the former days when they were active workers here.

The church was prettily decorated with palms, ferns and cut flowers about the pulpit, while a rope of laurel extended the entire length of the gallery, and potted geraniums occupied a prominent place in the vestibule.

The forenoon services opened at 10.45. The regular morning service was observed, with sermon by Rev. E. P. Tenney, D. D., who was pastor of the church from 1863 to 1867, leaving to accept the presidency of a college at Colorado Springs. The music of the morning consisted of congregational singing, "Sing the Glad Tidings," "Great is the Lord our God," and "Oh Thou whose Own Vast Temple Stands." Fred K. Swett sang "Zion," and the choir rendered as an anthem "The Lost Chord," and as a response, "Our Father."

"Behold I build a house in the name of the Lord, my God," II Chron. 2: 4, was the text selected by Rev. Dr. Tenney. His sermon was largely historical and reminiscent in its character. "The little handful of neighbors," he said, "who built this house 100 years ago, built as well and as wisely as did Solomon, and far better in proportion to their means."

He gave briefly a history of the building of the church and the pastors who have filled the pulpit, referring particularly to the interior of the church before it was remodeled, with its high pulpit, above which was the sounding board, and which was reached by a flight of winding stairs on either side, the deacon's seat in front of the pulpit, facing the congregation, the old square pews which, he said, were built like sheep pens, for the lambs of God. He spoke, too, of the spire with its ancient weather cock, which has been in position for 155 years. It was a question, he said, whether our forefathers put this weather cock on the steeple to show the direction of the wind or to remind present-day

Peters not to deny their master.

He related many incidents and legends of the early days of the building, which from its tall spires was a prominent feature of the landscape, especially to the sailors, and which was used by them not only in finding the channel as they entered the harbor, but as a guide in locating the best fishing grounds.

"This steeple points heavenward, holds up to the neighborhood a conscience regulator; otherwise it would not be worth propping up. One of the most dangerous things in the town is the drifting about of moral derelicts. The chief use of the church is to help brace up men morally. There are many in this town who need the church to guide them on the moral sea.

"Let us commemorate those who built this church by a supreme resolution that the God of our fathers and mothers shall be our God and we shall live as his loving children now and forever."

Afternoon

The afternoon service at 2.30, was opened by an organ voluntary by Miss Jessie Hoare, the organist, following which Miss Josephine R. Lincoln of Boston sang "The Way to Heaven." Prayer was offered by Rev. T. L. Frost, pastor of the Baptist church. The congregation sang "O where are Kings and Empires now."

Rev. L. H. Ruge, the pastor, then made a few remarks. He referred pleasantly to the occasion, and spoke briefly of "the movement of the unseen God among the nations." He said that a study of history showed that religion was the inspiration of history, and the life of any community shapes itself about the church. In these days nearly as much attention was given to church matters by the secular press as by the religious press, and he thought that the power of the press might be the power which would renew and keep alive the interest in the church.

An historical address by J. A. Torrey was next given. Mr. Torrey prefaced his remarks by a quotation from Cotton Mather in his Magnalia, who in a sketch of his friend Rev. Nathaniel Rogers of Ipswich, compared Adam the first Sinner, and Nathaniel the first Believer, each of whom God discovered under a tree.

Another important event which occurred under a tree was the first public worship by the settlers at Jeffrey's Creek, now Manchester-by-the-Sea.

The villagers communed with the church at Salem, whither they repaired by boat or bridle-path. This Sabbath-day's journey being inconvenient, they frequently employed ministers to conduct a home service, in groves or private houses.

In 1656 was built the first meeting house, a primitive structure of logs chucked with clay, with windows or oiled paper and floor of beaten earth. The seats were plain benches without backs. There was a fine of five shillings for non-attendance.

The second house of worship, built in 1692, the witchcraft year. It was an improvement on the previous and furnished with a bell. In architecture it resembled the Old Ship meeting house now standing in Hingham. Rev. John Eveleth was minister at this time, a man of various gifts and abundant labors. He was minister, schoolmaster, farmer, blacksmith and the best fisherman in town. A weekly contribution was taken, the money wrapped about with paper, having the contributor's name inside, a fore-runner of the present weekly envelope.

In 1716 a regularly organized church was formed, nine men and ten women being dismissed from the churches in Salem and Beverly, "in order to their coming into a church state by themselves." Rev. Ames Cheever was called to the pastorate and served worthily for 27 years. He laid the foundations of a church which had so long as a congregation enjoyed only transient preaching and unorganized administration. He was the grandson of Ezekiel Cheever, the famous schoolmaster of Boston.

In 1719 was built the third meeting house which stood for ninety years till the present, fourth house was built in 1809, at a cost of $8500.

It was built partly by subscription, the town contributing half the cost. Exteriously the house retains all its original features. Its beams of sturdy oak seem good for another century. Its architecture, as one of the best types of its period has been much admired. Its open belfry is a feature almost unique. It stands upon the open village green. Its spire is a landmark for vessels entering the harbor. In 1845 the interior was modernized with new pulpit and pews, the Parish was reorganized, and pew ownership relinquished.

It is a matter of surprise that this small village should have built so beautiful and comparatively costly edifice. It must have been in shining contrast to the private dwellings of that day. It was not twenty-five years since the Revolutionary struggle. The loss of life in army and navy and by shipwreck had left many widows and orphans appealing to charity. Pres. Madison's Embargo was a blow to commerce and the fisheries, and a second war with England was impending. Yet the people did not hang their harps upon the willows but thought of God's loving kindness in the midst of the temple. All honor to them who made God's temple

"The honor of our native place,
A bulwark of our land."

Then followed congregational singing of a hymn written in 1897 by Mrs. Joan L. Cunningham, "Kind Father Bend Thine Ear."

Rev. Geo. L. Freeman, a former pastor was unable to be present, and D. L. Bingham, Manchester's oldest citizen, and librarian, who was announced to speak in the evening, made a few remarks at this time.

Mr. Bingham gave some interesting reminiscences of the church as it appeared to him in boyhood, with its deacon's seat, the two benches and the negroes' seats in the gallery, the square pews and the sounding board over the pulpit. His great-grandfather, Captain William Tuck, known as "Squire Tuck," was the chief man in the community, and it was said by a disgruntled member that Squire Tuck had been followed by Major Story and the d—— I would come next. At that time no daily papers were taken in town, and but few weeklies.

His impressions of Rev. Mr. Emerson were most favorable. He was a man of optimistic views and thought the millennium would be reached in about 25 years, when all wars would cease, but how many and what bloody conflicts have been waged since that time. He also remembered the two Taylors who succeeded Emerson.

After a solo, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," very prettily sung by Miss Mears, daughter of Rev. D. O. Mears of Albany, N. Y., Rev. George L. Gleason, pastor from 1869 to 1881, gave the closing address of the afternoon.

Mr. Gleason referred particularly to the wonderful changes in religious sentiment during the last half century, which he characterized as not a change in religious belief, but rather as another phase of religious truth. The Bible in the early years was accepted literally. He referred especially to Rev. Oliver Taylor's creed, to which he could not subscribe even at that day, and instanced where it had been changed to conform to advanced thought. The difference in the methods of church work as shown in the social life of the church showed its desire to adapt itself to the masses of the people.

The Evening Service.

The evening service at 7 o'clock was the largest attended of the day. The song service of the first part of the evening included singing by the congregation of "How Firm a Foundation," "Under his Wings," and "When the Roll is called." Prof. Wonson played a cornet solo, "Panis Angelicus." Miss Lincoln sang "Consider and Hear Me." An original hymn, "Not alone by Cloud and Flame," by Dea. Jos. A. Torrey was sung by the gathering.

The first address of the evening was made by Miss Martha C. Knight, who gave in verse the history of the Sunday school, which was formed in 1810 by four women, Martha Lee, Mrs. Trask, Mary Bingham and Eliza Tuck.

After the singing of "I love thy Kingdom Lord," Rev. D. F. Lamson delivered an address, which showed much careful preparation, on "The Old-Time Meeting House." The paper was interspersed here and there with reminiscences and stories of Manchester in the olden days. Our present church at Manchester, he said, is one of the finest types of church architecture of a century ago, in New England. Its open belfry is unique; only a few such in the state.

While the earlier types of churches were rude and unsightly, they were not more so than the homes of the people, and that they often were superior to the dwellings is shown by the house whose anniversary we are observing. He said that changes in the form of worship during the last 50 years shows the desire to meet the needs of the community.

Prof. N. B. Sargent of Haverhill, formerly teacher here, was the last speaker. After alluding in a pleasant manner to the 25 years he spent in the town and his 22 years of absence, he gave an optimistic address on the desirability of cultivating the beautiful in life, which he believed lived on and on long after the cruel and unpleasant things have been forgotten.

At the close of his remarks, Mr. Sargent sang an original selection, "Manchester-by-the-Sea," and previous to the benediction, sang a solo, "Good Night."

"Manchester-by-the-Sea."

BY N. B. SARGENT.

There's a fair Edenland lying close by the sea,
It has beauty no other can boast;
With its green fertile land and its bright singing sand

With the charm of its rough, rugged coast.
Nature with skillful hand, Art with all her command,

Each has given her best unto thee.
All thy charms we will sing, richest praise will we bring Fair old Manchester-by-the-Sea.

O, I love that rugged rock-bound shore,
Love to hear the ceaseless breakers roar;
But dearer far than land or sea,
Is the love of dear old friends to me.

I have stood on the cliff at the dawn of the day
As the sun seemed to rise from the sea;
I have watched the long path of his bright, golden ray

Coming over the ocean to me.
I have heard the winds roar as the tempest swept by

And the storm loving Petrel fled,
And the waters dashed high in the wild, angry sky,

Softly bathing old Eagle Head.

O, I love, &c

There is beauty that's fairer than bright, sparkling sea,

Or the palace surrounded with flowers;
Or the sweet singing rill from the green wooded hill,

And its pleasure may always be ours.
It will never decay as the flowers pass away,
Or the brooklet is lost in the tide,
It is not work of art, but the beauty of heart
That eternally will abide.

O, I love, &c

North Shore lodge, 68, A. O. U. Workmen, are to observe their 23d anniversary on August 31, with an outing and picnic at Tuck's Point. Members of other lodges, in neighboring towns and cities will be invited to join in the occasion.

Mrs. Lizzie Letteney of Winter Hill, an artist, is stopping at Mrs. Roderick Rose's, Lincoln street, for the summer.

The marriage last Sunday of Charles H. Duke and Miss Gertrude Huinghaus, after the morning service at the Unitarian church on Masconomo street, Manchester, was a very attractive affair. Rev. Roderick Stebbins, who preached that morning, officiated. The Lohengrin wedding march was played as the bride and groom entered the church and marched up to the altar. The bride looked charming in her white hand embroidered waist. She carried a bouquet of white sweet peas, and wore a veil and a myrtle wreath, as is the fashion in Germany, her native country. The groom wore a Prince Albert coat, and a handsome silk brocade vest made by hand by the bride. The single ring ceremony was used. Fraulein Wolters, the teacher, so well known on the North Shore, was the only attendant. After the wedding the members of the congregation congratulated the young couple and wished them happiness. Dr. Duke is well known here as a tutor in French. He will live at Manchester this summer and as a new feature he will give lessons in boating, rowing and swimming as well as in French. In the former sports he ought to be well qualified for he comes of a family of old-time sea captains, whose lives were lived on the water practically.

Two Auto Accidents.

There were two bad automobile accidents at Manchester this week but fortunately no serious damage resulted to the occupants of any of the cars. Monday evening about 6 o'clock Alwin Ball of Rutherford, N. J., who has been visiting Sellars McKee at Beverly Farms, was returning from the Essex County club. In the car with him was Craig Culbertson. As they were going along Bridge street Manchester, near the entrance to the Dr. Fitz estate, the steering gear of the Oldsmobile Roadster got out of order. Fortunately for the young men the car was travelling at only a moderate rate of speed. Mr. Culbertson jumped just before the car swerved to one side and into a large tree, turning over and smashing to pieces. Mr. Ball held onto the handle so firmly that it broke off in his hand when the shock came. He most miraculously escaped injury.

Tuesday two cars came together at the junction of Harbor and Bridge streets, Manchester, and in this case, though both cars were put out of commission, the occupants escaping without injury. One of the cars, No. 23, was registered under the name of the City of Cambridge, electrical department; the other was owned by J. Sherman Wright of Brooklyn, N. Y. In the car with Mr. Wright at the time were Miss Philena Bean and Miss Bean.

Chief of Police Sullivan of the Manchester police was quickly on hand in both cases and did effective work toward looking after the cars and to seeing where the blame, if any such, was to be placed.

The cause of Woman's Suffrage will be espoused on the village green Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock by some of the workers in the cause from Boston. "Why Women should Vote" will be the subject discussed, according to the posters about town.

Mrs. Charles Florence and little three weeks' old son came to Manchester from Newton today and are with Mr. Florence, and Mrs. Florence's sister, Miss Hazel Robbins, at the Furguson cottage, off Summer street.

The members of W. C. Rust's family held a picnic at Tuck's Point Tuesday.

Mrs. George E. Scott is visiting Mr. Scott's sister, Mrs. Frank Bullock, Norwood avenue.

Manchester takes added interest in this year's Grand Army County parade both from the fact that it will be at Beverly, near at home, and that President Taft will be there. Allen Post will have a place in the line and it is expected that a big delegation of townspeople will also go from Manchester. The parade will be early in September.

Miss Abbie Floyd is entertaining Miss Edna Small of Sagamore for a few days.

Mrs. Dr. Stockton of Lancaster has been spending the last week with Mrs. Eliza Leach on Ashland avenue.

The assessors have compiled the list of polls in town on May 1 with description of property, age of resident and residence last year, and have had the same printed and posted according to law.

Charged with assault on his wife, William H. Furness of Manchester was Wednesday sentenced in Salem Court to two months in the house of correction.

Alburn H. Sawyer pleaded guilty in Salem court Wednesday, of violating the automobile law in Manchester and was fined $25. He said he did not think he was going over 14 miles an hour, but the policeman said he was going 25 miles an hour.

The board of assessors of Manchester is now hard at work on its report on the tax-rate for the coming year. It is expected that it will be announced shortly. The assessors of Ipswich have completed their work of valuation and have announced a rate of $16 on each $1000 value. This is a decrease of $2 on last year's rate. The decrease is due to a genuine increase in revenue not to the pushing up of the valuation.

A very pleasant entertainment was given last night at the Sacred Heart chapel in aid of the church. The program consisted of duets by Misses Hen-

House Delivery by Nov. 1.

According to Postoffice Inspector C. H. Pendleton, of Boston, Manchester will have a house delivery postal service probably by November 1 next. The mail will then be carried to every house in the town twice a day, once in the morning and again in the afternoon.

Inspector Pendleton came up from Boston Tuesday morning. With Postmaster Wheaton he went over the entire district estimating the facility with which the mails can be delivered. After the inspection, the Inspector and Postmaster Wheaton came to the conclusion that three carriers will be needed to do the work in a fitting matter and the deliveries will be started on that basis.

The delay in starting the deliveries comes about through the governmental red tape. Inspector Pendleton has to make his report to the First Assistant Postmaster General and the document goes through the hands of many officials before it is finally acted upon.

The Inspector said he was very much impressed with Manchester's beauty and charm as a residence spot.

Take it to Loomis, he'll fix it. *

ANNUAL GATHERING OF YE ELDER BRETHERN

Fair skies again smiled on the Elder Brethren, Manchester's unique organization, on the occasion of its 31st annual reunion, Wednesday. Though there was a cool east wind blowing, the day was pleasant and the 112 "elderlies" who attended the reunion, had a most delightful time.

That these gatherings have become an established event in Manchester is evidenced by the increasing interest each year. Unique in its conception it continues to grow in popularity and is looked forward to each year as an occasion well worth attending. That one has reached the 50th milestone in life's journey is the first and all important requisite to membership. And having reached 50, one must be either a resident of Manchester, must have been born here, or else he must have married a Manchester girl, in order to enjoy the distinction of being a "member" of the organization.

One very noticeable thing about the "elderlies" is the increased interest as one grows older. The older the man the greater the interest. Another feature of it is the anticipation of the man who approaches the 80th milestone. When he reaches this age he is exempt from being "taxed" for the dinner. There were an even dozen that came under this heading Wednesday.

Delucena L. Bingham, the Nestor of the town, Manchester's venerable librarian and oldest librarian in the state, was the oldest man present. Mr. Bingham will be 95 on his next birthday, in November. He was as lively and active as anyone present. William Johnson, 92, was the next oldest, and Jacob Cheever, 90, was the only other nonogenarian. Mr. Cheever has missed only one of these gatherings, and that was one year when his health would not permit him to attend. Others over 80 were: G. F. Allen, 82; Daniel Allen, 81; Amos F. Bennett, 84; Dr. Henry Strong, 83; Jeffrev T. Stanley, 83; Alexander Pattillo, 80; N. C. Marshall, 81; Joseph Knowlton, 83; A. J. Johnson, 88.

Early morning found the "boys" preparing to gather for this the 31st annual reunion, and by ten o'clock they were congregating at the square. Long before noon the barge had conveyed scores of them to Tuck's Point, where hand-shaking and greetings were interchanged. When the chowder was ready at one o'clock there were over 100 present and this number was swelled later to 112. Last year the number was 121.

The chowder is always the most important and most lively topic of discussion on these occasions, and this was no exception this year. The clam and fish chowders were thoroughly enjoyed by the crowd and were pronounced first-class in every particular. Frank H.

Crombie and John F. Babcock prepared the chowder this year and did justice to the tastes of their ancestors of half a century ago who used to assemble at this same spot for their chowder dinners in the course of the summer. Chowders disposed of, the tables were cleared and President Allen called the gathering to order. Speechmaking was next in order. Previous to this, however, the business was disposed of. Mr. Allen, in calling the gathering to order offered his congratulations that the elderlies was again permitted to assemble and exchange hand-shaking and greetings and review the different exigencies that had occurred among them. He expressed the hope that the younger ones would take up the work started and keep the organization in existence after the older ones had departed. He was optimistic enough to think that the younger ones would step in and that the organization would always be continued.

The secretary, W. J. Johnson, reported that ten deaths had occurred during the year: John Lendall, Wm. H. Allen, David Butler, John Baker, F. A. P. Killam, Paul Stanley of Manchester;

John T. Goldsmith and Orange R. Taylor, of Beverly; Captain Charles E. Grover of Gloucester, and Edward S. Dow of Lynn. Mr. Johnson reported that the total receipts of the last year were $65.20, the expenditures $62.40, leaving a balance for the year of $2.80, and a total on deposit of $177.77.

The officers of the last year were re-elected. This makes the 31st year that Mr. Allen has been elected president of the organization.

A vote of thanks was extended to the young men who had served as waiters.

Deacon J. A. Torrey was the first called upon for remarks. He said it had been claimed that you can't make people virtuous by legislation, nor temperate by statutes, but there was one place where this would not bear out. He put his thoughts into verse with "Utopia" as the subject. The prison was the place where the above assertion would not prove true.

D. L. Bingham spoke in a reminiscent vein, and told several stories. Manchester was hard to beat, he said. He could remember when there were no sidewalks in the town, when the population was made up of fisher folk and there were no summer homes here. He did not think there was a more desirable town in the county to live in, natural beauties, attractions, etc., considered.

County Treasurer David I. Robinson, a native of Manchester, referred very pleasantly to what he remembered of Manchester in his early days. He thought it was a grand thing to be able to gather each year on an occasion of this kind.

Dr. Ames of Chelsea was called upon and gave a very interesting account of his recollections of Chinese life and of a particular Chinese viceroy, showing the tyrannical spirit of these rulers.

Rev. Mr. Franks of Salem expressed his pleasure at being able to attend the gathering and Rev. Dr. Clark amused the elderlies with a gist of funny stories. Rev. Mr. Gardner of New York City gave a bright speech, referring pleasantly to the good derived from such a gathering, and of the pride Manchester people should take in such a grand good place as this in which to meet and review the days of old.

Rev. Mr. Frost of the Baptist church also made some remarks and told several very amusing stories.

Francis M. Stanwood, Hon. Augustus

Rantoul, Alexander Pattillo, Captain Collins of Gloucester, and A. S. Jewett were others who responded. Mr. Rantoul, particularly, gave a decidedly interesting account of personal interviews which he had with Lincoln, and gave his impressions formed of the great statesman.

Berry—Mackinnon.

At Webster, Mass., last Saturday, July 17th, occurred the marriage of Albert Ivery Berry and Miss Sadie Mackinnon, both of whom are well known in Manchester. The groom was here last year, having charge of part of the work in connection with the installation of the new water supply. The bride is a sister of Mrs. Charles J. Morgan of Lincoln street, whom she has visited very often. Mr. and Mrs. Berry went to Niagara Falls on their wedding trip. They will live at Webster for the present.

Flowers for Little Ones

The Boston Journal has inaugurated a novel feature for the little children of Boston. It has established a Flower Day, when flowers may be brought to The Journal representatives and will be distributed by them to the little ones of the city. The Journal has secured the cooperation of the clergy of greater Boston, the suburban newspapers, the florists and the good people at large.

DRUGS

We wish to call your attention to our drug department and to our facilities for supplying either the common household remedies, or for filling physician's prescriptions.

Our line of drugs, fluid extracts and chemicals is very complete and in the names of the makers will be found such names as Wyeth, Parke Davis, Squibb and Merck, names which a physician recognizes at once as synonymous with quality.

Besides the regular common drugs and chemicals we have a large number of the rarer and less frequently used drugs and medicinal preparations so that we are prepared to fill any recipe or prescription with promptness. In those few instances where it is necessary to send away for any article or medicine we obtain the desired medicine in the shortest possible time.

In addition to our line of drugs we carry in stock a large line of physician's and surgeon's supplies, such as cotton, bandages, surgeon's plaster and other emergency goods. Our stock in this line consists chiefly of Johnson & Johnson's goods.

So if you are in need of medicine or sick room supplies call at the nearest of our stores and you will find your wants will be quickly and properly supplied.

The quartet of colored young men from Atlanta University will sing at the morning service in the Village church next Sunday.

The annual Sunday School picnic will be next Wednesday. Salem Willows will be the objective point. The barge will leave Stanley's corner at 9 o'clock. All of the village children with their parents are invited. The fare for adults will be seventy cents, children free.

The annual fair held by the Ladies' Aid society took place at the Oceanside last Wednesday afternoon. The management, with its usual hospitality, threw open the parlors for the use of the ladies and did everything in their power to assist them. The sales were not quite so large as last year, but were good. The Junior society had a children's table, the proceeds from which are to go to fitting up a children's club room. This table was in charge of Mrs. Martha Harvey and Miss Amy Lycett, assisted by the Misses Ruth Scott, Susan Lycett, Dorothy and Beatrice Story, Azubah Mullen, Ruth Symonds and Edna Symonds. The fancy table was presided over by Mrs. F. F. Story, Mrs. A. M. Lycett, Mrs. E. L. Story, Mrs. Jos. R. Crispin, Mrs. J. H. Wilkins, Mrs. W. R. Boyd. The candy table had its usual display of tempting sweets, which were sold by Mrs. F. S. Lycett, Miss Grace Story and Miss Mary Boyd. The flower table was the handsomest the fair has ever had; Galvin of Boston, Wm. Spry and Magnuson & Hylen joined with the cottagers who have gardens in sending beautiful bunches of cut flowers, which were beautifully arranged by the young ladies in charge: Misses Margaret Crocker, Isabella Wadsworth, Helen Wheelock, Phoebe and Elizabeth Adams.

For a number of years the event of the summer season has been the engagement of the Fadette Women's Orchestra, and this summer they return after an absence of two years. Boston has always taken particular pride in this splendid organization, without question the greatest woman's orchestra in the world, and one that is as popular in other cities as it is here at home, even more so. Since their last appearance here, Mrs. Caroline Nichols, the director, and her band of young women have toured the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and in the far West they proved to be as big a sensation in a musical way as they have been in the East. The orchestra is peculiarly identified with Boston. In fact it is their home city and is always associated with their title, no matter where they happen to be, and at Keith's the place of their first great success, they will be seen and heard at their best. This season they will give a series of popular concerts both afternoon and evening before the regular vaudeville performance.

• Society Notes •

The first of the two dinner-dances at the Essex County club this summer, held on Wednesday, proved the most brilliant function of the season. In every way the affair was a success. It was well attended, the dinner was splendid, the dancing went off well, the music was fine and everything was most conducive of a good time. Plates were set for 174 persons, and this number was increased after dinner when a number of others came in for the dance. The interest shown reminded one of the old-time enthusiasm, when these dinner-dances were big social events in the life of the club. Already the next dinner-dance, less than a month away, is being looked forward to with a great deal of interest. Wednesday evening, Aug. 25, is the date of the next party.

The tables were beautifully, though not over-elaborately decorated with flowers cut from gardens along the shore. Sweet peas, roses and dahlias formed the principal part of the table decoration. The colored incandescents hung among the trees and about the piazza gave a pleasing touch to the decorative effect.

To say who was not there of the North Shore colony would be a much easier task than enumerating those who were there. The whole North Shore was represented and many had guests from out-of-town for the occasion. There was nearly a score of jolly parties entertained at the various tables. Mrs. Eben D. Jordan had a dozen or more at her table, mostly young people; Mrs. Lester Leland had a party of twenty-two at her table, young men and women, the buds of the season; Mrs. Washington B. Thomas had another party of young people; Mrs. Boylston Beal had ten of a dozen at her table; Mrs. Walter Denegre was another hostess; Mr. and Mrs. Amory Eliot had a table; Mr. and Mrs. S. Parker Bremer, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Tucker, Mrs. Bryce J. Allan, Mrs. William H. Moore, Lewis Hancock and Sig. Cora were among others who were hosts and hostesses. All in all it was the most jolly crowd that has been at the club in years. Miss Helen Taft and her brother, Robert, did not attend the dinner, but they came over from Beverly for the dance.

Magnolia's summer season is at its height. is needed to keep the visitor in a continued state of gaiety.

The month near at hand will bring still other recreations—two big ones looked forward to. First comes the annual tennis tournaments on the Oceanside courts, beginning Aug. 10, then later in the month, on Saturday the 28th, comes the annual horse show and races on Crescent Beach. Both events promise to be every bit as popular as in years gone by and will undoubtedly draw the fashion from all along the shore.

Great interest is at present manifested in the tennis tournaments. The entry blanks are being sent out today and must be returned by August 7. On that day the players will be matched and it is absolutely necessary that all who intend playing signify their intention by that time. It is estimated that 75 players will compete this year.

The events will be men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles and mixed doubles. The judges were announced this morning as Samuel S. Stevens, Reginald Kennard and Caldwell Walker. The prize for the tournament will be the Oceanside Tennis Cup, won last year by Edward Dana. The order

ANNUAL HORSE SHOW AND RACES

Society Event at Crescent Beach, Magnolia,
Promises to be the Best in Years.

The annual horse show and flat-hurdle races on Crescent Beach, Magnolia, promise to be the best held in years. The date set is Saturday afternoon, August 28, at 2.30 o'clock and it is safe to say that, when that hour comes round, the hundreds who gather at the beach to see the sport will find an array of class and fashion, both in horse and man, such as has not been seen along the North Shore in many a day. The complete entry list is not yet ready, but it already contains the names of many of the clearest horses, horsemen and horsewomen in all New England. Messrs. Joseph H. Collins and J. H. Coulter, who are managing this year's show, have done their utmost to secure horses and riders of class and distinction and their efforts have been abundantly rewarded. The big success which the show will undoubtedly have will be due entirely to their effective management. The complete entry list will be published in The Breeze as soon as it is completed.

The judges of the show have already been chosen and all have signified a willingness to serve. They are Dr. Samuel A. Hopkins, Gerard Bement, and George S. Mandell, master of the hunt at the Myopia Hunt club.

The events will be as follows:

- I Children's Saddle Class—for children under 15 years.
- II Ladies' Runabout Class.
- III Ladies' Driving Competition: Contestants to drive through obstacles to be chosen by the judges, form to be considered.
- IV Ladies' and Gentlemen's Saddle Class: Horses of any height. Must show good manners and paces.
- V Sporting Tandem. Wheeler must have bone and substance. Leader to be unharnessed in the ring and shown over jumps about 4 feet high.
- VI Ladies' and Gentlemen's Jumping Class. Conformation and performance to count.
- VII Race for Galloways. One-fourth Mile. A Galloway must be under 15 hands.
- VIII Flat Race. One-fourth Mile Dash. Horses of any height.
- IX Hurdle Race. One-fourth Mile over three jumps about 3 feet, 6 inches in height.
- X High Jump. Bars will be placed at 4 feet, 6 inches for the first trial, then raised 6 inches between trials until the winner is announced. In the event of any horse beating the Magnolia record of 6 feet, 3 inches, (now held by Westminster, of Newell Bent's stable, South-

Mr. and Mrs. Boardman are having a few friends with them over the week-end, at Windcliff, their Manchester home. A dinner party will be given tomorrow night at which covers will be placed for fourteen or fifteen.

The tennis tournament which occupied the boards at the Montserrat Golf club courts last week was brought to a close Saturday with some brilliant play. The big feature of the afternoon was the finals in the mixed doubles, in which Miss Eleonora Sears and N. S. Bartlett, jr., pluckily defeated Miss Lucy Blair and C. M. Amory with a score of 6-4, 6-4.

:: At the Hotels ::

One of the most pleasing entertainments of the week at the Oceanside was that given Wednesday evening by the Actor's Child League of New York City. Under the direction of Miss Nellie Whipple, the travelling manager of the troupe, the children put on a very pretty show. For the most part it was made up of child songs and folk dances, but every piece was carried out with a cleverness and grace that showed long and careful training. The Child League will always be welcome at the Oceanside. The League is a society organized in 1907 to care for and educate the children of touring players and to assist, in every other way possible, the orphan and needy ones. At present the headquarters are at 14 West 104th street, New York City. Miss Whipple, the present director of the children, was for 15 years director of the Dorothea Dix Hall, a similar organization in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Furst of Newburgh, N. Y., stopped at the Oceanside early in the week on a touring trip through New England to Poland Springs and the White Mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. John Philip Souza, jr., of New York City are at the Oceanside for the month of August. Mr. Souza is a son of the world-famed bandmaster and composer.

F. K. Seggerman and family of New York City are at the Oceanside for the season. With them as their guest is E. L. Young of Jersey City.

Miss Hattie E. Blair of Brockton is spending a week at the Oceanside as a guest of Mrs. W. F. Robinson of Boston. Mr. Robinson is a director of the First National Bank of Boston.

Alfred G. Phillips, jr., of Philadelphia is spending the summer with his sister, Miss Elizabeth Phillips, at the Aborn. Mr. Phillips is a student in Technology, Boston, which he attends daily.

At the Hesperus this week are Mr. and Mrs. George H. Wheelock of Kansas City. They are very prominent socially in the west. While at Magnolia they are guests of Mrs. E. W. Smith, also of Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Rike of Dayton, Ohio, are at the Oceanside with their family for another season. They are living in the East Cottage as guests of the Oceanside. Miss Virginia Rike, a favorite among the guests at the Oceanside, is their daughter. They also have two sons with them, David R. Rike and Master Baird. Late in the season, the Rikes will be joined by Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Farnham of Chicago.

GLOUCESTER DAY PAGEANT.

Afternoon Military Parade, Pageant at Night.
Transportation Arrangements.

With Gloucester Day but four days off and the preparations for the coming of the President, the big naval and military parade in the afternoon and mammoth presentation of "The Canterbury Pilgrims" at Stage Fort Park at night all but completed, there is every indication that the event will easily be the greatest ever held on the North Shore, both from a social and other points of view.

A good deal of inquiry has been made as to the general program for the afternoon and evening and the preparations for transportation of the great crowds which will attend on that day. Promptly at 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon the military and naval parade will start, moving on Main street. It is expected that over 3000 men will be in line made up of sailors from the battleships which will be in the harbor on that day, the Boston Lancers and other military organizations. The parade and the events connected with it will be in progress until 4.30 o'clock. The evening program, comprising the pageant at Stage Fort Park will begin promptly at 7.30 o'clock. It will last until 10.30 o'clock.

In order to handle the large crowds, the Boston & Maine has arranged for an elaborate schedule of special trains. Beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning, 8 special trains will be run from Boston to Gloucester. Beginning at 11 o'clock at night, special trains, limited in number only by the demand in traffic, will be started from Gloucester for Boston. These trains will connect with the trains for Portsmouth, Newburyport, Ipswich and all points east. The trains will leave every eight minutes. Reduced rates will prevail.

At the present outlook success is assured. The demands for seats has been so great that the seating capacity has twice been enlarged and it is known now that over 21,000 spectators will see the pageant.

The judges of the pageant is published in these columns exclusively for the first time:

Society Notes

Miss Dorothy Hancock has returned from a visit to Lake Champlain and brought with her Miss Louise Witherbee and Silas Witherbee who will be her guests for the next week. The Hancocks are at the Clafin cottage, Beverly Cove, this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Ward are leaving Manchester the middle of next week for Jeffray, N. H., where they will spend the balance of the summer at "The Ark," one of the delightful country estates in that place. They will return to Manchester in late September for a few weeks before opening their town house. During their absence "The Lodge," their cottage on Sea street, will be occupied by Dr. and Mrs. Charles Inches of Medfield.

Ambassador Jusserand, of the French embassy at Washington, and Mme Jusserand, who in past years have at times been numbered among the North Shore summer colony, sailed for Europe on Thursday, from New York. During the absence of the ambassador, the French embassy will be directed by M. Lefevre-Pontalis, charge d'affaires, who with others of the embassy, are leaving Washington the latter part of this week for Manchester, where they are to spend the rest of the summer.

Among the many auto parties traveling the Cape Ann Shore during the week was one made up of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bickford, J. E. Whitmore and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carter of Malden. They stopped at the Ocean View House over Sunday.

John Peyer, the manager of the popular automobile excursions from Magnolia, has just issued a neat pamphlet entitled "Seven Selected Automobile Tours from Magnolia Along the North Shore, with a Number of Shore Pleasure Trips." The pamphlet tells in detail the characteristic scenery along each of the beautiful trips as well as the time necessary to make each tour. The pamphlets may be had free by addressing Mr. Peyer at the Manchester House, Manchester. Mr. Peyer has changed his stand in Magnolia and now has his cars on the vacant lot at the corner of Hesperus and Lexington avenues, between the Hesperus Hotel and the Oceanside.

WAS A BIG SUCCESS.

Open-Air Bazaar at Pride's Crossing Attended
By Thousands.

In spite of the unfavorable conditions which the weather brought about, the open-air bazaar for the benefit of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children on the estate of Quincy A. Shaw, jr., at Pride's Crossing Friday and Saturday of last week was a big success socially and financially. The weather doubtless kept many away, but, for all that, the fashion came from all along the Shore, stayed long, bought much and, when they departed, left a profit of $13,200 in the tills of the bazaar.

It is estimated that fully 5000 attended the bazaar. Those who attended the first day were so hampered in their shopping by the rain and drizzle that the management decided late in the afternoon to continue the bazaar over Saturday. On that day the weather proved fair and the crowd which attended made the bazaar the biggest social event on the North Shore so far this summer.

Pompey's Garden was admirably suited for the bazaar and the decorations were made to harmonize. The wooden booths were covered with boughs of evergreen, spruce and cedar and each had a distinctive bow of ribbon set among the greenery. The women attending the booths were attractively gowned and, at the different stands, each set of attendants wore hats of distinctive color, though all were of the big picture type with paper ornamentation.

The stock for sale included all kinds of household articles, vegetables and provisions, bric-a-brac, fancy novelties and art goods. Besides these, there was cake and candy and beautiful flowers freshly cut from nearby gardens.

Among the attractions the Marathon race and the African dodger were particularly popular. In the Marathon race, a multitude of little dolls dressed in various costumes from French gendarmes to Japanese porters were made to roll down an inclined plane and patrons found great fun in buying chances on which would first reach the bottom.

A constant popping of rifles was heard all day about the shooting gallery where men and women tried their luck at the targets. Next door was a cane and knife board where many threw rings for very desirable prizes with varying luck. Among the children the Punch and Judy show was perhaps the most attractive. Shouts of laughter came from the interior of the tent throughout the day. Near the Punch and Judy show was a large marquee, under which the Salem Cadet band played during the afternoon.

One of the most striking points about the African dodger was the "barking" of H. LeBaron Russell. Mr. Russell had general charge of the side-shows, but spent most of his time inducing patrons to try a throw at the dodger. He was dressed up as a Cockney coster and to see him was to laugh. Mr. Russell made a big hit at the Holm Lea bazaar at Beokline last year when he appeared as an Italian "hokey pokey" man.

Though rainy, the day was warm and there was no place better patronized than the fishing pool and soft drinks booth. At the latter booth, a bunch of American beauty roses, frozen in a solid cube of ice attracted much attention. The ice was clear as glass and showed off the flowers splendidly.

Society Notes

Chaplin Travers of the U. S. Army at West Point has just finished a two weeks' visit with Rev. and Mrs. William H. Dewart, Manchester Cove, and has gone on to Bar Harbor.

At the request of many of the fashionable patrons of the North Shore Grill the management has established two new features which promise to make the Grill even more of a social center than it has been for several years past. The two features are shown in detail in the North Shore Grill adv. on another page of this issue and comprise two special dinners, one,—the diner populaire—for Saturday evening, when the parlors and music room at the Grill will be gay with dancers, and another,—a supper de luxe—for Sunday nights. The interest already shown in the innovations predict that they will be well patronized by society from all along the shore.

Mrs. G. W. Raines, Miss Ramsdell and Miss Heard of Newburgh, New York, are at the Oceanside for a short stay on their way to Maine, where they will spend the remainder of the summer.

With Our Advertisers

Daniel Low & Co., jewelers and silversmiths of Salem, will hold an exhibition and sale of their wares at The Hawthorne Inn, Monday, Aug. 23, and at The Moorland, Wednesday, Aug. 25.

Brainard B. Thresher, an amateur goldsmith, who has produced work which attracted national attention within recent years, is showing a fine lot of his designs made up in all kinds of pieces at Miss Anne Abbott's studio-gift-shop in the library building, Magnolia. Among the pieces on exhibition at Miss Abbott's shop are some of the best that Mr. Thresher has turned. Throughout his work, the artist has shown an unequalled ability for using metals and other substances, such as ivory, horn, wood, stone and jewels—in harmonious combinations that are the wonder of those who see them.

The unprecedented success which attended the special sale of table and bed linen at the Grande Maison de Blanc in the Colonnade, Magnolia, this week, has induced the manager, Arthur Raymond Brown of New York, to continue the sale for another week to give the many North Shore patrons of the store another opportunity to purchase a perfect line of linen goods at a great reduction. One of the largest sellers this week has been the fancy dinner napkins which, at the reduced prices, went like hot cakes. Several specials in towels, sheets and pillow cases promise to be a close rival, if not the leading seller during the coming week.

One of the most artistic displays of jewels to be found at Magnolia is that of William T. Shepherd of 543 Boylston street, Boston, who has recently opened a branch store in the Donchian Building, Lexington avenue. Mr. Shepherd makes a specialty of old jewels and has some rare specimens not to be found elsewhere. He has just returned from his 22d tour of Europe and has brought back with him a superb line of artistic curios, such as old Venice silver and stuffs, Italian carvings in candelabra, crests, mirrors, Holland brasses and coppers for bungalows, curious wrought iron pieces, old lanterns, old boxes, samplers, censers, fonts and bells.

To enter Mr. Shepherd's shop is to have the mind drawn back to vivid representations of all the periods of European history. The place bids well to be one of the most popular shops at Magnolia.

William L. Price and Lewis G. Larus of Richmond, Va., are registered at the Harbor View House for the month of August. Mr. Larus is prominently connected with one of the largest tobacco manufacturing companies in the south.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wood Poinier, Miss Poinier and Miss Elizabeth Woodruff of Newark, N. J., are at the Harbor View House for the remainder of the season. This is the ninth season that the Poinier family has spent on the Gloucester shore.

Henry Bollman of Cambridge and St. Louis, Mo., is registered at the Harbor View House and is taking an active part in the tennis tournaments just started on the Harbor View courts. Mr. Bollman was graduated from Cornell university last spring. He was one of the expert tennis players of the university squad.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Green and Miss Lucile Green of Trenton, N. J., have taken rooms at the Harbor View for the remainder of the summer. Miss Lucile is a devotee of the golf stick and is often seen on the Bass Rocks links.

Major R. L. Banks, U. S. A., of Albany is a guest at the Hawthorne Inn. The Inn has had an unusually large patronage of army and navy folk this year. Maj. Banks is one of the latest arrivals.

Mrs. C. H. Van Brunt, Miss Carrie and Miss Jessie Van Brunt of Boston make up a touring party motoring from Boston to the White Mountains. They spent the early part of the week at the Hawthorne Inn.

Judge Phillips of Kansas City is at the Hawthorne Inn for the season. The Judge has been a frequent visitor at East Gloucester for the last several years. He thinks there is no place like the Gloucester shore.

Among the guests at the Hawthorne Inn this week are Mrs. E. K. Cole and son of Port Royal, S. C.; Mrs. F. L. Snow of New Bedford; I. D. F. Lansing, E. W. Visscher, Albany, N. Y.; Mrs. B. Franks and child and Mrs. L. Sonbrand, New York City; C. E. W. Grinnell, Boston.

A pleasing social event at the Hawthorne Inn this week was a birthday sailing party given by Lieut. Commander G. F. Cooper, U. S. N. and Mrs. Cooper for their son Lowell who passed his 12th birthday Monday. A large party of friends enjoyed a three-hours' sail around the harbor and some distance out to sea.

BASS ROCKS

Bass Rocks is enjoying the busiest season it has had in years. The hotels are filled, so that applicants for rooms are turned away daily. The cottages are filled from Eastern Point to Long Beach and there is an activity about the place that predicts that Bass Rocks is to become another Magnolia.

(Courtesy Who's Who Along the North Shore)

EDWARD ROTAN'S RESIDENCE, BASS ROCKS.

In a society way the Thursday evening dances at the Thorwald and the Friday evening band concerts at the Moorland are the biggest things going. There has been no entertaining at all this week at either of the hotels, the guests seeming to prefer beach and bluff and fishing stream to anything in doors.

Hotel trade this week was largely transient. Among the early arrivals at the Thorwald were Mrs. Lewis Sperry, Miss Elizabeth Noble and Miss Alea S. Roe of Hartford, Ct. This is their first season at the Basses. They are greatly impressed with the beauty of the spot and will likely return for coming seasons.

Mrs. George H. Russell, Miss Alfreda Russell and Miss Marion Russell, representing one of the first families of Milwaukee, Wis., are guests at the Thorwald for the remainder of the summer.

At the Moorland this week are Mrs. E. L. Hersey, St. Paul, Minn.; John A. Gray, Syracuse, N. Y.; L. B. Runk, Mrs. Herman Harper, Mr. and Mrs. B. Wolff, Philadelphia; P. W. Chase, W. E. Chase, Malden; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Hall, Hartford, Ct.; Nelson W. Pickering, U. S. N., Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Bleak. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Downing, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy, Virginia Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gordon, Boston; E. C. Mulvey, Worcester; Susan M. Pomeroy, Haverhill.

Among the week's arrivals at the Ocean View House was Charles E. Hibbard, ex-Mayor of Pittsfield, Mass. He and N. B. Sargent of Haverhill are making a short stay at the Cove. Mr. Hibbard is a prominent attorney for the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company.

About all the Pigeon Cove summer colony are in their cottages for the summer and the influx of all save the transient guests and the 10-day vacationists has all but abated. The transient guests continue, however, to come and go, and the hotels and many of the cottages where rooms are let by the week report an unusually busy season. At the Ocean View House, applicants for apartments have been turned away during the last week.

The Glen Acre Inn is having its usual large patronage but still more guests are coming. Among those expected within the next few days is Lieut. Com. J. R. P. Pringle of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis who, with his wife and daughter, is coming to the Glen Acre for the month of August. Commander Pringle was formerly on the battleship Maine.

Frederick J. Brand, president of the Boston Board of Aldermen, and Mrs. Brand were guests of Charles E. Hoyt and Miss Emily Hoyt of Dorchester at the Ocean View House over the week-end. Mr. Brand is a likely candidate for the office of Mayor of Boston.

Arrivals of the week at the Glen Acre were Miss Marion Blood, Miss Clara A. Blood, Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. George E. Thomas, Providence; Miss M. H. Crawford, Miss S. P. Baham, Philadelphia; Mrs. Fayette Smith, Greenfield; Miss Mary E. Pettis, Washington, D. C.

THE Boston Journal of July 23, contained "A Passing Inquiry into Beverly History," in which it is roundly asserted that Cape Ann legends are comparatively few in number," with special notice of the fact that L. G. Drake in his book on New England legends was "hard pressed to make more than passing mention of Beverly." Perhaps this may be explained by the fact admitted in the same article that Beverly was a part of Salem until 1688, a time covering nearly the whole of our legendary period. The North Shore as a whole from Beverly to Rockport, as well as Essex County at large, furnishes an interesting field for the collector of legends. Perhaps this is sufficiently evidenced by Whittier's poems; a few instances are enough, as The Garrison of Cape Ann, The Witch's Daughter, The Prophecy of Judge Sewall, Skipper Ireson's Ride, The Swan Song of Parson Avery, Cobbler Keezar's Vision, The Double-headed Snake of Newbury; many more might be added contained in allusions as well as whole poems. Longfellow's Wreck of the Hesperus and Holmes' Broomstick Train will occur to everyone. The History of Manchester by our former townsman, D. F. Lamson, refers to many legends that belong to the old fishing days, and almost all parts of the coast have their store. The old legends are fast disappearing in these days of electric and autos.

"The great eventful Present hides the Past, but through the din
Of its loved life hints and echoes of the life behind steal in;
And the love of home and fireside, and the legendary rhyme,
Make the task of duty lighter that the true man owes his time."

The fling at the "summer capital" is rather cheap wit; Beverly had a worthy history before the President took up his temporary abode there, and it may be presumed will have a worthy history after the President and sightseers and hangers-on depart.

It is up to Manchester boat owners to get busy on the harbor illumination to be held on Thursday evening, Aug. 12. While this is being run under the auspices of the Manchester Yacht club it is by no means exclusive. The club wants everybody who has a boat or craft of any sort, from a canoe up to a steam yacht, to enter the procession of decorated boats. Why is it Manchester people do not show interest in these events? This water pageant can be made a big mid-summer event for Manchester. It means a great deal to the town. Wake up boat owners! Rig up your dory, your motor boat, your sail boat. Be in line even if you have only a half a dozen Japanese lanterns strung around your boat!

THE Gloucester chauffeur who says the fire, which did $12,000 damage the other night, was caused by a spark struck out from a spoke in the car by a monkey wrench, setting fire to some gasoline spilt in his pocket, is a pretty ingenious sort of a fellow. At any rate there was a fire, the chauffeur was badly burned, $2500 damage was done to a garage, a $9000 touring car was ruined and lots of excitement resulted.

MEMBERS of the diplomatic corps who are on the North Shore this summer are exempt from the operations of the speed law. And for the convenience of the authorities their number plates will bear the letter "D." The real meaning of this will be "diplomatic," but the North Adams Transcript thinks that to those who have to dodge for their lives it will stand for another term.

"Who's Who," on the North Shore.

The 1909 edition of "Who's Who along the North Shore" is the most profusely illustrated North Shore Publication ever issued.

Beginning with an excellent reproduction in colors of the president's summer home on the front cover, the inside brings to view a dozen of the finest photographic reproductions of this beautiful territory. Besides these there are scores of reproductions of prominent summer cottages along the shore.

The real value of the book, however, lies in its vast amount of information concerning the North Shore.

Every person owning or leasing a house on the shore is in the book, with complete information as to his location on the shore, his winter residence, his business address, his line of business and firm name, besides giving the wife's name before marriage and names of children in the family.

Besides there is information as to hotels, train schedules, mail schedules, etc., for every town on the shore.

There is also a complete roster of the membership of all the leading clubs of the North Shore and lists of the steamers, schooners, yachts and launches owned by the members of the yacht clubs.

A unique feature is a list of over 200 residences that face the water front between Beverly Cove and Magnolia, prepared with much care as to description, so that one can sit in a launch with book in hand and readily distinguish the names of the owners of the different estates.

It is well gotten up and makes a very attractive volume for summer use. It has a large circulation among the shore residents. It is published by the Salem Press Co., Salem. Copies may be procured at the North Shore Breeze office, Manchester.

The most up-to-date hurdy-gurdy we have seen this season struck town Wednesday afternoon. Not content with having a horse pull the machine about this modern minstrel had a hitch large enough to stow his whole family away, and presumably he is living in this manner. Besides his wife the fellow had three small children and the family dog. Not only was the hitch a fit subject for the scrutinizing eye of the agent for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, but also for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Cloth Hats at E. A. Lethbridge's. adv

Has anybody lost a parrot? An unusual thing to have advertised in the "lost" and "found" column of a paper! Yet, such an adv. will be found in this week's classified adv. column of the BREEZE. Caretaker F. F. Brasch of the McMillan estate is the finder of this unusual "find." He was attending to his accustomed duties at Eaglehead Wednesday morning when from yonder trees came distinctly, "hurry up," "hurry up," "hurry up." Now Mr. Brasch is a man who doesn't have to be given any such advice. He listened and again came the admonition to "hurry up," "hurry up," "hurry up." He was bound to find out who in time was trying to "jolly" him in this manner and started in the direction of the speaker. He hunted around a while and was about to give up when again came the voice, "hurry up," "hurry up," "hurry up;" and by this time Mr. Brasch's good old German blood was up. He'd find out who would talk to him that way. He hunted a while longer until finally, on the edge of the lily pond, he discovered, perched in one of the trees, a beautiful yellow breasted bird, with handsome long tail, plumage of yellow and a sort of green and blue tinge. It was a parrot. The next thing was to get him. For an hour and a half Mr. Brasch tried to catch the lost bird and finally landed him. Mr. Parrot is now caged up at Eaglehead and the owner may have him by applying to the caretaker.

When the time approaches for Manchester to have free delivery mail service there will be many young men ready to take the civil service examinations for the positions of mail carrier. As stated in last week's BREEZE the service will probably be put in force by the first of November, and in all probability there will be three carriers, though it may be decided that two will be sufficient for the winter. It is customary for the examinations for mail carrier to be given under the direction of the civil service commission, probably at Gloucester as the examiner of this district is connected with the Gloucester P. O. We understand there are a number of local young men in line for the jobs.

HANDICRAFT SHOP FOR THE BLIND.

A Story of Work for Blind Women. Stuffing Dolls' Legs a New Occupation.

To find varied, interesting and profitable work that may be done by blind women is one of the standing puzzles of workers for the blind everywhere in the world. The workers who are interested in the little "Handicraft Shop for the Blind" on the village green at Manchester say that they "want more than anything else in the world, suggestions both for new articles for which there is a demand, which they might add to their stock of things made by the blind, and suggestions for wholly new occupations." The most unique thing being tried this summer at Manchester, is an experiment in stuffing dolls' legs, for the newly patented hot-water bottle doll known by the name of Patty Comfort and other attractive names. One of the young women in the shop is busily engaged in all her spare time turning these little cloth legs, stuffing them with cotton and catching them with a thread. Later they are invested with stockings and slippers and become a part of a most attractive doll. The work is really much simpler than that involved in the more familiar products of the home work of blind women, the machine-sewing on aprons and towels, the knitting of sweaters and helmets, processes in which the blind for life are trained from the beginning of their schooling and in which some become very expert. In the case of women becoming blind later in life, there is another problem, that of learning to do without sight what they have done so easily with sight. Such teaching as this was first made possible in Massachusetts by the voluntary efforts of women graduates of the Perkins Institution and seeing workers of the school, who themselves offered to teach blind women and later financed and helped towards the sale of the home-work of blind women which they had brought to such a high degree of excellence. In fact, one of the most interesting things in the whole field of work for the blind is the ideas and volunteer service which they themselves have given for the benefit of the group as a whole. In the case of home-work new ideas are an especially great contribution because so many women, both those blind for life and newly blind, must find occupations to be followed where they live.

The shop occupations for blind women have also been everywhere, equally as great a problem, involving as they do not only the question of occupation but of self-support for women wholly dependent on their own earnings. In many countries there are not shop occupations open to blind women. Brush-making and machine-sewing are much followed by women in shops and institutions in England, and there is also shop work in basketry and cane-seating. So difficult is it to add to this list, that the Massachusetts industry for blind women of the hand-weaving of art fabrics has attracted wide-spread attention, both because of the beautiful results which have been such an interesting feature in the revival of interest in handicraft, and because weaving has proved to be a process perfectly done without sight, and an occupation healthful and interesting to blind women, especially since they have taken part in inventing the raised designs which are woven into the art-fabrics. This work is daily demonstrated at the Handicraft Shop for the Blind on the village green, by a totally blind weaver, who is employed throughout the rest of the year at the Cambridge shops of the Massachusetts Commission for the Blind.

Another Auto Accident.

Another bad automobile accident, with nobody injured, occurred in Manchester on Tuesday of this week. Just before noon I. A. Mekeel of New York, who summers at Magnolia, was going up Beach street, from the Manchester station, and was rounding the corner by the postoffice. Only he and the chauffeur were in the car, a 1909 Packard.

As the car reached the top of the hill and was about to turn into Union street, toward the center of the village, another car was driving along Union street toward Gloucester.

It was evident that the chauffeur of the latter car did not see Mr. Mekeel, for he did not slack his pace, say those who saw the accident.

It looked as if the two cars must come together, and they would have collided had not Mr. Mekeel decided instantly that it would be better to smash his own car than run into another and possibly cause a loss of life. There were two ladies in the other car. Mr. Mekeel took a wide turn so as to escape a collision and in so doing he ran his Packard into the curbing in front of the McNeil house smashed the right forward wheel to kindling wood, and caused minor injuries to the machine. Mr. Mekeel proved the hero of the occasion for no one was injured, though he himself was thrown

GRAND WATER PAGEANT.

Annual Procession of Decorated Boats, and Harbor Illumination to be Held Thursday Evening, August 12.

The next event of general interest in Manchester is the water pageant on Thursday evening, August 12. There will be a procession of decorated boats, canoes and floats and the approaches to the harbor, and water front will be illuminated.

The pageant will be held, as usual, under the auspices of the Manchester Yacht club, and will be open to all yacht clubs and residents of the North Shore. "All are cordially invited to enter, however simple their decorations," says the circular sent out by the club this week.

It is to be hoped that the citizens of Manchester, both "native" and summer residents, will take hold and make this affair a thorough success. The Manchester Yacht club has taken the initiative for several years, and each year the parade of boats has been better. This year ought to surpass them all. Everybody who has a boat ought to be out.

The circular sent out by the club says: "Entries in writing, giving the approximate size of boat, must be received at the Clubhouse by noon of Thursday, Aug. 12, in order that the committee may make suitable provision for towing. Two or more owners may, if they desire, enter jointly.

"Bow and stern lines must be provided by all competitors for making fast to the main tow line.

"The start will be made promptly and all competitors must be ready near the Fenton Company's wharf at seven o'clock.

strongest that could possibly be secured, but in addition, the Fadettes, augmented to forty, are giving a popular concert preliminary to the regular show.

Next week there is an attraction that is bound to cause a lot of comment. It is called "A Night in a Monkey Music Hall." It was brought to this country especially for the Keith circuit, and for the last few months has been the biggest kind of a sensation on the Hammerstein Roof Garden in New York. One of the largest monkey companies ever brought together, and all of them trained to give an entire performance, without any humans on the stage, they have a stage on a stage, something after the manner of "A Night in a English Music Hall," with a monkey orchestra, and a leader who is as great in personality as Souza and makes all kinds of fun. There are monkey card boys who appear between the acts and a number of star features in the vaudeville section, including a monkey heavy weight lifter, a trapeze performer, a juggler, a clown and a number of others, all of which are amusing.

OLD HOME WEEK IN SALEM.

The Cruiser "Salem" Lends a Touch to the Occasion. Silver Service Presented. Brilliant Illumination Monday Evening.

SILVER SERVICE PRESENTED THE "SALEM."

Salem's old-home week has been the center of attraction and chief topic of comment along the North Shore all week long. The appearance of the new scout cruiser Salem, last Saturday afternoon, the right to go aboard her as she lay in the harbor Sunday and the grand illumination of the Willows and Juniper Point on Monday night were events which attracted hundreds from every part of the shore and the nearby inland towns. It is estimated that, on Monday night, 50,000 people saw the illumination.

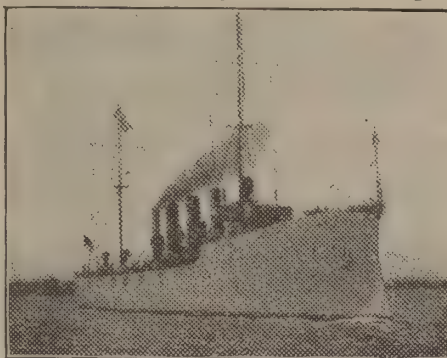

A larger crowd was never known to assemble at this well known resort. And all along the Beverly shore hundreds of people gathered to see the display.

The Salem lay off the Willows and was ablaze from stem to stern with electric lights. The President's yacht, the Sylph, was also brilliantly lighted and Larz Anderson's yacht, off the Beverly Shore, was in dress for the occasion. The search lights on the Salem did some wonderful work and demonstrated to the thousands of people on shore the power of these big lights.

Launches galore lay off the willows all the evening.

One of the most interesting events of the week came Tuesday afternoon when Mayor Hurley, in behalf of the city, presented a handsome silver service and other presents to the officers and crew of the Salem. With the service went a bronze seal of the city, a big phonograph with a multitude of records, and many scores of small gifts from the city and private citizens. After the presentation, the officers were entertained at a banquet at the Salem club by the Salem Marine society and the East Indian Marine society. Commander Key of the Salem was the recipient of a handsome marine clock. Later in the evening the officers were entertained at the Now And Then club.

The beautiful silver service, a picture of which accompanies this article, was designed and manufactured by the firm of Daniel Low & Co., Salem, who make somewhat of a specialty of designing and manufacturing articles to order. The money which paid for the service was raised by a ten-cent subscription.

Manchester

Joseph Crateau, a young lad of eleven years, had a close call from drowning this morning. With Edward Goldthwaite he went in swimming at Black Beach, alongside the West Manchester station about ten o'clock. He evidently went out beyond his depth for he was seen to throw up his arms and sink, by George Sanborn, baggage master at the railroad station. Sanborn and Ned Johnson, coachman for the S. V. R. Crosbys hurried to the beach, pushed off a boat and went to the spot where the boy went down. They could see only one of the lads arms among the sea weed in six feet of water. They pulled him from the water and sent hurry calls for the doctors. Dr. Tyler was the first to arrive. Sanborn and Johnson and others meanwhile had worked over the unconscious form of the boy and he had regained consciousness. He was hurried to his home on Vine street in an automobile by Arthur Merrian and at last accounts was getting over the effects of the accident.

Following a morning of sweltering heat, under which even the hardest could not help complaining, a refreshing thunderstorm broke over Manchester and the North Shore late this afternoon, giving the parched ground a much-needed soaking and longed for comfort indoors and out. On the farms along the Shore, the rain was especially appreciated as it was sorely needed to put the crops in proper condition for harvesting.

New Compressed Air Fire Alarm Whistle Installed.

Within the last week the fire alarm whistle at Manchester has been moved from its location at the pumping station to the tower of the engine house in the center of the town. In making the change the vote of the town was carried out, to the effect that a compressed air system be installed. This has been done and in so doing Manchester has taken another step in providing itself with an up-to-date equipment.

A room in the corner of the engine house, formerly used for storage, has been fitted up and in this the compressing equipment has been installed. This consists of three large tanks, one of which is used directly for the whistle, and the other two as reserve pressure tanks.

It was planned at first to install electric motor as power, but on account of the price which the local company was going to charge for this, it was thought best to install a water motor.

So a Pelton Water Wheel was put in. This is set on a concrete foundation.

The water which passes into the "wheel" passes through a 5-8 inch nozzle. The motor is self operating. When the pressure in the tank, which is set to 110, drops to 95 the governor starts the motor and the motor runs ten or fifteen minutes until the pressure is brought back to 110, and it stops itself automatically. Under ordinary conditions at the present time the motor would have to "get in its work" about once every thirty hours. It requires absolutely no attention. It is self oiling and the man in charge of installation told the BREEZE man a few days ago that the door might be locked and the machinery left to itself for six months.

The tank is guaranteed to be good for 100 blasts, but will under ordinary conditions go to 150. The whistle will sound at 45 lbs pressure, but to get the best results it should be 75 to 100.

The same whistle as used before is installed with the new equipment. This is an eight-inch chime whistle. It is claimed that a 45 lb. air pressure will do the service of 75 pounds of steam, as in the case of steam the condensation interferes with the tone of the whistle.

The system installed is known as the R. W. LeBaron system. The contract price with Mr. LeBaron was $2175.

Take it to Loomis, he'll fix it. *

WATER SPORTS.

Annual Event of Manchester Yacht Club a Grand Success. Much interest Taken.

The annual water sports of the Manchester Yacht club held last Saturday afternoon drew out a large crowd, especially from the younger members of the summer colony from all along the Manchester and Beverly Shore.

The sports this year proved a grand success, both from the number of people on hand, from the number of contestants and from the manner in which the events were run off. This was due largely to the committee of arrangements, William L. Putnam, John H. Storer and James Means. Mr. Storer was master of ceremonies. The judges were William A. Tucker, Harrison K. Caner and A. Henry Higginson.

A touch of color was added to the occasion when the mammoth new cruiser Salem passed in the outer harbor, a mile away, on her way to Salem.

Young Charlie Taft was one of the most active boys competing in the races. In the walking the pole contest his fancy costume was very catchy. He made a good make-up as Rufus Rastus Johnson Brown.

The first event was walking the pole, in which the participants wore fancy costumes. Jack Merrill, dressed in a blue silk gown, with parasol of same color, took first prize, and James Means, as a pink baby, took second. Lloyd Means won first prize for distance walked on the pole. Charlie Taft walked out eleven feet on the pole before dropping off into the water. Other contestants were Roger Putnam, representing a Hindoo maiden; John Lavallo, clown; T. G. Rice, jr., Indian; Samuel Mandell, farmer; Lloyd Means.

The senior canoe race was won by two young men from Bass Rocks, G. P. Sargent and S. H. Ayer, jr. Robert Storer and Melville Weston were second. Other contestants were Frank Wigglesworth and C. S. Ayer, Clarence Clark and Norman Mackie.

The junior canoe race was won by James Means and Oliver Church, Jack Caner and Tad Rice coming in second. Charlie Taft and Sam Mandell, finished third and Jack Merrill and Lloyd Means, fourth.

The tub races as usual, offered a great deal of fun. Theodore Storer finished first in the first heat, with Charlie Taft second. Jack Merrill won the second heat, and the cup was awarded to Storer on time. The other contestants were Lloyd Means, Jack Caner, S. P. Mandell, Tad Rice, J. Lavallo, A. E. Kennedy, jr.

The boys' swimming race, 50 yards, was prettily contested. The boys lined up on the Khalifa, W. A. Tucker's yacht, fifty yards away from the float and at a signal they all jumped overboard.

It was nip and tuck between Tad Rice, Charlie Taft and A. E. Kennedy. Rice finished first, Kennedy, second, and young Taft, third. The other contestants were Jack Caner, John Lavallo, Lloyd Means, Theodore Storer and Jack Merrill.

The senior swimming race was won by G. P. Sargent, F. Sargent, second. The other contestants were Clarence Clark, S. H. Ayers, C. S. Ayers, Oliver Church, Frank Wigglesworth, James Cabot and Robert Storer.

A life saving exhibition by some of the boys was very amazing. The prize was awarded to Roger Putnam and Theodore Storer. Sam Mandell and Jack Caner won second place.

The diving contest was one of the prettiest features of the afternoon. Each contestant was given four chances—standing, running, back and fancy. The cup was awarded to Frank Wigglesworth. G. E. P. Rice won second and S. H. Ayer, jr., third.

Comical in the extreme was the canoe tilting by pairs of boys in canoes. The canoes started towards each other at full tilt, with one man in each canoe standing, with long stick in hand, on the end of which was a heavily padded head. The first man to push the other overboard was the winner. G. P. Sargent and S. H. Ayer, jr., won the prize in this event. They won first from Robt.

T. P. Storer and Melville Weston, and then from Roger Putnam and Oliver Church.

The canoe polo match was won by the team composed of Robert T. P. Storer, Melville Weston and S. H. Ayer, jr., 4 to 0. The losing team was composed of A. P. Sargent, F. Wigglesworth and S. W. Sargent.

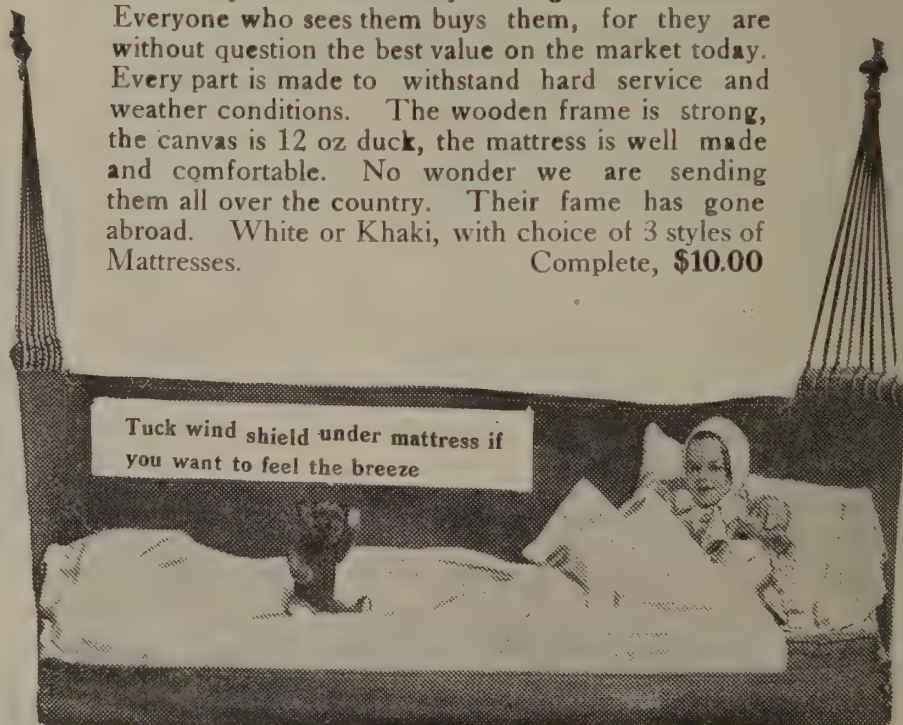

An exhibition of fancy diving, from a stand twenty feet high, was given by Captain Arthur T. Saddler of the Terminal Boathouse, Riverside. J. B. Green of Brookline gave a splendid exhibition of fancy swimming and diving.

Tea was served after the sports, Mrs. C. Howard Clark, jr., wife of vice commodore Clark, Mrs. William Lowell Putnam and Mrs. James Means having charge of this. Prominent among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ezra C. Fitch, Mrs. E. C. Fitch, jr., Miss Marion Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ward, Mrs. Gordon Abbott and children, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hodges, Mrs. F. T. Bradbury and her brother George R. White, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Storer, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Read, Miss Charlotte Read, Mr. and Mrs. George Wigglesworth, Mr. and Mrs. Norton Wigglesworth, Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Boardman, Mrs. E. A. Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Grew, Miss Amie Clark.

The organ recital given by Mr. Wallace Goodrich at the Congregational church last Friday night was well attended despite the threatening weather. Many members of the summer colony, and townspeople attended and heard a program of highly classical music by Mr. Goodrich. From a financial standpoint, too, the recital was a success, a goodly sum being added to the proceeds of the week, this being the closing event of the centennial week celebration. The total receipts of the fair and recital figured very nearly to the $700 mark.

Charles Lovegreen of Manchester was one of the enterprising motor boat owners that did a hustling good business at Salem the first of the week taking passengers and sightseers from the mainland to the battleship Salem anchored off the Willows.

Mrs. Laura Johnson.

The sudden death last Sunday night of Laura, wife of Albert Johnson, a resident of Bridge street, West Manchester, was one of the saddest deaths of the year in Manchester. Mrs. Johnson was only 36 years old, apparently in good health, and she leaves a family of five children, the oldest of whom is eleven.

Last Sunday night she retired as usual about nine o'clock. About 11.30 she called her husband and complained of being ill. Dr. Blaisdell was called immediately, but before he arrived, twenty minutes later, she had passed away. She died of heart failure.

Mrs. Johnson was born in West Newbury, 36 years ago, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morse. The five children who survive her are Helen 11, Burton 6, Arthur 7, Lloyd 5, and Velma 3. The oldest of the family Laura died two years ago. A husband, Albert Johnson, also survives. Mr. Johnson is in charge of the Smith's Express Co. route in Beverly Farms.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at her late home on Bridge street, the Rev. Mr. Wood of Newburyport, officiating. The body was taken to Newburyport and interred in the family lot with the late daughter.

To Mr. Johnson, who is thus left with five young children, the loss is especially hard. The sympathy of the community goes out to him.

The new concrete standpipe was filled the first of this week, though the water from it has not yet been turned into the mains. The new pressure will be used probably beginning next Monday. As soon as the new system is in use the machinery at the old plant on Vine street will be stripped and the new, up-to-date gas producing engines, pumps, etc., such as is in use at the Gravel Pond station, will be installed. The new standpipe, which is of concrete throughout, one of the few in the state, is acting splendidly. It is estimated that not more than a barrel of water per day leaked from it,—an exceptionally good showing when it is considered the capacity of the reservoir is a million gallons. After a week or so standing it will be almost absolutely water-tight.

William H. Beebe of New York is visiting his uncle James A. Murray of Summer street.

The street department has now treated all the main thoroughfares of the town with a coating of tarvia, from the Beverly line to the Gloucester line, with the exception of Central street and Union street. Washington and North streets and the residential portion of Lincoln street, has been done the last week, and the last to come in for treatment is School street from North street to the upper end of the street. Summer street has been gone over its entire length. Some 24,000 gallons of the tarvia have been used in doing the work, thus far. The good effect upon the roads is very apparent. What the lasting effect will be remains to be seen.

The old Sacred Heart church was sold at auction on Wednesday. The purchaser was M. J. Callahan who purchased the building for $525. Mr. Callahan has not as yet decided what he will do with the church but for the present it will remain where it stands. He may later move it (in two sections) to a piece of property which he owns and change it into a two tenement house.

Local Red Men who go to Gloucester next Wednesday for the celebration are invited to join with the Gloucester Red Men in the big parade. Chief of Records Preston of the local tribe has received a communication from the Chief of Records of Wingarsheek tribe extending the invitation.

DRUGS

We wish to call your attention to our drug department and to our facilities for supplying either the common household remedies, or for filling physician's prescriptions.

Our line of drugs, fluid extracts and chemicals is very complete and in the names of the makers will be found such names as Wyeth, Parke Davis, Squibb and Merck, names which a physician recognizes at once as synonymous with quality.

Besides the regular common drugs and chemicals we have a large number of the rarer and lest frequently used drugs and medicinal preparations so that we are prepared to fill any recipe or prescription with promptness. In those few instances where it is necessary to send away for any article or medicine we obtain the desired medicine in the shortest possible time.

In addition to our line of drugs we carry in stock a large line of physician's and surgeon's supplies, such as cotton, bandages, surgeon's plaster and other emergency goods. Our stock in this line consists chiefly of Johnson & Johnson's goods.

So if you are in need of medicine or sick room supplies call at the nearest of our stores and you will find your wants will be quickly and properly supplied.

The annual Sunday School picnic of the Magnolia children took place Wednesday of this week. Salem Willows was the objective point, a special car taking the party from West Gloucester. Sixty adults and childrens participated. The presence of the U. S. scout cruiser Salem in the harbor added interest to the occasion, a great many of the picnickers visiting the ship during the afternoon. The party returned at about seven o'clock reporting the happiest of occasions.

"The Progress of the Colored Race" will be the subject of an illustrated lecture at the Village church next Sunday evening. One hundred pictures will be used to show what is being done by progressive negroes in the far south.

Mrs. Samuel Brown and son of Salem are the guests of Mrs. Brown's parents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dunbar.

The membership of the Men's Club at Magnolia is now above the 200 mark, 202 being the actual enrollment. Miss E. Martin won first prize on the bowling allies Saturday night with a score of 78. Plans for the August tournaments in bowling, pool, billiards and checkers are now being worked out in detail. There will be individual tournaments in bowling, candles and bottles, Team tournaments in candles and bottles, and individual tournaments in pool, billiards and checkers. Suitable prizes will be given the winners of each. A magnificent cup for the winner of the pool tournament is now on exhibition the gift of C. I. Hood. Entries for the tournaments will be received at the office, Aug. 1st to 7th, and the tournaments will begin Saturday, Aug. 7th.

Next Tuesday evening the Men's Club will entertain the Women's Club. The bowling alleys, pool and billiard tables, and the dance hall will be placed at the disposal of the guests.

Plans are now in embryo for an athletic exhibition to be held in the gymnasium of the Men's Club the second week in August. That Martin Flaherty has the proposition in charge is a sure guarantee that something worth while will be given.

Mrs. M. J. Macauley who was quite seriously injured in a runaway accident last Sunday is slowly recovering.

A large attendance turned out for the dance at the Men's Club Wednesday evening. Quite a number were present from Manchester and Gloucester. Chané's orchestra furnished the music.

For new organization of the Men's club see page 51.

The next band concert at Manchester will be Thursday evening of next week. On the Thursday evening of the following week the annual harbor illumination will be held.

Mrs. Macauley met with a very painful and serious accident while on her way to Manchester to attend church last Sunday morning. The driver left the barge in front of Prescott Bigelow's residence at the Cove to call the girls when the horses turned around and started for home. All the occupants were able to get out of the barge safely except Mrs. Macauley who slipped from the step striking on her head causing a concussion and giving her a bad shaking up. She is reported as improving slowly.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY BUILDING, CABOT ST., BEVERLY.

The Beverly Historical Society is to take steps toward providing suitable attractions to occupy the spare moments of the hundreds of visitors and sightseers who will come to Beverly this summer to see President Taft. One of the steps which has been decided upon is the opening of the Historical Society Building on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons from 2.30 until 5 o'clock.

The Historical society has a splendid collection of pictures, papers and other exhibits connected with the early history of Beverly, through the colonial days, the war of the revolution and the Civil War. The collection includes many things of more than local interest; for Beverly was the birthplace of the American navy and took a prominent part in the Revolution. It was the home of many prominent men during the early days of the republic and there are some remarkably interesting papers from them.

One feature of the exhibits at the society is the original pictures used to illustrate Henry Cabot Lodge's History of the American Revolution. These pictures were loaned to the society by Dr. Charles Thorndike Parker of Wenham.

Postmaster W. R. Brooks attended the annual outing of the Beverly Republican club Tuesday, held at Ipswich Bluff. Postmaster Brooks reports that he had a good time and an excellent dinner.

The band concert at Manchester last evening attracted the usual large number of Farms people.

Miss Wilhemina Paterson of Salem has been elected by the school committee as principal of the Farms school, to take up her duties when school opens in September. Miss Ada M. Lewis of Somerville is to teach in the 7th and 8th grades.

The largest dancing party of the summer was that given in Neighbor's hall on Wednesday evening by the St. Margaret's Court of Foresters. It was their annual summer dance.

"Gloucester Day" next Wednesday will attract many Farms people. Round trip tickets from the Farms will be 35 cents. Further details of the event will be found on another page.

Mrs. Luther Knowles and two children of Newark, N. J., are at the Farms where they will spend the next four weeks. Mr. Knowles is to join them later.

Howard A. Doane, the contractor-builder, has given an estimate the past week on building a double dormitory for the trustees of the Lyman School at Westboro. The architects are G. Gibbons Preston and John Kahlmeyer, 6 Beacon street, Boston.

The next band concert at Manchester will be Thursday evening of next week. On the Thursday evening of the following week the annual harbor illumination will be held.

Miss Emily McDonnell of the Farms has spent the last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Ordway at the "Drumfire Farm," Topsfield.

Alderman Robert E. Hodgkins, Mrs. Hodgkins and daughter Helen are enjoying a vacation at the camp of Mrs. Harvey Hodgkins, on the 'Squam river, Gloucester. They have entertained a number of their Farms friends there.

Mrs. Mattis Hanson and daughter, Miss Jennie, are enjoying a visit at the home of relatives at Barnstable.

Miss Mary Brown of the Farms is back at her desk in the office of J. B. Dow & Co., after a two-weeks' vacation.

Mrs. Herman Hanson and child of New York City have returned home after a month's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Mattis Hanson of Vine street.

Some of the members of the Woman's Gymnasium classes at Beverly Farms are planning a week's outing next month. They expect to secure a cottage on the 'Squam river, Gloucester.

A lawn party is to be held on Saturday evening, Aug. 7, on the St. Margaret's rectory grounds. There is to be plenty of amusing features, including dancing. Motion pictures are to be shown, a new idea for lawn party entertainment. The refreshments table will be filled with good things and will be in charge of a corps of young ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Campbell of the Farms are being congratulated on the arrival of a baby girl at their home last Sunday morning.

Mrs. Benjamin Ober and Mrs. James D. Hooper of Hale street are entertaining their sister, Mrs. Charles Perkins, and Mr. Perkins of Chicago.

Men's Club Organized.

A rapid growth is going on at the Men's Club, Magnolia, and the institution is coming more and more to fill its intended purpose—to provide a club home for the workingmen who come to Magnolia for the summer.

During the week a meeting of the members was held and formal organization took place. The following officers were elected: President, Rev. F. J. Libby; vice president, Mr. Curtis; secretary, Fred R. Dunbar; treasurer, T. D. Martin; executive committee, the above named officers and M. Flaherty, R. Boyd, P. Sughrue, E. W. Barnes and H. L. Hannaford.

When it came to the discussion of the by-laws, article five, relating to eligibility of members, brought forth much discussion. The fifth article formerly read "Any man, regardless of race, color or creed, shall be eligible to membership in the club." An incident which many at the club considered unpleasant some time ago caused the form of the article to be highly objectionable to many of the members. Discussion of the rule resolved itself into a debate on the question "Shall negroes be admitted to membership in the club?" The vote following the debate brought a vote of 12 yes and 50 no; whereupon the article in question was changed to read "Only men of the white race shall be eligible to membership in the club."

After the business session refreshments were served.

Mrs. Bryce J. Allan was hostess to a dinner party of twenty-one young ladies Tuesday night at Allanbank, Beverly Cove, in honor of her neice Miss Lily Sears, daughter of Herbert Sears of Pride's. Miss Sears is becoming a charming young woman and will make one of the most beautiful buds of her season. This was one of the first large events given in her honor. Among the guests was Miss Helen Taft.

J. Hampden Robb of New York City, who summers at "The Dolphins," Southampton, L. I., was a guest over the week-end of Hon. J. Jefferson Coolidge at Coolidge's Point. Mr. Coolidge and Miss Payson have just returned from a short automobile trip to Cape Cod.

Prof. Louis Allard will read "La Cigale," by Melhac and Halevy, at Mrs. W. L. Putman's, Smith's Point, Manchester, tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. This is the last in the series of five Saturday morning lectures.

The Montserrat Golf club will be the scene of a gay party of young people next Thursday afternoon and evening, August 12, when Mrs. Neal Rantoul of the Farms summer colony will entertain about sixty boys and girls from all along the shore in honor of her daughter, Miss Josephine's fifteenth birthday. The young folk will have a jolly time during the afternoon, playing tennis and engaging in other sports, and supper will be served at the club. Dancing will take up the time after supper.

Mrs. Edward Wigglesworth left Manchester yesterday for Jackson, N. H., where she will spend the next month at her mountain cottage. She will return to Manchester in late September for the close of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Walker are sailing from the other side on the 14th,—next Saturday, and on their return will come at once to their West Manchester home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rathbourn of New Orleans have taken one of Dr. J. A. Brown's cottages at Old Neck, Manchester,—the one occupied so many years by Mrs. W. H. Lewis.

:: At the Hotels ::

Edward Harris, U. S. N., W. Edwards, U. S. N., and J. R. Barry, U. S. N., three ensigns from the battleship Connecticut and the scout cruiser Salem, which were anchored off port over the week-end, came ashore for the Saturday evening ball at the Oceanside. In their bright naval uniforms, they proved quite an attraction and were favorite dancers among the young ladies.

"OAK LEDGE," SUMMER HOME OF DR. G. H. WASHBURN, MASCONOMO ST., MANCHESTER

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Chapin of Buffalo, N. Y., are motoring through New England and stopped for several days early in the week at the Oceanside. With them is their daughter, Miss Janet Chapin. They motored all the way from Buffalo and, before returning home, will go north to Poland Springs, the White Mountains and return through the Berkshire hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Harlow and family of Salem are at the Oceanside for the remainder of the summer. They have come to Magnolia for several seasons in succession. In the family are two children, Miss Harlow and Arthur Harlow. The family will be here until late September.

Mrs. J. E. Crossley of East Orange, N. J., has taken apartments in East Cottage and she and her family are settled there for the remainder of the season as guests of the Oceanside. The children of the family are three charming daughters, Misses Charlotte, Ida and Addie.

Miss Mildred Harbeck of New York City is visiting her mother, Mrs. C. T. Harbeck, who, as a guest of the Oceanside, has rooms in Gables Cottage.

❖ Society Notes ❖

Two of the most charming young women at the Essex County club Wednesday afternoon for the band concert and tennis were Mrs. Arthur Cook of Boston and her sister, Miss Donna Beach of New York and Mexico City. Miss Beach came on from New York the latter part of last week to spend August with her sister and Mr. Cook at The Oceanside, in Magnolia.

Henry Meyer, a well known New York broker, arrived at Manchester yesterday for a ten days' visit with Martin Erdman at the F. C. Steven's cottage. Mr. Meyer made the trip in his 50 Simplex.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Auchincloss are on from Seabright, N. J., to spend the month of August on the North Shore. They are with Mrs. Auchincloss' sister, Mrs. Neal Rantoul, and family at Beverly Farms at present. Mrs. Auchincloss was Miss Rosamond Saltonstall, active in Vincent club circles a few seasons ago.

Mrs. Guy Norman entertained at three small dinners last week at her home off Prince street. The last was held Friday night.

Mrs. Cranmore H. Wallace has been entertaining the following guests at the Wallace home on Neptune street: Miss Foster, Miss Marie Bliss, Miss Rena Gerrish and William Turner of Malden; Mrs. James Terrill of Weymouth; Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Stephens, of Springfield, and Mr. Cushing of Braintree.

Henry Coulter, who are managing the show, have not yet received all the entry blanks which were sent out, there is already abundant assurance that nearly every one of the well-known society whips along the North Shore will participate. That there will be a record-breaking attendance is also assured.

Society Notes

Mrs. John L. Thorndike and daughters, Misses Olivia and Alice, arrived in Boston yesterday morning on the Saxon, from Liverpool, after a tour of several months abroad. They came at once to their summer home at West Manchester.

Another arrival on the Saxon yesterday was Mrs. Fiske Warren and Miss Marjorie Warren, who will, no doubt, spend much of their time this month circling among their friends on the North Shore.

Mrs. Frederick R. Tibbitts arrived in New York Tuesday and came on to West Manchester Wednesday afternoon. She has been abroad for a short trip. She came over on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie and was met on her arrival by a number of friends.

Mrs. Clay Arthur Pierce gave a birthday party to eight little friends of Miss Peggy Pierce on the lawn of the old Slater estate on Prince street Monday afternoon. Miss Peggy was ten years old. One feature of the afternoon's entertainment was the disguise of the children as Indians and their playing in wigwams erected for them. Mr. Pierce has just joined his family for the rest of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Steinert of Boston have been entertaining more or less at their summer home, Stoneledge, on Hospital Point. Russell Lee Steinert, their son, who attends Dartmouth, is spending the summer with his parents and two brothers, Robert and Alexander.

The entertainment committee of the Manchester yacht club announces a smoke talk to be given at the clubhouse next Tuesday evening, Aug. 10, at 8.30 o'clock. Edwin A. Boardman has consented to give a talk, with blackboard illustrations, on boat building and sailing. As Mr. Boardman is an authority on these subjects and an interesting speaker it is to be expected that a good attendance of members and their friends will be out for this occasion.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, sr., who is entertaining at her home on Mingo beach Mrs. B. A. Wallingford, of Cincinnati, her daughter, and the Count and Countess de Chambrun of Washington, gave a luncheon for Mrs. Wallingford Wednesday noon, covers being spread for ten ladies.

About 25 members of the Myopia club gathered at the North Beverly station Tuesday afternoon at 5.30 and followed the hounds from the club kennels, under the mastership of George S. Mandell, to Mrs. Phillips' estate at Wenham lake. This was the first of a series of five hunts to be held during August.

Society Notes

Miss Mary Josephine Amory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis I. Amory of Beverly Cove has gone to Dark Harbor, Me., to spend a few weeks. Her brother, Charles M. Amory, has as his guest Grafton Minot of North Haven.

Miss De C. Lewthwaite Dewar of Scotland, who is spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. Chas. A. Porter at Beverly Farms, is sending out invitations for an exhibition of her illuminated parchments, ex libris, water colour and black and white drawings, including sketches done in Ceylon and Brittany, to be held at the Oceanside hotel, Magnolia, Wednesday, August 25.

Francis L. Higginson, jr., returned to Coolidge's Point the latter part of last week from a fishing trip to Canada with his father, F. L. Higginson of the Pride's colony.

A slight change in the order of the band concerts at the Essex County club is announced. The concert of the afternoon of August 25 will be postponed to Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 1, one week later than it was first planned to hold the concerts. This change is made because of the dinner-dance which comes on the evening of the 25th.

Western travelers will remember the illuminated parchment books of Robert Hyde in Santa Barbara, California. Mr. Hyde and his family are living in the Foster Cottage, opposite Crescent Beach, Magnolia, for the summer. There he has opened his workshop and studio and is engaged in making several elaborate gift-books to order. The most pretentious of these is a family record of many pages of sheepskin, hand-lettered throughout, with the history of one of our first families, and richly ornamented in gold and colors. It will be bound in crimson levant and mounted in metal set with jewels. A wedding certificate, bound in white satin and embroidered in gold with seed pearls, will be signed at one of New York's weddings this fall. And the guests at the house of a Senator in Washington next winter will leave their names in a visitors' book with covers of solid embroidery, a precious remnant from the wardrobe of Louis XV. After summering at Magnolia Mr. Hyde plans to sail for Italy, intending to spend several years in Florence and Vienna in the further study of his unique profession.

Max Littwitz of 38 West 33d street, New York, is advertising an exhibition of linens and laces, men's and ladies' handkerchiefs on Wednesday and Thursday of next week at the Hesperus, Magnolia, and on Friday of next week at the Masconomo house, Manchester.

Mrs. James McMillan gave a small dinner party at "Eagehead" Monday evening. Covers were spread for ten or a dozen.

Mrs. George Lee returned to Beverly Farms last Sunday from a week's visit with Mrs. T. H. Cabot at Dublin, N. H.

Among the familiar figures back to the Oceanside, Magnolia, this season after several years' absence are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kerr of Brooklyn, N. Y. With them their daughter, Miss Grace, and Mr. Kerr's sister, Miss Helen. The young people are among the most active at the hotel this summer. Mr. and Mrs. Kerr had a call this week from Dr. and Mrs. John O. Polak of Brooklyn, who spent a day with them at Magnolia before sailing for Europe on one of the White Star line boats from Boston Wednesday. Dr. Polak is one of the foremost surgeons of the big metropolis. Miss Justine Hubbard, one of the belles of Brooklyn, arrived the last of this week for a visit with Miss Helen Kerr. William Kellar, jr., of New York is another guest of the Kerrs. The family is occupying apartments in the Center cottage.

The Indifferent Debtor.

The BREEZE is seldom troubled by that gad-fly of business, the indifferent debtor—the man or woman who contracts debts without a due sense of responsibility and then forgets to pay the bill.

Among its few, however, the BREEZE now has one of singular boldness—a woman, who, after taking considerable advertising space for two successive years, for which she has not yet paid a cent, comes this year and asks for more advertising, but still holds off payment of her old debts, though it is well known she is able to pay. But she didn't get it!

This woman has a "handy" business, which brings her a lot of money. Her business office isn't a thousand miles from Magnolia. For three successive years she has promised repeatedly to pay "next week," "on the first of the month," "on the middle of the month" and many other stipulated times; but whenever the collector appears at the time appointed, the opening of her door is quickly followed by that same old exclamation: "Oh dear—I'm so busy—I've got a client—I really can't see you now!" Then the door is hastily closed and the performance for that day is over.

THE BREEZE would like to know if this woman's other creditors are treated in the same manner.

Miss Helen Taft had a small party of her young lady friends over to the summer White House Tuesday afternoon for luncheon. In the party were the Misses Faith Simpkins, Leslie Bradley, Margaret Thomas, Barbara Higginson, Dorothy Hancock and her guest, Miss Witherbee, Lucy Blair and Minna Lyman. On the following day Miss Taft had a few young people out on the Sylph. In the party were Misses Lucy Blair, Dorothy Hancock and Miss Witherbee, Silas Witherbee, Thomas Beal, Seymour Blair and Robert Taft. In the evening the young people went to the pageant at Gloucester.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Gibson left Manchester today for a motor trip to Narragansett Pier, R. I. They will be away over the week-end guests of the Vanderbilts at Newport.

The water pageant under the direction of the Manchester Yacht club to take place next Thursday night will draw out a lot of the cottagers to the club house. The shore residents are requested to illuminate their property on that night.

The men's singles and doubles tennis tournaments have been on at the Essex County club this week. The ladies' singles and mixed doubles will be played next week.

As will be seen on another page of this issue, the Bradford studio of arts and crafts at Magnolia announces for the coming week an exhibition of hand-wrought silver done by George C. Gebelein, the noted silversmith. The exhibition will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Mr. Gebelein will be at the studio on Tuesday. The pieces on exhibition are some of the finest that he has done and have caused much comment among those who have seen them. The patrons are James L. Little, David M. Little, Mrs. Gardner Greene Hammond, Mrs. Henry S. Shaw, Mrs. Chas. R. Hayden, Miss Faulkner, Miss Bigelow, Mrs. Edward C. Richardson, Mrs. Charles W. Jones, Mrs. Costello C. Converse, Mrs. Horace B. Mrs. George von L. Meyer gave a delightful children's party recently at her Hamilton home. A new departure was made in the dress of the butlers in that they wore the white duck pants representative of the navv, instead of evening dress. After the dinner the young people were invited over to "Bud" Appleton's for a dance.

The usual large number of cottagers went over to the Essex County club Wednesday afternoon for the band concert. Among those who entertained small parties at luncheon were Mrs. J. Warren Merrill, Mrs. James Means and Mrs. Prescott Bigelow.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gibson came on from New York last week to spend August with Mrs. Gibson's sister, Mrs. Eugene Gray Foster and Mr. Foster at Coolidge's Point.

Miss Amy Grant of New York, who so successfully presented the opera Salome, in recital form, at the North Shore Grill club last week, will present a similar recital from the opera Pelleas and Melisande at the Grill this afternoon. The large attendance present at last week's recital will assure an equally large patronage this afternoon as Miss Grant was repeatedly complimented on the excellency of her presentation of Salome.

One of the largest parties of the last week was that given by Mrs. Oliver Ames last Friday night at Pride's Crossing in honor of her daughter, Miss Elise Ames.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gurney of Toronto, Ont., are at the Oceanside as guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Ryckman, who have been guests there for several weeks. The Ryckmans are one of the first families of the Canadian city.

:: At the Hotels ::

In order to accommodate the mid-summer overflow of guests, the Oceanside last week leased another cottage—the Shore View, owned by F. K. M. Rhen of New York City. This makes the 18th cottage which the hotel has under lease. The transaction is an indication of the Oceanside's prosperity. The house is full and, in all the history of the place, so large a patronage so early in August was never known before.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Farnham and daughter, Miss Helen, of Chicago are season guests at the Oceanside. They are living in Overlook cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Woodwell of Pittsburg arrived at the Oceanside Saturday to stay the month out. Mr. Woodwell is a well-known artist.

Mrs. Frank Hume and her two daughters, Miss Ethel and Miss Mable, make up another Southern family to arrive at the Oceanside. There have been an unusual number of Southern people along the North Shore this summer. The Humes are one of the best known families of Virginia. They are friends of Dr. Percy Musgrave of Magnolia.

Mrs. Alexander Laughlin and son, Alexander, jr., of Pittsburgh, Pa., are at the Oceanside for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Stratton of Boston are at the Oceanside for a short stay. They have taken rooms in the Perkins cottage. They have come to Magnolia for many seasons in the past.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phelps of Rockville, Ct., and W. L. Ledger and Miss Florence Ledger of Hartford, Ct., make up a party motoring through New England. They are at the Oceanside for a short stay.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. King and Miss Betty King are at the Oceanside for a short stay. Miss Betty is a charming girl and has many admirers about the hotel.

Noises which Are Nuisances.

Editor North Shore Breeze:

Dear Sir:—City folks—tired of continuous noises, car gongs, street cries, wagon wheels, and Bedlam in general—come to the longed-for quiet of the North Shore to secure relief for tired nerves. Sitting on my "porch" at Magnolia last evening I wondered whether nerves were really much relieved by coming to this most delightful, but now unfortunately most noisy "summer home." And the trouble is this: A few—thank goodness but a few—of the automobile owners have equipped their machines with horns emitting the most hideous sounds conceivable. One or two give forth hoarse cries or screams startlingly like a child in agony; others the nerve-racking shriek of the steam calliope. Can their owners enjoy such discord, jarring abominably upon the calm quiet of a summer night, and if they do enjoy it, should they be permitted to mar the happiness of others through the entire summer? This is not an individual opinion but is shared by many who for one reason or another do not care to appear in print. May our supplication be heard!

"MAGNOLIA."

Gustave Ober and family of Baltimore are at the Moorland for the remainder of the season. Mr. Ober is a very prominent banker in Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pierce of Brookline, arrived at the Moorland early in the week to spend the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. John Caswell is giving a big party at the Caswell estate in Beverly Farms Saturday for her two children, John and Elizabeth. There will be 75 or 80 of the young boys and girls from along the shore there. Games will be played and prizes will be awarded the winners of the various games.

Mrs. Oliver Ames gave a luncheon at her Pride's residence Wednesday for twenty.

Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Bigelow have been entertaining at "Fox Hill Lodge" the past week Mgr. Splaine of the Holy Cross Cathedral. Mrs. Stephen Gurteen of Skaneateles, N. Y., who is spending the summer at Bass Rocks, has also been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow part of the last week. Tuesday, Mrs. Bigelow and her guests were members of a little luncheon given at the Essex County club by Mrs. E. A. Boardman.

Mrs. Frank Seabury had covers for ten at dinner at her Beverly Farms home Tuesday evening.

One of the most pleasant children's parties of the week was that given Monday by Mrs. Charles Hodges at Wenhams for her son Johnnie. Ten or a dozen of the young lad's companions were invited over for lunch and in the afternoon they all went to Wonderland and had a most glorious time.

During the month of August a handicap foursome tournament for members will be played at match play, at the Essex County club, entries to close August 2. Handsome cups have been offered by H. Mortimer Brooks for the winners of this event. Handicap mixed foursomes, medal play, were held last Saturday, July 31, and another one will be held Saturday, August 14. Both these events are open to all members and their guests, to the Myopia, Nahant, Salem Golf, and Montserrat clubs, and to those whom the committee may invite.

Last Saturday's members' handicap was won by Jas. H. Childs, who played in 78 from scratch. A. S. Porter, jr., with a handicap of 12, tied Mr. Childs for first honors.

The mixed foursomes competition was tied at 87 net by E. D. Jordan and Miss Dorothy Jordan, and S. S. Dearborn and Miss Dearborn. The former had a gross score of 111, and the latter 107. Other players in the foursome were R. S. Russell and Mrs. E. V. R. Thayer, jr., G. McC. Sargent and sister, Mrs. E. P. Whitney, Count and Countess de Chambrun, R. E. Pierce and Mrs. Q. A. MISS ANNE ABBOTT

The photographs on our front cover this week are by Miss Mary H. Northend of Salem, and show the porch and front entrance to Hon. J. Jefferson Coolidge's residence at Coolidge's Point, Manchester, and the charming little tea house in one corner of the Italian garden. The Italian garden at this time of year is at its best under the careful and efficient management of the caretaker, William Till. The broad walk leading up to the tea house passes over the rustic bridge which spans the little brook running through the garden. On the right is the picking garden with an abundant supply of beautiful flowers for table decorations, etc.; and on the left is the formal garden, in which is located the fountain, and other beautiful features which make the garden one of the finest on the shore.

Dr. F. F. Ellenwood of Utica, N. Y., motored to the North Shore the latter part of last week and stopped a few days at the Masconomo, Manchester, leaving there Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wingrove Bathon of Washington, D. C., have returned to Washington after spending three weeks at the Oceanside. The trip into New England was their honeymoon. Mr. Bathon is city editor of the Washington Post and Mrs. Bathon, formerly Miss Wilson, was for many seasons the Washington society correspondent for the New York Herald. She first came to Magnolia while doing summer work for the Herald.

Mrs. H. S. Grew, 2d, are giving a big children's party at their West Manchester home next Saturday, May 14th.

Cushion covers with real Irish lace and finest County Down embroidery will be represented in Mr. Kelly's large assortment. See page 4.

Society Attended Pageant.

From all points on the North Shore, society gathered at Gloucester Wednesday to witness the presentation of Percy Mackaye's mediæval play "The Canterbury Pilgrims," in pageant form, in honor of President Taft. The President was not there, owing to the situation of the tariff legislation; but Gloucester was philosophic over its disappointment and there was no intended plan that was not carried out in full.

That society was present in large numbers was evident from the hundreds of automobiles from Magnolia, Manchester, Prides, Beverly Farms and all along the shore that filled the spacious plat reserved for automobiles and lined the road for half a mile back from the gate.

While the President was not there, his family was well represented. Mrs. Taft remained at home on account of her health. Her sister, Mrs. Lewis Meyer of Cincinnati, accompanied Miss Helen Taft and Robert and Charlie Taft.

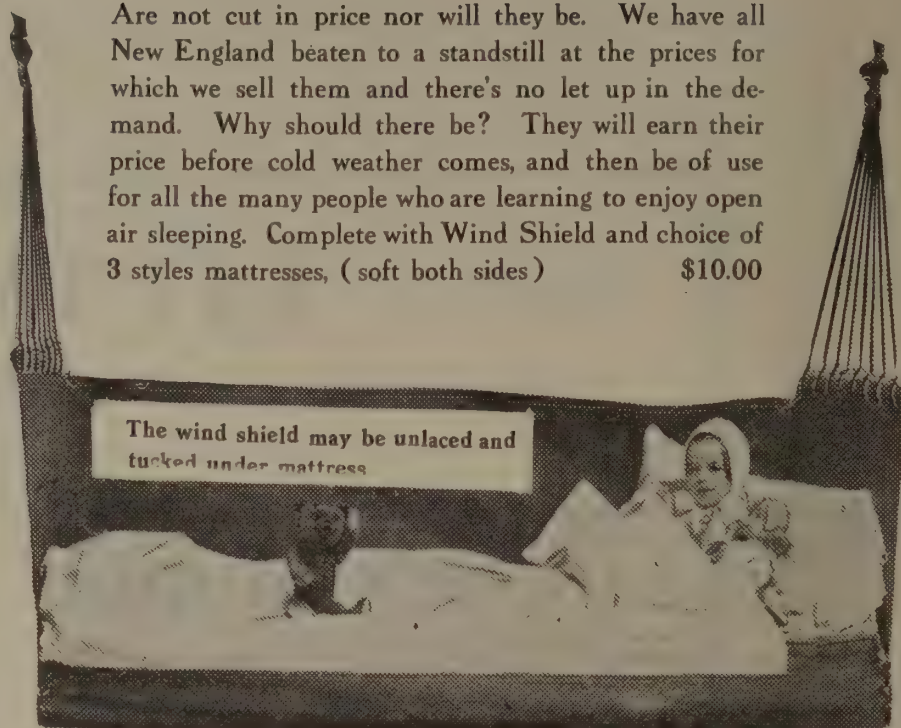

Those in the President's box were Miss Mabel Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. John Hayes Hammond, jr., Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, sr., Mr. and Mrs. William D. Sohler, Miss K. T. Ives, Richard Stillwell, H. H. Stimson, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Forbes, Mrs. Clinton Hyatt, Edward Loftus and Mrs. Loftus Mr. and Mrs. Raymond T. Royce, Miss Harriet M. Rice, Captain Charles Gove, commander of the practice squadron, and Lieutenant Commanders Britt and Johnson, Mrs. George Von L. Meyer and Lieutenant Roger Williams of the President's yacht, the Sylph.

The box was beautifully decorated with evergreen and large bouquets of American Beauty roses. In one corner was a monster bouquet of flowers sent to the President by the Women's Alliance of the Unitarian Church of Gloucester and a large pen and ink sketch in an elegant gilt frame. The sketch was the gift of the Portuguese citizens of Gloucester to the President and included a portrait of the President between Portuguese and American flags, the Portuguese church of Gloucester, Gloucester harbor and a portrait of the Rev. Fr. Francis Viera de Bem, pastor of the church. The whole was beautifully executed and won the admiration of all who saw it.

Are not cut in price nor will they be. We have all New England beaten to a standstill at the prices for which we sell them and there's no let up in the demand. Why should there be? Complete with Wind Shield and choice of 3 styles mattresses, (soft both sides) $10.00

After the performance the favors were sent to the President's home where President Taft will see them as soon as he arrives for the summer.

As for the pageant, it was excellently carried out from start to finish. The play is a representation of Chaucer's Canterbury Pilgrims and the story centers about the tale told by the Wife of Bath, on that famous journey. Walter Damosch had provided music specially arranged for the occasion and the magnificent staging was the work of Eric Pape, the head of the Coburn professional players, an English troupe which has been widely received in this country and has everywhere distinguished itself. Charles L. Safford, the musical director, achieved wonders in holding his big choruses and band to pitch and time. The choral work was superb. One cannot imagine anything finer than the singing of St. Thomas' hymn by the full chorus, accompanied by the organ and band, and with the chime bells ringing in the distance. After the play, came a magnificent pageant when all the players and the 1800 others who took part marched across the mammoth stage and around the theatre making asplendid array which will not be seen again in years in this country. It is estimated that 20,000 saw the performance.

The selecting of holiday gifts long in advance of the season is getting to be a common custom with people who prefer a quiet hour in a summer-shop to the discomforts of a Christmas crowd. There are often rare bargains—and sometimes rarer things to be found in a collection such as Mr. Shepherd has now on display at his shop in the Donchian building, Lexington avenue, Magnolia. Mr. Shepherd has just returned from an extended tour of Europe bringing back a large and most interesting lot of foreign art goods and curios, many individual pieces that are unique and many that cannot be found elsewhere—just such things as cannot be duplicated and are in demand as gifts.

Panama Hats from So. America, especially suitable for the automobile. $1 and $1.50. Magnolia branch of the "Indian Store,"—opposite "The Colonnade." adv

Robert Wilson Hyde, limner on parchment and maker of books, from Santa Barbara, Cal., will give an exhibition of his work at the Oceanside, Magnolia, August 12, day and evening. The books include editions de luxe of choice selections—guest books, family records, child's records, marriage certificates, and gift books, hand illumined, and variously bound in leathers, embroideries and brocades, with metal and jeweled mounts. Also smaller booklets and framed parchments for simpler gifts. Mr. Hyde's studio for the summer is opposite the entrance to Crescent beach, Magnolia, where visitors are invited to inspect his work. adv

Miss Anne Abbott is making a special display of mirrors at her studio-gift-shop in the Library building, Magnolia, this and next week. Visitors find the glasses in all sizes and shapes and many of them done in finely carved frames. Some of the prettiest are in panels and have faithful reproductions of old porcelain portraits exquisitely mounted at the top. Miss Abbott also has a new and large assortment of her famous gift cards on display this week.

Ready-to-wear waists with fine Irish insertions will be a feature of Mr. Kelly's display at Masconomo house. See page 4.

DRUGS

We wish to call your attention to our drug department and to our facilities for supplying either the common household remedies, or for filling physician's prescriptions.

Our line of drugs, fluid extracts and chemicals is very complete and in the names of the makers will be found such names as Wyeth, Parke Davis, Squibb and Merck, names which a physician recognizes at once as synonymous with quality.

Besides the regular common drugs and chemicals we have a large number of the rarer and less frequently used drugs and medicinal preparations so that we are prepared to fill any recipe or prescription with promptness. In those few instances where it is necessary to send away for any article or medicine we obtain the desired medicine in the shortest possible time.

In addition to our line of drugs we carry in stock a large line of physician's and surgeon's supplies, such as cotton, bandages, surgeon's plaster and other emergency goods. Our stock in this line consists chiefly of Johnson & Johnson's goods.

So if you are in need of medicine or sick room supplies call at the nearest of our stores and you will find your wants will be quickly and properly supplied.

THE WILD ROSE.

Tinted like a sea shell
With a heart of gold,
O wild rose! O wild rose!
You bring me dreams untold.

The first is of a summer
Spent beside the sea,
Where many ships
That touch the sands
Are laden with
The rainbow strands
Of hope,
A glorious fantasy.

These bubbles disappear
With setting sun;
They are like the Wilted rose buds
Dropping one by one,
O wild rose! O wild rose!
When the dream ships
Come again,
Will you have them
Carry love as freight,
That wailing thousand's
May partake
And live again.

RANDOM THOUGHTS.

BY D. F. LAMSON.
No. XL.

A joint debate between two colleges has been declared off this summer, because of "lack of interest;" when was ever a college baseball game or foot ball scrimmage postponed for any such reason? Query. Is it a straw that shows which way the wind blows? And what are colleges for anyway?

Emerson says,

"Tell men what they knew before, Paint the prospect from their door;"

this, which many think so easy is really one of the hardest things to do; it is nothing less than opening the eyes to what they have often looked upon but never seen, revealing truth hidden in familiar objects, giving a new interpretation to what is trite and threadbare. Many things fail to impress us, and even to awaken curiosity, simply because we know them too well; the most stimulating teacher or preacher or poet is he who heeds Emerson's maxim.

A man who makes it his main business in life to be funny, "to giggle and make giggle," comes at last to the same conclusion as that which a certain wise man who is considered by many hopelessly behind the age reached long ago, "the end of that mirth is heaviness."

~ ~ ~ ~

The leading humorist of our country for years has lately spoken of "the hard and bitter struggle of life;" this may be the way that life presents itself to a professional joker of jokes; but if so it is a sad commentary on the man's life; it shows that mere fun and nonsense are often a mask that hides real discontent and unhappiness. We never hear those who are living lives of service to their fellow-men talking in tones of disappointment and complaint; they are not the people who hang the heavens in black; a John Harvard, a Dwight Moody, an Edward Everett Hale, carry their cheerfulness and sunshine to the last. Why is it that the comedian and humorist are sometimes the saddest of men?

Cheerfulness without levity, sobriety without gloom, strictness without austerity, enjoyment without abuse,—who shall show us how to keep the golden mean?

THE PERFECT CHAUFFEUR.

Who is the Perfect Chauffeur, who is he
That every motor man should wish to be?
'Tis he whose law is reason, who depends Upon that law as on the best of friends.
'Tis he who wisely regulates his speed,
'The road for all," the first words of his creed.
'Tis he who feels it is not sport or just
To smother others in a cloud of dust,
But when a straight, clear road before him lies,
Opens his throttle and along he flies,
Through peopled places goes a sober pace
And drives with courtesy in every case.
This, his plain duty, yet when this is done
His serious work is just begun.

A chauffeur needs must be a man of parts,
Versed in bucolic and domestic arts;
Cows he must know to drive, and flocks of sheep,
Carters awaken from their slumbers deep,
Horses convince what folly 'tis to shy,
Chickens restrain from 'neath motor wheels to fly,

Be to each goose philosopher and guide,
Prevent dull dogs committing suicide,
Make yokels comprehend the rule of road—
That left is right—so runs our American code.
To daring schoolboys, babes that stray alone,
Needs give the care that he would give his own.
With him it rests to make the deaf man hear,
Albeit deafen not the churchman's ear.

Impress on all this truth profound and deep,
The public road is not the place to sleep.
So he drives alert throughout the day,—
This is the Perfect Chauffeur on life's highway.

The citizen of Athens who black-balled Aristides because he could not bear to hear him always called the Just, is the type of a class; perhaps it is natural for many to dislike to have honor paid to other men to which they have no claim themselves. Alas, for that poor thing we call human nature.

Agitation must come before rest, storm before calm, controversy before peace; so it was in the early ages of the faith, in the times of the Reformation, in our anti-slavery period; the world must often be turned upside down before it is right side up; when things go on as they are for any very long period, we may be pretty sure they are not going on right.

We sometimes hear of "applied christianity" as if it were a new invention or discovery or improved variety; but must not all religion be applied religion, if it is at all true to the purpose and plan of its Founder? Must it not be recognized as a power and every day reality in the mart and exchange as well as in the individual life?

In these days of autos and touring cars one must be ready to meet all kinds of surprises. A big car passed through Manchester the other night carrying eight passengers, from grandparents to little children, evidently a whole family. On behind were two trunks, on one side was a large suit-case, on the top was fastened some more traveler's outfits. The party went to one of the Magnolia hotels and stopped for a few days and passed on to the next resort. This is a vacation up-to-date.

m m m m

But the most novel thing in the line of "travelling roadsters" came to our attention last Monday morning. I was standing at the junction of Bennett and Central streets, Manchester, near the Pierce studio, just as the big break in the water main sent a torrent of water flowing across the road, almost enough to impede traffic. It was a regular river for a while. At that very moment I could see a large touring car coming down the street with a curious looking object on it. As the point in the road where the stream of water flowed was reached the chauffeur brought the car to a stop and I could then see it was a canoe on top the car. It was evident he had stopped the car so as to get off his canoe and cross the river in the canoe. Or it may have been he stopped to take the canoe into Fenton's boat house for repairs. At any rate the thing happened on the psychological moment and it lead me to think at the time it was simply another case of up-to-date automobiling where the owner of the car leaves home equipped to meet every exigency which may arise, even to getting over an un-passable river in a canoe.

George Norie of Bennett street, Manchester, has proved himself quite a surgeon. He had a prized hen whose appetite was larger than her digestive organs, with the result that she eat something that stuck in her crop. Things went on for a few days and were beginning to look bad for Mrs. Hen when a consultation was held to see what could be done. It was decided that unless an operation were performed the egg-producer must die; and if the operation were performed she would probably die. The chances looked pretty slim for the hen at best. So Mr. Norie, a carpenter by trade, selected some operating instruments from his tool chest and proceeded to chisel a hole into the chest of Mrs. Hen, just between her shoulder blades. The obdurate undigestible object was removed from its reposeful bed in the hen's crop and the hole was sewed up.

"Newport Leads Manchester," Writes Correspondent. "A Fatal Mistake."

We received through Tuesday's mail a letter in which was inserted the following newspaper clipping about a new hotel to be built at Newport. The senders evidently, has been following the effort, of the BREEZE toward getting a new and up-to-date summer hotel for Manchester. "Newport Leads Manchester," "A Fatal Mistake," was written over the clipping, evidently expressing the correspondent's feeling in the matter.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 2.—Newport is to have a large hotel ready for next season. Deeds have been signed and an association is to be formed. A charter has been applied for under the laws of New York. A capital of $100,000 will be raised, half on an issue of bonds, which are to be secured by the realty, and the other half will be raised by the sale of stock.

A tract of land on the east side of Easton's Beach, in the town of Middletown, just across the line of Newport, will be the site. Newport has suffered financial loss by being without a large hotel, and there has been not a night during the last three weeks when people have not been turned away from Newport toward Narragansett Pier and Boston in automobiles.

Since the burning of the New Cliffs Hotel, two seasons ago, Newport has needed a large hotel.

Many complaints have been heard about the man-hole cover in the middle of the sidewalk on Beach street, opposite the Perkins & Corliss garage. The complaint is that the wrong kind of a cover is used. Instead of the smooth top, such as is commonly used on sidewalks, the rough cover is used, such as is commonly used in streets to withstand heavy traffic. The complaint comes mostly from people who stub their toes over the cover and in some cases trip and fall.

The fire apparatus was out Monday night for a test-out with the new high service and everything showed up wonderfully good. As far as its efficiency for fire purposes is concerned the new high pressure service is a grand success. A stream from a 2-inch nozzle was thrown to a distance of far over 200 feet. The stream would have gone far above the rooster on the steeple of the Congregational church. In fact the stream from the hydrant was thrown farther than the stream from the steamer. Chief Hoare was highly pleased with everything. The test-out was witnessed by a large crowd of people.

Chief of Police Sullivan has received several complaints of late of bicycles being stolen from various places about town. He wants the thieves in question to know that he and his officers have their eyes wide open and pretty soon something is going to fall. Other things besides bicycles have been stolen. Last Friday night John Chapman left his bicycle standing in front of Cheever's drug store. When he went to get it a little later it had disappeared. On the same night a bicycle belonging to the editor of the BREEZE was stolen from in front of the BREEZE office.

In the Solitary Place

Sermon by Rev. L. H. Ruge, Congregational church, Manchester, Sunday, Aug. 1, 1909.

"Then was Jesus led up of the Spirit into the wilderness."—Matt. IV: 1.

The Spirit, that higher power and personality that governs the destiny of man, takes this man into the solitude of the desert. This spiritual direction is ever our need, but especially in the trial that tests the soul.

"The clouds hang heavy round my way, I cannot see;

But through the darkness, I know God still leadeth me.

'Tis sweet to keep my hand in his while all is dim;

To close my weary, aching eyes and follow Him.

Through many a desert path he leads my tired feet,

Through many a starless night I go; but it is sweet

To know that he is close to me, my friend, my guide,

He leadeth me, and so I walk, quite satisfied."

Jesus was led by the Spirit, not driven. It was his voluntary act to meet the test of self-sacrifice. There is no fatality in human destiny, no fighting a solitary battle against an unconquerable foe, for this is God's universe and he cannot be pitted against his creatures.

He was led as a brave man is led into battle. No true soldier feels forced to fight. When the "Captain of our Salvation" leads us to conflict it is not to defeat us but for the high and holy purpose that we may come from the test "more than conquerors."

He was led as a lamb submissively. The way led through the desert, through Gethsemane and over Golgotha and so he followed on submissive to the leadings of the Father.

Some are pleased to lay the scene of the conflict in the desert of Judea. Here the cliffs are cave-hollowed where anchorites dwelt for centuries and even now a lonely hermit may be found in imitation of the Savior.

Tradition peopled the place as the abode of sinister spirits. Here devils were supposed to slink among the shadows in evil councils at night and were said to assume form and personality as nowhere else.

Above the head of the solitary watcher rose the cliffs six hundred feet high, below him the blistered wady of the Kedron; above him the singing stars, below him the silent sterile waste places of the earth. But they tell us that here nature prepares a picture at times matchless for effect when the splintered peaks become stained in purple and pink and the bands of grey mists drifting over the jagged points are shot with gold. The desert place has its compensations at times when touched with a strange glory that only a sombre background can reveal.

Did the Spirit lead Jesus to Sinai and Horeb? The poetry of the thought may prompt this belief. What a setting, this desert, for this strange Prince of the House of David! What historic scenes might be reviewed here!

But in either desert there was not a tree to extend its welcome boughs, not a bit of greensward was there to rest upon, not a flower to smile at him, not a bird ever soared through the swirling sands to leave a song behind in the silent place.

Do you know ought of the fierce heat of the dry plains, with the whirl of the white alkali under foot and the merciless sun overhead? Do you know nothing of the endless stretch of road with no turn that leads nowhere?

Notice how Jesus lived his supreme moments alone. Alone he fasted in the desert. Alone he moved among the mass of sinful men, for in all the throngs there was not another soul of like purity. No one understood him, no one could comprehend him. In the deeper emotions of this man none could share. No one could feel his sorrows. He stood alone in that solitary place of his divine passion. He had "to tread the wine press alone."

In his solitary life he had not a single social joy as we have. John, the beloved disciple, leaned on him, Mary and Martha leaned on him, the disciples, the poor and sick and weak and sinful, all these leaned for support upon him, but he had to stand alone.

Alone he went out into the night to pray. Alone he walked the troubled waters of Galilee, alone he agonized in the moonlight of Gethsemane. Alone he stood before Caiphas, Pilate, Herod and the mob with not a single sympathetic face near him. Alone he struggled up the "place of the skull" under the dreadful weight of the cross beams. Alone he hung there between heaven and earth until even the Father left him alone in his agony.

He told men they could not follow him. His was a path where none could follow; his was a trial none could bear; his was an agony none could share.

He stands alone. There is something too great, too lofty, too awful in this man for us to analyze or comprehend. Only God knows the full import of this life. We may understand something of this life as we see him among the multitude in his ministry, but when he withdraws from us to be alone with God and his awful passion he is as alone and remote from us as the farthest star in the infinite vault of heaven.

But this we do understand that there is a solitude for every soul. There is no companionship in the supreme hours of the soul. There are yearnings too deep for human understanding, a cry too remote for human hearing, a pain too intense for human sympathy. And this is not so much because no one cares, but because all the world is helpless to follow us there.

There is this strain of solitude in every great poem. The great work of art makes us feel it. You cannot read Hamlet without having a sense of treading an unbroken forest. Every mountain peak that lifts its white brow to the sun illustrates it. In the "moaning of the lonely seas" we hear this minor strain. Every great thought in the clear vision it portrays, every great career in its depth of experience, show us the solitary character of a man. Socrates as he drinks the hemlock and Jesus as he drinks the vinegar and gall show us unexplored realms of human nature.

A great joy like a great sorrow brings solitude. Its strange throb presses for utterance upon a silent tongue until the very heart quivers within you, and if the lips break into speech, behold you are still alone before your hearers. Matthew Arnold twangs the very heart of this sense of solitude in the lines:—

"—A God their severance ruled!
And bade betwixt their shores to be
The unplumbed, salt, estranging sea."

What solitude is the crowded streets. I have ventured a friendly remark to a stranger and only silence was its response and I felt the solitude deeper. I must not be interested in the sweetest face and a manly act must arouse not a single word of praise. I can speak to the trees of the forests and the birds of the glen better than I can speak to my fellows. A strange city with its dense crowds awes me with its unbroken solitude.

There is, however, a thought in Hawthorne's valuation of solitude that gives me a sweeter sense of it. In "A Solitary at Home," or that delicious sketch of a day alone by the seaside there is something that responds to this sense within me when he says—"grudge me not the day that has been spent in seclusion which yet was not solitude, since the great sea has been my companion, and the little seabirds my friends, and the wind has told me his secrets, and airy shapes have flitted around me in my heritage. Such companionship works an effect upon a man's character as if he had been admitted to the society of creatures that are not mortal. And, when at noontide, I tread the crowded streets, the influence of the day will still be felt, so that I shall walk among men kindly and as a brother, with affection and sympathy, but yet shall not melt into the indistinguishable mass of human kind. I shall think my own thoughts and feel my own emotions and possess my individuality unviolated."

So I am trying to tell you that solitude is not dark and dreary. Tissot in his great paintings shows us the glory of the mountain tops. On the road of the ideal life be content with few companions, to be even often alone. In solitude a past thought, a written line, a strain of song, a memory, a voice comes back to us kindling things within us that never burn in a crowd.

What were the meditations of Jesus there in his solitude? What were his varied thoughts and emotions, who shall say?

Perhaps he thought of the bondage and the emancipation. The drifted mounds showed him where lay the skeletons of a buried host. He hears idolatrous shouts and a man's face white with passion as he hurls, to the earth the tablets of the law, and these fragments at his feet may be the very fragments laid bare by the last whirlwind of the sandy wastes. Now it is a people devout, then apostate; now it is victory, then direct defeat. The Holy City is under the dominion of heathen Rome. He, their Messiah, is here but they will reject him. He sees the city beleagued and within its walls mothers are slaying their emaciated infants for food. The sacred shekinah is sacked. The sacred scrolls are cut to shreds. The glorious temple of Solomon, grander than ever, is in flames; the molten gold of her pinnacles pours over the eaves to spatter upon the bloody pavements below. Calvary is a forest of crosses and he hears the agony of the fathers and sons of Israel who cried, "crucify him!" The hallowed place of the high priest is now hushed, the haunt of the wild beast, and he hears the echos that linger around ruined walls. Nation rises against nation. The peoples of the earth revel in lusts until the very stars blush in shame. And into the soul of the solitary Savior there swept the tide of an infinite sorrow.

But there was a transfiguring joy in the final result of his passion for a lost world. The new life has dawned never to be conquered again. Through the silence and the struggle he heard the coming songs of the saved and sanctified hosts of christendom echo along the bleak walls of the Moab mountains, and there, in the solitary place there broke the glory of the day we still anticipate and he "saw of the travail of his soul and was satisfied."

Miss Cora B. Wilmot and Miss Elizabeth P. Wilmot of Malden returned home Monday after a very pleasant fortnight's vacation at Manchester. The former is the fiancee of Walter Perham, the popular chauffeur for O. W. Mink, and the latter is also engaged, her fiance, James H. Fogg of Malden, having been here part of the time for his vacation. The Misses Wilmot were at Mrs. Decker's on Norwood avenue.

Mrs. Harvey Hadley of Lowell is visiting her granddaughter, Mrs. J. A. Lodge, Church street. Miss Flora Hadley also spent Wednesday here.

We understand that among the prospective new summer cottages to be built at Manchester the coming winter is one for Prescott Bigelow at Manchester Cove. Mr. Bigelow is trying to sell the cottage where he now lives, comparatively new, and build a larger and more commodious dwelling. The new house will be built, we understand, near the present dwelling, only farther from the highway. The Bigelow cottage is one of the most attractive on the Manchester shore, and it probably will not on the market long.

Miss Grace Prest, who has been organist at the Baptist church for the last year, has sent in her resignation to take effect on Sept. 1.

Mrs. Geo. Reardon and son Herman of Hudson and Danforth have been the guests the past two weeks of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mackin, Windemere park.

Mrs. John Wiles and children left Thursday for Marion, where they will spend a week visiting relatives.

Arthur Gould was operated on for appendicitis at his home in Topsfield last Thursday and is now on the road to recovery. It is expected that he will be around in a few days.

Work is progressing quite favorable on the New Sacred Heart church parochial residence, located alongside the church on School street. The roof is now ready for the slaters and the installing of the hot water apparatus is nearly completed. This work is being done by Isaac Coffin & Co. of Boston. G. A. Knoerr will start the electric wiring the coming week. W. J. Pierce of Beverly Farms is doing the plumbing.

A special meeting of the Manchester Launch club will be held this evening at 8 o'clock.

Miss Helen Mason is away for a fortnight visiting friends at Camden, Me.

We call attention to the vaccination notice of the School Committee in another column.

Many people are planning to attend the lawn party to be held next Tuesday evening at Knight's field, near the Sacred Heart church, under the direction of Maconomo Council, K. of C. The party is in aid of the K. of C. table at the coming Sacred Heart church fair. There will be dancing from 8 to 11, with music by Long's orchestra. Various amusements, including an African dodger, will be provided.

Tags will be provided for those who enter the grounds and will be used to show who have gained an entrance by paying for same. Two arc lights will be arranged by H. J. Gay Electric Co., and the grounds will be otherwise lighted by Japanese lanterns, thus adding an artistic touch to the occasion.

The Fairfax has become the rendezvous for army and navy people stopping at Beverly, due to its proximity to the harbor. Mrs. Roger Williams, whose husband commands the President's yacht, with her child is there for the summer, where her husband joins her each night, coming in from the Sylph, which is anchored out in the harbor. A brother of Mrs. Williams, Midshipman H. C. McIlvaine, U. S. N., who is on the Tonopah, one of the vessels composing the fleet which carries the naval cadets on their annual practice cruise, came down from Boston last week and spent the day with her. Captain J. H. Poole, U. S. N., and Mrs. Poole, of Washington, D. C., stopped here for a few days also.

Last week, Captain Matthew A. DeLaney, U. S. A., the White House physician, who is stopping at the Fairfax for the summer, entertained at luncheon Mrs. Sutherland, and Miss Mary Sutherland, and Mrs. Bulmer, wife of the second officer on the cruiser Salem, which was anchored off the Willows, opposite Beverly, during the celebration in her honor at Salem last week; and Mrs. Disston, of Philadelphia, who summers at North East Harbor, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Bard of Chicago and Roy E. Bard, a student at Princeton, are at the Fairfax for a three weeks' visit. Mrs. Bard was formerly Miss Norwood of Beverly; she has spent much of her time calling on old friends.

Chas. W. Rantoul, of New York City, a cousin of the Neal Rantouls of Beverly Farms, with Mrs. Rantoul, have been stopping at the Fairfax and calling on friends along the shore. They formerly summered in Beverly. They have a summer place at Shelburne, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Debuchy, of Paris and Boston, spent a few days at the Fairfax last week. Mrs. Debuchy was Miss Clara Endicott of Boston before her marriage. She and her husband were extensively entertained during their visit, but devoted the major part of their time to automobiling and yachting.

Other visitors at the Fairfax were Mrs. Edna A. Gardiner, of Providence, R. I., Emo Bardelchen and Miss C. Jorgensen, of New York City, Miss Anna Judge, of Dorchester and Mrs. Ella E. Faxon, of Elyria, Ohio.

A hotel famine is threatened in Beverly after the arrival of President Taft, when many visitors will arrive. The rooms in the Highland have been all engaged, and all but a few are taken at the Fairfax. These are the only desirable hotels in Beverly for summer residents. There are but a few houses in Beverly which accommodate guests during the summer months. The rooms in one of these, Mrs. Dowd's, which is just opposite the Fairfax, have all been taken and the boarding list filled. Mrs. Grey's house on East Dane street, which has always been a popular residence for visitors, is also practically filled. The other rooms about the city are inconsiderable, and are found usually to be single, capable of accommodating but one, or two at the utmost. In none of the houses where such rooms are, is there board to be had. Complaint is already being heard by summer residents who are trying to get accommodations. Fred W. Carpenter, private secretary to the President, has engaged quarters at the Salem club, in Salem, and it is probable that, after the newspaper correspondents and other followers of President Taft have arrived, in Beverly, that there will be no quarters left for other visitors.

Automobile parties were regular features at Beverly hotels during the last few weeks. Three parties, in all eighteen persons, rolled up to the Highland during the course of the dinner hour last Thursday night, and every day has one or more at each of the hotels.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Segar, Miss Helen Segar, of Westerly, R. I., and Mrs. E. S. Milner and two daughters, of New York City, stopped three days at the Fairfax. They are touring through eastern cities.

Peter Sheahan's 12th annual prize dance in the Town hall last Friday night brought out the largest crowd of the season. The hall was filled, there being over a hundred couples on the floor. The music by Long's orchestra was of the best. The judges awarded the first prize of ten dollars to Morris Tree and lady, and the second, $5.00, to Edward Gaffrey and Miss Alice Silva.

Because of the rain Thursday evening the concert by the Salem Cadet band was postponed to Monday night of the coming week, this being the only available date for next week. The next concert after that will be on the 19th, and the last on the 3d of September.

Master George Salter is visiting relatives and friends at South Framingham and Needham.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilman Morgan of Philadelphia, Pa., and Miss Ruth A. Woodwell of Newburyport are spending a few weeks with Mrs. Nancy A. Baker on Mt. Pleasant Farm.

In turning around at the junction of Mill and School streets, one day last week, an automobile belonging to a party at Magnolia backed into the street light and completely demolished it. A new one has since been erected.

Miss Grace L. Salter proved a very entertaining little hostess last Saturday afternoon when she had a party of her little school friends down to her home on Forest street from two to five to help her celebrate her seventh birthday. The young folk played games and before going home all took a hand in sharing the birthday cake with Miss Salter. Those present were Violet Read, Charlotte Hartley, Ruth Bullock, Elsie Burgess, Elsie Andrews, Elian Thomas, Annie Diamond, Elizabeth Capello, Muriel Hutchinson, Edith Ericson, Myrtle Lethbridge, Ruth Preston, Doris Knoerr.

The assessors will be ready to announce the Manchester tax rate by our next issue, probably. It is very probable that the rate will be within 10 or 20 cents of last year. It will probably be around $9.50.

Many boat owners are planning to enter the procession of decorated boats next Thursday night when the annual water pageant will take place. The boats are requested to be in line at 7 o'clock.

To Make a Specialty of Chicken and Steak Dinners.

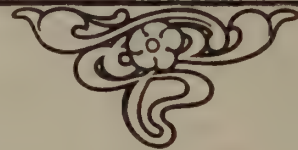

The announcement that a specialty of broiled chicken dinners is to be made at Ye Manchester House will be met with pleasure by many of our readers. Proprietor Callahan has secured the services, as manager, of F. H. Kenney, a young man of keen business ability and of much experience in hotel management. He has been for the last two and a half years in charge of the Paul Revere Tavern at Lexington where he made a specialty of catering to the best trade, and where a specialty was made of chicken and steak dinners. He was also at one time with the Crosby House in Washington for four years, and he was at one time assistant manager of the Palmer House in Chicago. It will be seen, therefore, that Mr. Kenney comes to Manchester with considerable hotel experience. His mother, Mrs. M. E. Lyford, and his neice, Miss May Jones, live at the Manchester house with him. Mr. Kenney will make a specialty of catering to tourists and the chicken and steak dinners which have made the Paul Revere Tavern in Lexington famous, will be the big attraction here. The dinner will be of the best. It will be on an equal, if not better than the famous chicken dinners of the Fern-croft and Lake-croft inns. The new service goes into effect Sunday morning. This does not mean, of course, that the chicken and steak dinners are the only meals served. There will be the regular dining room service, everything of first-class order.

D. T. Beaton has on hand a large stock of Watts water pressure regulators, which may be needed to meet the new water service. All orders will be promptly attended to. Send your orders now and avoid the rush! *

Miss Abbie Floyd has been spending the past week in Dennisport a guest of Capt. and Mrs. W. C. Whelden.

The building which George S. Sinnicks is having constructed on Tappan street, is already framed and is being boarded in. It is Mr. Sinnick's intention to use the first story of the building for storage and the upper portion will be turned into a tenement. Roberts & Hoare are doing the work.

Owing to the postponement of last night's band concert to next Monday evening, the Sons of Veterans have decided to postpone the play which they had scheduled for next Monday and Tuesday nights to the evenings of Monday and Tuesday, August 23 and 24.

Mrs. T. W. Long left Monday for Exeter, N. H., where she is to make an extended visit with relatives and friends.

The Manchester Red Men will hold their annual basket picnic at Tuck's Point, next Thursday, August 12. All members and their families are invited. Ice cream and coffee will be served free and, between the hours of 8 and 12, all will be furnished free transportation from Town Wharf.

HANDICRAFT SHOP FOR THE BLIND.

Demonstration in Basket Making by a Blind Man at the Handicraft Shop Manchester.

Those interested in baskets and basket making will have an excellent opportunity during the week of August 9th to see them made by a totally blind workman at the Handicraft Shop for the Blind on the Village Green at Manchester. James N. Hamilton of East Boston became blind some nine years ago and for five years has been making baskets. At first he worked under great difficulties as his friends discouraged him by saying that he might give them away but would never be able to make a salable article. Today he can turn out over seventy-five different styles in artistic and useful baskets and also does rush, pith and cane seating. His latest production is a very attractive tea tray made in two styles, oval and oblong, stained a mahogany or green. This tray is proving justly popular for piazza and tennis service, as well as for household use.

Mrs. Archie Greenough was taken to the Beverly Hospital Sunday in the ambulance. She had a fall one day a week or so ago at her home on Brook street, and while not particularly serious at the time, it later turned out that she had been injured internally. It was thought best to take her to the hospital for treatment.

Manchester was well represented at the Gloucester Day celebration Wednesday. Many went down in the afternoon for the parade and scores of others went to the pageant in the evening. Among those who attended, occupying one of the boxes, were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mead, and their guest Mr. Booth, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Sinnicks and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Knight and Mrs. G. W. Blaisdell.

A Mr. Reilly, living in the brick house on Allen's court, was taken to the Mass. General hospital Monday night and has since been operated upon for a supposed fracture of the spine. This morning he was reported to be resting comfortably.

Sunday Reiley fell while working at Morley, Flatley & Co.'s barn. When Dr. Blaisdell arrived he was unconscious and when he did not regain his senses Monday the doctor ordered his removal to the hospital. The case puzzled the physicians there. Reiley is about 30 years old and is married. His family is said to be destitute and in need of help.

A new style of warning post, with the warning sentence abbreviated to the two words "Railroad Crossing," is to take the place of the posts now raised at the grade crossings of the Boston & Maine railroad. At present the signs read, "Look out for the engine." This, the management thinks, is too long a phrase and, by cutting down the number of words, the letters can be enlarged so that they may be seen at much greater distance. The railroad commissioners in Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire have already approved the change as well as those of this state. The new posts will be placed at the right of the highway as one approaches the crossing. They will be 15 feet high with an arm projecting 12 feet, bearing the letters in black, 10 inches high.

The program at the Women's club next week will be as follows: Tuesday evening, the play given by the members for the benefit of the Clubhouse; Wednesday, dancing class; Thursday evening, Progressive whist; Friday, embroidery class and dancing.

The reception held at the Men's Club in honor of the Women's Club was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended.

Mrs. Ernest Dunbar was in town Monday a guest of her sister, Mrs. Fred S. Lycett.

Mr. and Mrs. William Malonson are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter in their home on Magnolia avenue, Friday, July 30.

Miss Esther Martin who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Abbott returned Saturday to her home in Everett.

Miss Amy Lycett left Monday for a month's vacation in Bridgewater, where she will be the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Francis Locke.

Miss Kitty Ballou of Quincy is visiting her brother Dennis C. Ballou this week.

The membership of the Men's club is now 223. For the past week every room at the club has been occupied. On the bowling alleys all previous records have been broken in both candle and bottle pins. The record for candle pins is 138, held by P. Shugrue, and for bottle pins 216 held by T. Patterson. Plans for the tournaments in bowling, pool, billiards and checkers have been completed. All entries must be in by Saturday night August 7. The tournament matches will begin Monday, August 9, Prizes for the winners have been secured and are now on exhibition at the Clubhouse. Matches will be played off every night next week until completed.

Last Friday evening, Mayor Brown of Lowell, so often characterized as "the policeman mayor," delivered an interesting and profitable address to the Men's Club and their friends. His subject was "Present Day Politics" and he mentioned in particular the power of the liquor corporations in the cities of Massachusetts under the existing system of government. Mayor Brown though only recently risen from the "rank and file," is a strong speaker and does not hesitate to talk plainly on matters of vital interest to the common people. There were about 175 people present, among them being a detachment of Spanish War veterans from Gloucester. After Mayor Brown's address Officer Martin J. Burke delighted the audience with a few interesting war stories, and Adjutant Horton spoke very interestingly for a few moments.

"Faith and Life" will be the subject of the sermon at the Village church, Sunday morning.

Prof. H. J. Krumpeln, the organist at the Village church this summer, gave the first of the series of free recitals last Monday evening. The church was well filled and the concert was greatly enjoyed. Prof. Krumpeln with his usual modesty was loath to respond to the enthusiastic encore at the end of the concert and the people stayed in their seats and applauded until the response came. The following is the program:

Next Wednesday evening the regular long monthly dance at the Men's Clubhouse will be held. Dancing will be from 8.30 to 11.30 o'clock. Music by Blythe's orchestra of four pieces. Saturday night will be the regular weekly dance from 8.30 to 10.15 o'clock.

Tuesday evening the Men's Club entertained the Women's Club. Dancing, pool and bowling occupied the evening. During the evening lemonade and wafers were served. Music was furnished by Chane's orchestra.

News has been received here this week of the death at Rolling Dam, N. B., of Wesley McDermitt, former resident of the Farms. Mr. McDermitt has been a sufferer from tuberculosis for some time and he went to his home in the Provinces lately in an endeavor to regain his health. This was unavailing, however.

It is reported that John B. Wilkins, the present occupant of Mrs. R. L. Ward's estate, the Pump cottage, has purchased the same.

Miss Gertrude Fay of Roxbury is spending her vacation at the Farms and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Morgan.

Four horses hitched into a hay-wagon, with the bottom covered with new-mown hay is suggestive of the jingle of sleigh bells and of a jolly hay-rack sleighing party in winter. Such an outfit was seen at the Farms one evening this week. A crowd of young people took a three hours' ride and had a most delightful time.

Miss Sadie Voorhees of Hyde Park, N. Y., and Miss Amy Striley of Danvers have been guests part of this week of Mr. and Mrs. James E. McDonnell, Haskell street.

The Boston-Detroit ball games this week attracted quite a number of Farms fans, some of whom were unable to gain admittance at Tuesday's game owing to the record breaking crowd. Those who were disappointed Tuesday tried it again Wednesday with better luck.

Thomas Gauld of Ipswich, a former resident here, was in town yesterday renewing acquaintances.

Mrs. Andrew Standley has recovered from her recent illness sufficient to get out of doors occasionally.

The pupils of Miss Gertrude H. Connolly, instructor at Mack Park playgrounds, Salem, came to the Farms this afternoon for an outing at West Beach. Bathing, games and delightful refreshments made the day one which the children will long remember.

Beverly Farms sent a big delegation to swell the crowd at Gloucester Wednesday. About 60 went by train and many more by team and auto.

A large gathering is expected at the lawn party on the grounds of St. Margaret's church at the Farms tomorrow evening. Dancing and moving pictures are to be among the amusements offered.

Lawrence J. Watson, 2d, will leave early next week for Chicago, where he will spend several days on business.

Sidney Hutchinson, who, some time ago, purchased the strip of marsh land between West street and the railroad tracks at Beverly Farms, is improving the property and it now has a very attractive appearance. The vegetables, plants and flowers growing there are in the height of their growth and are very beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop F. Low of Valley street, Beverly Farms, are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Frank Connors of New York. Mr. Connors is a member of the famous "Broadway Squad" of six-footers, of the New York police department.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ward of Hart street are entertaining James J. Foley of Hoboken, N. J. Mr. Foley has spent several of his vacations at the Farms.

Preston Post, W. R. C., at its meeting Tuesday evening appointed a committee to arrange for a benefit to raise funds for relief and other worthy purposes. A lawn party is being considered.

The Concert and Dance which was to have been given in Neighbors' hall, Beverly Farms, last night, has been postponed to next Tuesday evening, August 10th. dav

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Coleman of Kingston, N. Y., are at the Farms for a month, the guests of friends.

The little wooden bridge on Beach street, Beverly Farms, has been made a place of amusement. On several evenings this week, young people of the summer colony gathered there and, to the tune of violin or accordin, enjoyed dancing for an hour or two.

Keith's.

There was a time when such an organization as the Fadettes was considered a whole show in itself at highest prices, but B F. Keith evidently believes in double shows, judging by the program he is announcing for the week of August 9th.

Besides the Fadettes there is a list of vaudeville attractions such as one would expect to find only at the height of the season, for every act is without exception a star feature.

Ben Welch, the Hebrew and Italian impersonator is now conceded to be one of the foremost in this class of work, and he is on the bill. Then there is Fred St. Onge, the old time champion bicyclist, who with his company of experts, give one of the most difficult and amusing wheel acts that has ever been put forth.

"Three Twins" to Open Boston Theatre

"Three Twins," the most successful musical comedy America has ever known will be the opening attraction at the Boston Theatre during the week of August 23rd. The original company with an entire new scenic and costume production will be shown to Boston theatre-goers at that time. This is the company that ran all last year at the Herald Square Theatre, New York, to the largest business ever played to at that theatre. Clifton Crawford and Bessie McCoy are the two principal players in a cast that is unusually strong.

"Three Twins" was made into a musical piece by Charles Dickson and was originally a farce called "Incog" by Mrs Pacheo, the lyrics are by O. A. Hauerbach and the music by Karl Hoschna.

Society Notes

President Taft joined his family at Burgess Point last Saturday and he has been enjoying a quiet rest since his arrival. There has been little variation in his daily program. He rises early and hurries off to either the Myopia or the Essex County golf links where he plays golf until about one o'clock. Then he returns to the cottage and transacts such official business as demands his attention. Later on in the afternoon he takes a ride with Mrs. Taft and returns in time for an eight o'clock dinner, after which he remains at home. The family seem to enjoy spending the evenings quietly at home, and during the first two days after the arrival of the President they were almost continually together. Miss Taft has been enthusiastic over the tennis tournament being held at the Essex county club by the younger residents of the North Shore, usually driving to the courts alone in the Taft electric runabout. Robert has also been interested in both tennis and golf, while Charlie has been spending much of his time on his sailing dory. The President said in a recent interview that he had never had a vacation that he had enjoyed and appreciated more than the present one. He says he is delighted with the North Shore, and that he hopes to spend a great deal more time here next summer, when he hopes Mrs. Taft will be in better health, and better able to entertain.

Mrs. Howard Heinz of Pittsburg and her brother Amasa Rust of Saginaw, Mich., have been guests of Dr. and Mrs. Lancashire at Manchester the last week. Dr. and Mrs. Lancashire also entertained for a few days an automobile party from Saginaw which was made up of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Richardson, Miss Helen Knowlton and Miss Helen Stark.

Hugo R. Johnstone of the Hamilton colony has been to Bar Harbor for a short stay this week. Last Saturday Mr. Johnstone, who is one of the finest players on the Myopia links, played a match with President Taft.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Saltonstall of Pride's Crossing are entertaining the father and mother of Mrs. Saltonstall, Col. and Mrs. Stevenson of Milton. Mr. and Mrs. Murray Forbes and two children of Milton were guests at the Saltonstall residence a week ago.

Mr. Nabuco, the oldest son of the Brazilian Ambassador, whose summer home is at Manchester, severely injured his hand at the Gloucester pageant last week by falling upon it. He broke a small bone and has been obliged to keep his hand bandaged since that time.

Mrs. Heber R. Bishop of the Beverly Farms colony is visiting friends at Southampton, L. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Bement have been at Soo Nipi Park, N. H., the last week.

An event not on the official program at the Manchester water pageant last night was the up-setting of a canoe in which were Jack Merrill, Jack Caner and one of the Means boys. The boys were in the middle of the harbor, opposite the clubhouse, when some waves from a passing launch capsized the canoe and they were thrown into the water. A launch picked up two of them and a row boat from the club pier put out to find the other.

The open golf tournament on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week will be the big attraction at the Essex County Golf links. While it is too early to know anything of the entries, it is likely that the list will be larger than that of July, and that a number of the big players will be here. This special invitation tournament is open to the members of the Massachusetts Golf association and others whom the committee may invite.

The next race of the Manchester Yacht club will be sailed next Saturday. The Crowhurst cup race will be sailed on the 24th,—Tuesday of the following week.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Gibson of Washington arrived at Manchester Wednesday to be the guests of Mrs. James McMillan at "Eagle Head." They motored from Newport where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Haggin at a dinner given for Countess Festetics, and of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt at Sandy Point Farm, where they attended the clambake last Tuesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Gibson have taken the "Ely Camp" at Lake Placid, in the Adirondacks, where they will go the first of next week. In September they will return to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt at the Newport Horse Show, and during October will entertain at their camp, some of their guests including the Postmaster-General, the Vanderbilts, and Dennie Hare.

Mrs. James B. Colgate of New York, with her daughter Miss Mary Colgate is the guest of her neices the Misses Colby, Beverly Farms. Mrs. Colgate, who is a daughter of the late Governor Anthony Colby of New Hampshire, has been paying an annual visit to the old Colby Homestead, New London-on-Lake-Sunapee, N. Under the management of Joseph H. Collins and J. Henry Coulter, the horse show on Crescent Beach, Magnolia, will be held on August 28th. Mr. Collins has just sent out the entry blanks and, within a week, it will be possible to give the full list of entries. Inasmuch as Messrs. Collins and Coulter have personally seen a large number of society people who are horse-lovers and secured their promise to take part, it is safe to say that the coming gala-day will bring the classiest work ever seen at any local gymkhana. Work has already been begun preparing the beach for the event, now but two weeks off.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stow Bradley arrived in New York on the Adriatic yesterday and came at once to their summer home at Pride's Crossing. They have been abroad only a short while. Their house here has been open since early summer. Friends of Miss Leslie Bradley are congratulating her on her close call from serious accident last Friday. The car in which she was driving collided with the W. B. Thomas automobile on the avenue leading from both houses to Paine place. While both cars were more or less damaged nobody was hurt.

Fraulein Wolters, the well known German teacher who has been coming to the North Shore for so many years, is announcing a subscription series of three German readings from Baumbach's Sommermarchen, on Fridays at 11 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Francis M. Whitehouse at Manchester Cove on Aug. 20th, at Mrs. Eben D. Jordan's, West Manchester, on the 27th and at Mrs. W. H. Moore's, Pride's Crossing, on Sept. 3. The course will be $4.00, and single tickets at $1.50 each may be purchased, by subscribers only, for their guests.

Miss Helen Todd Hammond of the Kensington Studios of Boston has opened a most attractive studio at the North Shore Grill, Magnolia. Miss Hammond has received personal letters of commendation from Sargent, the portrait painter, and Cyrus Dallin, our foremost living sculptor, placing her in the front rank of miniature artists for her ability to paint in true likeness. Miss Hammond has recently finished miniatures of Ex-President and Mrs. Roosevelt as wedding presents for Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, sittings having been given them at the White House. Miss Hammond's Studio has many interesting miniatures of celebrities on exhibition. Our readers are cordially invited to visit the studio.

Society Notes

The grand ball of the season at the Oceanside is set for tomorrow evening. Coming in the midst of the big tennis tournament, it is to be made a Tennis Ball. Not only the larger number of players engaged in the tournament will participate, but the host of friends who have watched them play, society folk from Boston and Gloucester, and guests of the hotel and their friends will all be there and one of the most fashionable society events ever held at the big hotel is expected. The dance will be held in the big dining room, which will be beautifully decorated for the occasion. The full Oceanside orchestra will furnish the music from the orchestra balcony. Many of the guests at the hotel have invited friends from many of the summering places near-at-hand and even from as far away as New York specially for this occasion and they will attend in large numbers.

Miss Amy Grant, of New York City, in the last of her series of three operatic recitals at the North Shore Grill, today presented something entirely new. It was a dramatic reading of the opera Electra, the latest work from the hand of Richard Strauss and produced in Dresden for the first time on Jan. 25 last. The music marks the greatest triumph of this wizard of sound. In the full orchestra 125 pieces are used. To this effect is added the efforts of a great chorus so that, at intense moments, the sound culminates in a cyclonic roar. The text is a masterpiece of tragedy by Von Hofmannsthal. The story deals with the Trojan war. Electra was the daughter of King Agamemnon and Clytemnestra. During the king's absence in the war against Troy, Clytemnestra bestows her favors on Aegisthus, and, with his help, murders Agamemnon on his return. Orestes, the brother of Electra, returns after a long absence, and kills their mother and Aegisthus. The rights of production in America have been purchased by Oscar Hammerstein, who has paid something like $50,000 for them. Mary Garden will doubtless sing the role of Electra. Miss Grant gave her arrangement of the opera as a reading with selections from the score played by Max Zach.

The exhibition of hand-wrought silverware by George C. Gebelein, the noted silversmith, at the Bradford studio of arts and crafts at Magnolia, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of the last week, attracted much attention and was largely patronized every day. On Tuesday Mr. Gebelein was present and took personal charge of the display. All of the pieces are masterfully done and some of them are indescribably wonderful. A large platter, for example, has a border of Grecian design so complex and accurately measured that months were required in its execution. Mr. Gebelein has mastered the art of hammering almost any shape out of a plate of silver. Many of them are gold lined, the gold setting off the silver exquisitely.

"The Coolest Head in the World."

This distinction has been given to Harry De Coe, the Englishman, who startled London by his wonderful feats of balancing. De Coe places four tables, one on top of the other, and on top of this he places two chairs. Then with two more chairs he climbs to the top of this rickety heap and in the most incredible manner manages to put a third chair on top of the two already there. Then climbing upon the tables he balances a fourth chair, and not only that but he sits on it and smokes a cigarette. During most of the operations the entire pyramid of tables and chairs seems to sway, but De Coe accomplishes the feat in the most matter of fact manner. He comes to Keith's next week as a feature of one of the big bills that has been making the summer season a memorable one.

The Fadettes continue to give their popular concerts before the regular vaudeville bill begins, and Mrs. Nichols and her forty players are more popular than ever.

BAD RUNAWAY IN MANCHESTER THIS AFTERNOON.
HORSE DASHES THROUGH DRUG STORE WINDOW.

At three o'clock this afternoon, a horse driven by George H. Lyman, jr., son of George H. Lyman of Beverly Farms and Boston, ran away at Manchester and in its mad dash crashed through the big plate glass window of Allen's drug store in the center of the village. Dr. Riordan of Beverly Farms who was immediately called to the scene thought he could save the horse's life.

In the light runabout with young Lyman at the time was Howard Wainwright, son of Mrs. Grace Wainwright, who occupies a cottage near that of George Lee at Beverly Farms. The young men were on their way to the Essex County club to play golf.

M. T. Murphy was an eye witness to the start of the runaway. As the young men were passing his home on Central street, he saw the driver give the horse a touch with the whip. The animal plunged forward. The driver held in on the reins and as there was no breeching on the harness the front of the wagon struck the animal's hind legs and that is what scared it. It then started to run like mad.

Officer Morgan was standing in the square as the horse came galloping along. As it reached the corner of the three streets, he says, it plunged straight toward the store and, as if it did not see the window ahead plunged straight through it. Both of the young men were thrown through the window.

Officer Morgan was the first to grab the animal and help pull it back from the window. Officer Jones, also happened there at the time.

Chief of Police Sullivan was quickly on hand and others assisted young Lyman to Dr. Glendenning's office nearby. The young man was badly cut about the face and hands, and his lip was badly gashed.

Wainwright received several scratches on the face and on one ear.

The four wheels of the runabout were smashed.

John Walsh, a clerk in the drug store, had as close a call from serious accident, as did the young men in the carriage. He was standing in the window at the time cleaning it. Just in the nick of time he vaulted over a radiator which separates the window from the store and by a hairs-breadth escaped being struck by the horse's hoofs and the flying glass.

Chief of Police Sullivan took the two boys home in an automobile and was the first to tell Mrs. Lyman of the accident and of the narrow escape which her son had. It is really miraculous that the boys were not seriously injured by the glass.

The overturning of a big touring car owned by J. H. Smith of Boston and Magnolia, on the hill at Floating Bridge, near the dividing line between Lynn and Salem at 11 o'clock last night nearly cost the life of the chauffeur, William Carter, 22 years old, of North Cambridge. With Carter was William E. Johnson a foreman at the Frank H. Davis garage, Magnolia. Carter and Johnson were on their way to Lynn. When near the hill mentioned, Carter evidently lost control of the machine. It ran upon a ledge at the side of the road and was turned completely over. Johnson jumped as the machine toppled and escaped injury, but Carter was caught beneath the car and held fast. Johnson ran some distance to the tracks of the Boston & Northern and stopped a car whose passengers got out and raised the machine so that Carter could be dragged out. He was then put on the car and taken to Salem hospital. How seriously he is hurt is not yet known.

Caught Horse Thief.

Chief of Police Sullivan of Manchester yesterday arrested James Johnson, alias Thomas Thomas, alias Lawrence Donaldson, who is thought to be a noted horse thief. Thomas rode into town in the morning on a handsome black horse. He went to Boyle's stable on Summer street and tried to sell the animal. His price was $75. When he could not make a sale he went to Connor's stable on Tappan street, where he offered to sell the animal for $50. Special Officer Charles Lucas, heard the conversation and telephoned the police station. Chief Sullivan was soon on the trail of the man with the horse. He met him on Beach street and, going out into the street, asked the fellow to come with him. The chief led the way to Foster's stable on Beach street and left the horse and placed the suspicious man under arrest.

Later Chief Sullivan talked with the Boston police and they, in turn, notified the Lynn police. Inspector Horne came to Manchester last night and took Johnson to Lynn.

It appears that a horse and carriage were stolen in Lynn Wednesday. The description which Chief Sullivan gave of this man tallied with that of the man wanted in Lynn. But the horse stolen in Lynn was bay, while the horse brought to Manchester was black. The Beverly police last night found the Lynn horse tied to a tree in Beverly, with the bridle gone.

It is supposed that Johnson took the bridle off this horse and put it on a black horse which he stole from a paddock near the Myopia Hunt club.

The black horse was a valuable hunter belonging to George S. Mandell. It was returned to Mr. Mandell this morning.

:: At the Hotels ::

The big event at the Oceanside this week is the annual tennis tournament for the new Oceanside cups. The tournament began Tuesday morning and will continue next Saturday when the final matches will take place, the winners declared, and the cups awarded.

This year the tournament is exclusively under the management of the hotel. In view of this fact, the management has put up as trophies a new set of cups. The trophies were especially made for the Oceanside contests and are elegant specimens of the silversmith's art. They are now on exhibition at the candy booth at the hotel and are attracting much attention.

So far the tournament has proved the biggest thing of its kind ever held in Magnolia. First there are 166 entries. In former years the lists have rarely exceeded half this number. The tournament is also more of a society event than formerly. Day after day, the hotel verandas overlooking the courts and the benches that skirt the sides have been crowded with gaily dressed women and fashionably attired men and the roads adjoining the courts have been lined with automobiles, some from Gloucester, some from Boston, as well as Bass Rocks, Rockport, and the many watering places hereabout. Each of the machines bore a load of tennis enthusiasts who watched the games with intense interest.

Mrs. Morris Dallett, Miss Marie Dallett, Morris, jr., Margaret and Marjorie Dallett of Philadelphia have taken apartments in Tennis Cottage for the remainder of the season. Later Judge Dallett will come on from Philadelphia.

The Rev. Mr. Cameron J. Davis and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Livingstone Pryor of Buffalo, N. Y., are at the Oceanside for a short stay. Mr. Pryor is one of the most prominent manufacturers of Buffalo.

Wendell W. Anderson and sister, Miss Susanna, have joined their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson of Detroit, Mich., at Overlook Cottage, as guests of the Oceanside.

Mrs. W. B. Saunders, Miss Emily B. Saunders, W. S. Saunders, jr., and Miss Catherine L. Vaughan make up a party of automobilists, who are spending the summer motoring through New England. They are spending two weeks at the Oceanside.

George W. Stetson and family of Boston are at the Oceanside for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Stetson and daughter, Dorothy arrived some time ago. Their two sons, Webster W. and Theodore F. arrived Tuesday.

THE agitation that the BREEZE has been making from time to time toward the building of an up-to-date hotel in Manchester to take the place of the Masconomo, long past its day, is attracting outside attention, we are pleased to note. We have seen mention of it a number of times in the outside newspapers, and people in other towns are talking about it. In Salem many of the business men have alluded to it and regret that Manchester has not been able to keep up to the times in this matter. It is a fact that there is not a modern summer hotel between Marblehead and Magnolia, and property is placed at such a value all along the Beverly and Beverly Farms shore that it is improbable that a summer hotel will be built along that section. Manchester presents the only available property for such a purpose in the Masconomo House. It is a pity somebody does not take hold of this place and do something with it. It is a blot on the good name of the town to let such valuable property remain practically dormant when by the expenditure of a few thousand dollars hundreds of the leading people of the country could be induced to come here and spend the summer. People come there now, almost every day in their automobiles and turn away because there are no facilities for taking care of patrons in an up-to-date manner. If Manchester had a board of trade or had some hustling good business men who are willing to take the initiative we are of the opinion that some capital could be interested in this proposition.

THE newspaper men are now getting to describe the dress of the various members of the presidential party. One described Miss Taft as wearing a muslin dress, and a mull green straw hat, trimmed with moss roses and white gloves. The gloves must have been a new feature in millinery trimming.

Changes in the Game Laws.

The Massachusetts fish and game protective association has sent a circular to its members giving notice of the principal changes in the game laws for 1909. Those which are of most interest to sportsmen are as follows:

The shooting season for quail, woodcock and partridge is from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15. The season for shore, marsh and beach birds, opens Aug. 1. The open season for wild fowl such as geese, brant, ducks (except wood ducks) and teal is from Sept. 15 to Dec. 31. The penalty for the use of a ferret is $50.

Those who raise pheasants may kill them upon their own land and may sell them at any season in accordance with regulations of the commissioners approved by governor and council. Owners or occupants of land may kill deer with a shotgun when they are found destroying crops other than grass growing on uncultivated land. The commissioners may permit any person to buy and sell trout artificially raised at any season in accordance with regulation to be made by them and approved by the governor and council. State reservations and all "land held in trust for public use" are made bird and game refuges.

Leach—Davis.

Fred M. Leach of Manchester and Miss Ethel A. Davis of Gloucester were married at Manchester on July 22, by Rev. L. H. Ruge of the Congregational church

Fraulein Wolters Honored by Japanese Government.

Fraulein Maria Wolters, the German teacher, who has been coming to the North Shore for so many years, received last Saturday the following letter from Kokichi Midzuro, Japanese consul-general at New York:

"In appreciation of your valuable contribution toward the Relief Fund for the famine sufferers in the northern part of Japan in August, 1905, the governor of the Prefecture of Miyagi has requested me to transmit to you herewith a letter of thanks from him presenting to you a memorial wooden cup, which I take pleasure in forwarding to you under separate cover."

The distinction of being thus honored comes to very, very few people. Fraulein Wolters became interested in the widows and orphans of the Japanese soldiers during the Russo-Japanese war through a Japanese friend. She sought her friends about Boston and Brookline and told them of these people in the far eastern country and was the first to place the matter before the Boston public. She interested to a certain extent some leading Bostonians and the authorities at Washington were communicated with in order to ascertain just the extent of needs in Japan. Her efforts, though, towards raising a subscription fund were unavailable as no big popular movement was started. Undismayed by this, however, Fraulein Wolters set to work on her own behalf. She planned entertainments, lectures and other forms of entertainment in order to raise money. She worked indefatigably, night and day all one winter and by so doing she raised several thousand dollars. The money was forwarded to Japan through the proper authorities and this letter of appreciation and loving cup comes from the Japanese governor as a note of appreciation of her work.

Mrs. Harry Raymond of Washington is spending the month in Manchester visiting friends and is stopping at Mrs. J. W. Campbell's, on School street. Mr. Raymond was chauffeur for the Leiters at the Charles Head cottage last season.

A wedding of interest to Manchester people was that of Elmer D. Full, son of Capt. and Mrs. John M. P. Full, and Miss Amy C. Wilson, daughter of Mrs. Martha Wilson, at the home of the bride's mother, Curtis street, Pigeon Cove, last Wednesday evening. The groom is very well known in Manchester.

Mail Carrier Charles Whippen and family of Lynn are visiting here during Mr. Whippen's vacation.

The Red Men's picnic at Tuck's Point yesterday was well attended by members and their families.

The Pilgrims' outing and clambake at Tuck's Point next Wednesday will probably bring out one of the largest picnicing parties of the summer. It is the summer outing of the Pilgrim Wanderers and members of the order from all the surrounding places will be here. The bake will be prepared by Prof. Horton.

The Drug Clerks' ball on Thursday evening, Aug. 26, will be the star event of the month in the line of dances. Last year the party was considered "the best." Long's orchestra will give a concert the first of the evening and this will be followed by a grand march and dancing.

Good weather favored the Knights of Columbus Tuesday evening when the lawn party for the benefit of their table at the coming Sacred Heart church fair was held at Knight's field, near the church. A large crowd of people attended and were generous in their buying propensities, leaving considerable over $100. A platform had been built on which the dancers made merry to the music from Long's orchestra. Two arc lights had been erected over the stand, lighting the grounds splendidly. The sandwich table was in charge of Mrs. J. W. Cawthorne, Miss Katherine Watson and Mrs. William Coughlin; the ice cream and cake was in charge of Mrs. Charles Francis, Mrs. J. W. Coughlin, Mrs. Edward Flynn and Mrs. John Connors. Manuel Miguel and James McElhaney presided over the lemonade bowl. The artful dodger was liberally patronized. Fred Doughery had charge of this and Robert Evans was the "dodger" for a greater part of the evening. The doll frame was another attractive feature for those who wanted to test their aim. Lawrence Watson was in charge of the dolls.

At the meeting of the North Shore Horticultural Society Friday night, two subjects were discussed. One was the question, "What are hardy perennials?" and the other, "The Culture of Physostegia." On both subjects there was ample discussion. The silver cup offered by Mrs. Phillip Dexter to be competed for at the August show was on exhibition.

William F. Roberts of Essex street has a good deal of respect for the qualities of the BREEZE classified advertising columns. In the early summer Mr. Roberts put a fifteen cent adv. in the paper advertising his chickens and broilers. He has sold out five incubator broods since then and could sell more now if he had them. The last lot of 40 chickens was taken one day this week by a Beverly Farms family, the coachman coming down and buying the whole lot, telling, as have many others they have seen the adv. in the BREEZE.

The Manchester Launch club is to have an outing at Tuck's Point next Friday, the 20th. The members will assemble at the point in the late afternoon, most of them in their motor boats, and an obstacle race will be the first event on the program. The boats will race to the outer harbor and remain there long enough to catch a fish. The first man to pull in a cod and return to the point will be the winner. Meanwhile a clam-bake will be in the process of cooking, this feature being in charge of Prof. Horton. The club is planning to hold a race on Labor Day.

Albert Haraden has let his cottage on School street to Miss Mabel C. Wharton and her sister of New York. They will occupy the house during August and September.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Allen have secured the Howard Winchester cottage off Central street, and will move in the latter part of next week. Mr. and Mrs. Allen have lived in the "Old Corner Store" building for a generation; now that the old landmark is to be removed, however, they must move elsewhere. They have very fortunately secured this up-to-date little cottage, conveniently located. The Winchesters will not live here this winter, but may take apartments in Brookline.

Supt. of Schools Fish of Amesbury, formerly of Manchester, has taken on the additional duties, we understand, of superintending the schools at Merrimac.

Miss Jennie Long of Haverhill has been visiting Mrs. C. E. Bell, off School street, the last week. Mrs. Bell and two little sons are leaving tomorrow for a week's visit in Haverhill and Merrimac.

Mrs. Margaret Brown and sister of Roxbury spent the last week in town visiting friends.

Mrs. J. W. Campbell has stopping with her at her home on School street, Miss Edith Green of Hartford, Conn., Mrs. W. H. Thomas of Brighton, Miss Lee and Miss Johnson of Toronto, Mrs. H. Newcomb of Boston and Baron Paumgartan of the Austro-Hungarian legation.

Day Officer Robert Stoops, who has been kept off duty since the last of February with some ailment of the back, is able to get out and walk about. He hopes to be able to get back to work by the first of September.

In accordance with the provisions of the Massachusetts statutes the sheriff of this district came to Manchester for six consecutive days last week and posted notices on the property along Dana's beach, owned by R. H. Dana, H. K. Caner, G. M. Lane and Charles Head, to prevent the public from claiming any legal right to traverse the numerous paths and by-ways along that property, which have been used in some cases ever since the town was first settled. This has to be done once in twenty years, according to law, and last week was the date on which the legal steps had to be taken.

More and more of the summer colony come over to the village for these concerts as the series progress.

Last week's concert had to be postponed to Monday night of this week because of the rain, when, most unfortunately, rain again interfered. Manchester received a little of the shower from the edge of a heavy thunder storm that was felt to its full capacity in Gloucester. The band had to go to the town hall and later on it again came to the band stand and played the balance of the evening. About 100 people from Beverly Farms and towns in that direction left on the 10.10 train after hearing the concert.

THE MEN'S CLUBHOUSE IN MAGNOLIA.

Next Week Will be "Clubhouse Week." Everybody Invited to Inspect Building. Effort Will be Made to Reduce Indebtedness.

FREDERICK J. LIBBY.

Next week, Aug. 16 to 21, is to be Men's Clubhouse Week in Magnolia. Everybody along the North Shore is invited to inspect from top to bottom the

McM. Colfelt gave the lot and at Christmas added $2000 towards the building, making her contribution to the success of the enterprise $4350. Is it unrea-

handsome building which has been erected during the past winter for men who work in Magnolia. And everybody will be asked to lend a hand and help put the enterprise on a self-supporting basis from this the first year. To effect this the indebtedness must be reduced by $6000 and the efforts of next week will be directed towards this definite end. It means but with one or two large gifts and many smaller ones the full amount will be contributed, as the history of the clubhouse shows.

It was just a year ago last Tuesday that Mrs. William McMillan headed the subscription list for a men's clubhouse with a pledge of $1000. Miss Elizabeth Houghton followed with a subscription of $500, which she increased later to $1000. Miss Fannie M. Faulkner and Mrs. H. G. Curry pledged $1000 each. T. Jefferson Coolidge, jr., though not living in Magnolia proper, with his accustomed public spirit gave $600, which T. Jefferson Coolidge, sr., raised to $1000. James S. Lee the architect gave a month of his time and that of his draughtsman drawing the beautiful plans without charge. And Mrs. Rebecca sonable to believe that there are two or three left in Magnolia as benevolent as these and as able and willing to help? If this faith is justified, if $2000 or $3000 are contributed in large sums, there is every reason to believe that the contributions ranging in size from $250 to $1.00 will be numerous enough to bring the total up to the desired sum. For the Men's Clubhouse has already justified the effort put into it by its unqualified success from the very day of its opening.

After only two months' existence it has a large place in the life and thought of the majority of the men in Magnolia who work. To men away from home it is home. It is always full of sunshine. There is always something going on. There is always somebody there to talk with. Every part of it is attractive. How could it help succeeding?

Moreover, it was needed. There are three or four hundred men in Magnolia in summer in the employ of the summer colony. For these men there was no adequate place of amusement when they were through their work. They could steal a car and go on a "joy ride" to Gloucester, if they got desperate. They could stand on the street corner. They could make love in dark places. But as it seemed intolerable. A little club-room containing two pool tables and some magazines was maintained by a few of the old Magnolians as an earnest of what they would like to do. This cost $400 a year and was wholly inadequate at that.

The success of the Women's Clubhouse was encouraging. This had been built three years and with its enthusiastic membership of 275 each season and its record of self-support from the outset was an unmitigated joy to its friends. Accordingly there seemed but one thing to be done. This was to build a clubhouse for the men. To be permanently useful it must be a proper building, "good enough for anybody." It must provide wholesome amusement in wholesome variety. It must contain rooms to let as a source of income in order that the building might hope to become self-supporting. And it must contain a restaurant, both because of the men rooming in the building and because Magnolia needed one and this clubhouse was the best place for it.

The clubhouse that has been built was planned to meet these needs. After two months' trial it is pronounced satisfactory in every particular.

The building is in no respect extravagant. Good taste and economy are not incompatible and while the building and its furnishings give an impression of luxury, more careful observation will reveal the fact that this is due not to the expensiveness of what is seen, but to the prevailing harmony. Every thing is well made and durable. The colors and lines are satisfying. But every thing is of the simplest, and rigid economy ruled every purchase.

That this is so will be seen by scrutinizing the following itemized statement of the cost of the property complete. The whole sum was $30,650.27. This may be analyzed under the following heads:

|                               |             |

Our chiffoniers cost $6.75 each; our restaurant tables $3.50 and $3.65, and the solid oak box seat mission chairs $2.10 each. The window shades for the 95 windows are of the best hand-tinted cloth on the best Hartshorn rollers, yet they cost only $60 put up. The beds are from the Whitcomb Bedstead Co., which guarantees their quality. The mattresses are loudly praised. The springs are the best National. Bed, $18,756.64. We have to subtract from this the unpaid subscriptions, most of which are good, amounting to $139, and a cash balance in the bank of $15.15 and spring and mattress cost $11.25 complete and set up. These figures give some hint of the economy with which the building was built and furnished. They are indicative also of the spirit of cooperation manifested by the firms with whom we dealt.

Our outlays have been taken care of as follows:

|                                  |             |
|----------------------------------|-------------|
| Subscriptions paid               | $11,432.00 |
| Tag Day last year                | 476.78      |
| Mortgage at 5 per cent.          | 16,000.00   |
| Temporary Loans on Notes         | 1,325.00    |
| Borrowed from Clubhouse Receipts | 413.16      |
| Outstanding Bills                | 1,018.48    |
|                                  | $30,665.42 |

The four last items in the above statements give the gross debt on the property, we find the net indebtedness, $18,602.49. This is the present debt on the property. We ask that this be reduced by $6000. When this has been done, the building will be on a sound footing and permanently self-supporting.

This will seem to some a rash prediction. It is not. It is a conservative estimate as time will show. We offer in partial support of the prophecy the following figures which give the receipts and expenditures for the months of June and July just ended, which comprise one-half the season:

| EXPENDITURES.                               |          |

MAN IN WOMAN'S GARB

Assists Burglar Who Gets $1000 from Garrard Comly House at Noonday.

A daring burglar entered the house of Garrard Comly, vice-president of the Eliot National Bank of Boston about 1.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and, while an accomplice dressed in woman's clothes watched outside, secured $1000 worth of jewelry from Mrs. Comly's dressing table and got away with it. So far the police haven't the slightest clue.

Mrs. Comly had company and, after luncheon, led her guests to the lawn where they began playing croquet. Soon after the game began, Mrs. Comly put down her mallet and started for the house. Just at that moment a woman dressed in ill-fitting garb, appeared for the first time at the corner of the hedge and hailed a passing iceman in such loud tones that the attention of Mrs. Comly and her company was attracted at once. The woman asked the iceman the direction to the Magnolia station. When the iceman replied, the stranger thanked him repeatedly in stentorian tones, calling back as he moved away, and then disappeared in the shrubbery.

When the robbery was discovered, constables and police scoured the woods and highways, but failed to get a glimpse of the persons wanted. The police figure out that the stranger who appeared at the hedge and called to the iceman was really a man dressed as a woman and spoke so loudly in order to warn the burglar, who was then at work on the second floor that he was in danger. It is thought that the burglar then jumped from a second story window that faces the woods and disappeared in the bushes.

The articles taken were an opal and diamond ring and a turquoise diamond ring, the two being valued at $700; two strings of pearls, two pearl pins and amethyst ring, a purse containing $8 and a silver watch engraved with the initials W. G. C.

About the time the theft was committed William Kelly, care-taker of the Miss Alice Longfellow place, saw a woman with as mannish a stride as her skirts would permit, hurrying along the road toward the station. No further trace of the culprits has been secured.

✦ Manchester ✦

A novel contest is on at B. L. Allen's drug store. Mr. Allen has placed a lot of ribbons in his window and the one guessing nearest to the length of the ribbons will receive a handsome gold-mounted Crocker fountain pen.

First Baptist church. Sunday, Aug. 15, the pastor, Rev. Theodore Lyman Frost, will preach on "The Blessedness of Persecution," and in the evening on "The Man Who Never Grew Old."

Charles Fritz was the winner of the contest conducted by Allen's drug store and received the fountain pen offered for writing the phrase, "you blow it to fill it," on one side of a postal card the greatest number of times. Mr. Fritz wrote the phrase 185 times and won the $6.50 silver mounted Crocker fountain pen.

Water Pageant at Manchester.

But for the strong breeze that was blowing last night the weather conditions for the annual water pageant at Manchester, under the auspices of the Manchester Yacht club, would have been ideal. In other ways the procession and everything that went with it went off in splendid order.

It might be said, however, that the number of boats entered in the procession was far from what it should have been. It is to be regretted that more interest in these affairs is not taken by the townspeople. The yacht club spends considerable money each year for fireworks and prizes and the townspeople should show their appreciation by entering boats in the procession.

The procession started at 8.25 and the boats were towed down the harbor from the Fenton Co.'s wharf, past the club house and to the outer harbor, by F. W. Fabyan's power boat "Edith." On returning to the harbor the boats were brought to a stop in front of the club house until after the fireworks.

The display of fireworks from Long Pier was beautiful, ending with the club pennant blazing out in a flame of fire at one end of the pier.

The shore line was illuminated. Among those having illuminations were E. C. Fitch, W. A. Tucker, Charles Read, Dr. Lancashire, the Town Pier, the Picnic House, the Club House, E. S. Grew, Gordon Abbott, E. D. Jordan, J. H. Storer, A. I. Croll, S. Parker Bremer. One of the large yachts in the outer harbor was dressed in Japanese lanterns from stem to stern.

At Dr. Webber's estate red fire lighted up an American flag waving from the flag-pole on the estate and made a very pretty effect.

"Dusty Ford," a fox terrier belonging to Mrs. J. S. Ford of Chicago was run over by an automobile on Wednesday and died the following evening. "Dusty" was one of the best known and most popular dogs of Magnolia. Several years ago he appeared on the stage in the Library building taking part in an entertainment given for the benefit of that institution. His interment in the Ford lot was attended by a large number of friends.

An article relative to Men's Clubhouse week, by the Treasurer Rev. F. J. Libby, appears on another page of this issue. The Men's Clubhouse was built last winter. This is its first season. $6000 will put the Clubhouse on a self-supporting basis removing it, as Mr. Libby says, permanently from the charity list. Those who did not contribute before the building was erected should do so next week. By generously giving now they will prevent this successful enterprise from being a drag on the public spirit of Magnolia citizens for years to come. Now is the time for a strong pull altogether. Do your part!

The August tournament is in full swing at the Men's Clubhouse this week. The bowling alleys and pool room are scenes of good natured sport and rivalry. The matches are being pushed as rapidly as possible and it is expected that the preliminaries will be played off before the end of next week. The high score for bottle pins was broken last Tuesday by Fred Smith, who rolled 234. While the tournaments are in progress ladies will not be allowed to bowl, but may be spectators on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, when the usual informal dances will be held.

The membership of the Men's Club is gradually climbing toward the 250 mark, 230 being already enrolled. This week again every room has been occupied and many applicants have been turned away.

A large crowd of young people enjoyed themselves at the dance Wednesday evening. Blythe's Orchestra of four pieces furnished the music, which was unanimously pronounced the best yet.

Miss Helen Stanley is the guest of her mother Mrs. Rufus Stanley this week.

"A Group of Shining Virtues" will be the subject of the sermon at the Village church Sunday morning. "A Justification of Foreign Missions," illustrated by one hundred colored picture, will be the subject Sunday evening. All are cordially invited to these services.

The second in the series of free organ recitals by Prof. H. J. Krumpeln will be given in the Village church next Tuesday evening beginning at 8.30. As next week is "Men's Clubhouse Week" an admission fee of fifty cents will be charged and the proceeds will be devoted to the Men's Club. This will give an opportunity for those who wish to help the Clubhouse in a small way to do so.

Mrs. Henry W. Brown and daughters Lizzie and Jennie spent Wednesday in Manchester guests of relatives.

DRUGS

We wish to call your attention to our drug department and to our facilities for supplying either the common household remedies, or for filling physician's prescriptions.

Our line of drugs, fluid extracts and chemicals is very complete and in the names of the makers will be found such names as Wyeth, Parke Davis, Squibb and Merck, names which a physician recognizes at once as synonymous with quality.

Besides the regular common drugs and chemicals we have a large number of the rarer and less frequently used drugs and medicinal preparations so that we are prepared to fill any recipe or prescription with promptness. In those few instances where it is necessary to send away for any article or medicine we obtain the desired medicine in the shortest possible time.

In addition to our line of drugs we carry in stock a large line of physician's and surgeon's supplies, such as cotton, bandages, surgeon's plaster and other emergency goods. Our stock in this line consists chiefly of Johnson & Johnson's goods.

So if you are in need of medicine or sick room supplies call at the nearest of our stores and you will find your wants will be quickly and properly supplied.

Over the beautiful cenotaphs to Shah Jehan and his spouse in the Indian Taj Mahal, near Agra, India, the most beautiful building in the world, in the soft light hangs a great bronze lamp inlaid with silver and gold. This was the gift several months ago of Lord Curzon, Viceroy of India, in memory of his wife, the former Miss Mary Leiter, daughter of Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter, of the Beverly Cove summer colony. Their marriage was solemnized in 1895 and Lady Curzon died three years ago. On visit after visit to the Taj Mahal, Lord Curzon was struck by the apparent absence of a lamp over the crypt. The tomb, in marble of rare design and artistic workmanship wanted only a lamp as artistic as itself. Lord Curzon found only two men in all the Far East were capable of making a work of such wonder, and the Egyptian, Todros Badri was selected. For two years he labored on the lamp. Around its belt Lord Curzon wished a simple inscription, "Presented to the tomb of Mamtaz Mahal by Lord Curzon, Viceroy of India, 1906." This inscription was first turned into Persian and then converted by a native calligraphist at Agra into one of the Scripts that are employed upon the tombs of Shah Jehan and his spouse. Thus, in the August Cosmopolitan, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, describes the effect of the gift on after centuries: "Unborn generations who pass up the marble stairway, and under the lighted lamp, will breathe a prayer for the soul of the fair American, together with that of Delhi's youthful empress; for always the mind of romance must associate the names of these two young beings, who were absorbed into the life absolute, crowned with youth, beauty and enduring love."

Scores of guests at the Oceanside, Magnolia, and hundreds of summer residents along the North Shore will be more than glad to learn that Messrs. Phenix and Green, managers of The Oceanside, have decided to extend the hotel's season and keep open until Oct. 4. This is something unprecedented on the North Shore and has already caused much comment. The novel step was dictated both by the exceptional success which the

SUMMER HOME OF S. V. R. CROSBY AND FAMILY, WEST MANCHESTER

Oceanside has had this season, and the continued demand for rooms later than Sept. 15, the date set for the formal close of the season. Still the step is taken largely as an experiment and, if successful, will be continued in coming years. The demand for rooms after the 15th of September, bespeaks the increasing popularity of Magnolia as a summer resort. September is always a beautiful month on the North Shore, to many the most beautiful of the year, and the determination of the hotel management to extend the season,—thus permitting its patrons to enjoy the delightful Indian Summer on the Shores,—will be received on every hand with commendation and applause.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Bushnell of Pittsburg are at the Oceanside for a month's stay. They are with Mrs. Bushnell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Martin of Plainfield, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hazard and Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Matthews of Buffalo, N. Y., are touring through New England in a big motor car and stopped over at Magnolia for a few days at the Oceanside, beginning Tuesday.

• Society Notes •

The third and last of Mrs. Hall McAllister's musicales will be given at the house of Mrs. Frederick L. Ayer, Pride's Crossing, on the afternoon of August 25th. Mrs. Ayer has an exceptionally fine music room and is building a stage, so that the artists will be both seen and heard to great advantage. Mme. Olga Samaroff and Cecil Fanning have made up a program of great interest.

Of the many tea and shopping parties at the North Shore Grill, Magnolia, yesterday afternoon, one was made up of Miss Helen Taft and her aunt, Mrs. Louis More, and Prof. More, and another companion, who motored over from Beverly. They were at the Grill club and then went on a shopping tour through the Colonnade.

North Shore people who attended the weekly band concert at the Essex County club Wednesday had the privilege of being in touch, in a small measure, with the war game, as the Eighth Regiment band, which plays at the club, came that morning from the "battlefields" clad in their fighting clothes. Their khaki suits, blue capes, gray hats, with bands of blue, added a novel touch to the occasion. The boys played at the Tedesco club in the evening and returned to camp next morning.

The Count de Chambrun, of the French legation, son-in-law of Mrs. N. Longworth, has been one of the interested followers of the war game centering about Middleboro the last week.

Mrs. Joseph Sargent, jr., of Magnolia, is entertaining her father, Charles E. Carryl, formerly of New York City but now of Boston. Mr. Carryl came up to Magnolia early in the week to spend a month at the seaside.

An engagement of much interest to Boston and North Shore people was announced last week from New York,—that of Miss Gladys Bogert, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence Bogert of Flushing, L. There were 114 entries last Saturday in the open race of the Corinthian Yacht club at Marblehead, which was the closing event of the mid-summer series. In the class for Manchester one-design boats the Attergatis, owned by C. E. Hodges won. The other boats entered were: Solitaire, George Lee; No Name, A. E. Chase; Blue Grass, L. O'Hara; Kittiwake, E. P. Warner,—finishing in the order named.

Congratulations are being showered upon Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gray Foster of New York on the arrival of a little daughter in their summer home at Coolidge's Point on Thursday of last week,—Aug. 12. Among the many beautiful works of art which Roger Noble Burnham, the sculptor, is completing in his studio in the Library, Magnolia, is a figurine or, as more commonly called, a statuette, of Mrs. Mortimer Smith of Hamilton. The figure is a striking likeness of the model and is causing much favorable comment among Mrs. Smith's friends and other society folk. Another piece which has attracted attention is a bronze intaglio of Charles G. Strater of Charlesgate, Ky.

The many patrons of the Grande Maison de Blanc along the North Shore will be pleased to learn of a special sale of French underwear to be held at the store in the Colonnade, Magnolia, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week. ## :: At the Hotels ::

The annual mid-summer ball at the Oceanside Saturday evening was the most brilliant society affair at Magnolia this season and ranked high in that long list of seaside sociables which have made Magnolia and the Oceanside famous. The ball was the first formal event of the season. Coming in the midst of the big tennis tournament, it was made a tennis ball. Not only were the hotel guests, their families and friends present, but a great many of the society folk along the North Shore, from Beverly to Rockport. When the ball was at its height, the assemblage of handsomely gowned women was one of the most brilliant ever seen at Magnolia.

The decorations of the immense ball room were simple, but very attractive and fitting. The national colors in flags and streamers were artistically festooned about the walls and ceiling and attractively set off by a large number of palms, water-lillies and other flowers. The ball held out until midnight.

Among the guests many distinguished personages were noted. Among them were Baron Kroupensky, head of the Russian embassy in the absence of Baron Rosen who is now in Russia. Postmaster General Frank Hitchcock, who spent the week-end at Beverly in conference with the President was also there as well as Capt. Matthew A. DeLaney, U. S. A., physician to the President's family.

Among the elegantly gowned women noted were: Mrs. W. H. Scudder of St. Louis, old gold satin, jet trimmings, diamonds; Miss Gladys Scudder of St. Louis, salmon-colored satin, point lace and pearls; Mrs. H. W. Farnum of Chicago, black lace over black satin, diamonds; Mrs. Henry S. Rowe of Boston, black lace over black silk, diamonds; Mrs. E. Prescott Rowe of Brookline, white satin and point lace and diamonds; Mrs. Robert E. Livingston of New York, yellow satin and lace and diamonds; Miss Helena Lippincott of Philadelphia, white lace embroidered in gold; Mrs. J. G. Baldwin, jr., of New York, pink silk, lace and diamonds; Miss Donna Beach of New York, black lace over salmon satin; Mrs. S. H. E. Dana Durand of Washington, director of the U. S. census, was a visitor at the Fairfax early in the week. He was in Beverly, with Secretary of Commerce and Labor Charles Nagel, of St. Louis, Mo., and Postmaster-General Hitchcock of Washington, to confer with the president. Mr. Durand then met his wife in Boston and spent several days with her on the Rockport shore. Mr. Nagel and Mr. Hitchcock spent the night with J. B. Waller of Chicago at his summer home near the Farms. Mr. Nagel returned to his summer home at Marion, Mass., in time to witness the war game at that point, in which he is greatly interested, and Mr. Hitchcock returned to Washington. He will be the guest of Mr. Waller again early in September.

The largest crowd which has yet gathered to get a glimpse of the President were in Beverly Sunday. Several auto parties stopped at each of the hotels for dinner. When the President left for his evening automobile drive just before dinner a line of waiting automobiles nearly a half mile long was standing on Ober street near the entrance to the driveway to Burgess Point. Almost every eastern state was represented by at least one automobile number.

The orchestral numbers were rendered with that fine precision and brilliant touch which have earned the young leader so much commendation during the entire season and Mr. Goldstein's solo, as well as the duos with Miss Abbott, were received with loud and continued applause. Miss Goldstein's popularity with her audience added to her vivacity and musicianship have gained her many friends and admirers, and in her songs, rendered with ease and verve, her voice, sweet, flexible and powerful, was heard at its best. ## JOHN ABBOTT TO LECTURE ON OLDEN DRESS.

John Colby Abbott, the famous lecturer on the dress of olden times, has just returned from Europe and is coming to Magnolia to give a series of illustrated causeries under the general title, "Foibles and Furbelows of the Past." The lectures will be given at the Library building, on Friday afternoons at 3 o'clock.

Fenway Court, Boston; Her Excellency, Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, Dorchester House, London; Her Excellency, Madame Kato, of the Japanese Embassy, London; Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, and the Princess Petricia; The Princess Christain; the Crown Prince and Princ-

Next Friday the subject is "The Women of Versailles," dealing with the dress of the French court of the 18th century. On the following Friday, the special theme is "The Men of Versailles," dealing with the same period and, on Sept. 10th, the subject is "Colonial Dressing in America."

The method of illustration is by means of life-size paper-dolls, invented, designed and executed by Mr. Abbott. The doll representing the women of Versailles during the giddy period when the French court was enjoying its last burst of splendor, has become famous under the name of "Mlle. Pandore." "Monsieur le Marquis," the doll representing the men of that period has also won a name by his elegant attire.

While abroad, Mr. Abbott appeared before many of the royalty of Europe. During the past year his causeries have been given before Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and the ladies of the Cabinet, at the White House; the Colony Clubs, New York; Mrs. John L. Gardner, ess of Sweden; Mrs. George Cornwallis West; Lord and Lady Sackville, at Knole; Monsieur Pierre de Nolhac in the Palace of Versailles, and many others.

Mr. Abbott more than realizes the expectations of his audiences with his intimate talks on the women of Versailles, showing their fashions and fancies. He rehearses the life of the French court under the three Louis', balancing the foibles and follies against the history and tragedies of the times. While Mr. Abbott's talk would seem at first glance to be of a light character, it is not wholly so. It is filled with wit and humor and clever description, and it also includes dramatic portrayals, such as the resume of the life of Marie Antoinette.

Mr. Abbott's lecture dwells chiefly with the period from 1698 to 1787 during the last 72 years in which hoops were worn, the hair powdered, and rouge and patches were a part of the toilet. Shoes and slippers with high red heels were also typical of the period.

Mr. and Mrs. Beacher M. Crouse, after a six weeks' trip abroad, will join their family at Brownland, Manchester, Sunday.

The dinner dance at the Essex County club next Wednesday evening will be the big social event of the week. The 188 seats at the tables were sold long ago.

Catherine Lady Decies of England, who came over in June to visit her son, the Hon. William Beresford, at Bristol, R. I., spent Thursday and Friday of last week on the North Shore, the guest of Mrs. Charles Inches on Sea street, Manchester. On Friday evening Mrs Inches had a few friends over to the Essex County club to meet Lady Decies at a dinner and bridge. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Walton of Washington, who are at the Moorland, Bass Rocks. Mr. Walton is an international lawyer, diplomat and legal author of note. Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Morgan of Plymouth were also guests of Mrs. Inches. Lady Decies spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Morgan at Plymouth.

Tennis Tournament Ends Today.

With vim and dash and spirited play, the big tennis tournament at the Oceanside, Magnolia, in which 166 players entered two weeks ago, is being brought to a close this afternoon. At 2 o'clock the first winner was announced—Miss Clark, who captured the ladies' singles after a contest which was doubtful to the very last. Tomorrow morning, at 10.30 o'clock, Miss Clark will play Miss Penhallow for the challenge cup. At 2.30 Saturday afternoon the winner of the men's singles will meet the challenger for this cup.

This year's tournament has been the greatest in the history of the Oceanside courts. Up to the present year, a list of 75 entries was considered large, but this year the committee was swamped by a list more than double that number. This was partly due to the additional facilities for play this year, as two new courts were added this spring. This year's tournament was entirely under the management of the Oceanside, a fact which will add interest to the challenge matches tomorrow when the winners in this year's tournament meet the holders of the cups in the old Magnolia Tennis Association.

The Art of Jewelry.

The art of Jewelry is one which, up to the present, has been understood by few, yet it has employed world-famed masters and commanded the attention of kings. Its cost is, perhaps, the cause which has kept it less prominent than the other arts, yet those who work in jewelry find in the art as much of beautiful color as is found in painting, as much of the sense of delicacy as is found in music and as much of the subtle charm of lines and proportion as is found in architecture or sculpture.

The revolution in all arts and crafts and the cleavage from old ideas so manifest during the last quarter-century are nowhere more pronounced than in the art of jewelry. Twenty years ago, every attention was given to the stone—its size, its weight, its wealth of lustre, its price—and the forms for settings were fixed and unchanging. The latter were all very plain—the bar-pin, the three-jeweled ring and a dozen other old patterns seldom seen now and all done in gold.

Today it is different! The great values concerned led to such study, that now the stone is perfect—it cannot be improved—and all the study, strife and labor has been directed toward improvement of the setting.

One of the first manifestations of this change was the search for new ideas. Men were sent to far countries to spend life-times seeking out the wonderful designs of the masters in ages long gone by. The result was that some startling things came forth.

One of the first fields exploited was the period following Francois the First. During the reigns of the Louis', art in all its branches was at its zenith. The French jewelers, surpassing those of other countries, wrought designs such as the world had never seen before. In delicacy of construction and subtlety of design, their pieces seemed works of nature, divinely inspired. The hand could not have made such flowers of gold—they must have grown. And from that period come the designs and combinations most sought after today.

It is for this reason that French jewelry and French artisans are now the standard. In France, the father teaches his craft to his son, carefully imparting the secrets of the art which he has mastered. The youthful jeweler thus grows up with hands moulded and trained by centuries of practice that have gone before. And they surpass all other workmen in design and skill of hand.

Another remarkable trend in late years has been the increased demand for pearls; the demand has been so great that the fisheries are becoming exhausted. The best fields have been in the Straits of Manaar, the Persian Gulf and the Island of Ceylon. Australia has also contributed a wealth of pearls. But the diver can go but a limited depth in their search, and the fields are rapidly being depleted. One field in India, for example, which once yielded £2,000,000 a year, this year has an output of but £50,000.

Visitors at Magnolia have a rare chance to see both pearls and settings in their perfection. Dreicer & Company, of New York City, have brought to their store in the Colonnade some of the rarest works of the jeweler's art to be found in all the world. This company has a corps of French jewelers whose workmanship cannot be described. Their head designer spent the last two weeks at the Magnolia shop. Much of their work has been on the designs of the periods of Louis XV and Louis XVI and these, with many other designs of rare beauty, the company is now displaying at Magnolia.

ANNUAL HORSE SHOW

At Crescent Beach, Magnolia, Promises to Be the Biggest Event of Its Kind.

There is every indication at present that the annual horse show and meet at Crescent Beach, at 2.30 o'clock next Saturday afternoon will be the biggest local event of its kind ever held. Under the management of Joseph H. Collins and J. Henry Coulter, the show has grown from the start both in class and magnitude, until now nearly every one of the smart society whips along the North Shore are entered in the contests and will be seen at their best. Although most of the entry blanks have been returned, a few are still outstanding and the holders should be cautioned that the entry lists close next Tuesday and that they should send in their entries at once to Mr. Collins at the Oceanside.

One of the many fashionable North Shore young women who will appear in the show is Miss Eleanor Sears. She is to compete in the ladies' driving competition, the ladies' saddle class, the sporting tandem, the ladies' jumping class and the hurdles. She will ride "Happy Jack," a handsome bay gelding of high class from the Coulter stables and a horse that is hard to beat.

Mrs. Fred Hostetter will ride "Skid-doo" in the ladies' saddle and jumping classes.

The graceful riding of Mrs. J. J. Weil of Elmsford, N. Y., now a guest at the Oceanside, has attracted much comment among those who know, and those attending the show will have an opportunity to see Mrs. Weil at her best. She will ride "Surprise" and "Fortune" in the sporting tandem, and ride "Torrent" a chestnut gelding, in the ladies' driving competition and the ladies' saddle class. Her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Weil, will show her pony, "Montana Queen," in the children's saddle class.

Mrs. Stanley McCormack, of Marion and Boston, is to appear in the ladies' saddle and jumping classes. Her mount will be "The Friar," one of the best horses of his class on the North Shore.

S. H. Fessenden of Boston has entered "Lady Love" in the runabout class and his daughter, Miss Caroline, will ride "Kismet" in the ladies' saddle class.

Miss Margaret Gummey and Miss Marion Maher of Roanoke, Va., are preparing one of the showiest rigs in the competition. They will appear in the ladies' driving class.

One of the best performers entered in the show is D. B. Wentz' "High Flyer," who won the steeple chase event at last year's show. He is a brown gelding of striking appearance and Mr. Wentz has entered him in the jumping class, the flat race, the hurdle race and the high jump.

Another horse sure to prove a favorite

ALONG THE CAPE ANN SHORE

ROCKPORT

Miss Julia Sanderson, Miss Pyrna A. Carson and Miss Mabelle Gibson are three New York actresses who spent the week-end at the Ocean View House, Pigeon Cove. Miss Sanderson was a star last season in "Follies of 1908." The three have been enjoying an extended vacation and have returned to New York preparatory to going out on the road for the coming season.

Mrs. Julia Denis, Miss Annie Denis and Miss Willey Denis represent an old New Orleans family and are at the Ocean View House for the summer.

Lieut. Commander J. R. Poinsett Pringle, U. S. N., and Mrs. Pringle, of Annapolis, arrived at Pigeon Cove this morning to spend the summer at the Glen Acre Inn. Lieut. Commander Pringle was formerly aboard the battleship Maine but, at the start of the round-the-world cruise of the Atlantic fleet, he was sent to Annapolis where he has a very important position at the naval academy.

Miss Elsa Sybilla Ruegenberg and Miss Agnes Ruegenberg of Ridley Park, Philadelphia, are at the Ocean View House for a month. They have come to Pigeon Cove for many seasons.

George M. Lane and Miss Ruth W. Lane of Detroit, Mich., are spending a month at Pigeon Cove as guests of the Ocean View House.

Mrs. S. A. Pratt and her daughter, Mrs. H. A. Wollcot of Rochester, N. Y., summer guests at Pigeon Cove for many seasons are registered at the Ocean View House for the remainder of the season.

Mrs. Charles J. Langden and daughter Miss Ida are at the Ocean View for several weeks. They come from Elmira, N. Y., where Mr. Langden is a prominent manufacturer. He will visit the Cove in early September.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Fisher and family of Ottawa, Can., have arrived at Pigeon Cove for their first season on Cape Ann. They are registered at the Ocean View House. In the family are Miss Annable W. Fisher and Miss Sarah H. Fisher. Both spend a good bit of their time at the swimming pool where they are most proficient. The family are close friends of the Bishops of Ottawa who have visited the Ocean View House every season for several years.

The Glen Acre Inn at the Cove is doing an unusual business this year. The house has been crowded through the summer and the indications now are that the season will continue until Oct. 1.

BASS ROCKS

Miss Isabella Davies, a daughter of Mrs. Richard Davies of New York City who has been at the Moorland for the last two months, entertained a party of young friends at dinner Friday evening in honor of her 16th birthday.

Mrs. Weber and the Misses Weber of Baltimore are at the Moorland. Mr. Weber is president of the Baltimore German Bank.

M. E. Farr, the well known ship-builder of Detroit, Mich., who, with his family, has been at the Thorwald for several weeks gave an automobile party for several young friends at the Thorwald Monday night. The party came to Boston in a big touring car and had dinner at the Touraine hotel. Among the guests were Miss Catherine Wendell, Miss Elva Farr, Miss Louise Cooper, Ralph Fleming, Laurie Fleming and Hibbard Ayer.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Clark and son, James Clark, jr., of Pittsburg are at the Moorland for the remainder of the season. The bookings at the big hotel predict that the season will hold over until the first of October and many western guests are preparing to stay until that date. The Clarks are one of the most prominent families socially in Pittsburg.

A number of army and navy people registered at the Thorwald this week. First to come was Commander Rufus Z. Johnson of the Dolphin, the private yacht of George von L. Meyer, Secretary of the Navy. With him was Thomas Washington, the first officer of the Dolphin. They are at the Thorwald for a fortnight. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Washington have been at the Thorwald since early in July. General John G. Butler, U. S. A., also arrived early in the week. He came from Washington, where he is stationed and will remain at the Basses until the middle of next month when he will report again in Washington.

Midshipman C. J. Lang of the battleship Tonopah came over Friday evening and attended the band concert and weekly hop at the Moorland.

Charles D. Bird and H. D. Northrup of New York City, who are guests at the Moorland, entertained 24 members of the younger set at the hotel at a lobster dinner Saturday night. After the dinner, games and dancing were enjoyed.

Daniel Low & Co., jewelers and silversmiths, will hold an exhibition and sale of their wares at the Hawthorne Inn, Monday, Aug. 23, the Moorland, Wednesday, Aug. 25.

EAST GLOUCESTER

The first plans for the new English Village, which is to be built opposite the Tea House, in connection with the Hawthorne Inn, has been submitted and approved and, in a short time, after the further plans are executed, actual work on the village will be begun. The village is to be most novel and interesting and, when completed will make one of the most attractive summer features at East Gloucester.

Henry M. Warren and Richard F. Warren of Devon, Pa., James Orange of Sewickley, Pa., and Capt. C. S. Drown of the yacht Valiant came into port and had dinner at the Hawthorne Inn Saturday. In the Valiant they are making a trip down the coast from Sag Harbor, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Moisey of Pittsburg, Pa., are at the Hawthorne Inn for the remainder of the month.

Mrs. W. A. Bryant and Miss Thalia Bryant of Montclair, N. J., are at the Hawthorne Inn for a fortnight. Capt. Bryant, Mrs. Bryant's husband, is one of the commanding officers in the "red" army from New York, which is this week besieging Boston.

Miss Mary E. H. Dance of Philadelphia and Miss Carrie D. Speese of Germantown, Pa., arrived at the Hawthorne Inn early in the week to spend the remainder of the season.

A. Rutherford Davenport of Richmond, Va., is spending a month at East Gloucester. He is registered at the Hawthorne Inn.

Mrs. E. M. Shepherd of Washington, D. C., is at the Hawthorne Inn for the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. John Clay of Chicago and Eastern Point entertained a party of 15 at her home on Eastern Point Monday evening. Among those in attendance from the Harbor View House were Mr. and Mrs. John G. Forrest of Kansas City, and Mrs. E. O. Dogget and G. Ralph Osborne of Cambridge, Mass.

The Misses Margaret M., Lulu E. and Alice M. Hanna of Washington are guests for a fortnight at the Harbor View House. The Hanna sisters are very well-known in Washington society.

An innovation has been started at the Harbor View House. One night each week all the guests of the hotel engage in a progressive whist party, a suitable prize being provided for the winner. It is probable that Wednesday night will be set apart for the party so that it will not conflict with the many other social events at the East Gloucester hotels.

MAGNOLIA SUMMER OF 1909.

The house stood
In the green wood,
The trees stretched out
Protecting arms,
To quiet all alarms.

The leaves fluttered
All day long,
Like birds singing
A welcoming.

The house faced the West,
And the Sun God,
'Ere he sank to rest,
Fingered it lovingly
From his sky canopy.

You could look Upon the sea
Heaving tumultuously;
Blue waves, rocks and foam—
All else was mystery.
The lawn stretched
Away from the door,
And groups of trees
With flowers between Studded the landscape over.

This is a picture
Of a home,
An earthly Eden,
To atone for ills
That sink deep
In the mind.
And here the heart
Its solace finds.

Alice W. Chambers.

Magnolia, Mass., August 7th, 1909.

LIBRARIAN Bingham of the Manchester library announces that the first of a set of President-Emeritus Eliot's "five foot library" will arrive in a few days. Although the books are all in the library now in other editions, Mr. Bingham thinks President Eliot's notes alone are well worth the cost of new volumes.

The Bookman does not think so at all, nor does the New York Times, nor, of course, the New York Sun. The Bookman says President Eliot may have fallen into a chemistry crucible while teaching that science before becoming President, and infers that he has never been able to get the kink thus obtained out of his mentality. "Of all the book lists ever made," trippingly indites The Bookman critic, "Dr. Eliot's are positively the worst, the most absurd and the most devoid of critical insight."

The selection was enough to justify the retirement of Mr. Eliot from Harvard, but of course an intensely individualistic New Englander would naturally make a somewhat peculiar (Not Eliot English!) selection of volumes; but no one would expect him to put forth such an absolutely freakish and unrelated hodgepodge as this." So much for provincial old New York and an edition by the arch rival of them all, Collier's.

The Bookman and its category forgets entirely that the list has been published only in part.

It forgets entirely that the President said when he issued it that he did not include either the Bible or the works of Shakespeare on his shelf because both should be ever on every "well-read" man's table.

The BREEZE has great respect for Dr. Eliot. He is not a decrepit old man with a chemically-made kink in his mentality; he is not the kind of man to have the college librabrian cull out what looks well and pleases Bookman critics, not the kind to go to his professors for advice; nor the kind to be cut off from all connection with real live worldly issues. His most distinctive characteristics are sincerity, strength, and a respect for other people's ideas, but he is first and always a man who knows his own mind. His name will go down in the nation's history as one of its greatest men, we believe, in literature as well as in his influence on the young men of four decades.

MASCONOMO.

Nemo, Nemo, a dream I have; prithee;
A great stone hotel methinks I see
Where the low vaulted shack now stands
Disharmonizing the ever singing sands.
But Nemo, come quick, rouse me,
Masconomore, never! Mascoevermore, I see.

UTOPIA.

I have a friend which he came to me,
And this is the way he talked: Said he—

What would you give
If you could live
In such a community, town or tribe
As that which I will now describe?—
Where all the people are sober and quiet,
And live on the plainest of wholesome diet;
Who drink neither rum nor wine nor beer,
But only water cool and clear;
Where each man works with all his might
From early morning till candle-light.
'Tis toil that sweetens their daily bread
And softens the pillow beneath their head.

On Sabbath morn they all repair
With measured step, to the place of prayer;
Nor do they spend the rest of the day
In stupid slumber nor listless play;
Indulge in no idle nor foolish talk,
Nor waste their time in the fields to walk.
In sober reflection their time is passed,
And a happier future they strive to forecast.

Nor do these people appropriate
The wealth which their toil and skill create;
For the good of the State is their labor lent,
In toil for others their day is spent.
With little temptation to spend or hoard,
They live their lives in peace and Concord.
Such a people, I think, as you never saw,
Where Virtue is ever sustained by law.

Said I, "Is it possible there can be
Such a virtuous, model community?
Allow me to say that I doubt it, much."

He replied, "I know of several such;
In each broad State at least one has arisen
And its name is familiar to all—a prison."

Inspector Henry T. Bingham is resuming his official duties in the Boston customs house department next week after his annual vacation, most of which he has spent in town.

The one event in the eye of the merry dancer is the coming drug clerks' ball in the Manchester Town hall, next Thursday evening, Aug. 26. Long's orchestra, 12 pieces, will furnish the music. Between 8 and 9 the following concert program will be rendered:

|                              |         |
| March, Fighting Hope         | Maurice |

Daniel Sheehan, jr., has "made good" as one of New York's guardians of the law and is now on the regular staff of police officers. He is stationed in the vicinity of one of the Brooklyn bridges. Mr. Sheehan was one of a small army of 3000 men who took the civil service examinations last spring for the police force. He passed a splendid test and ranked in the first 25. He was put on trial this summer and now, after serving his 30 days, he has made good and is on the regular force. He is on duty on the street six hours and in the station, as reserve officer, six hours. He and his brother William, who is learning the steam-fitter's trade, live together.

Two young women from the Masconomo House, with an escort, were in bathing Wednesday morning in the heavy surf. The trio got well out when two great breakers struck them. The women lost their balance, their rubber caps flew off, their hair came down, and the rats, with their known aversion to water went swimming ashore. The couple were not at all abashed. They went up to the bathing houses, readjusted things, and went back into the surf, though the rats escaped.

COMMONWEALTH HOTEL

Holds High Reputation For Reception and Entertainment of Guests.

Among the many hostelrys of Boston that enjoy a high reputation for the reception and entertainment of their guests, both transient and permanent, none holds a more enviable position in the minds of the public than that of the Commonwealth Hotel on Beacon Hill, of which Storer Francis Crafts, formerly of Beverly, is the proprietor. One of the most centrally located hotels in the city, yet removed from the immediate noise and roar of the busy streets, the accessibility of this house from the great retail stores and places of amusement in the city makes it one of the most popular places of residence in the metropolis.

There are over two hundred rooms in the Commonwealth Hotel and ninety of these have private baths. The house is strictly fireproof, being constructed throughout of stone, with nothing to burn but the doors. Long distance telephones are in every room, and a pair of electrically operated elevators give constant service day and night. In short, the Commonwealth Hotel is one of the best hotels in Massachusetts for individuals or families to make their home, either transiently or permanently, and although offering extra accommodations and complete service, the arrangement of rates is such that guests are assured of receiving more for their money than in any other house in Boston.

"Rev." J. Brown, a colored "gemmen," who has been coming to Manchester and other places along the North Shore for the last ten or fifteen years in the interests of the "Union Baptist church" of Fall River, has been at Manchester the last week making collections and it is said he raised something in the vicinity of $80. Several complaints have been made against Brown and when the police heard that he was in town Tuesday, Officer Morgan was put on his trail. Brown was found in Beverly Farms and was brought to Manchester, and detained at the police station a while. The colored gentleman left town on the 11.30 train with the promise that he would never return here again. The authorities at Fall River say he is a fraud, and that there is no such church as he represents in the city. Meanwhile the people who have been subscribing toward the fund for building the church are wondering where their money has been going the last ten or more years.

World's Greatest Food Fair.

There is no other Food Fair quite like that held in Boston in October. All summer long the great railway systems centering in Boston are planning for the fall excursions to turn the tide of travel Bostonward during the harvest month. The Annual Food Fair in Mechanics' Building is to the people as distinctively a New England Institution as is the State House or Boston Common. Mechanics' Building is the largest Exposition Building in the world and there are not many New England people of adult years but have been within its walls. The preliminary work by exhibitors, including the planning, the erection and decoration of exhibit booths, necessitates the employment of architects, designers, decorators, sign painters, carpenters, plumbers and electricians,—all skilled artisans—to the number of 2,000. During the exposition not less than 3,000 people are employed in various capacities. The management expends for music not less than $1,000 daily.

REV. FR. WM. F. POWERS LEAVES MANCHESTER

He Has Been Assigned to St. Rose's Church, Chelsea. Rev. Mark J. Sullivan, of Revere, the New Pastor Here.

The announcement made the latter part of last week, unofficially, and given out by the Archbishop since then, to the effect that Rev. Fr. William F. Powers, pastor of the Sacred Heart church, Manchester, is to be transferred to St. Rose's parish, Chelsea, comes as a great surprise to his parishioners in Manchester, and to the towns-people in general. The cherished relations that subsist, not only between his own people and himself, but also between himself and his fellow-townsmen, irrespective of religious belief, makes the change at this time much to be regretted.

Rev. Fr. Powers came to Manchester in November, 1905. Since coming here he has built a stone Gothic church, which has cost, so far, about $47,000. The church is considered one of the finest anywhere along the North Shore. There is now a debt of some $18,000 on it. This year the erection of a brick parochial residence has been started, the work now being nearly completed.

St. Rose's parish, in Chelsea, to which Fr. Powers has been assigned, is a permanent rectory,—one of the total of 21 in the diocese in which there are 200 parishes. Permanent rectors have a canonical status that is not enjoyed by the other pastors. The permanent rectors, in conjunction with the bishop's council (which consists of six monsignori), are the only priests in the diocese who have a vote for bishop.

Rev. Mark J. Sullivan of Revere, who is Fr. Powers' successor, took up his work here this week, on Thursday, and Fr. Powers went to Chelsea. The church to which Fr. Powers goes, by the way, was destroyed during the big Chelsea fire a year ago last winter. Three of the walls were left standing. These have been given proper support since and the church is now practically rebuilt.

Rev. Fr. Sullivan is a few years' younger man than Fr. Powers. He was born in New York City, May 21, 1865. His school days were passed in the parochial schools of the late Thomas Scully. After finishing his collegiate course in St. Thomas Aquinas college he entered the Seminary of St. John's, Brighton, in 1887. After the completion of his theological course in 1892 he was ordained by the late Most Reverend Archbishop John J. Williams.

His first appointment was as assistant in St. Ann's church, Somerville. In 1894 he was assigned to Revere as assistant to Rev. James Lee, chaplain of the Ninth Regiment, with whom he has been for the last sixteen years. He is a classmate of the Right Rev. Joseph G. Anderson, Auxiliary Bishop of Boston.

Dr. Frank A. Sullivan, for many years a physician in Cambridge, is his brother.

Rev. Wm. F. Powers is pleased to announce that, though his pastorate in Manchester ended Thursday of this week, he will be here to assist his successor, Rev. Mark Sullivan, in conducting the parish fair, which will be held in the Town hall every week night from August 30 to September 6.

The following committees will be in charge of the tables:

Eastern Shore Table—Mrs. Emily Keating, treasurer, Miss Sarah A. Granville, secretary; the Misses Nellie M. Casey, Sarah M. Ryan, Bridget J. Broderick, Mary Hassett, Lucy Hackett, Mary Sullivan, and Ellen Buckley.

✱ Manchester ✱

The Manchester House, under the management of F. H. Kenney, is enjoying unprecedented patronage. The hotel, for the first time in years, is today crowded with guests. On Tuesday night fourteen people had to be turned away, every room in the house being occupied. The splendid dining room service being offered, the chicken and steak dinners, are proving a big attraction and has promise of bringing the hotel to the front as a stopping place for motor parties and transients. Proprietor Callahan has turned the management over to Mr. Kenney, who has had wide experience in catering to first-class trade and in the serving of chicken and steak dinners. A number of the golfers competing in the big tournament at the Essex County club the last two days have been stopping at the hotel. Miss E. B. Cornell and Miss E. Murray of Newport, who have been at the Oceanside, Magnolia, have also been guests here the last week.

G. A. Knoerr and family are to move into F. W. Bell's house on School street the first of September.

The young men who were in the runaway accident at Manchester last Friday afternoon, as related in our last issue, have recovered from their close call and are little the worse for their experience. The horse had to be shot Saturday morning. The big plate glass window in Allen's drug store through which the animal jumped, and through which also the young men were thrown, has since been replaced by a new plate of glass. John Walsh, who was standing in the window at the time and barely escaped serious injury, is giving up his work at the drug store tomorrow and has accepted a position with the Brazilian embassy. The accident has nothing to do with his move.

The work of installing the new gas producing machinery at the pumping station, Vine street, is progressing quite favorably. The tall chimney, which has set off the plant in the past, has been taken down. The shed near the station house is to be removed about 100 feet away from the building, the brick foundations for this having been built the last week.

Lewis Killam has bought the double tenement house on the Sacred Heart church property, in front of the new parochial residence, and it is said that he will move it to some nearby property. It is also said that he will move the old church to some nearby property and improve it.

Mrs. C. W. Wetherill of Chicago entertained at luncheon at the Fairfax in honor of Mrs. Lawrence A. Ford of Beverly on Monday. Mrs. Wetherill is summering in Beverly. Mrs. Elmer Gardner of Providence also entertained at luncheon at the Fairfax Sunday.

✱ Society Notes ✱

The annual summer show of the North Shore Horticultural society will be held on Wednesday and Thursday of next week at the Essex County club grounds, School street entrance. The tent will be put up in position Monday so that exhibitors will be able to bring part of their display as early as Tuesday. The show opens at 2 o'clock Wednesday and will be open all day Thursday.

In a special sale at the Studio-Gift-Shop next week, Miss Anne Abbott will offer some novelties never before shown in Magnolia. Among them are some cologne bottles in white and green and encased in exquisitely wrought silver work. The bottles are filled with hearts-ease, an old-fashioned cologne, made from old-fashioned flowers. Another distinct novelty is a line of hand-beaten copper bowls and platters, wrought by L. H. Martin of Lowell. Miss Abbott's place is becoming one of the most popular shops in Magnolia.

RANDOM THOUGHTS

BY D. F. LAMSON.

No. XLI.

Cowper once longed for "a lodge in some vast wilderness, some boundless contiguity of shade," and those who can hie them away to the woods or the shore for a little time, long enough to get life's fever out of heart and brain, and then return with new zest to the busy career, are among the enviable ones of earth. Those who cannot do this must—well, they must do the best they can; and those who have home comforts do not always gain much by going where they must be without them.

It has been asked, and with a good deal of reason, why a man who has found his vocation should not find his enjoyment mainly in his work. Why should many need to spend so much on mere amusement? Ought not one's work be to him a daily satisfaction that shall require only the recreation that is needed for rest and change? To know that we are in our place, and doing our work in the world, and doing it well, however lowly and homely it may be—this is the reward of a contented mind; and it is a happiness beside which that of the mere idler and pleasure seeker is a bauble.

A Boston paper of nearly a century ago, announcing the death of an aged clergyman in a small farming community not twenty miles from the city, mentioned him as minister of "the respectable town of W.—" One cannot but think that now-adays it would be no small thing to speak of a hamlet of a few hundred inhabitants in this fashion; there are wealthy towns, and hustling towns, and ambitious towns, and decadent towns, but one has an admiration for that "respectable town" among the hills, of the long ago; the town has had an influx of city residents of late, and city and country do not always mix.

Shutting one's eyes or ears to the truth does not disprove it, this is mere ostrich wisdom; facts are facts, whether we believe them or not; real things are royal things, whether we admit their claim to honor or ignore it.

To hear some one giving utterance to the veriest commonplaces as if they were the weightiest of truths, for which the world has long been waiting, is enough to excite one's risibilities sometimes. And yet, even college presidents have been known to speak some most obvious truism as gravely as if they were announcing the law of gravitation or the discovery of a new world.

Many seem to think that we shall sometime get rid of sickness altogether. Perhaps so; we shall see. But it would seem that there is no way of getting rid of death but by dying; at least there is but one way and that is so transcendent to their habits of thinking that it is not believed in by many.

There are critics and critics, and there are critics of critics, and all critics are very apt to think themselves right though they may all differ perchance from each other; as Pope has it,

"'Tis with our judgments as our watches, none Go just alike, yet each believes his own;" which makes us suspect sometimes that all are wrong. But criticism is a noble art, if it be rightly used; often has "Criticism the muse's handmaid proved, To dress her charms and make her more beloved."

It is when criticism descends to mere captious fault-finding, as in Jeffrey's famous "This will never do," when it is blinded by prejudice, when it fails "to show a friend his faults and praise merits of a foe," that it is unworthy of its name. Criticism should be just and kindly, faithful and generous; it should delight more to praise than blame; it should seek always to be constructive, and not be like the barbarians of the Middle ages iconoclastic merely; it should be, not a leveller and destroyer, but a builder; it should aim to show a more excellent way.

WOODEN TOYS MADE BY THE PUPILS

Industrial School Report.

The fourteenth annual report of the Industrial School for Crippled and Deformed Children at 241 St. Botolph street, Boston, has just been issued. In a booklet of 36 pages, a full exposition is made of the condition of every department of the institution and its work and all are shown to be prosperous and growing. Many North Shore people are actively interested in the work of the institution.

The institution is endeavoring more and more to become self-supporting. It has no permanent endowment and, at present, is maintained almost entirely by private charities. Its printing office and other departments bring in a considerable income each year and, it is hoped to make this larger.

One of the departments which have paid best are the toy and novelties department. The children make all kinds of things and these are sold at various places along the North Shore. ### $9.40 Tax Rate for Manchester.

Manchester's tax rate for the present year will be the same as last year,—$9.40 on $1000.

The board of assessors,—Chairman F. K. Swett, E. S. Knight and W. R. Bell—after weeks of steady work, were able to announce the rate on Tuesday of this week. It is probable that this rate is the lowest, or one of the very lowest in the state.

The rate is based on a valuation of $13,271,263, which is made up as follows: Resident, personal, $5,664,008; real estate, $3,388,620; non-resident, personal, $21,750; real estate, $4,196,885. Of the total amount $31,320 is exempt from taxation, leaving an assessed valuation of $13,239,943.

In 1908 the total assessed valuation was $12,621,281, so that there has been an increase this year of $618,662 in taxable property, mostly personal.

The town this year voted to raise by taxation $120,000 against $110,000 last year. This with money received from other sources makes the total expenditures reach to the vicinity of $225,000.

The Greatest Woman Magician

While Hermann the Great lived he was the master magician of his time and the only person with whom he shared his secrets was his wife. Hermann was always devising something new, something startling, and at the time of his death had partly worked out several illusions which he fully expected would surpass anything he had previously produced. His widow has been working on these ever since and is now ready to show them to the public. The first presentation will be made at Keith's Theatre during the week of August 23rd. Mme. Hermann has appeared in public before and is herself a remarkable magician, so that unusual interest will be attached to the demonstrations that she is to make in Boston.

The Fadettes will give their fifth week of popular concerts.

The Kitabanza Troupe of Japanese acrobats, who are said to be the favorites of the Mikado, are also on the bill.

A big crowd of spectators gathered on West Beach and its pier Tuesday afternoon to watch the struggle of two young men who put off from the beach during the storm and were being driven out to sea. After some time, the attention of Capt. Blaney of Mystery Isles was attracted and he, after a hard fight, succeeded in bringing the young men ashore.

Mrs. Frank L. Woodberry and child of West street will spend the coming week at Foxboro as guests of Miss Carpenter, who formerly taught school at the Farms.

Many friends of Miss May D. Connolly at the Farms went to Salem yesterday to witness the athletic and water sports exhibition of the children and pupils at the Rowell field playground, where Miss Connolly is instructor. The exhibition showed as nothing else could the long and careful training which Miss Connolly has given her pupils and the results which she has obtained are surprising.

✕ Magnolia ✕

A most interesting athletic entertainment was held in the gymnasium of the Men's Clubhouse Thursday evening under the efficient direction of Martin Flaherty. The principal participants were pupils of Mr. Flaherty matched according to size, and very critical exhibitions of boxing were given. The matches were four 2 minute round bouts, no decisions, and were enjoyed immensely both by participants and spectators. Between the regular matches some comic stunts were given much to the delight of all present. The boxing match between two men standing in barrels brought forth volumes of laughter, while the sparring of two young boys wearing blackened gloves added much to the pleasure of the evening.

The Men's Club tournaments in pool and bowling are still in progress and are being rapidly pushed to a conclusion, the finals will probably be played next week. A handsome cup has been presented by Charles E. Phenix as a prize for the highest single string in candle pins bowled between now and October.

The decorations of the Men's Clubhouse this week have attracted much attention and appreciative comment, and added greatly to the pleasure of the dance on Wednesday evening.

Thomas Lynne, one of the day baggage masters at the Magnolia station, has been with Co. G of Gloucester, in the war game manœuvres the last week.

Boas & Crowley, the enterprising tailors of Magnolia, are showing for the fall season a line of samples which their patrons are united in saying has never been surpassed. Strong in staples and in conservative designs and shades this line is filled with novelties selected with care. It is unusually complete and contains practically every style that will be called for. The weaves and patterns are new and exclusive and the colors rich, not gaudy. The cloths are soft and of proven quality and will win the approval of the fussy man and the man for whom the best is none too good.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Callamore of Greenwood avenue have been entertaining the Rev. Dr. Levi K. Abbott of Alton, Ill., during the week. Rev. Mr. Abbott went to Beverly yesterday to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. John H. Preston but, before returning to Alton to resume his duties at Shurtleff College, will return to the Farms for a short stay. Mr. Abbott is 85 years old. In a reminiscent lecture at the Farms Baptist church Wednesday evening he told how he saw the first grave dug in Beverly Farms cemetery.

PILGRIMS BAKE CLAMS.

Over 300 from all Along the Shore Make Merry at Tuck's Point Outing.

Seventeen colonies of Pilgrim Fathers from all along the North Shore gathered at Tuck's Point, West Manchester, Wednesday, for an outing, the big feature of which was a clambake. They came from Lynn, Salem, Beverly, Beverly Farms, Swampscott, Marblehead, Peabody, Ipswich and Gloucester, to be the guests for the day of William Jeffrey colony of this town and who many attended declare that it was the best outing the Pilgrims have ever had. It was the monthly meeting of the Pilgrim Wanderers.

While the greater part of the afternoon was spent in sports, the inner man was not forgotten. The hours were spent in dancing, water sports, baseball and other games and then, at 2.30, came a mammoth clambake. This event caused endless amusement.

Many of the higher officials of the Order were present, including Supreme Governor Edwin O. Foster of Salem, Supreme Lieutenant Governor Charles H. Batchelder of Dorchester, Supreme Secretary Nathan Cray of Lawrence and Supreme Treasurer A. V. Bugbee of Lawrence, and District Supervisors James McLaughlin of Lynn, Maynard M. Miller of Roxbury, P. H. Boyle of Manchester and Charles E. Southworth of Peabody.

Before dinner, Supreme Governor Foster presented a gold badge, suitably inscribed, to William Y. Ober, president of the Pilgrim Wanderers. The dinner was followed by an excellent program of games and sports, and a baseball game between nines from Francis Higginson Colony of Salem and John West Colony of Beverly Farms.

The great success of the outing was due to the executive committee, E. E. Witts and Charles E. Colburn of Swampscott, James McLaughlin of Lynn and Myric C. Horton of Manchester, and a large sub-committee representing each colony.

As to the clambake itself, it was one of the largest and most successful ever run off by Prof. Horton, who is getting to be quite an expert in occasions of this kind. In the bake were clams, lobsters, corn, sweet potatoes and fish in profusion. Tables were spread on the grounds outside the house, and in close proximity to the bake, and it was a case of "help yourself." Nearly 300 were present. The bake was prepared for 400, but owing to the weather many did not attend, who bought tickets.

✦ Magnolia ✦

Everybody in Magnolia received last Monday a circular containing the financial statement of one-half the season at the Men's Clubhouse and other information regarding it. This has been followed up by a daily post card containing a picture of some attractive feature of clubhouse life and reporting the progress of the campaign to raise $6000 in order to put the Clubhouse on a self-supporting basis. When the Breeze goes to press the results of the campaign are not yet known. They will be chronicled in these columns next week. It is believed that the feasibility of the undertaking and the great success of the Club will crown the efforts with success and that Saturday will bring in enough money to complete the sum required.

Mrs. Grace Brooks of West Gloucester is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry West this week.

Henry Heinrich, who was one of the popular clerks at the Magnolia market last summer, was in town renewing acquaintances last Saturday.

A special feature of the masquerade at the Women's Club this week was the cornet playing of George Adams, which was much enjoyed by the spectators. The violinist was Arthur Kehoe and the pianist a young lady from Gloucester.

Rev. H. P. Dewey, D. D., of the Plymouth church, Minneapolis, Minn., will preach at the Union chapel, Magnolia, Sunday morning at eleven.

Ralph Winslow of Beverly was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Boyd over Sunday.

Edgar P. Story, who for several years has been employed in Portland, Oregon, is visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Oscar P. Story.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. May returned Monday from a very pleasant week's visit with friends in South Framingham.

"The Companionship of Divinity" will be the subject of the sermon next Sunday morning at the Village church. At the evening service there will be a bass solo by Mr. Stromblad.

On Tuesday evening, August 24, the members of the Women's Club will give a Pedlar's Parade. Admission will be ten cents. It is hoped everyone will patronize the pedlars. On Monday and Thursday afternoon the usual dancing classes will be held. Thursday evening, whist; Friday afternoon, embroidery class, and Friday evening, informal dance. The masquerade on Tuesday evening was a grand success and a very pleasant time was enjoyed by all. About fifty couples were in the grand march.

Men's Club Recital.

One of the most pleasing features of the Men's Club week at Magnolia was a recital given in the Village church, Tuesday evening by Prof. H. J. Krumpeln, organist, and Stuart Moncur, the well known Scotch tenor. Mr. Moncur has sung three times before the King of England, by special request, and also before the Empress of Germany. Tuesday evening he appeared in Highland costume in the kilts of his own clan. In spite of the rain and storm, a good seized crowd was present and thoroughly enjoyed the music.

The program was as follows:

Krumpeln. The Siege of Jerusalem (in five parts.)

1.—In the Temple. 2.—The Jews Signal the coming of the Roman army. 3.—The Siege. 4.—Jewish Lamentations. 5.—The Roman Triumph.

DRUGS

We wish to call your attention to our drug department and to our facilities for supplying either the common household remedies, or for filling physician's prescriptions.

Our line of drugs, fluid extracts and chemicals is very complete and in the names of the makers will be found such names as Wyeth, Parke Davis, Squibb and Merck, names which a physician recognizes at once as synonymous with quality.

Besides the regular common drugs and chemicals we have a large number of the rarer and less frequently used drugs and medicinal preparations so that we are prepared to fill any recipe or prescription with promptness. In those few instances where it is necessary to send away for any article or medicine we obtain the desired medicine in the shortest possible time.

In addition to our line of drugs we carry in stock a large line of physician's and surgeon's supplies, such as cotton, bandages, surgeon's plaster and other emergency goods. Our stock in this line consists chiefly of Johnson & Johnson's goods.

So if you are in need of medicine or sick room supplies call at the nearest of our stores and you will find your wants will be quickly and properly supplied.

Mrs. Mabel Van Rankin and children of Taunton, Mass., have spent a part of this week at the Farms. Mrs. Van Rankin is a sister to Mrs. Wm. F. Eddy, with whom they have been visiting.

J. M. Publicover left Monday night for a fortnight's vacation trip to Alberton, P. E. I., where Mrs. Publicover went some time ago. They will return together.

Plenty of amusements will be provided for those who attend the K. of C. lawn party to be held on the grounds of the parochial residence at the Farms on Thursday evening, Sept. 2.

F. P. Gaudreau, the Central square barber, would remind the Beverly Farms public that he has plenty of B. & M. time-table cards on hand, which may be obtained by applying at his shop, opposite the postoffice.

A Few Dont's For Swimmers.

The many drowning fatalities recorded by the press during the summer seasons call for more care being taken by the average swimmer and beginners generally, and it is earnestly desired that the following dont's for swimmers and pointers for non-swimmers be remembered:

Don't bathe shortly after dinner; wait at least two hours.

Don't sit in a boat or stand about undressed after being in the water.

Don't swim far after a hard day's work, or over-exertion after other forms of exercise.

Don't bathe alone if subject to giddiness or faintness.

Don't bathe in unfrequented or secluded parts.

Don't dive into the water without first ascertaining the depth.

Don't take fright if you fall into the water with your clothes on; remember, clothes float, and assist you to float. Make for the shore, swimming with the tide or stream.

Don't swim too far out in the sea or lake unattended by a boat or an expert swimmer.

Don't take fright if seized with cramp; keep cool; turn on the back and endeavor to rub the place affected. If the leg is drawn up with pain swim slowly with the arms only. All swimmers should practice this.

Don't swim without some recognized signal to give your fellow-swimmers, if subject to cramps, such as lifting one arm or shouting for help. Don't abuse this, leave the water as soon as possible.

Don't dive out of or try to get into a boat from the side; dive from the stern and get in from the stern, but only then from a boat with a broad beam.

Don't swim away from the shore, always along the shore.

Don't swim without company if you have a weak heart, and only then after consulting a doctor.

Don't swim against the stream if you come across weeds.

Don't swim without protecting your ears if subject to ear trouble.

Don't go beyond the depth of your hips if you can't swim.

Don't plunge or struggle when you find yourself in deep water.

Don't throw the hands or arms out of the water.

Don't grasp any person who approaches you; do what he tells you.

Don't attempt to get into a boat coming to your rescue; catch hold of the stern until assisted to get in.

Tread water by keeping the legs moving up and down, as in walking up-stairs. Hold an oar or canoe paddle, plank or branch of a tree in the middle when thrown to you; an oar or paddle with the blade flat on the water will keep you up if you don't struggle. Take in long breaths through the nostrils; this makes the body more bouyant and keeps you warm.

If you follow out these directions when in distress in the water you will help yourself and others coming to your assistance.

When canoeing take a life belt if you are not an expert.

Tungsten lights may be obtained at F. P. Gaudreau's barber shop, 9 West street, opposite the postoffice. Telephone 117. adv

To be wasteful in the spending of money is foolish, to be penurious is to carry the foolishness to exactly the other extreme

Between the two there stands a "golden mean" the wise average which leads itself to all the logic of common sense. That's where we ever attempt to direct your thoughts.

We have the low-priced things, we never hear of any one's under-selling us—we seldom call them to your attention though, for we know you know they're here, but rather we urge the BETTER things, for these we know will last, and lasting, not only satisfy in the matter of service, but always remain pleasing to the eye.

Take for example the matter of

Suit at $50.00

'Tis made by an honest Dutchman that's been working for us for years, and in our entire experience with him, we've never found one thing that was wrong. 'Tis a suit of 5 pieces of heavy birch frames with the surfaces as well finished as that of the piano. 'Tis covered in a velour that we guarantee not to fade and upholstered that well that it will not for a generation lose its shape. Not expensive for the money, its like you will not find, and not more than you should pay for, for you'll never wear it out. The July polo cups at Myopia, offered by F. Blackwood Fay, will be played for Saturday afternoon at four o'clock.

Samuel Walton of Pittsburg is on to the North Shore for a few weeks' visit with his sister, Mrs. James H. Childs and Mr. Childs, on Smith's Point.

The annual meeting of the Manchester Yacht club will be held next Monday afternoon at 5.30, at the clubhouse. Besides the election of officers for 1910, several matters of importance will come before the meeting, including two changes, or amendments to the by-laws.

A. E. Chase's Whippet won the One Design race of the Manchester Yacht club last Saturday morning, in a fair northeast wind. Seven of the ten boats in the class were out, including the last of the number to go in commission, A. C. Needham's Debutante. The other boats racing, and the order in which they finished, follows: Whippet, owned by A. E. Chase; Vasetta, George Wigglesworth; Solitaire, George Lee; Blue Grass, D. O'Hara; Debutante, A. C. Needham; Altergatis, C. E. Hodges; Lamb, Eleanor Fabyan. C. E. Hodge's boat, which has won so many of the races this summer, lost Saturday's race through no fault of her racing faculties. In fact the Altergatis got away on the gun, closely followed by the Lamb, another of the class that has been showing up splendidly. It was a reach to the first mark off Dry Breakers, and the Altergatis rounded well in the lead of the fleet, followed two minutes later by the Lamb. On the second leg, which was a beat, both boats got well off to windward looking for the second mark, not knowing that the mark had been changed, and only at the turning of the other boats did they see their mistake. This put them out of the running for Saturday's race and they came in last.

Prof. Charles Zueblin of the University of Chicago and a comparative newcomer in eastern golf was the winner last Saturday of the chief trophy, the Essex cup, in the three days' open amateur tournament of the Essex County club at Manchester. Prof. Zueblin in the finals defeated T. M. Clafin of Wollaston by 2 and 1, and it was a merited victory. Incidentally the outcome was a surprise, for Mr. Clafin is one of the most dangerous amateur players in New England and is a lower handicap man in the state association than his opponent Mr. Clafin, in his semi-final match with H. H. Wilder, the intercollegiate champion, was lucky to achieve the victory of 2 and 1 because of his wildness, particularly in his long game. All through the match play the going of G. McC. Sargent of the Essex County club was of a character that would have made a first division player go at the top of his game. Mr. Sargent defeated Mr. Hylan by 4 and 3, incidentally playing a medal score that was the equal of his morning round for 78. The summary:

Essex Cup (first sixteen). C. Zueblin defeated T. M. Clafin, 2 and 1.

Second Sixteen. G. McC. Sargent, Essex County, defeated J. B. Hylan, Vesper, 4 and 3.

Third Sixteen. Samuel Carr, Essex County, defeated J. H. Dodge, Woodland, 5 and 4.

Fourth Sixteen. Winthrop Sargent, Essex County, defeated Harrison K. Caner, Essex County, 2 up.

Loosing Eight, First Sixteen. J. G. Anderson, Woodland, defeated, G. F. Willett, Essex County, 6 and 4.

Mrs. J. Warren Merrill of the Smith's Point summer colony, is offering prizes for a special handicap mixed foursomes golf competition at the Essex County club, open to members of the club and their guests. The competition will be played on Wednesday, Sept. 1. The matches may be played either in the morning or afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Eastman of Clinton, Ia., are touring New England by auto. They stopped at the Oceanside over the week-end.

Miss Marcella Craft, the opera singer, and well-known to many North Shore summer people as the gifted soprano in the choir of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, several years ago, gave a delightful recital at the Hawthorne Inn last evening, attracting to East Gloucester, many of the North Shore elite, among them, many of her friends. Miss Craft was assisted by Miss Anne Abbott of Boston and Magnolia, whose sweet-toned violin has attracted much attention at a number of private recitals along the Shore this summer. Miss Craft's numbers included the Traviata Aria, Elsa's Dream, from Lohengrin; Ave Maria, by Bach-Gounod and a group of Mrs. Beaches' songs. Most of Miss Abbott's numbers were from Liszt and Chopin. The Rev. James H. Dewart, D. D., of St. Paul, Minnesota, is visiting his son Rev. William H. Dewart, Manchester Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Crane, jr., have with them at Pride's Crossing for a visit Mrs. Crane's father, H. M. Higginbotham of Chicago. The Cranes are to remain by the seaside until the middle of October. The Cochranes, who are abroad this summer, are returning the middle of September, and after a few weeks with their son at Hamilton, they will probably be at their cottage at Pride's for a few weeks after Mr. Crane and family leave it.

The series of musicales which Mrs. Hall McAllister has been giving on the North Shore was brought to a close Wednesday by a brilliant program at "Avalon," the magnificent summer home of Mrs. Frederick Ayer of Boston at Pride's Crossing. At "Avalon" is one of the most beautiful music rooms on the shore, and Mrs. Ayer had provided a temporary stage for the artists, making the musicale additionally attractive. The artists were C. Cecil Fanning and Miss Olga Samaroff. Mr. Fanning was heard in a number of fine old English and German songs and Miss Samaroff played selections from Chopin, Schumann and Mendelssohn. An appreciative audience of nearly 200 heard the program.

Francis Bartlett is quite ill at his home at Pride's Crossing.

FLOWER AND VEGETABLE SHOW

Beautiful Display at Summer Show of North Shore Horticultural Society This Week.

The annual summer show of the North Shore Horticultural society, Manchester, was held at the Essex County club on Wednesday and Thursday of the last week. The huge tent used by the society for the exhibitions was pitched near the School street entrance to the club grounds.

The display of flowers as a whole, was very fine and the vegetables were the best ever displayed at one of these shows.

The summary of the prize winners in the various classes is given below and on page 43 of this issue. The winners of the special prizes are also given in the summary. While most of the displays might be given special mention in these columns lack of space confines us to a mention, specially, of only a few of the most prominent displays.

The most striking display as one entered the tent, was the group of foliage and flowering plants, arranged by Mrs. Lester Leland, Eric Wetterlow, gardener. This occupied a position in the center of the tent, and won for Mrs. Leland the gold medal offered by Lord & Burnham.

Another striking group was that of Mrs. E. S. Grew, A. E. Parsons, gardener, composed of summer flowering chrysanthemums, grown out of doors. Maiden hair ferns were scattered among the flowers, and a beautiful large cibotium scheidei overhung the group from the center. Mrs. James McMillan, F. F. Brasch, gardener, had a magnificent display of annuals and flowers grown from seedlings this present season. This occupied four tables, and was the largest exhibition in the tent. Mrs. McMillan won the cup offered by George R. White in this class.

The silver cup offered by the Reading nurseries for the best and largest collection of named hardy perennials was won by William Swan, who also entered a number of other prize-winning displays.

Mrs. Gordon Abbott, William Irwin, gardener, had a grand display of vegetables in competition for the cup offered by Mrs. Philip Dexter for the best and largest collection. Mrs. E. S. Grew also had a splendid collection of vegetables. W. B. Walther, W. Jaffray, gardener, had another beautiful display.

William Swan had the best and largest display of fruit. The summary:

F. Munroe Endicott, formerly Vice and Deputy Consul-General at Cairo, who has recently been appointed Secretary of Legation at Santa Domingo, Dominican Republic, left for his new post on Saturday.

Members of the younger set from all along the North Shore will gather at Proctor's field, Myopia, next Wednesday to witness the Junior Horse Show and Gymkhana on the practice polo field. The show will undoubtedly be one of the classiest events on the shore this summer and will be well patronized. Six classes have been arranged and include most all the feats of horsemanship in which children are skilled. Class I is for small children's driving ponies driven by the younger children. Class II is the junior hacks, for ponies or horses suitable for boys or girls. Class III will be one of the most interesting in the show, as it is the younger children's saddle class. Class IV is the small pony jumping class for the less experienced riders, with hurdles 2 feet 3 inches high. Class V is a driving class, open to all and Class VI is for the junior jumpers, with the hurdles 3 feet 6 inches high.

John Colby Abbott gave the first of his series of three illustrated lectures on "Foibles and Furbelows of the Past" in Library hall, Magnolia, before a large and fashionable audience this afternoon at three o'clock. Mr. Abbott has just returned from Europe, where he lectured before different members of the royalty, and his lecture this afternoon on "The Women of Versailles," dealing with the dress of the French court of the eighteenth century was looked forward to with great interest. On Friday afternoon, September 3, Mr. Abbott will give the second of the series on "The Men of Versailles," illustrated by "Monsieur le Marquis."

Major and Mrs. Joseph R. T. Coates and daughter, Miss Minnie Coates, who have been spending the month at the Masconomo, in Manchester, are leaving next Monday for their home in Chester, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Clanco of Jacksonville, Fla., Miss Anna Davison of East Orange, N. Y., and E. A. Wilcox of New York City, spent the stormy days of last week at the Fairfax. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harlow of Beverly, who are temporarily occupying the Roxana, the houseboat of Larz Anderson of Brookline, entertained over the week-end Mrs. Rogers of Dedham who is summering at the Fairfax. Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. Haddock, Mr. and Mrs. Little of Beverly.

BRILLIANT HORSE SHOW.

Judge Moore's Private Exhibition Proved to Be One of the Biggest Social Events of the Season.

That the private horse show of Judge William H. Moore, at Rockmarge driving park last Saturday afternoon was not only one of the biggest society events of the season but the best horse-show ever held on the North Shore is the united opinion of the scores of society folk who gathered from every watering place on the Shore to attend the function. Shortly after 2 o'clock, the exhibition started, with William H. Seabury of the Myopia Hunt Club master of ceremonies, and from then until after six o'clock, the tannery was a scene of utmost liveliness.

The horses shown included the many thoroughbreds with which Judge Moore won many cups and ribbons at the International Horse Show at London last Spring. Judge Moore showed many of the horses himself.

One of the most pleasing features of the show were the bugle calls announcing the several events. The skilled bugler was none other than Charles Tuppen, the champion bugler of England, who won a silver bugle in the call contest at the International show at London last spring.

Class I, for single horses in harness not over 15 hands high, included Flourish, King Forest, Whitewall Ariel and Lady Gongelt. King Forest is a son of Forest King, champion show-horse of the world. Class II, for pairs of horses exceeding 15 hands, contained Radiant and Quicksand, Councilman and Senator, and Debator and Minerva. Radiant held the English championship until that honor was taken by Flourish. Class III, for single horses not exceeding 15.2 hands, included three new show horses, Lady Seaton, Lady Auckland and Pandora. Class IV, for park fours, showed two splendid turnouts, both bays with black points. Phillis and Amaryllis, a pair which has been shown before the King of England and the President of the United States and which won the prize for the driving tandem at the London show, were shown in Class V, for pairs of horses not exceeding 15 hands and Radiant, Quicksand and Hincker were the principal performers in Class VI for single horses of 15.2 hands and over. While Class VII, for tandems, and Class VIII, for pairs of horses of 15.2 hands and under, were both interesting, by far the most attractive event of the latter half of the show was the Class IX for pairs of horses not exceeding 15.2 hands, ladies to drive. Miss Faith Simpkins drove the London pair, Phillis and Amaryllis, and Miss Margaret Thomas drove Lady Gay and Chiquita. Class X for tandems not exceeding 15 hands included Debator and Lady Seaton, driven by Judge Moore. The final class of the afternoon was for two road fours. Four bays were driven by Clarence Moore, and Judge Moore drove a gray four. A pretty feature of the last number was when Judge Moore took Miss Helen Taft, Miss Elenora Sears and others of the younger set, in his coach, at which the crowd of spectators broke into applause.

The horses shown make up probably the finest string of thoroughbreds in America and those present were highly gratified at being able to see them to such advantage. Judge and Mrs. Moore received many congratulations on the show and many wishes that it be made an annual affair.

To tell who attended the show would be to give a list of the most elite of the North Shore colony from Nahant to Gloucester. Judge and Mrs. Moore and their two sons, Paul and Edward, and Mrs. Edward Small Moore received the multitude of guests as they arrived at the park. Most of the guests occupied seats on the little knoll near the entrance, and overlooking the track, while others sat beneath the tents within the "figure eight."

Prominent among the guests were Miss Helen Taft, Robert Taft, Prof. and Mrs. Louis More, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Taft and Miss Louise Taft, Attorney General and Mrs. G. W. Wickersham, Count and Countess de Chambrun, Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Sir Frederick Pollock, and representatives of the foreign legations stationed here. A group of the German yachtsmen were also there.

After the show the guests went over to the Moore summer home where an al fresco lunch was served on the beautiful terraces on the water side of the house. It was a most beautiful sight to see the handsomely decorated tables, seating over 300 guests, while down across the green lawn, skirmished about with trees and shrubbery was the blue ocean, with ships and sailboats flitting about in the offing.

An orchestra played from a balcony over the terrace.

Most of the young people who went down to Newport for the "tennis week" returned in time for the dinner-dance at the Essex County club Wednesday night. Among them were the Misses Alice and Julia Meyer, Eleanora Sears, Dorothy Hancock, Miss Durand and Miss Burnham, and a dozen or more of the young men. Mr. and Mrs. Francis I. Amory had a party of over twenty young people at their table that night.

Among the many parties being given in honor of the German yachtsmen is a dinner-dance Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. Augustus P. Loring at their Pride's Crossing home.

Judge Hugh MacMahan and son, D. R. C. MacMahan of Toronto left this week for their home in Toronto after a pleasant vacation spent at the Masconomo in Manchester. Judge MacMahan is a member of the High Court of Justice for Ontario.

Society Notes

Of the many social functions of the week along the North Shore the one standing out pre-eminently as the most brilliant of them all was the dinner dance at the Essex County club, Wednesday night. Seldom has such a gathering of people, prominent socially, and representing all sections of the country, assembled on an occasion of this kind on the North Shore as that at the club on Wednesday night. It was the most exclusive social event of the summer. One hundred and ninety-six persons were seated at the dozen or more tables. For weeks every seat had been engaged and the large dining room of the club, with the lounging room added on was completely filled. Among those who had tables were Amory Eliot, Boylston Beal, 10; Judge Moore, 10; J. C. Kerr, 6; Samuel Carr, 10; J. Warren Merrill, 8; James Means, 8; Mon. Pontales, 4; Mrs. Wm. Bagnell, 7; Mrs. E. C. Fitch, 12; Prescott Bigelow, 8; S. Parker Bremer, 10; J. A. Culbertson, 12; W. J. Boardman, 16; W. A. Tucker, 8; F. I. Amory, 22; E. D. Richards, 10; H. K. Caner, 10. The tables were all beautifully decorated with flowers, each of the ladies having tables furnishing her own decorations.

One of the jolliest parties was that at Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Culbertson's table. The decorations were pink and yellow, — snapdragons being the flower used. At the table, besides Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson and their two sons, Craig and William, were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Denegre, Miss Margaret Thomas, Miss Helen Taft, Miss Dorothy Hancock, Miss Lippincott, Robert Taft and Carlos Greenley.

Another jolly party was that given by Mrs. Ezra C. Fitch in honor of Miss Gladys Bogert of Flushing, L. I., who is to be married next month to Conover Fitch. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Fitch, Conover Fitch and Miss Bogert, there were at the table, Miss Helen Fitch, Miss MacCook, Miss Kampmann, Childs Frick, Dudley Rogers, Joseph Seabury, Harry Hull and Mr. Bramhall. Killarney roses and maiden hair fern were used as table decorations, a large vase occupying the center, and four smaller vases setting off each corner. Bouquets were at each ladies' plate.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Boardman had sixteen at their table. Included in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Boardman, Miss Mabel T. Boardman, Sir John and Lady Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman, Marquis and Marchioness Montagliari.

The dining room presenced a very pretty picture as the guests were all seated at the tables. On the piazza, near the entrance to the dining room was stationed the orchestra. On the piazza and on the lawn were groups of chairs and tables, and under the tent pitched in front of the house were other tables and chairs, where the dancers sat later in the evening between the dances.

The outside of the club was transformed into a miniature fairyland, scores of small colored electric lights being strung among the branches of the trees and in the tent, and from the tent to the piazza. This, in addition to the natural setting given the scene by the beautiful moonlight, presented a most beautiful sight.

At Mr. and Mrs. Bremer's table were their house guest Miss Ida Vose of East Walpole, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sylvester and Mr. and Mrs. Newell Bent, Miss Eleanor Jones and two of the German yachtsmen, who are at Marblehead for the sonder races.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis I. Amory had a score of young people at their table.

Society from Nahant to Rockport is rejoicing in the near approach of sonder-class week at Marblehead, a week always alive with festivities. The races begin Monday and will probably last until Tuesday, Sept. 7th. During that time there will be an almost continuous program of social events in honor of the German yachtsmen who have come over to compete for the President Taft and Governor Draper cups. There will also be many house parties and other entertaining among the cottagers. The presentation of the trophy by the President will be the biggest event of the week, aside from the deciding race, and many society functions will accompany it.

One of the many beautiful sights along the North Shore just at this time is the Cedar Acres gladioli farm at Wenham. The farm comprises 11 acres, all of which are now in bloom with scores of vari-colored gladioli and make a splendour of color seldom seen. The farm is located on Cedar street, near Wenham Lake.

ROCKPORT

The tennis tournament held by the guests of the Ocean View House on the C. W. Seamans' courts ended Saturday. The trophy cups in the ladies' and men's singles were won respectively by Miss M. L. Clark and Guy Benedict. Arrangements are being made for a tournament for men's doubles, ladies' doubles and mixed doubles later on, probably next week. Among those who showed exceptional skill in the recent singles tournament were Mrs. T. F. Dwyer, James E. Adams, Miss Elsie Kline, Miss Dorothea Bechtle, H. A. Dunklee, Frank Bechtle and D. Dyckman.

Last week's northeaster afforded many residents along the shore some excellent snap-shots of heavy surf. Some very fine pictures are now being shown by R. P. Fowler of Springfield and William H. Gano of Philadelphia to their many friends at the Ocean View House. On the days when the surf was high and the sun shingling, the rocks were literally lined with amateur photographers.

EAST GLOUCESTER

R. S. Simpson of Princeton, N. J., and Lieut. Wilbur Madison of Washington, D. C., are guests of the Hawthorne for the remainder of the month.

Miss Louise Hinds of Richfield Springs, N. Y., is spending her second season at the Hawthorne Inn. Miss Hinds is a favorite among the younger set at the Inn.

BASS ROCKS

Janet P. Gottlich of Cliff Island is at the Moorland for a fortnight's vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Blodgett of Montpelier, Vt., motored down to the Basses Saturday and are registered at the Moorland for a two-weeks' stay. They are accompanied by Mrs. Alton Brainerd of Montpelier.

T. A. Jameson of Chicago, Ill., arrived Sunday and is spending two weeks with his family, who have been registered at the Moorland for the last month. Mr. Jameson is a brother-in-law of Booth Tarkington, the dramatist.

One of the handsomest girls at Bass Rocks this season is Miss Edith Henley of Cincinnati. She is stopping at the Moorland, with her mother, Mrs. R. B. Henley, and sister, Miss Grace H. Henley. They have been here since the second week in July.

PRIVATE CAR TO RENT

To the Summer Colony, North Shore

Ladies and Gentlemen:—Knowing from experience in former years the lack of opportunity offered to summer residents for renting a high-class automobile I have placed my car and services at the disposal of persons desiring them.

My automobile is a 6-cylinder, 7-passenger touring car of 62 horse-power. It is equipped with wind-shield, top, and the famous Flentze shock absorber, which makes riding in the car like traveling in a Pullman. The tires are new and the machine is prepared for a tour of any distance at a day's notice.

Persons desiring use of the car will kindly notify me at the Masconomo Hotel, Manchester, Mass., at least one day in advance of the desired time.

Very truly yours,

THE popularity of the North Shore is being manifest each year by the increased number of people who keep their cottages open well into the autumn. There are more and more families each year who come earlier than they used to come, and stay longer than they did before. The "summer season" is being lengthened!

The Oceanside, at Magnolia, has taken the lead among the hotels in holding open longer than heretofore and announces that it will not close until Oct. 4. This means continued business in a place which generally sleeps nine months out of the year. It is to be hoped that other hotels will follow suit. They have every incentive to,—for the New England Indian summer is unequalled and many of the cottagers have become accustomed of late years to keep their summer homes open until Thanksgiving Day, in order that the beauties of the autumn might be enjoyed. THE BREEZE prophesies that the demand for a longer season will grow and that the time will come when the months of autumn will be as lively with business as those of summer.

To ACT with the Hague tribunal, to lessen international friction, and ease the strain between nations by nature made belligerent, a movement had been inaugurated and the press of the world appealed to.

Only an international movement can ever effect the purpose desired. News associations, like the Associated Press in America and Havas in France, spread their arms over the whole world, employing in different nations native correspondents, who are susceptible to current impulses, desires, wishes. Only education and a hearty desire to be exact and amicable can ever affect these men for good. Their nations feelings are their own, and credence must be given their reports if their service is to be of avail. More people are influenced by papers, by the belief in anything in print, than by any other method, and if ever a great reversal of old time strife is to take place and international enmity give way to universal friendship, it will have to be furthered by a majority of the world newspapers, from the great daily down to the smallest weekly.

MAGNOLIA'S NEED OF NEW HOTEL

Magnolia needs a new hotel! The loss of the New Magnolia and the lack of something to take its place is being felt more the present month than at any time since the hotel was destroyed by fire three years ago.

Six years ago Magnolia had two more hotels than it has at the present time; then The Blynman and the New Magnolia, in addition to The Oceanside. The Hesperus and The Aborn, were doing a comfortable business. It is true that since then The Oceanside has added very materially to its capacity, but not sufficient to meet the loss of the other two houses. For the last three weeks all the hotels have been crowded—guests have had to be turned away continually, to say nothing of the large number who would come were it known generally there was room to take care of them.

The Oceanside holds an enviable position among the hotels along the New England coast. It is so well known and has such a distinct standing that it does not have to reach out after patrons. Its greatest problem always has been how to take care of all its guests. Year after year its capacity has been enlarged. Addition after addition has been made, cottage after cottage has been secured, but the same question always arises,— "where can we get more room." This condition of affairs, of which very few hotels in the country can boast, has been brought about through the careful, shrewd management of its founder and owner until last year; no better tribute can be paid to Mr. Geo. A. Upton. And the efficiency of the new management, Messrs. Phenix & Green, in maintaining this high order of things is being borne out as the weeks pass by.

But Magnolia needs another hotel; a hotel to take care of people who cannot now be accommodated.

We do not want to see a mammoth sky-scraping sort of hotel,—nothing of the sort. People from the cities see enough of sky-scrapers, or anything that suggests them.

A low, rambling sort of inn, we think, would appeal more to the tastes and desires of the class of people who come to Magnolia. This inn would be fireproof. It would accommodate from 250 to 300 guests. It would have a sort of Dutch grill room, in which auto parties who stop here for an hour or so could be taken care of quickly and promptly. It would have in connection with it an up-to-date fireproof garage where permanent or transient guests could have their cars taken care of, and it would also have off its lobby a number of stores and exhibition rooms, an essential feature of a waiting place like Magnolia.

Now, the question arises, who is going to father this scheme, and provide Magnolia with another hotel before next season.

Editor North Shore Breeze,

Dear Sir: Please grant a corner of your excellent paper to voice an appeal to the good Town Fathers of Manchester to do something to prevent such a sight as was witnessed on the Village Green on the evening of the last band concert. A poor creature had been captured somewhere and in the midst of Conductor Missud's most beautiful number, was rushed through the crowd of ladies and little children (hand-cuffed and held by the officers as he was) into the Police station. To all who saw the sight the evening's entertainment was spoiled.

The town, through its officials has been most generous in providing such a class of entertainment, and to have it all spoiled by such an occurrence is altogether too bad.

The idea of having a police station in such a place is out of all good taste. Instead of tearing down all the good old land-marks why not stir up the good town-folks to ask for the removal of the "lock-up," where the children will not have the "Seamy Side" set before them in the midst of their innocent amusement.

I am most surprised that this dear old town, filled as it is with so much of historic value and interest, has not stirred the hearts of its present inhabitants (sons of the fathers), to more civic pride.

The Village Improvement society should get to work. The first and easy thing would be (to my mind), to have the Town hall cleaned, especially the entrance and stairs, all stained as they are with tobacco, etc.; then start a movement to have the police station moved to a back street. After that it will be time enough to tear down the old buildings and show more village green and less barred cells. Then the next thing to turn their attention to might be a main sewer, that could accommodate household waste, and abolish those useful little one-story buildings now in everyone's back yard.

Yours most sincerely,
"SUMMER VISITOR."

"Are you a golfer, too, old sorrel head," said President Taft to a young lad, not yet old enough to be a caddy boy, as the little chap stood alongside the chief executive and watched his every move as he was preparing for a long drive from one of the tees at the Essex County club the other day. "Yes, sir," replied the lad, as he showed the President how he could swat the ball. The young "sorrel head" was Gordon Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Baker of Brook street.

✦ Manchester ✦

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Florence, who have been living in the Furguson cottage on Allen's court, are to move to the Patterson cottage on Lincoln street early this autumn.

The Manchester Launch club will hold its first motor boat race on Labor Day. It will be a handicap race, and will be open to all members of the club who own or lease a boat. The club had a novel sort of race last Friday afternoon. It was a fish race. The boats started at three o'clock from a line off Tuck's Point pier. They were at liberty to go anywhere they pleased, the winner of the race being the man who caught the first cod and returned with it to the Point. The prize of $3.00 was secured by T. C. Rowe, in the Mardy, who returned after 45 minutes with the first fish. Frank H. Crombie had the honor of pulling in the fish. Commodore A. C. Needham captured the second fish and incidentally the second prize of $1.00. Time 57 minutes. Charles Lovegreen caught the largest fish. This feature of the afternoon was followed by one of Prof. Horton's clambakes at 5 o'clock, which was attended by some thirty-one of the members.

Supt. F. M. Andrews of the water department has been attending to one of his annual duties the last week, that of "blowing off" the hydrants about town. With so very few fires in the run of a year, and with so many hydrants that are never used for fire or any other purposes, it is expedient to test the hydrants occasionally to see that they are in proper working order.

On Wednesday morning of this week Chairman Edward S. Knight of the selectmen presented to D. L. Bingham, Manchester's respected librarian, and oldest citizen, the Boston Post cane, which is a handsome black gold headed cane. The Post is presenting one of these canes to the Oldest Citizen of every town in the commonwealth.

Chicken Dinners Make Manchester House Popular Spot.

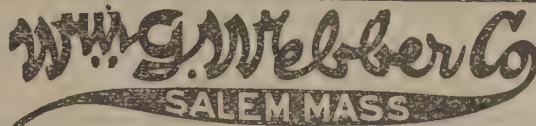

"I've been all over the country," said an enthusiastic motorist, Tuesday, "and have eaten at hundreds of places, but that's the best chicken dinner I have ever had." To which the other members of the party readily assented. They had just stopped at the Manchester House in the square for lunch on their way along the North Shore, after a trip up through Virginia, Maryland, along the Jersey coast to New York, and then through the Berkshires to the North Shore, from whence they planned to visit the White Mountains, before returning homeward. There were four in the party and they were all "carried away" with the splendid dinner served them by Manager Kenney, who has recently taken charge of the management of the Manchester House. We publish the following to give one an idea of what the house is serving for its chicken or steak dinners at $1.50—a dinner that is making the place so popular:

Foreign-Built Pleasure Craft to be Taxed.

The new customs tax to be levied on foreign-built yachts becomes effective under the terms of the Payne law on Sept. 1, and the treasury department is now making plans for the collection of the revenues from this source. Blanks have been furnished to Collector Lyman at Boston, who has been instructed to send them to all the owners of foreign-built craft in that collection district, as the first step of the authorities to ascertain just what vessels will be required to pay the duty.

A tax of $7 per gross ton is fixed by the new tariff act, but in lieu of this annual assessment the proprietor of the yacht may, in his option, pay a flat tax of 35 per cent. ad valorem, which will excuse him from the payment of any additional annual tax. Already owners of foreign-built yachts are figuring on these two propositions, to ascertain which form of tax will be more economical.

A list of all the foreign-built yachts in the country is being prepared by the treasury department. It shows the name, value and tonnage of all such vessels, by customs district. Collector Lyman has been asked to submit a list of all such vessels in his district. With this information in hand the treasury will have each yacht appraised, and it is anticipated that numerous controversies will arise over this. The new law does not make any provision for appeal on the part of yacht owners, who feel that they have legitimate ground for protest. Although this tax is not strictly a customs matter, the department has decided to permit appeals to the board of general appraisers in New York.

The new tax will effect a number of yacht owners along the North Shore as there are several foreign-built yachts in these waters.

The Boston "1915" Movement.

In the Old Art Museum, Copley Square, Boston, the "1915 Movement" will be formally put into effect from November 1 to 27, by an exposition of Boston interests to last at least a month annually for five years. The committee in charge are leaders in Boston commercial and art life and the success of the venture is already assured by the interest evidenced by Boston residents. Some of the organizations that have promised exhibits are given below.

The motive is simply the education of Boston people to the demands of a better and more beautiful city. By different methods, what the city really is and what it should be, will be shown and the idea impressed upon the people that their cooperation is needed.

Plans of the new city of Washington, devised by Burnham, and now in the Congressional Library at Washington, and of Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco, New York and Cleveland, will be on exhibition. An educational and social department will show what the city has and what it lacks along such lines. The third department will deal with the city economically in a way that will make its wants clear. The last department will be devoted solely to amusements.

Exhibits will be furnished by the following organizations:

Boston Architectural Club, Social Ethics Museum of Harvard University, Boston Public Library, School of Social Workers, Society of Arts and Crafts, Boston Association for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis, Massachusetts Civic League, Young Men's Christian Association, Young Men's Christian Union, Boston Elevated Railway Company, North Bennett Street Industrial School, Boston Society of Architects, Brooks House, State Bureau of Statistics, Committee on Sex Hygiene, Boston Playground Association, Society for the Protection of Native Plants, Massachusetts Commission for the Blind, Committee on Milk and Baby Hygiene, Metropolitan Improvement League.

George Ade's Manicure.

Of all the types drawn by George Ade, now recognized as America's greatest humorist, none has hit the popular fancy better than his manicure, which he introduced in a short comedy, with the mayor of a western town as the other principal character. In it the mayor's son while at college fell in love with the village manicure, and when he returned home, the woman followed him and tried to extort money from the father. The manner in which Ade worked out the situation, showing the humorous side of it, even though dealing with an adventuress is one of the very best things he has ever done. The sketch is called "The Maid and the Manicure," and will be presented at Keith's next week by Edwin Holt and company. Mr. Holt was formerly with Maude Adams and is one of the best known comedians now on the stage. Next week will also be the last of the Fadettes, when Mrs. Nichols and her forty women players will give a farewell program made of request numbers sent by admirers.

D. T. Beaton has on hand a large stock of Watts water pressure regulators, which may be needed to meet the new water service. All orders will be promptly attended to. Send your orders now and avoid the rush!

The telephone line which is being built to the new pumping station at Gravel Pond is very nearly completed, and will be in working order within the next week, probably.

The equipmnt for the old pumping station, to replace the old engines and pumps, is arriving, and the pumps were to have been put in position today.

The improvements at the Story High school building, and the changing over of the unfinished attic of the old part of the building into two rooms to be used for the commercial department, is about completed and the furniture, having arrived, will be installed very shortly.

Now that the Drug Clerks' ball is over dancers are looking forward with much anticipation to the annual ball of the Essex County club employees to be held on Thursday evening, Sept. 9.

Paul Weil, the Postoffice block tailor, who left town under such mysterious circumstances two weeks ago Sunday, has not been heard from since his departure, much to the regret of many of his former customers. Many people have been around looking for their suits and garments, but to no avail. When Paul departed the garments disappeared with him.

Miss Katharine L. Mahan, assistant to the postmaster at Natick, and Mrs. Mary Reardon of Somerville, were in Town Wednesday, guests of Chief of Police W. H. Sullivan. Chief Sullivan showed his guests the beauties of the North Shore, from the President's home at Beverly to Magnolia, by automobile. They were charmed with the beauties of Manchester.

A telephone pole on Bridge street, opposite the Spaulding residence, was reported to the police as broken Tuesday. Chief Sullivan communicated with the telephone company's wire chief and a new pole was set immediately. The old pole had rotted away and broke under its heavy load. Fortunately no bodily damage was done to anyone. There are many of these decayed poles about town and the authorities would be doing a public service if they put the matter up to the telephone company more stringently.

An Austrian named Urban was taken to the lock-up Wednesday by Officer Morgan and locked up as a vagrant. The fellow, it seems was only recently discharged from Bridgewater, where he had been serving a term on the charge of vagrancy. He was taken back to Bridgewater Thursday morning by Officer Morgan.

Mrs. John Baker is entertaining a number of relatives at her home, "Fairview."

Auto Accident at Manchester.

An automobile owned by A. G. Hodges of So. Hamilton collided with a carriage owned by the Desmond stables, Beverly, late Wednesday afternoon, in the little square opposite the postoffice, Manchester, breaking both shafts and shaking up the occupants of the vehicle, but doing no serious damage to anyone. An automobile was standing by the roadside. The carriage was passing on the other and the Hodges' car endeavored to pass between. In so doing it struck the carriage.

Mrs. Hodges and son were in the car at the time. In the carriage were Attorney Theodore A. Tufts of Beverly, Mrs. Tufts and a lady companion. Mrs. Hodges took the two ladies in her car to their home in Beverly. A new pair of shafts were secured at Foster's stable and the carriage was taken home also.

On Summer street, Monday, opposite the entrance to the Essex County club, an auto belonging to Perkins & Corliss of Gloucester, collided with Burchstead's vegetable wagon, breaking the shafts on the wagon and cutting the horse more or less about the legs. The damages were settled privately. No serious harm was done.

Drug Clerks' Ball.

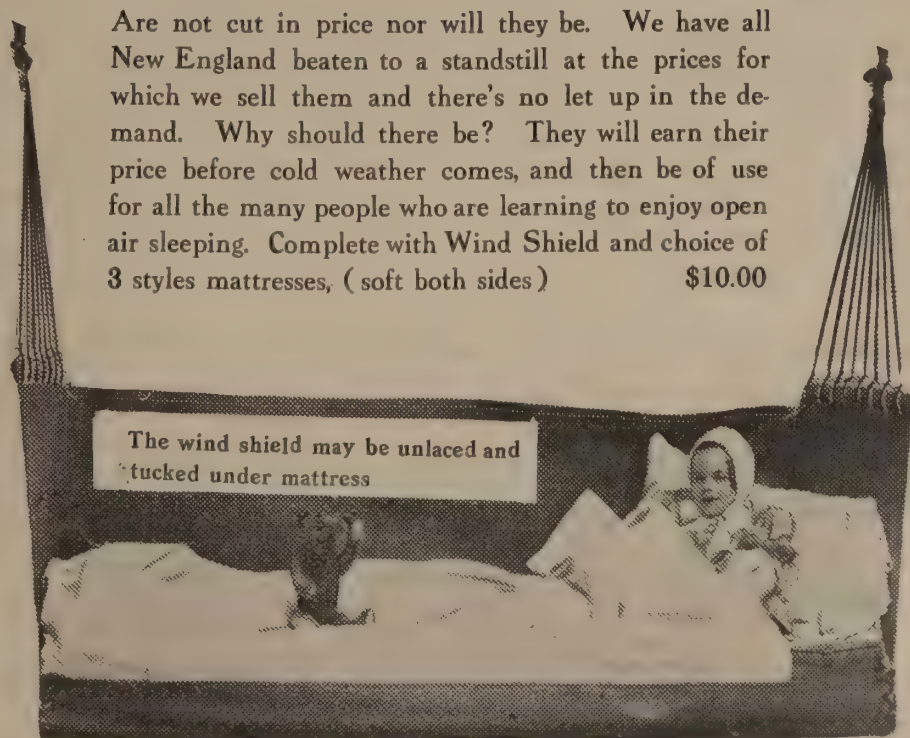

The Drug Clerks' ball in the Manchester Town hall last evening was the biggest and swellest party of the summer. It was a grand success in every particular. Long's orchestra of twelve pieces rendered an excellent concert program of five numbers prior to the dance. The grand march was lead by Edward Walsh, floor director, and Mrs. Ursula Hutt, who wore a pretty white gown and carried a beautiful bouquet of sweet peas. Alfred Walen, the assistant floor director, and Miss Florence Mylin followed. There were fifty couples in line. Dancing continued until one o'clock. The aids were Robert Hart, chief; Benj. L. Allen, F. G. Cheever, F. L. Decker, John Walsh and Harry Slade.

Officer Stoops is returning to duty as day officer Sunday, after being laid up since last February with a bad back. Special Officer Morgan, who has been substituting as day officer, concludes his services.

Mrs. J. Warren Lee entertained a party of young people to the number of fifteen at her home on Rosedale avenue, Monday evening, in honor of Mr. Lee's niece, Miss Helen Weeks, who is here for a visit.

Guy J. Drugan, a North Beverly young man, is to take a part interest in the express business conducted by Levi A. Dunn, and will take up his work on the first of September, probably.

Two days more the sale at H. G. Nichols' dry goods store in the Postoffice block will continue. Some excellent opportunities to get goods at greatly reduced prices. The sale lasts through Friday and Saturday.

The Odd Fellows will meet at 7.30 Thursday evenings, beginning with the next session, instead of 8 o'clock.

The piteous howls of a young Boston terrier attracted the attention of scores of people in the center of the town Wednesday. The little cur was running around, frothing at the mouth, and people thought it was mad. The police took it in charge, and Chief Sullivan, quick to act, had Dr. J. J. Riordan come down from the Farms to see it. The Dr. pronounced it a bad case of indigestion and gave the suffering little animal an effective dose of medicine.

The next band concert is on Friday, not Thursday evening of next week. Note the change!

A slight trouble was encountered at the new concrete standpipe this week, in the form of a small leak in one of the lower tiers. Simpson Bros. Corp., the builders, who are under bonds to keep the reservoir water tight for a period of one year, immediately took charge and the water had to be let out of the big standpipe, and the old standpipe, on Town hall, is now being used for a period of a week or ten days. The trouble is not in the least serious. It is something which is continually being met in new concrete construction.

The public schools of the town open on Tuesday after Labor Day,—Sept. 7.

Rev. Fr. Powers will be in town all next week looking after the fair in aid of the Sacred Heart church. Two very interesting voting contests are being conducted, one between Miss Mary White and Miss Mary Davey on the Southern Shore table, the other between Jeremiah Mullins and Mansaul Bowers of the K. of C. table. Both contests are for gold watches.

Miss Carrie Cromwell of Washington, D. C., is spending the week-end a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Rabardy, Central street.

Miss Euphremia McIsaac has been renewing acquaintances here the past week.

The last band concert of the season by the Salem Cadet Band, at Manchester, will be given next Friday night, Sept. 3. An especially choice program has been prepared for this closing concert by Conductor Missud. Many are planning to attend from here.

The management of the Hesperus will give a bal-masque for the employes of the house next Monday night.

Park Theatre.

When produced in Chicago last Spring, there was not one newspaper of the eight big dailies published in that city, but what accorded the highest praise to Paul Wilstach's, "Keegan's Pad" now announced as the opening attraction of the Park Theatre, Boston, on Thursday evening, Sept. 2. Emmett Corrigan, the star, has done much important work on the dramatic stage. In both "Ben Hur" and "The Prince of India" his characterizations were so remarkably well done that his right to a place in the foremost rank of America's leading actors was convincingly established.

There will be matinees Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Miss Anne Abbott will play two violin solos at the morning service in the Village church next Sunday. It is to be Prof. Krumpeln's last Sunday in Magnolia for this season. The subject of the sermon will be "The Joys of the Life Eternal," this being the concluding number in the series of the sermons on the "A. B. C.'s of Life."

The closing organ recital of the season will be held in the Village church next Monday evening beginning at 8.30 o'clock. Prof. H. J. Krumpeln, the blind organist has given great pleasure by his playing this summer. He has given recitals in Gloucester in addition to those he has given here and everywhere he has been received with delight. He plays to the heart and there are all too few that have this power. The Recital will be without charge of admission through the kindness of Mrs. Rebekkah Colfelt who has made possible the entire summer engagement. Prof. Krumpeln is to sail for England on Friday and will spend a few weeks with his family in Scotland, after which he will return to this country for a recital tour, going as far west as Topeka, Kansas.

The receipts of Men's Clubhouse week, after paying the expenses of the campaign, amount to $1146. The campaign was a vigorous one and no effort was spared on the part of its promotors to make it a success. The sum received, although not nearly adequate to put the Clubhouse on a self-supporting basis, from this its first year, is nevertheless a substantial one and will more than pay the outstanding bills.

The people who have not yet visited the Clubhouse will be welcomed any time before the close of the season. It is necessary only to see the Clubhouse, and especially to see it at work, to believe in it.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke Richardson of Peterborough, N. H., were the guests of their son Wilson Richardson the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Allen and daughter Thelma returned Monday to their home in Somersworth, N. H., after a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Butler.

The Pedlar's Parade held at the Women's Clubhouse last week proved to be a grand success and was greatly enjoyed by all present.

On Tuesday evening at the Women's Clubhouse there will be a masquerade ball; on Monday and Thursday there will be the usual dancing classes; Thursday evening progressive whist; Friday, embroidery class.

DRUGS

We wish to call your attention to our drug department and to our facilities for supplying either the common household remedies, or for filling physician's prescriptions.

Our line of drugs, fluid extracts and chemicals is very complete and in the names of the makers will be found such names as Wyeth, Parke Davis, Squibb and Merck, names which a physician recognizes at once as synonymous with quality.

Besides the regular common drugs and chemicals we have a large number of the rarer and less frequently used drugs and medicinal preparations so that we are prepared to fill any recipe or prescription with promptness. In those few instances where it is necessary to send away for any article or medicine we obtain the desired medicine in the shortest possible time.

In addition to our line of drugs we carry in stock a large line of physician's and surgeon's supplies, such as cotton, bandages, surgeon's plaster and other emergency goods. Our stock in this line consists chiefly of Johnson & Johnson's goods.

So if you are in need of medicine or sick room supplies call at the nearest of our stores and you will find your wants will be quickly and properly supplied.

At the Essex County G. A. R. parade at Beverly on Sept. 11, which President Taft will review, Preston Post No. 188 of the Farms, will be in line and help the Beverly Veterans entertain the visitors. About 1500 men will be in the parade and the President will review them from his automobile between 3.30 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon. An effort is being made by the local post to raise funds to make the affair a complete success; funds are requested to be sent to Charles H. Day or to the Post adjutant, Benjamin Osborne.

The store of Benjamin I. Edwards near the Pride's depot was entered last Saturday night by thieves, who removed a window pane and unlocked the frame. The intruders took some change, a lot of cigarettes and lunch.

The Massachusetts Highway Commission has been having tabulated the number of automobiles going through the Farms. Last Sunday 1701 machines passed over the road between the Farms and Pride's, and this is thus far the heaviest travelled road that the Commission has taken count on.

David Larcom was badly cut and bruised Wednesday by colliding with an automobile while riding a bicycle, at the corner of Oak and Vine streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory P. Connolly, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Pierce returned yesterday from a week's automobile trip through New Hampshire.

Mrs. Andrew D. Rollins and two children of Springfield, are visiting at the Farms, where Mr. Rollins will join them later. The family will remain over Labor Day.

The Labor Day horse show at Myopia promises to be unusually attractive and will no doubt draw a larger crowd from the Farms than ever before.

Rescued Two Drowning Girls.

Ernest Townsend, a gardener about 50 years of age, employed by Henry Clay Pierce at Pride's Crossing, saved two of the house servants from drowning a week ago last Saturday afternoon. The girls are sisters named Richards, who came from New York City. They went in bathing in the afternoon while a heavy surf was running, the result of the stormy weather just preceding. One of them got beyond her depth and called to her sister for help. The latter, who could swim only a little, went out to her and was immediately grasped in a drowning grip. Their screams attracted Mr. Townsend. He hurried to the water's edge on a bicycle, and without removing any of his clothes, dove in. Both girls clung to him, and only by striking one of them did he manage to get free. He then swam with one of the girls through the surf to the beach and returned for the other. He had to dive, as she sank just before he reached her. He managed to get her ashore, however.

The annual fair of the Sarah W. Whitman club, held yesterday at the chapel of the Farms Baptist church, was a most successful affair. It was attended by a large patronage early and late and, at times, the demand for articles of all kinds was almost more than could be supplied. The sale was not limited to one kind or class of goods, but all things usually found at the big fairs, from candy to fancy work, were displayed in the many beautifully decorated booths, a fact which induced liberal buying on the part of those attending. Mrs. Mary Bennett, assisted by Mrs. Abbie Pierce and Miss Addie F. Day, had charge of the domestic articles booth; Mrs. James D. Hooper, Mrs. Edmund K. Knowlton, Mrs. Abbie Poole, and Miss M. Elizabeth Hull had charge of two fancy articles tables; Mrs. M. E. Cullen and Mrs. Mable Howard attended at the fruit stand where a splendid variety was offered. In the cake and pastry booth were Mrs. Lydia Wellman, Mrs. Elmer Standley; and Mrs. John L. Chapman, who had charge of the grab bags, was one of the busiest bodies about the place. The refreshments were attended to by Edwin May and Harry Howell. The chapel was attractively decorated for the fair and

Home Builders

Perhaps you'd like to have a chat with someone on this "Homemaking" subject. To furnish a house and furnish it satisfactorily—a place you've got to live in day in and day out is a problem we have to study every minute of our lives. Perhaps we can point out the solution of lots of bothersome riddles to you. If our experience is worth anything to you, we'll gladly give it. Home building is our business and we study economy, too, as well as effect.

A Parlor Suggestion

If your parlor isn't over large or is pretty well cut up with doors and windows, it is prettier set with the light, graceful pieces of the French schools, unless the style of architecture be distinctly colonial, when the heavier designs are in good taste but always with the polished frames very much in evidence. Carvings and Marquetries are very much used and add greatly to the effectiveness of the wood-showing parts.

There are upwards of 200 conceptions for parlors here, each with a smack of the smart and the genteel. From a dainty little reception suit of 3 pieces at $25.

Summer Appearing Conceptions of the Gold-Crafters Art. The usefulness of these pins cannot be over-estimated. The softness, and tone of the effects obtainable by the wearing of these useful pins provides a most desirable contrast with summer apparel. Our baroque pearls are unusually free from roughness and porosity. Examination invited.
